Let Us Bow Our Heads in THANKS...

Today, in the spirit of the first Thanksgiving, let us give thanks to the Creator for all the blessings we have received . . . both as individuals and as Americans . . . a free people, living without fear in a free country. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, let us humbly acknowledge our debt to Divine Providence for all that we are and may hope to become. Like them, let us bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to the Giver of "every good and perfect gift."

How better express the gratitude that is in your heart than to gather with family and friends and pause to give Thanks for your heritage on Thanksgiving Day?

Community Chest Campaign Workers Are Commended

The Charlevoix Community Chest fund campaign committee and workers have been commended on the success of the 1954 Community Chest drive in a telegram received Monday from W. D. McIntyre, president of the United Health and Welfare Fund in Michigan, according to Dr. Walter F. Hoffman, campaign chairman for the recent drive.

The telegram from Mr. McIntyre said in part "All of us at United Health and Welfare are proud of the announcement of your campaign results. Congratulations to every member of your team for the splendid victory".

The 1954 goal of $5,872 was reached last week at the end of a month-long drive to raise the amount for seven participating agencies which will receive their checks in the near future.

During the recent drive funds were raised for the following agencies: Boy Scouts, $950; Girl Scouts, $700; Salvation Army, $325; Community Nurse, $1,000; Charlevoix Service Organization, $400; Emergency fund, $450; Charlevoix Hospital, $750; United Health and Welfare, $1,157; campaign expenses, $140.

Area 4-H Winners Present Program For Kiwanis Club

K. C. Festerling, district 4-H agent, and a group of district 4-H winners, were guests at the Charlevoix Kiwanis club's regular dinner meeting held Monday at the high school cafeteria.

Later the group presented an entertaining program. Mr. Festerling introduced the group which included Carolyn Steel, district public speaking winner, who gave a talk on Health Habits; Roger Stokes of South Arm township, district talent winner, who recited Kipling's "Gunga Din"; and Martha Lord's square dance team also district winners, who gave an entertaining performance. Miss Lord called the dances for the team which is composed of Jane Campau, Thomas Eichler, Sally Graham, Rudy Bulmann, Carolyn Stokes, Milton Bulmann, Jeanette Fisher and Walter Goebel, all of East Jordan. Guests at the meeting were Kenneth L. Empey and W. S. Stepke of Central Lake.

Pupils Of First Grade Make Tray 'Turkey' Favors

When patients at the Charlevoix hospital receive their dinner trays on Thursday they will find not only Thanksgiving turkey and all the trimmings but miniature turkeys as tray favors.

The holiday favors were made by Miss Jeanne Miller's first grade students at the request of the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital which furnishes tray favors for all major holidays.

The clever favors were made of small pine cones, pipe cleaners with fan tails of flattened cupcake containers colored brown with crayons. A pad of clay holds the little birds upright.

NO SO WATCH A PEDESTRIAN STEPPING FROM SHOULDER TO PAVEMENT

No self-respecting pedestrian, walking on the highway shoulder, would be dumb enough to step into a puddle of water when within one step there is a nice dry pavement. With his mind on the puddle he may well forget that a car may be coming — at 60.

A pedestrian on the loose on a high speed highway is always bad news for a motorist. All you can do is to slow down, prepare to dodge and try to "second guess" him.

For a motorist to fail to recognize any pedestrian ahead as a hazard is as foolish as a sea captain failing to take special precautions when he reaches shall water or the fog begins to roll in.

Gay Corduroy And Velveteens High On Fashion Parade

Gay-colored corduroy and velveteen skirts and jumpers are high on this fall's fashion hit parade. Many of you will want to get busy with the sewing machine so you can add them to your wardrobe.

Both corduroy and velveteen are fabrics, explains Mary Gephart of the Michigan State college textile department. The pile usually slants slightly in one direction. This causes the material to reflect light differently when opposite ends are placed side by side. By running your hand over the pile you can easily feel the smoothness of the fabric in the direction in which the pile slants.

When cutting pile fabrics from commercial patterns, the yardage needed is listed under "fabrics with nap." If panels of a skirt are cut with the nap running in different directions, one part of the skirt will be a lighter color than the other. This happens when the pattern pieces have been laid out in a "dovetail" fashion. You will probably need more material when making clothes with nap fabrics, so check the amount suggested.

Miss Gephart suggests cutting pile fabrics with the top of each pattern piece facing in one direction. Velveteen is cut with the pile running up; this gives a richer and deeper color. But for longer wear, corduroy is cut with the pile running down.

St. Mary's Church To Participate In Clothing Drive

St. Mary's Catholic church here will again join in the annual Clothing Collection drive sponsored by the churches in the Western Michigan diocese during Thanksgiving week, the Rev. E. F. Denay, pastor of St. Mary's church, has announced.

During the week-long drive anyone wishing to contribute clean, warm, wearable clothing, shoes or bedding may leave them at St. Mary's school.

Volunteers will sort and pack the clothing which will be forwarded to the War Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference for shipment to the areas of Europe, Korea and China most in need of clothing. The clothing will be distributed to the needy regardless of race, color or creed.

Anyone having clothing, shoes or bedding which they are unable to deliver to the school, may call St. Mary's rectory and ask to have someone collect the items. Warm winter clothing, wearable shoes and blankets are most needed this year.

Social Security Includes Farmers Beginning Jan. 1

If you operate a farm and net $400 or more, you'll be under the social security program on Jan. 1.

That's when you start to build up credit in the Old Age and Survivors' Insurance program for your dependents' protection and for your retirement, reminds Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

To pay for this, the farm operator will pay a new tax on his 1955 income.

And Rehman reminds, whether you are beyond retirement age or not makes no difference on the tax. You must pay the self-employment tax as long as you continue to work. If your net farm profit is $400 or more.

The tax will be 3 per cent of your net farm profits to and including $4,200. The most anyone will pay per year will be $126 per year, until the rate increases in 1960.

If you hire a farm worker and pay him at least $100 per month in cash during next year, he also will come under social security. You and your worker each pay a tax of 2 per cent of the worker's income.

Details on the social security program and how to figure your benefits will be available at the county extension office, Rehman points out. Or you can contact a social security fieldman at Petoskey.

Christmas Seals TB Fund Campaign Is Opened Here

First contributors in Charlevoix's 1954 tuberculosis Christmas Seals sale were named today by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

The first ten Charlevoix givers to the 1954 Christmas Seal fund were: Mrs. Nelle A. Hammond, Sam O. Sorenson, Robert C. Miles, Freedman-Artercraft Engineering Corp., George R. Emrey, Stanley Barner, Robert Bridge, R. C. Crump, Charles Heise, and Mrs. Joe McPhillips.

Dollars given for Christmas Seals by Charlevoix and Charlevoix county families fight TB year-round next year.

Scientists in laboratories will be aided in their search for new drugs to help unfortunate TB victims. Others continue the quest for a vaccine to give protection against TB.

Christmas Seal contributors help back up chest X-ray drives, campaigns to detect TB in early stages. Lively and meaningful health handbooks and posters are given out through Christmas Seals to help young people establish good health habits. Studies made through the Michigan Tuberculosis Association pinpoint TB needs locally and state-wide.

The association, through Christmas Seals, links forces with other groups to build laws covering TB laws to give TB sufferers a chance to get well, and to give families more protection from the disease.

This year's Christmas Seals, showing rounds of dancing children will be on sale through the holiday season. As the TB association says, "Put the greeting of good health on your packages and gifts. Buy all the Christmas Seals you can."

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

NOT LONG ago Ron Geer, who returned early last month from a round-the-world cruise through the courtesy of Uncle Sam's Navy spent most of an afternoon with us giving us the highlights of the cruise. . . And if you think these kids of ours aren't absorbing a lot of knowledge. . . well. . . you're wrong. . . He told us things about all the places he visited that would make your head swim. . . swimming on the beach at Waikei, the beautiful beach at Wake Island, too beautiful to be the site of such battles as were fought there during World War II. . . Japan with all the sights that fascinate the Western visitors. . . Visits to Singapore where everything is new and different. . . Suez, the Riviera, bull-fights in Spain, the return trip via the north Atlantic where the fleet was caught in the tag-end of Hazel which was something, particularly when you had to limp along with a disabled ship. . . As one old sailor with nearly 30 years service said. . . It was the worst storm he'd seen in all his years aboard ship. . . And certainly something for younger 'white hats' to remember.

THE OLD grind starts this week and from now on you'll know where Charlevoix's population's going to be every Friday night for the next three months. . . with the exception of Christmas and New Year's Eves. . . What are we talking about? What else but basketball. The Rayders will take on Harbor Springs this week and we hope they'll remember the game at Harbor last season. . . And not count the victory before it's won. . . What kind of a team are we going to have? . . . A good one, of course. . . How good no one can say right now but they'll do alright. . . that we're assured of, because our teams are always good. . . But it will be up to the players themselves to make it an outstanding team. . . And right now, before the season ever opens. . . we'll stand up and say that we're in for a lot of good basketball between now and tournament time. . . Just you wait and see. . . And to Coach Terrill and his Rayders. . . lots of luck and we're depending on you to come through in great style. . . Haven't we just said so in print? . . . So for heavens sake, don't let us down. . .

GUESS GALS just aren't supposed to go into the field of surveying. . . At least that's the impression one gets when they look at the original certificate hanging in the office at the Charlevoix Abstract and Engineering Co. . . For it says something about 'him' being qualified to be a registered surveyor or words to that effect. . . Which is all very confusing when you see Mary Feindt's name at the top. . . But she's the gal who has proven in no uncertain terms that the field is not for the men alone. . . for a more brilliant and charming person you'll find nowhere. . . Quite a combination, you'll agree. . .

GOT ALL your Christmas shopping done? . . . No, well then, you'd better get on the ball. . . for you have but three weeks left. . . in fact, we'll be a bit more explicit and say you have but 20 shopping days including today. . . And there's seeds of Christmas ideas around town, so take an afternoon off and visit the local shops. . . you'd be surprised what cute and clever ideas you'll get whether it's something for your youngest and brightest or for that difficult great-aunt Bedelia. . . So look around here before you start looking elsewhere. . .

SINCE the recent election you've no doubt been reading of the great things predicted for our own Gov. Williams. . . Among them that someday he'll be our president. . . We'd like to go on record with one which dates back to September. . . It all happened in Schroeder and Hovey Drug (we're telling you that to prove we have witnesses). . . Anyway, Probate Judge Floyd A. Sapp said at that time, and he still sticks by his prediction, that Gov. Williams, in 1960 or '64 would be president, that Mackinac Island would be the site of the summer White House with special side trips to Beaver Island. . . There you have it. . . now we'll sit back and wait. . .

AND BACK to basketball. . . don't lose your mind or temper and start yelling at the refs at the game Friday night. . . For a new basketball rule will become effective then and many of you will be seeing it for the first time. . . It's the old bonus rule, we're told. . . And the story of games being won and lost on the free throw line will become a reality. . . Under the new ruling you'll get a second shot if you make the first. . . Except of course, if you're fouled in the act of shooting. . . Then you'll get two unless you make the basket. . . But why should I confuse you even more. . . Go to the game and see it for yourself. . .

WE'D LIKE to take this opportunity, to send special holiday greetings to our servicemen overseas. . . in the hopes that it will reach them in time for Christmas and New Year's. . . To all of you, wherever you are, our very best wishes for the best Christmas one can have away from home. . . and may 1955 bring you home safely to your family and friends. . . You'll be in our thoughts more than ever this holiday season. . . We'll miss you and speak of you even tho' you're not here. . . We know that all these wishes come not only from us but from all your friends back here. . . Hurry home. . .

WASN'T IT grand. . . seeing all our college students home over the Thanksgiving weekend. . . You don't realize how many we have 'til they converge on the place at one time. . . Another three weeks and they'll be home for Christmas. . . And then we'll see those we missed this time. . . And then a lot of our servicemen will be home. . . It's certainly something to look forward to. . .

WHAT A pleasant surprise we had last week to find our own Dr. Louis L. Mann looking out of a picture in the Chicago Tribune. . . in a picture series entitled "Where they were." . . The picture, we might add, was taken at a tea given for Dr. and Mrs. John W. Taylor. . . Dr. Taylor is the newly appointed director of WTTW, the educational television station that is scheduled to go on the air next fall. . . Incidentally, the tea was given by University of Chicago Chancellor and Mrs. L. A. Kimpton at the Kimpton home. . . for faculty members and other Chicagoan educators. . . Seeing him in print was next best to seeing Dr. Mann in person. . .

COME NEXT Tuesday, Dec. 7, we'll observe a memorable anniversary. . . the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor which plunged our country into World War II. . . Though it happened 13 years ago it seems like only a short time ago to many of us. . . But do you realize that to the youngsters in our high schools today it's just another date they must remember (and how we hated them). . . History in the making and we can remember all too much of it. . . all too well.

Remember what it was like to know peace? . . . When our kids weren't spread around the earth and New Guinea, Luzon, Bataan, Guadalcanal, Omaha Beach, Bastogne and for that matter, Korea, were just places on a map that we had noticed but never bothered to remember. . . But today those names and the names of countless other places where our men fought and some died are carved for all time in the memories of those who had someone in those conflicts. . . So on this Dec. 7, 1954, don't forget a prayer for peace. . . And make this thirteenth anniversary a 'lucky' one. . .

by her brother, Daniel Greene of Detroit, chose a gown of white satin and lace for her wedding. The fitted bodice was designed with a Queen Anne collar and long lace sleeves and the full skirt, which ended in a cathedral train, had lace inserts. A crown headpiece held her finger tip veil and she carried a bridal bouquet of white chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Mary Margaret Greene of Chicago was her sister's only attendant. She wore a floor length gown of forest green nylon net over tulle styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt and worn with a matching bolero jacket and a forest green picture hat. Her bouquet was of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Roger Fischner of Charlevoix assisted his cousin as best man and Anthony Greene of Grand Rapids, brother of the bride, and Barry Fischner of Charlevoix, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Mrs. Greene chose a navy blue gown fashioned with lace inserts and navy and pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Gillespie, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a royal blue gown with navy and pink accessories and Mrs. Raymond Cull, sister of the bridegroom, wore a two piece pink print dress and light blue accessories. All wore similar corsages of red roses and white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for the bride and groom and 18 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother. An afternoon reception at the Greene home was attended by more than 150 guests.

The couple will make their home on Beaver Island for the present and later will leave on a southern wedding trip.

Among those from away who came for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Burke of Chicago, Peter Greene and Ruth Colby of Grand Rapids, Mary Johnson of Detroit and Mrs. Gerald Left, Mrs. Emil Fischner and Mrs. Henry Supernaw of Charlevoix, aunts of the bridegroom.

IN THE SOLEMN HOURS

God's Gift Is Flowers

... a tribute of respect for the departed, an expression of comfort to the bereaved.

Flowers express man's hope for everlasting peace. Their delicate beauty and fragrance shut out doubt and darkness by symbolizing the love we hold for those we've lost.

And, because we love, we grieve. But, because we have faith, we look forward to immortality. To our soul's unspoken question on these solemn occasions, flowers whisper comfortingly, "Hope!"

Home Demonstration Christmas Party To Be At East Jordan

The annual Charlevoix County Home Demonstration Club Christmas party will be held at the Lutheran church in East Jordan Monday, Mrs. Henry Erber of Boyne City, chairman of the group has announced.

The annual event will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will be attended by members of the 20 local clubs in the county. Mrs. T. F. French, program chairman, has arranged an entertaining Christmas program for the party.

Each member is asked to bring a quarter wrapped in silver or other holiday paper to be placed on a silver Christmas tree. The tree, decorated with the coins, will be presented to the patients at Grandview Hospital at Christmas time.

Each club is expected to bring Christmas cookies for refreshments.

Tuberculosis costs Michigan between 17 and 18 million tax dollars yearly for treatment and isolation of victims. Christmas Seal funds work to prevent the disease, toward eventually reducing the high costs.

Artcraft Corp. appeared before the council and said that he planned to install a sprinkler system in his plant which is located near the intersection of South State st. and U. S. 31 and asked that some arrangements be made to make the plan practicable. At the present time the water supply and water pressure in the area would not make the system feasible.

Colorful Living

On a radiant, sun-flooded day I have often stood near a grassy woods opening and watched-rays of light fall in kindly benediction upon the forest floor. Like the columns of some vast cathedral the stately evergreens arose to the vaulted leafy ceiling. Light drifted down in varied tints and hues as if from a high rose window, and the forest and all its running, flying, hopping, crawling, and resting creatures burst into color.

The reddish-chestnut of the whitetail's summer coat, the emerald of grasses newly-born, and the green ochre of dying blades, the olive green of cedar boughs, the deep sap green of hemlock needles, the pearly gray of boulders left by ancient glaciers—all the colors of a woodland glade have one origin. They come from the sunlight. The colors are rays which the deer and grasses, the leaves and needles and the boulders have not absorbed from the light, but have given back to the light again. The green things of earth eagerly seize all other light waves except the green ones. These they reflect and re-emit to the world. Their green beauty comes not from what they take from the sunlight, but from what they give. The deer's ruddy coat and the rock's cool grayness get their beauty from the light waves they give back to creation.

All the lovely hues that greet our eyes have their origin in what it gets. The straw-yellow edging of a mourning cloak butterfly's wing, the flaming red of cocky cardinal, the ever-changing glitter of a hummingbird's throat, the pastel-shaded flush of a winter's sunset—all are colors that have been reflected rather than absorbed.

This principle we have recognized in our choices of summer and winter clothing. We wear more white clothing in summer than in winter and more dark clothing in winter than in summer. Why? White rejects warm light rays, reflecting the heat. Black is a selfish color, absorbing the sun's radiation and passing the heat on to the wearer. Thus white clothing is cooler than black.

Who are the most colorful, beautiful people you know? I don't mean superficially glamorous people, but the sort that have a durable inner beauty. Who are your real heroes, the people you most want to be like? Abraham Lincoln? Louis Pasteur? Dr. Albert Schweitzer? A fellow-townsmen? A contemporary American? Jesus Christ? Whoever it is, that person has absorbed and assimilated a great deal of good from the world and from God, as all creatures must, directly or indirectly, receive warmth and energy from the sun. But that person's essential beauty of life is not derived from what he has seized from the world, but from what he has given to the world. We love Lincoln because of his magnanimous spirit, and Louis Pasteur for his unrelenting warfare against disease, and Albert Schweitzer for the gift of his genius to the black people of French Equatorial Africa. You admire a fellow-citizen for what he does for the community, not for what he takes from it. And Jesus Christ is loved the world over because, of all men, He loved the most.

When our Lord told the parable of the Prodigal Son who became lost in careless living, He clearly marked the transition from loss to being found again. Said Jesus, the young man went off toward a wretched life in a far country just after demanding of his father, "Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me." After slipping as low as a human can sink morally, the Prodigal "came to himself" and said, "I will arise and go to my father and will say unto him, 'Make me as one of thy hired servants.'" That is a tremendous transformation for anyone to make—from "give me the goods" to "make me a servant," from grabbing to service. Such a change brings beauty into anyone's living. We pass from dull blackness which absorbs all the rays it can seize, to radiant colorfulness where we reflect back into the world some of the glory of God.

If life seems drab, balance your getting with giving.

Class 'C' Conference Season Opens This Weekend

Charlevoix Rayders To Play Harbor Rams Here Friday Night

The Charlevoix Rayders, Northern Michigan Class C defending champions, will open their 1954-55 basketball schedule Friday when they host the Harbor Springs Rams here Friday night.

As in the past the Reserve game will start at 7 p.m. with the Varsity game following at about 8:20 p.m.

The Charlevoix-Harbor Springs game is only one of four loop meetings scheduled for this week as the other league teams open their regular schedules. In other games Friday Boyne City will play at Mancelona; East Jordan will travel to Grayling and Gaylord will entertain Pellston.

Coach Del Terrill has been putting his squad through tough scrimmage sessions this week in preparation for the game Friday. At this time he has not selected his starting line-up but said that Dwain Walker, a letterman from last year's squad, Quint Walker or Gary Vandenberg would start in the guard slots; Jerry Schupert or Walt Pouquette at center and Tom LaBlance, a regular, Guy Swanson, a letterman, Charlie Dennis or Kit Carson in the guard positions.

Glenn Ikema, a sophomore and a 6 ft. 1 in. candidate for the center spot, was among the possible starters until he was hospitalized Sunday with a serious infection which is expected to keep him out of the line-up indefinitely.

Other members of the Varsity squad at this time are Bill Kolker, Joe Etienne, Fred Putman and Gary Smith.

Coach Steve Wareck at Harbor Springs has not decided on his starting five but said they would be named from among the following candidates: Tor Larsen, a letterman, center or forward; Jerry Reinwand, Richie Clarke, Terry Shin and Gary Swiss, a letterman, forwards; Tom Clarke, only returning regular, Gordon Kruskie, Dick Shepherd or Kent Telect, ball handlers as Coach Wareck prefers to call his guards.

When Boyne City plays at Mancelora this week, Coach Jay Baysinger is expected to use the same line-up as he sent against Petoskey last week when his Ramblers defeated the Northern 45-44. This included Bob Fitzpatrick and Nels Northrup, forwards; Gordon Yahr, center, and Chub Rothenberger and Carl Charon, guards; Murray Northrup, Gary Newville and Gary Coon also saw action.

At Mancelona Coach Jake Schurmann will select his line-up from among forwards Gary Lucas, a veteran, Terry Meeder, a letterman and Ken Lockman; center, Glenn Watkins or Gary Woods; guards, Don Wilks, a regular, and Galen Christopher.

Coach Al Griggs will name his line-up from among the following players when Pellston meets Gaylord this week: Dale Drier, Frank Coach Del Terrill Attends Annual Clinic At M.S.C.

Coach Delbert R. Terrill received some new tested ideas on offensive and defensive play at the second annual basketball clinic sponsored recently by Michigan State college, according to a news release from the college.

The faculty for the basketball school was led by Prof. Fordy Anderson, new head basketball coach for the Spartans who used drills and demonstrations to explain his fast-breaking style. Movies also supplemented the lectures and court work.

A record number of coaches, 283 from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, attended the clinic, saw the M.S.C. cage squad in its first full-dress exhibition and attended the Michigan State-Marquette football game.

Thirteen Michigan counties have been designated "emergency loan areas" announce State ASC officials. The decision makes it easier for farmers in these counties to obtain loans. This is the result of late fall rains that seriously damaged crops.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

The trouble with driving a car is you have to park and go on foot to your destination. So when you park you should slide all the way across the front seat in spite of packages, papers and other passengers, and get out on the sidewalk side. But many lazy drivers will still get out on the traffic side.

So, watch out for that parked car when its front door begins to open. You may have a four-foot door and a thoughtless pedestrian right in front of you. Failing to see this coming is as stupid as failing to expect a train when railway flashing lights came on. Slow down — you may not be able to dodge.

Boyne City Opens Season With Win Over Petoskey

The Boyne City Ramblers opened their 1954-55 basketball season last Friday night with a 45-44 win over Class B Petoskey on the latter's floor.

With Boyne City ahead by a one-point margin, Petoskey missed a chance to tie or win the game when a Northern missed two free-throw shots in the last 15 seconds of play.

Boyne City led 12-10 at the quarter; 22-14 at the half and 36-32 at the third period before Petoskey tied the score twice in the last period but failed to go ahead.

Bob Fitzpatrick paced the scoring for the Ramblers and the game with 18 points. Dale Beatty had 16 for Petoskey.

Boyne City will play at Mancelona in its first league of the season Friday night.

Durkalic or Jack Schlosser, forwards; Merlyn Davenport, center and Bill Albright, Harry Ball or his cousin Les Ball, guards.

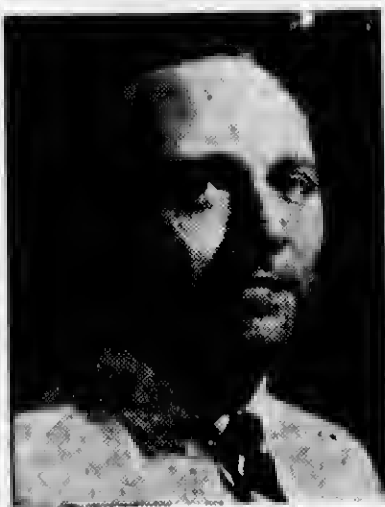

At Gaylord where the Blue Devils took on Class B Cheboygan Tuesday night, Coach Paul Skitka is expected to use George Middelitch at center; Bill Coon, Mike McKillop or Dale Tolman as guards and Dick Blashill, Terry Gochar or John Breshnahan as forwards.

Coach Gayle Saxton has named forwards, Bob Darbee and Dick Johnson; center Floyd Cutler and guards Alan Sommerville and Bobby Danforth to start against Grayling.

Coach Bruce Smith, however, has not selected a starting team but plans to name them from among Red Hamilton, Bob Strong or Lawrence Canfield, center; Dale Pettingill, Lloyd Failing, or Jim Parkinson, forwards and Dave Lowe, Bill Kenyon or Gary Parkinson, guards. Strong and Canfield are also eligible for forward assignments.

Christmas bazaar at 2 p.m. and Cafeteria style supper, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at Friendship hall, Congregational church, Tuesday, Dec. 7. Sponsored by Margaret Parker circle. Tickets $1.25 for adults and 75c children under 12.

Detroit father says
"I'd be in debt without Blue Cross-Blue Shield!"

"Last spring our 11-year-old daughter was rushed to the hospital with acute appendicitis," says Mr. Sinclair. "She was hospitalized for 40 days. The hospital and doctor bills ran over $1,300, but all we had to pay was $61 Blue Cross-Blue Shield Comprehensive covered all the rest! That's one of the wonderful things about Blue Cross-Blue Shield—the way they cover every enrolled member of your family equally. We'd be in debt without it."

Whether you've ever been sick or had an accidental injury makes no difference. The fact remains that one in three families will have a hospital bill within a year! It just goes to show how much you need protection like the kind that saved Mr. Sinclair over $1,300. That kind is Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

It's easy to find out how you can enjoy Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection for hospital and doctor bills. Call or write: Blue Cross-Blue Shield 408 State Bank Building, Traverse City, Michigan.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Going—Going—
But Not Gone!

Saturday they got set to auction off "Sis" Brown's house for non-payment of taxes. Back Stone was the auctioneer. Everybody who came to the auction knew that "Sis" is a war widow.

When Buck began the bidding he said, "Anybody can bid. Just remember 'Sis' and three nice kids live here. Now who's going to start the bidding?" There was silence. "Sis," standing in back, got the point. She reached into her purse for just about all the money she had in the world. "I'll bid $75," she said.

"Sold," bellowed Buck and "Sis" had her home back. From where I sit, Buck Stone used a helping hand instead of a gavel. It was real neighborliness. You know, even in something as small as respecting another's choice of beverage, a person can be neighborly. You might like huttermilk. I'm "sold" on a temperate glass of beer. And I can't "buy" anyone's telling me I'm wrong.

County Wide Test For Bang's Disease Starts This Month

Testing for Bang's disease (contagious abortion) of dairy and beef cattle in Charlevoix county will be started this month, according to Ed Rebmam, county agricultural agent. It is planned to have the testing completed by spring to cover the current certification period. District veterinarian Dr. Earl Fairbanks is in charge of Bang's testing in the county.

The original work to eradicate Bang's disease in Charlevoix county was started in 1937 at the request of the county board of supervisors. The county was made a modified certified area shortly after. County wide retests at three year intervals have been made since to maintain certification.

About two years ago the milk ring test was started in the county on a twice yearly basis to indicate suspected herds. Milk from herds suspected as a result of the ring test is taken off the market until the individual cows in the herd have been blood tested and reactors eliminated from the herd.

All herds not covered by the milk and cream test samples will be given the blood test prior to recertification of the county for a three year period.

Recent milk ring tests of the herds supplying the Maxbauer Creamery have not indicated any infection according to John Boss, manager of the local creamery.

Area Office Of Children's Aid Furnishes Report

The Traverse City area office of the Michigan Children's Aid Society recently completed two of its most active months in its history, Mrs. Margaret Gordon, director of the office which serves 17 northern Michigan counties including Charlevoix county, has reported.

Included in the report of activities for the months of October and November were the placing of three babies in adoptive homes and two in boarding homes in addition to six older children of one family who were placed in boarding homes.

The office also gave service to four unmarried mothers and to two teen-age girls in need of guidance and assistance. Decisions were also reached regarding the care of four babies whose unwed mothers had been receiving help from the Society in recent months.

Mrs. Gordon also said that the demand for adoptive children continues to run ahead of the supply. To illustrate this she said that 75 inquiries regarding adoption are currently on file in her office but that it was possible to place only three babies in foster homes during the two months period.

Postal Manual Lists Important Changes In Rules

A new Postal Manual which will list important changes and simplifications in the use of the mails effective Dec. 1 is now available to all mail users anxious to keep abreast of all changes, Postmaster Peter H. Timmer, has announced.

The new manual, which will bring together in less than 300 pages public-interest postal regulations formerly scattered through 4,000 pages of dense print may be obtained at 65 cents a copy from the Supt. of Documents, Washington, D. C. For $2.00 the purchaser may receive both the pamphlet in loose-leaf format and a year's subscription to all sheets making changes.

The revision of the Postal Manual is said to contain the most complete revision of regulations in the history of the U. S. Post Office.

City Is Prepared For 'Opportunity Days'

World in Review

PAUL M. Butler, Indiana committeeman, has been elected chairman of the Democratic National Committee, succeeding Stephen A. Mitchell.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's cabinet is split over the proposed development of a long-range program of economic grants and loans as the 'ice world's' chief weapon in the cold war. A decision is likely within the next few weeks when Mr. Eisenhower himself may have to settle the argument.

THE UNITED Nations General Assembly has given final unanimous approval to a resolution setting in motion President Eisenhower's plans for peace plan.

THE UN steering committee beat down Soviet opposition this week and recommended 10-2, that the Assembly begin urgent debate on the case of 11 United States airmen held by Red China on espionage charges.

THE Supreme Court has agreed to rule on constitutionality of Michigan's one-man grand jury law. The law, passed in 1917, permits Michigan judges to conduct secret one-man investigations of crime.

SECRETARY of Treasury Humphrey has disclosed that the Government faces another red ink year. He makes no comment on what the Administration would recommend regarding tax cuts scheduled to go into effect next April.

CONSTRUCTION of the $95,000,000 Straits of Mackinac Bridge is proceeding on schedule and with no apparent concern about approaching winter.

THE YEAR 1955 should please almost everybody, if Administration economists are right. They say prices are due to go down and profits up.

Officials Ask Co-Operation On S-D Day

Wednesday, Dec. 15, has been proclaimed Safe Driving Day. This week Mayor Dean Davenport joined with law enforcement officers and court officials in urging that every citizen join in a common effort against a common enemy: the traffic accident toll.

Every citizen, whether a driver or a pedestrian, can help in the campaign to cut down traffic accidents, not only on S-D Day, Dec. 15, but during the dangerous days ahead, Mayor Davenport said in issuing his proclamation.

He went on to say that it may sound unbelievable, but it is true, that last year there was an injury in traffic in the United States every 24 seconds. A problem that takes a toll of these proportions is one that simply cannot go unchallenged.

That is one of the reasons for S-D Day, the day designated to make everyone realize, among other things that the place to attack the traffic problem is in our own community where the responsibility rests upon every individual.

So, on Wednesday, Dec. 15, let everyone do his best to give attention to these things: Observe the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations; be courteous to every driver and pedestrian and practice sportsmanship and give full attention to driving and walking.

In conclusion he urged that everyone join with the law enforcement officers in making the first annual S-D Day a success. He also urged that everyone continue to practice the safe driving practices throughout the coming months and make Charlevoix and Charlevoix county a safer place in which to drive and walk.

Mayor Davenport has appointed Charles Pontius as director of S-D activities in Charlevoix.

Firemen's March On Dystrophy Is Definite Success

A report on the results of the drive will be made next week.

In the meantime, those residents of the community who were not at home or who were missed during the drive, are asked to mail their contribution in the envelope addressed to the local postmaster.

The report revealed that the total dollar volume was less than one per cent lower than the previous year but the total tonnage of goods handled and the net earnings of the company somewhat higher than last year.

Mr. Trumble concluded with an interesting and informative talk on the objective and operations of Co-operatives from his wide experiences of accounting for similar companies throughout the state.

L. E. McChen, president of the company, who presided at the meeting, reported that the board of directors had voted to retire $5,000.00 worth of the oldest outstanding stock held by the company.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WE ALWAYS love receiving news of former residents, where they're living and other bits of info. The latest one we've heard about is Jim Foster, who's now operating an auto agency in Beebe, Ark., where he's taking an active role in community affairs. Recently he was elected not only president of the Beebe Chamber of Commerce but to the board of directors of the Kiwanis club there. With him are his lovely wife, Lil, and their adorable son. Whom we certainly miss seeing around.

A FEW others slipped out of town recently without letting us know. Among them are Mrs. George Gloster and Mrs. James Gaskin who are spending the winter in Detroit. Mrs. Marquette Sipple who is deep in the heart of you-know-where at Bryan, Texas with her son-in-law and daughter, the Don Poles, and then there's our good friend, Mrs. H. R. Fowler, who has gone to Grand Rapids to spend the winter with her son, Forrest Fowler and the Orton VanDusens who are at their old haunts at Zephyrhills, Fla., where Miss F. L. Edson arrived recently after spending some time in Minneapolis.

WHILE they are basking in the warm sunny south, we are experiencing our first storm of the season. It sure did blow early Sunday and how the snow came down and the temperature dropped almost as fast. But then, it's December so we can expect most anything in the way of weather. Maybe we'll have a white Christmas after all.

THE BIG day is just two weeks away so get busy with that Christmas shopping. And to help you with your Christmas card list we've included the names of all the patients at Grandvue hospital so you can remember them with a card this holiday time. It will take but a minute and make someone very happy. The list is included elsewhere in this issue in a separate news story. And while you're about it, remember someone who might not otherwise receive a card or remembrance. Would you hate to think of Christmas without a card from a single person? So would we, so make it your job to see that people who might not be remembered receive at least a card. It's so simple and it will make your Christmas a much happier one.

HOW ABOUT those Rayders the other night? Sure hope they set a precedent they plan to follow for the season by winning, that is. But this week their work's all out for them. East Jordan on Friday and on Tuesday Ace Zagoraphos and his Northern from over Potoskey way. It's always a pleasure to see that Ace. He's such an optimist. Back to last week's game. Did you notice how quiet Coach Terrill was sitting on the bench. Even before game time. Hmmm.

A COUPLE years ago it was my pleasure to add to my list of friends a grand person I'd been hearing about for a long time. The other day I received his Christmas greeting, a clever original poem, "How does it seem to be Ninety?" And when you read it you all-of-a-sudden

BABY TALK

Births recorded recently include:

A son, Timothy James, born to Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wagesick, Nov. 29.

A daughter, Margaret Elaine, born to Dr. and Mrs. John H. Savory of East Jordan Nov. 30.

A son born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bolser of East Jordan Dec. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Himebauch of route 2 are the parents of a son, Daniel Lynn, born Dec. 7 at Grandvue Hospital near East Jordan.

realize from the bit of philosophy written into it why Will E. Hampton has reached that milestone. If everyone could feel as he does about life, they'd all live to be 90. And we'd like to add, Mr. Hampton, that we're waiting for that early history of northern Michigan which we think you should write.

OUR TOWN is taking on a Christmas atmosphere with the appearance of the overhead Christmas greetings and lights which are so pretty as you break over the hill from either the north or south. And with the windows all decked out in holiday trimmings, one can't help but find lots of gift suggestions all over the place.

AND IF you look up some clear night and see the stars shining a little brighter than usual and wonder why, we might suggest that it's because there's a new electrician 'up there' who's probably busy giving St. Peter (or who ever it is in charge of moons and stars) a hand with what must be a difficult job. We'll all sure miss him around here and we hope they'll appreciate him for when Charlevoix lost Jack Armstrong it sure lost a grand guy. Who never sought the limelight but sure made his way into a lot of hearts.

WITH THE temperature only 10 degrees above zero on Tuesday morning we know you'll find this hard to believe. But on Saturday the Wendell Cotas, up from Grand Rapids for the weekend, picked a bouquet of pink sweet-peas at their cottage at Birch Hills. And if you don't believe it, stop by and Mrs. Glenn Ingalls will show them to you.

IT'S getting so just about everyone goes to college these days. Including the birds. That's right. Remember the scarlet tanager that Mrs. Eva Smith took in last spring when the lovely bird broke its wing? This north country is no place for a migratory bird so when Central Michigan college offered him a home, Mrs. Smith very reluctantly sent him off to college. Where he was doing well, according to the most recent reports from Mr. and Mrs. William Southern who made the arrangements for his transfer. Mrs. Southern, the former Bev. Looze teaches in Mt. Pleasant and her husband is a senior student at the college.

DID YOU notice a story on ski resorts in this country in the latest copy of Sports Illustrated? In case you didn't see it, Boyne Mountain was listed as one of the top 12 in the nation and the only one in the middle west. Quite a boast for Boyne Mountain which is a beautiful installation and certainly a popular winter sports center.

Joan Nelson Writes Interesting Account Of Recent Trip Abroad

Mrs. Trina Nelson and daughter, Joan, who make their home in Grand Rapids during the school year, visited Mrs. Nelson's homeland last summer. It was their first trip abroad in about 20 years. In a recent letter from Joan, a teacher in the Grand Rapids school system, she has written a few of the highlights of the trip which started late in June after they had gone east and visited briefly with the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Riedel at Paramus, N. J., before sailing. Mrs. Riedel is the former Davida Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Blake who now live in Elk Rapids.

"Our boat, the Norwegian ship SS Stavangerfjord, sailed on June 23 and we arrived in Bergen, Norway on July 1. Eight of Mom's cousins met us at the boat and altogether we were 21 for dinner that night. What a thrill for both of us. Although I didn't know much Norwegian, I did understand quite a bit.

"Bergen is a wonderful seaport city of about 200,000 people. It is surrounded by seven mountains, two of which my cousins and I climbed. Ulriken, the highest of the seven, affords a beautiful view of the sea and Bergen. In the August issue of the National Geographic magazine are pictures of Bergen as we saw it and also of a park with sculptured statues designed by the Norwegian sculptor, Vigeland.

"The first weekend we were there, we were invited out to a summer hut on the side of one of the fjord islands. The Norwegians work six days a week so our weekend started at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and ended Sunday evening. The first thing we did was go fishing, real fun and I caught two. We fished until 11:00 p.m. and it was still quite light. Then in for coffee and cake. In the morning we all were served coffee and cake in bed and then later had a big breakfast. This was to be the custom the rest of our stay in Norway.

"The next event for us was a fjord trip up the west coast of Norway. The fjords were Sognefjord (Mother was born in one of the small towns along this fjord), Nordfjord and Hardangerfjord (perhaps you've heard of Hardanger hand work). We were on this trip for eight days, traveling by boat and bus.

"The scenery was the best. The deep sea water coming in between the mountains, the many colored mountains, green pines, the people from all parts of the world and, of course the thrill of adventure by going deep into fjordland. At one time we were 1,500 meters above sea level. We saw many glaciers, snow, tall peaks and so many beautiful waterfalls.

"On August 9 we left Bergen for Oslo to see the Vigeland Park and Holmen Kolmen, the site of the 1952 skiing Olympics. We stayed with an aunt of mine in Drammen near Oslo. "From here we went to Copenhagen in Denmark. What a city! In the city is an amusement park called Tivoli through which pass from 40,000 to 50,000 people from May until September. It is so clean and has so very many lights that the lights in the buildings light the entire park.

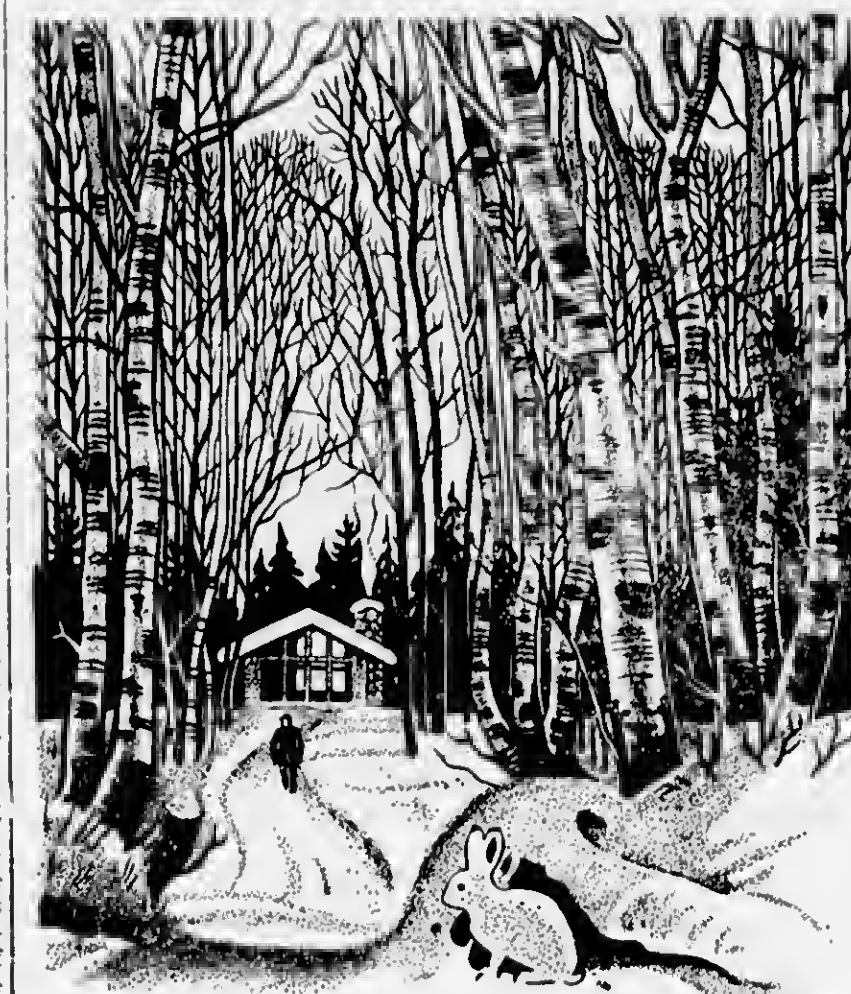

"In Copenhagen we saw the national art gallery. Many famous paintings including a special group of Rembrandt's. The botanical gardens, the statue of Hans Christian Andersen, two castles, the changing of the guard and the statue of Frederick the Vth, the one in the movie of Hans Christian Andersen where Hans and Peter climbed the statue to sell their wares and were arrested.

"Denmark is located on several islands, has a population of four million, over half of whom live in Copenhagen. Their main mode of transportation is via bikes.

"While in Bergen, I decided to go to London. I had never flown before but did so at this time. While in Bergen we had met three Australian girls who had been working in London and who were returning to their jobs there. When I got to London I called

The Best and the Worst

Snow has fallen again on Hidden Brook, and the wind has begun to sculpture it. Soft mounds are molded over ancient logs. The rusts of White Birch Lane are smoothed. Erased are the sharply etched blades of dead grass and frost-withered ferns, brushed over and covered now with clean, sparkling heaps of delicate flakes. As if to tidy up its sculptor's shop, the wind has done its midweek dusting, whisking bumps of diamond-dust from birch limbs and maple boles and balsam boughs. Now, as if to plagiarize this vast work of art and to playfully identify the wind's carving as its own, the snowshoe hare bounds forth to initial his claim upon it. Fascinated by his first inscription, line a child with his new box of crayons and the whole living room wall for his tablet, the snowshoe bunny will be unable to stop his scribbling until the entire acreage bears his signature. Before nightfall other practical jokers of Hidden Brook, as if to confuse the critics, will add their autographs, the marks of deer and mice, of partridge, mink and fox. So there it will lie, like thousands of other northland acres, a thing of beauty, the wind's masterpiece, initiated by scores of dainty feet.

But snow can be treacherous as well as lovely. Whitefooted deer mice and ruffed grouse often seek shelter beneath its cozy fluff only to be suffocated or starved when the top blanket is frozen to a metallic crust, imprisoning those woodland innocents who trusted the snow's promise of hospitality and comfort. When a heavy wet fall has come, quickly followed by a freeze, maple, birch, and poplar limbs crash to the forest floor, snapped off by the snow's great weight. Snow damages, as well as decorates, our woods. Wind, too, can be friend or foe. It landscapes the land, carving it here, building it up there, scooping up the sands with invisible hands and dumping them upon yonder dune. Breezes carry flower seeds from beauty spot to barren knoll and plant a garden there. The great sea winds pushed the ships of Spaniard and Portuguese, Norsemen and Italian, English and French toward discovery of our shores. But wind can sink the ships it sails. It can denude the soil it sows. It can twist from the foundations the house of its greatest admirer and hurl it from his land. Like snow, wind can be beautiful or bluish. It can carve or curse.

In one respect at least we are all like snow and wind. We have a dual capacity for good or evil. Almost any of our many traits can be consecrated to serve God and man, or dedicated to destructive uses. What do venturesome explorers, earnest truth-seeking scientists, prying gossipers and window-peepers have in common? Curiosity! All of them possess an eagerness to know something. But to what a wide range of uses curiosity can be applied!

What have street fighters, gangsters, rowdies, boxers, social workers, doctors, nurses, reformers, policemen and missionaries in common? They are very much alike at one point all pugnacious, fighters by instinct and inclination. Some have nothing better to do than to fight each other. Others fight social evils, disease, crime, sin, and ignorance.

The worst and the best commonly come from the same source. The powerful attraction existing between male and female is the origin of much moral squalor, smashed homes, and broken hearts. But your life and mine and all the associations we cherish most, when traced back, come at last to that magnetic force that draws men and women together. Abuse or pervert it and it will curse you. Consecrate it to wise and reverent uses and it will bless you and the world.

We have no evil instincts, nor no good ones. We have but plain, unadorned instincts, urges, and drives. Only our uses of them are good or evil. "Righteousness" is the right use of the capacities God has built into us. "Wickedness" is the wrong use of the same powers.

When snowflakes fall and wintry breezes blow and the earth becomes a museum of the wind's fine art, I'm reminded of that: the simple origin of the worst and the best.

County 'Barnyard Economics' Meeting To Be Held At Boyne City Next Week

The 1955 model of the Barnyard Economics meeting for Charlevoix county will be held next week Thursday, Dec. 16 at 1:30 p.m., Ed Reiman, county agricultural agent announced today. This meeting will be held in the basement of the Boyne City library. Leonard Kyle, extension specialist in agricultural economics from Michigan State college, will be present to help present the program.

How does the new social security program effect farmers? Farm operators will be paying their first social security tax in 1955. Here's an opportunity to obtain information and ask questions about an insurance program that will influence the future plans of every farm family.

What's new on income taxes? There are many income tax changes this year and most of which will be good news to farmers. These changes and other income tax problems effecting farmers will be discussed at this Barnyard Economics meeting.

One of the big changes which will be discussed will be the increased cost of owning and operating the machinery needed to operate a modern farm. Many ideas will be brought out for making more profits from machinery and equipment. At the present time this item makes up 25 to 30 per cent of the total farm expenses.

Two Sentences Given At Special Session Of Court

Two men were sentenced and a third arraigned during a special term of circuit court here Thursday.

Wayne Fitzpatrick, 25, of Boyne City charged with forgery, was placed on 2 1/2 years probation, ordered to pay $100.00 court costs and $25.00 fine and to make restitution amounting to $496.81 on bad checks.

Peter Petoskey, 45, of Bay Shore, charged with non-support, was placed on two years probation, ordered to pay $50.00 court costs and $27.00 per month for support of his family.

M. R. Gilson, 50, of Greenville, employed by the Berkshire Loan and Finance Co. of Painesville, Ohio, was arraigned before Judge Brown on a charge of collecting accounts in Charlevoix county for his company without having first filed a bond with the office of the county clerk. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $300.00 bond. The case was adjourned until Jan. 7.

Income tax filing deadline is approaching rapidly, better get those records in shape before time. You'll find it's a lot easier to get the job done, point out Michigan State college agricultural economists.

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you came across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. Chevrolet and General Motors set out to build the first low-priced car that would:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field? That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, skills, resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new idea? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your ideas about cars!

Real Show-Car Styling!

Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile . . . soft swiftness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a new outlook for motoring. And that outlook doesn't change when you slip inside . . . exciting fabrics and trim are harmonized with the whole car.

A Sensational Ride!

You live the new idea instantly . . . you glide . . . actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns . . . turns made so effortless by new ball-race steering. And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front . . . you get "heads up" stopping. Tubeless tires mean much greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

Power Beyond Compare!

You also feel the new idea quickly . . . quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 h.p.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!

And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost) . . . you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?

Here, we can only tell you how successfully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you. Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.

More than a new car, a new concept of low-cost motoring

Everything's new in the Several Report Success In Deer Hunting Season

Among the lucky hunters who have returned home after filling their licenses are Eugene Gibelyou and his son-in-law, Edwin Mann, who both got spikehorns while hunting near Munising with Frank Pop and Frank Novotny Jr. John Mol, who also hunted in the upper peninsula, returned with two bears, a mother and her cub.

George Bergmann got a spikehorn and his brother, Richard, an eight-point buck while hunting in Otsego county. Their sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Bergmann, also filled her license with a small buck, her first. The former's son, Lawrence, hunting in Hayes township, got a six-point buck.

Clare Staley brought home a nice buck from Gogebic county and Orville Harding, hunting near Marquette in Oseola county got a five-point buck.

Pistol Matches To Start Monday At Rod And Gun

The first pistol shooting on the winter program was started at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club indoor range Monday evening.

During a short business meeting the members decided to run a series of team matches this year. Shooters will be assigned to teams to make up evenly matched groups as nearly as possible. An added attraction at each Monday night shoot will be a "Luck Match" to be planned and directed by Don Campbell. Enthusiasm over the two "Luck Matches" last Monday night indicates they will be a popular feature.

All adults interested in pistol shooting are invited to participate in the matches. Membership in the Rod and Gun club automatically makes a person eligible for membership in the Pistol club.

Card of Thanks

We are sincerely grateful to our friends and neighbors for their many kind acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement. Our appreciation cannot be adequately expressed. Also wish to thank Dr. Grate and Rev. Allen Northrup.

Charlevoix Is Host To District Legion And Auxiliary Meetings

Charlevoix was host to the Lower 11th district meeting of the American Legion and its Auxiliary Sunday.

More than 100 members from 10 of 17 units in the district attended the business meetings of the two groups which opened with a joint meeting at the Legion Hall on Garfield ave.

John T. Murphy of Petoskey, Emmet county probate judge, addressed the meeting of the American Legion at St. Mary's school hall on the subject of juvenile delinquency and what service clubs like the American Legion can do to combat the problem. He said that he had received a great deal of assistance from the American Legion in his county and offered a number of suggestions for assisting the courts in the respective counties. He also complimented the organization on its efforts in behalf of underprivileged children.

Robert Wallin of Mackinaw City, district commander, presided at the business session at which routine business was discussed. The district organization voted to make a donation of $100.00 to the Monette family of South Boardman whose father and four children were stricken with polio last summer. Fenton R. Bulow, commander of the host post welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Leo Allard, president of the host Auxiliary, opened the district Auxiliary meeting and then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Fay Johnson of Petoskey, district president.

Mrs. Fred Gilman of Petoskey, chairman of the Child Welfare Committee gave a detailed report on the work being done to aid the children of veterans.

Three East Jordan members, Mrs. Frank Woodcock, Mrs. Olive Aspaugh and Mrs. Floy Taylor who assisted in the gift shop at the Veterans Administration hospital in Battle Creek earlier this month, reported on the shop and its activities. Auxiliaries in the state donate gifts to the shop where hospitalized veterans may select Christmas gifts for their families without charge.

Leon Fenske of Petoskey, zone commander, was present and addressed both groups.

Following the business sessions, a buffet dinner was served at the Legion Hall by the members of the local Auxiliary.

Another Michigan band director, Dale Harris of Pontiac is national president.

• Mrs. J. A. Moss of Mt. Clemens is making an indefinite stay with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Reed.

An urgent message from THE PRESIDENT of the UNITED STATES

President Eisenhower has asked every American to cooperate in making Safe Driving Day a day free of accidents throughout the country. The President has laid down these three rules: "First, let's each of us make sure that we obey traffic regulations. Second, let's follow common-sense rules of good sportsmanship and courtesy. Third, let's each one of us resolve that, either as drivers or as pedestrians, we will stay alert and careful, mindful of the constant possibility of accidents caused by negligence."

Reserves Open Season With A 59-33 Victory

The Charlevoix Reserves launched their 1954-55 basketball season in fine style Friday night with a 59-33 victory over the Harbor Springs J-V squad.

Paced by Kenny Balch, who dumped in nine field goals plus two of nine free throws, 13 of the 19 players who saw action in the game scored 24 field goals in all and 11 of 38 gift shots while holding the visitors to 33 points scored on 11 field goals and 11 of 32 free throws.

In the starting line-up for the little Rayders were Joel Arrilla, Balch, Norm Helms, Terry Davis and Richard Bolten.

Charlevoix got off to a fast start to go into a 20-6 first period lead with Balch scoring 10 points on five field goals; Arrilla adding six on two field goals and two free throws and Helms and Davis a field goal apiece while the visiting Rams scored only two field goals and two gift shots.

Harbor Springs came through with 10 points in the second quarter on four two-pointers and two charity shots to cut the Rayders halftime lead to 33-16. Balch scored two from the floor, Bill McClanahan matched his four points with a field goal and two free throws, Bob Mol and Bob Bearss each scored a field goal and Bob Geer a free throw.

With substitute players coming and going throughout the remainder of the game, Charlevoix racked up 16 points to 12 for the visitors in the third period and outscored them 10-5 in the last period.

In the third period Phil Timmer scored three field goals, Davis two, Bolten one and Balch added two singles and Helms and Barry Pischner one point each as the quarter ended. Harbor's scoring was confined to four field goals and four free throws.

In the last period Harbor Springs made only five free throws as Balch added two field goals for four points, Eddie Belfy and Cliff Pierce scored one each and Helms and Bolten scored one free throw apiece.

Others who saw action were Tracy Curtis, Dale Putman, Larry Ingalls, Ernie Gable, Stan Harwood and Eddie McCann.

Charlevoix To Play East Jordan, Petoskey On Friday And Tuesday

A tough schedule faces the Charlevoix Rayders the next week when they clash with two traditional rivals, East Jordan and Petoskey.

They will travel to East Jordan to take on the Red Devils Friday night and will host Coach Ace Zagraphos' Petoskey Northmen here on Tuesday.

In other games scheduled for Friday Gaylord will play at Boyne City; Harbor Springs will host the Grayling Vikings and Mancelona will move north to Pellston.

On the following Tuesday when Charlevoix is hosting Petoskey, Gaylord will be playing at Grayling; Pellston will be entertaining Harbor Springs and East Jordan will be playing at Mancelona. Boyne City will be idle.

The game between the Rayders and the Red Devils at East Jordan is expected to have everything.

The Jordanites racked up a 50-46 win over Grayling last week trailing most of the game and will be out to hand the visiting Rayders the same treatment. Sparked by three veterans from last year's squad, Bobby Dan-

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

The 1954-55 Northern Michigan Class C basketball season got underway Friday night with Boyne City defeating Mancelona 55-43; Pellston winning over Gaylord 49-41; East Jordan edging past Grayling 50-46 and Charlevoix rolling over Harbor Springs 72-40.

Boyne City 55, Mancelona 43
At Mancelona the Ironmen held the visiting Boyne City Ramblers 14-14 at the quarter and 23-23 at the half before the Ramblers found their stride and forged ahead 41-35 as the third period ended. They added 14 points in the last quarter to seven for the Ironmen for the 12 point victory.

Goron Yahr led the scoring for the game with 17 points. Gary Lucas had 12 for Mancelona.

Pellston 49, Gaylord 41
Pellston took an early lead over the Blue Devils and never relinquished it as they went ahead 21-14 at the quarter; 31-22 at the half and 40-31 at the third period. Merlyn Davenport came through with 16 points on four field goals and eight of 15 free throws for Pellston. Mike McKillop had 12 points for Gaylord.

East Jordan 50 Grayling 46
Playing at Grayling East Jordan trailed the Vikings 11-9 at the quarter but took a four point 26-21 lead at the half.

Grayling came back, however, in the third period 35-31 and held the lead until midway in the last quarter when the Red Devils tied the score and then went ahead by four points to take the game. The lead changed six times during the game.

Red Hamilton tallied 24 points for Grayling while Floyd Cutler scored 18 for the visitors to pace the scoring for their respective teams.

forth, Aan Somerville and Bob Darbee, the Red Devils are a scrappy outfit and, though they have little depth, can be counted on to hold their own against any opponent. The Rayders, with a 72-40 win over Harbor Springs in their first game to their credit, are also expected to give a good account of themselves against the Devils. The outcome will be a toss-up although the Rayders, with their depth, should have an edge.

The up and coming Boyne Ramblers will take on the Gaylord Blue Devils this week after racking up a 55-43 win over Mancelona and a non-loop 45-44 win over Petoskey. Gaylord on the other hand defeated Cheboygan 46-44 to open the season but bowed to a strong Pellston five by a 49-41 score last week.

Boyne City, with a tall, rangy team which has a lot of depth, has its eye on a loop title and unless Gaylord shows more than they did against Pellston last week the Ramblers will move one game closer to their goal this week.

Grayling, with a couple of good returning veterans, will move in on an inexperienced Harbor Springs squad this week. The Vikings gave East Jordan a close game before losing by a four-point margin and will be out this week to collect their first win. Unless Coach Steve Wareck can whip his lads into shape this week, Grayling shouldn't have too much trouble with them.

Pellston, boasting three veterans in its line-up, will be ready for the visiting Ironmen this week after defeating Gaylord by an eight-point margin last week. Mancelona, however, may surprise the Hornets for they managed to hold the Ramblers to a tie for the first half although the latter want on to win by 12 points. Pellston should win but not without an effort.

Next week's games are expected to furnish equally as much action.

Although a non-league game, the Charlevoix-Petoskey meeting is expected to create a lot of interest for the two teams have been traditional rivals through the years and the games between the two have always been good. With both teams out to win, anything can happen and probably will.

Gaylord and Grayling will renew an old series on Tuesday and for the first time in five years the game will take on new meaning for it will be their first game since the Vikings returned to the league. Following a pattern set in the past, the game is expected to be close with lots of good basketball.

A rivalry that has grown with the years will show itself when Pellston entertains Harbor Springs Tuesday. As a result the inexperienced Rams are apt to find themselves on the short end of the score when they meet the Hornets, another team with little aspirations.

Mancelona and East Jordan should have a good game Tuesday. By that time both teams will have another game behind them and should be in top shape. East Jordan, however, with a more experienced squad should have the edge.

Mail Early To Assure Best In Postal Service

Mail early for Christmas if you want your parcels and cards to arrive in time for the holiday is the warning issued this week by the post office department.

Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster said, in issuing the warning in behalf of the department that indications are that the mails will be heavier than ever this holiday season. It is for this reason that the department is urging patrons to mail early to avoid delay and disappointment.

Delays from two to three days depending on the distance are expected between Dec. 10 and Christmas day. Parcels addressed out of Michigan should be in the mail this weekend and all other Christmas mail except that within a radius of 100 miles of Charlevoix should be mailed by Dec. 15.

The rates of postage on Christmas cards remain the same as in the past, two cents for unsealed cards with no written message and three cents for sealed cards. The department urges the use of the latter in view of the better and more complete service given first class mail. Cards with two cents postage cannot be forwarded without the payment of additional postage.

Patrons are also urged to use complete addresses on mail including street and number, rural route number or post office box number. This applies to not only Christmas mail but all mail.

Mr. Timmer said that the local postoffice receives all together too many pieces of mail addressed only to "Charlevoix, Michigan." This causes unnecessary delays and expenses. Too many people fail to notify their friends or publishers of magazine changes of their addresses when they move.

It is also important that patrons use the address to which the mail is to be delivered. Many patrons use one address and then ask that the mail be delivered to another address. The same applies to patrons who receive their mail through postoffice boxes.

As the city grows it becomes increasingly important that mail be correctly addressed.

Want a novel Christmas decoration for your front door? Here's an idea from Michigan State home economists. Tie a little toy drum and drumsticks together with a big saucy bow and sprigs of greenery. Hang it on the door and loosely tuck the stick into the 'greens' so your friends can "beat" their arrival.

Physical Education Program In School Starts Next Week

Initiation of a physical education program in the Charlevoix public school will get underway next week, Supt. R. G. Bennett said this week in announcing plans for the program.

The boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades will be the first to participate in the program which is expected to include the ninth grade by the end of the current semester.

Mrs. Geraldine Goss will be the instructor for the girls' classes and William Aldridge and Leonard Burns, Junior high teachers, will be in charge of the boys' classes. The classes will be held for 45 minute periods twice weekly.

Designed to emphasize health habits, the program will include games, calisthenics and other suitable exercises. Time will be allowed for showers at the end of each period.

Everyone in the two junior high school classes will be expected to participate in the program after receiving a physical examination to be given by Dr. A. F. Litzenger of the District Health Department. Participation will be denied to those who fail to pass the examination or to those whose family doctors recommend against participation.

JOSEPH M. Dodge, Detroit banker, has been named by President Eisenhower as his special assistant on foreign economic policy.

COTTAGE and homeowners along the shores of the Great Lakes have been warned by the United States Corps of Engineers that high lake levels may bring flood dangers similar to those of 1952.

NEARLY 500 Michigan men slated for induction into the Armed Services between now and Christmas will be able to spend the holidays with their families.

IT WAS LEARNED this week that Administration officials are concerned about Allied shipments of certain industrial goods behind the Iron Curtain. No decisions have been reached.

THE AMERICAN Red Cross has announced a 1955 goal of $85,000,000. The campaign, which will be in March, also seeks 30,000,000 new members. The 1954 drive, also for $85,000,000 fell short by about $3,000,000.

DEFENSE Secretary Charles E. Wilson called this week for an increase of nearly five billion dollars in defense appropriations for the next fiscal year starting July 1.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has reduced price supports for small feed grains, oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums—and eased production controls set up earlier to hold down crop plantings next year.

TOP AMERICAN officials were reported convinced this week that Red China will free 11 imprisoned U. S. airmen without any deal involving a trade of 35 Chinese students detained in the United States.

CAUGHT in a sudden argument about reliance on atomic tactical weapons for European defense, Western leaders may be forced to increase the size of their "classic" armament.

SECRETARY of State Dulles flew on a mission to Europe this week, saying he would neither be intimidated nor "lulled into a false sense of security" by the Communists.

Congregational Fellowship Has Annual Election

Fifty-five members enjoyed a brief Christmas program and the singing of carols.

Mrs. Harold E. Kohn and Mrs. Grate presided at the tea table which was decorated in holiday motif.

Proceeds from the tea were given to the Retarded Children's Center, which the group had adopted as a Christmas project this year.

Mrs. Vernal Seymour was re-elected president of the group for 1955. New officers are first vice-president, Mrs. Harold Bedford; second vice-president, Mrs. George Wolf; third vice-president, Mrs. C. A. Odmark; secretary, Mrs. Lester Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Willis.

Rayders Lose To Northmen By 52-50 Here

For the third time since 1946 the Petoskey Northmen racked up a win over the Charlevoix Rayders Tuesday night. It was the first time in that period that the visitors defeated Charlevoix on the latter's floor.

The score of Tuesday's game was 52-50 after Charlevoix blew a nine-point fourth quarter lead when Dwain Walker and later in the period Tom LaBlanc left the game after collecting five fouls apiece.

Charlevoix got off to a 14-10 first period lead which the Northmen cut to 21-20 at the half. The third period saw the score tied several times before the Rayders took a 36-31 lead as the quarter ended. Charlevoix forged ahead to a 47-38 lead which vanished slowly as first Dwain Walker and Tom LaBlanc fouled out and were replaced by less-experienced players.

The score was tied at 50-all when Barry Peacock stole the ball and went in to score and put the Northmen ahead.

Peacock paced the scoring for his team and his game with 25 points. Quail Walker had 16 for Charlevoix.

Peacock had 16 field goals and 19 of 33 free throws. Charlevoix racked up 17 field goals and 50 percent of their free throws on 16 of 32 attempts. Petoskey had 21 personal fouls and Charlevoix 23.

County School Officials Hold A Meeting Here

County Superintendents of Schools from eight Northern Michigan counties met here Monday with Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools as host to the meeting.

The group convened at the library building for the day's session to discuss issues confronting the district and education in the state.

In the interest of better educational opportunities for the rural youngsters, the superintendents were in unanimous agreement that contracts be issued for 190 instead of 180 days necessary to qualify for state aid. The advantages of more uniform salary schedules throughout each county as aids toward improved teacher tenure and better relations in the profession as a whole were discussed.

That better child accounting audit procedures have been achieved was evidenced as several superintendents outlined their plans for a second year of compulsory audits throughout the state. Among those from outside the county were H. C. Fischer of Bellevue, William Jakod of Petoskey, Byron F. Anger of Traverse City, A. E. Vanzo of Manistee, Edwin O. Holmquist of Lake City, and Olive M. Potrude of Cadillac.

Road Officials Meet

T. B. Reynolds, Charlevoix county road commission engineer-superintendent, Ralph S. Hamilton, commission clerk, Sam Rogers of East Jordan, a commissioner and C. B. Meggison, state representative-elect of the Charlevoix district, were in Atlanta last week to attend the regular meeting of the 29th Senatorial district Road Commissioners Association.

Ernest Foster Is Appointed As Friend Of Court

Ernest F. Foster, a resident of Charlevoix since 1946, has been appointed Friend of the Court for the four counties of the 13th Judicial district to succeed Clarence B. Meggison, who has resigned effective Jan. 1 to assume his duties as State Representative of the Charlevoix district.

The appointment was made by Judge Charles L. Brown.

The counties to be served by Mr. Foster will include Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties.

A native of Alden, Mr. Foster returned to northern Michigan in 1946 to become associated with the former Foster Boat Co. Except for two years spent in Lansing during the Korean War when he assisted with the organizing of the Michigan State troops he was with the company until the Canvas Division located at Ironwood was sold last spring. He served with the U. S. Army for 5 1/2 years during World War II and has the rank of Lieutenant General with the Army Reserve.

Mr. Meggison has served as Friend of the Court in the 13th Judicial district since 1938 and resigned only after he was elected to the post of state representative of the Charlevoix district, which includes Charlevoix, Antrim, Leelanau and Benzie counties, to succeed the late Louis Anderson of Northport.

Rev. Bertocchini, Family To Take Post In Formosa

The Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Bertocchini and sons, William and John, spent the weekend with Mrs. Bertocchini's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Strudwick, before leaving early next year for an overseas assignment with the Seventh Day Adventist church.

The couple will spend some time with Mr. Bertocchini's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bertocchini of Elmwood Park, Ill., enroute to the west coast from where they will sail Jan. 21 aboard the S. S. Indian Bear for an overseas assignment as missionaries in Formosa where he will have charge of the Voice of Prophecy Bible School for the Island of Formosa.

Prior to leaving for the assignment in the missionary field, Rev. Mr. Bertocchini was employed by the Carolina Conference of Seventh Day Adventists as pastor of a church in Wilmington, N. C. for several years.

St. Mary's School To Close Dec. 22 For The Holidays

St. Mary's Parochial school will close Wednesday, Dec. 22, for the Christmas holidays. Classes will be resumed on Jan. 3.

Prior to the closing the children of the school will present a program at the school at 2 p.m. Tuesday for the entertainment of the other students, parents and friends.

Highlight of the event will be the Christmas playlet, "The Spirit of Christmas".

Charlevoix Churches Announce Special Christmas Services

As the Star of Bethlehem guided the shepherds and the wise men to the manger where the Christ Child lay centuries ago, so the bells of Christian churches throughout the world will call the faithful to worship during the observance of the anniversary of His birth, called Christmas.

In Charlevoix as elsewhere, special services will be held during the anniversary which marks the beginning of the Christian era.

Scenes of the Nativity will recall to all the story of His humble birth in the manger in Bethlehem because there was no room in the inn. In special sermons priests and ministers will retell the beautiful story of Christmas and the season of peace on earth and goodwill toward men.

Several local churches will hold special services during the week preceding Christmas while others will observe the anniversary on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Christmas at the Congregational Church
The spirit of Christmas permeates the atmosphere of the sanctuary of the First Congregational church this week as preparations are made for Christmas Sunday. The altar will be adorned by Christmas flowers and a dimly illumined Nativity scene.

The Sunday morning service will feature a virtual festival of joyous carol singing by the congregation, a special arrangement of "O Come All Ye Faithful" by the Men's Chorus; "Jesu Bambino" by the Junior Choir and "Agnus Dei" by the Senior choir.

The minister, the Rev. Harold E. Kohn, will preach a brief Christmas sermon on the theme "Where Heaven Shines Through". The annual Sunday school Christmas program will be presented. (Continued on page 7)

Winter Night Parking Rules Put In Effect

The problem of snow removal, restrictions of night parking on city streets, extension of time for construction to two industrial plants and several other issues were among those discussed at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

The possibility of removing snow from the business district during the night was discussed and will be put into effect at once.

The regular restrictions on night parking on city streets will also become effective at once. Cars must be parked off the streets from midnight until 7 a.m. to allow the city street department to plow the streets during the early morning hours.

Paul Reed Inc. and American Mold Engineering Co. were given until next October to carry out plans for expansion. The original date for their programs was last October.

Drew Young, the city assessor, was advised to bring the tax roll up to date. A percentage formula will be used to revise the tax roll using as a basis the valuations set up by the appraising firm last year, which was hired by the city to appraise all property in the city.

Mrs. Edward Heise, who has operated the Lake Michigan bath house asked to renew the lease. The issue was referred to the recreation committee. Other applications have been received.

Two applications for taxi licenses for 1955 submitted by Oscar Ward and Lacey Oldham were approved.

The naming of a third ward supervisor to succeed C. B. Meggison who has resigned to serve as state representative of the Charlevoix district was discussed but tabled for the present.

The council authorized the purchase of a factory rebuilt addressograph and graphotype at the cost of $1800.

A Christmas bonus for the city's volunteer women was again approved.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WHAT AN exciting time of year . . . Christmas just around the corner and holiday parties at every turn . . . Basketball twice a week . . . plus all the school and Sunday school programs and special Christmas services at our churches . . . And don't forget the last minute shopping, cards to be addressed and notes to be written, Christmas cookies and fruit cakes to be baked . . . This is one time of the year when there just aren't enough hours in the day or days in the week . . . But isn't it wonderful . . . We wouldn't trade it for the world . . .

AND ONE of the things we like the best are Christmas cards . . . Every mail brings cards from friends we haven't heard from since last year . . . many with notes about news of interest . . . And don't forget the cards from our boys and girls around the world . . . From Barbie Biee in Vienna an adorable Old World Christmas card with a note for a merry Christmas to everyone back here . . . the same greeting on a lovely silk painting on a card from Art Taylor in the Orient, a lovely Japanese print on a card from Vane Smith somewhere in the Pacific, a Korean winter scene on one from Dwight Smith, spending his first Christmas in that far off land . . . And from Italy a picture of his ship on a card and a message from Dave Glasford . . . on a Mediterranean cruise . . . spending some time in Florence before going to Naples where he'll spend Christmas and to Marseilles France for New Year's . . . And the mail will bring many more during the days til Christmas . . .

AND THEN, too, there're greetings from our summer residents . . . the ones we see during July and August and think and speak about so many times during the rest of the year . . . To them we'd like to say right now . . . from all your friends in Charlevoix the warmest of holiday greetings . . . and we're looking forward to June when you'll again be with us . . . 'Til then take good care of yourselves . . .

It's Christmas time and we love it . . .

DURING the next ten days there'll be many special services at our churches in honor of He whose birthday we call Christmas . . . Scenes of the Nativity will appear in many and in all there'll be the age-old and beautiful story . . . with the feeling of peace on earth and good-will toward all men . . .

And the Christmas music . . . everywhere there're the carols and other traditional music . . . On Sunday the Community Choir will present a program of such music for your enjoyment . . . Plan now to attend the Christmas Vespers at 4 p.m. . . . We know you'll love it . . .

Carolers will soon be out and that's another part of Christmas we love . . . we're one of the lucky ones, for each year they come and sing for us . . .

As we said . . . it's Christmas time and we love it . . . And we hope you do too . . .

ONE THING we forgot . . . the Christmas decorations around town . . . We know there are going to be some beautiful and unusual ones . . . heading the list at the moment is the Nativity scene at the Frank Bosses on the edge of town complete with Christmas music . . . We're looking forward, too, to the one Miss Ann Baumgartner has planned

Business People Hosts To Teachers At First BIE Day

The teachers of the Charlevoix public school and St. Mary's parochial school were guests of local businesses and industry during the first annual observance of Business, Industry and Education Day last Wednesday afternoon.

Following a brief meeting at the high school at 1 p.m. where Supt. R. G. Bennett outlined the purpose of the special day, the teachers left on a tour with each of the six groups visiting one business and one industry.

At 6:15 p.m. the 31 teachers and their hosts, local business and industrial leaders who had participated in the program, met at the Masonic Temple for a dinner and informal discussion.

A resume of the day's activities given by the teachers revealed that among other things they had learned a great deal about the problems of personnel, the hiring of employees and what an employer seeks in the way of personalities and abilities; how business is financed; problems involved in making a profit; problems of marketing and distribution; how business determines the commodities to be sold; how the price is determined and problems of how the school can train the graduate for jobs in industry.

Comments by the teachers showed how well the various business and industrial representatives had handled their job of explaining their respective businesses and further pointed out the many misconceptions the average person has about business and industry.

It was apparent by their reports and questions that the teachers had absorbed the day's activities and were in a position to give guidance to their students as a result of the program.

Prof. Carl Horn of Michigan State college who inaugurated the first B.I.E. program in 1947 served as moderator. He was assisted by Mr. Bennett and Gordon Freedman.

In commenting on the program here Prof. Horn said that he felt it had been most successful and joined with the teachers and business and industrial leaders in agreeing that the program should be enlarged to include all local business and industries. He also emphasized the fact that problems in the small businesses and industries of Charlevoix are practically the same as those in business and industry the world over — regardless of size.

home . . . A card, a dish of fruit, a jar of jam or jelly from your own well-stocked shelf will mean so much and cost you so little . . . And how about the people who serve you so well throughout the year . . . your postman, your paper or delivery boy and others . . . They'd love to be remembered too . . .

AND NOW, if I may, I would like to use this column to convey my own personal holiday greetings to you . . . To those of you who have done so very much for me . . . by your thoughtfulness, your kindness, your generosity, your favors, and most of all your friendship . . . The most precious thing you have to give . . . I am grateful that you have offered it to me . . . I would like now to say "Thank you" from the bottom of my heart and wish for each and everyone of you God's wonderful blessings this holiday season and in all the days to come.

Plan Survey To Learn Causes Of Tired Homemakers

The age-old problem of tired homemakers has been "adopted" by Michigan State home economists.

The answer to "What makes a homemaker tired?" is being sought by Dr. Elizabeth Wiegand and Dr. Irma Gross of the home management and child development department. They have started a study which will ask the help of 100 mothers who have at least two pre-school children.

These women will be interviewed and asked questions on their attitudes on relaxation and sleep and their likes in household tasks. Interviewers will ask about the equipment each mother has to work with and something about the children's play area. The most tiring period of a day for each mother will be studied.

Dr. Wiegand has chosen to interview mothers with pre-school children. These women would most likely have the heaviest work load since the children are dependent on them. The women will represent 100 Lansing families and will be chosen at random. There will be about four from each school district in the city.

The goal of this project is to help families live with happier family relationships and by doing so, have happier homes. The hundred families interviewed may get some help in bettering their family relationships by actually analyzing their own attitudes and plans. But the study primarily should help all families by giving a broad picture of what factors make a homemaker tired.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

WATCH FOR CROWDS OF SHOPPERS

When shopping is heavy, down town, and you notice a couple of dozen pedestrians standing in the street waiting at the red light, watch out. A small child, whose mother is holding his hand, may suddenly break loose and step out into traffic. Jostling in the crowd may push somebody forward.

Going past a crowd of pedestrians of 25 miles per hour and missing them by only a foot or two is as foolish as standing on a railroad track and stepping off just a foot or two before the train arrives. It is a set-up for disaster. So, slow down for crowds of pedestrians. Don't pass too close to them — be prepared to stop quickly — dodge quickly.

Under Control

A flag waves over Hideaway House, a wispy, filmy, windblown flag. Older than the American or British or German flag, more ancient than the civilizations of Rome and Greece or Egypt or China, the white streamer is the banner of all mankind — woodsmoke. No one now knows the primitive inventor of controlled fire, who it was that first saw that the fearful, raging flood of flame that levelled forests and struck down fleeing man and beast might well be servant rather than master. But somewhere, sometime in the dim, prehistoric past the light of comprehension flashed in the dark eyes of some primitive person. Then wood was piled on wood, and flame was brought by human hands from some fire. Nature had set with lightning. The prepared kindling was ignited and a new era was born. Man warmed his hands over the first fire started by his own intention and desire. Tyrant had become slave.

From that day forth mankind has possessed a secret shared with none other of our fellow living creatures. Man alone could make fire and control it. As understanding of this newly found servant grew, primitive inventors devised a new way of starting fires — by friction spark, the twirling a stick in the hollow of another stick. Food could now be cooked and heats held at bay by use of flame. Much later, by the fire's heat men fashioned metal weapons and tools and transformed crude clay into pottery and brick. And still, in our time, the giant furnaces of Pittsburgh, Gary and Detroit, of Glasgow, Sheffield, Leningrad, and Basel do the work of man, under the control of man. Above the towering cities and lonely farm homes hidden away among the hills, above cabins like Hideaway House and high over unnumbered camp fires there waves the rallying standard of mankind, smoke. And loveliest of all these flags is the one of silken texture stitched with sparks, the woodsmoke banner — symbol of man's growing control of nature.

The smoke waving above Hideaway House, emblem of nature under control, and the blackened stumps of venerable white pines that slump not many yards away — signs of fire's wild destruction — remind me of human strength. How good it is when disciplined and directed toward worthwhile uses! How devastating when running wild.

A human tongue can burn and sear and sear, leaving on every hand blackened reputations and cold gray ashes of ruined friendships. But controlled by a godly purpose and a God-pervaded mind and spirit, a tongue can inspire and cheer. Tongues blaspheme. But tongues sing lullabies and Christmas carols or deliver a Gettysburg Address or a Sermon on the Mount.

Looking at the woodsmoke curling upward over our cabin and at those black stump-monuments of forests devastated, I ask myself once more, "How about it, old fellow, are you becoming more and more a God-controlled man?"

Holiday music and games were enjoyed by a combined group of Charlevoix women's clubs at an annual Christmas Tea held Monday at Friendship Hall in the Congregational church. Groups participating included the Tuesday Study Club, Garden Club, Shakespear and Charles Dickens Study Clubs.

The afternoon's entertainment of Christmas fun began with a game of Holiday Charades, organized by the mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Charles Pontius. The audience fully participated in four groups pantomiming "Twelve Days 'Til Christmas", "Home For the Holidays", "Mistletoe" and "We Three Kings of Orient Are". Mrs. Lee Moerland sang two beautiful solo arrangements of "O Holy Night" and "Virgin's Lullaby", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Leonard Burns.

Charlevoix Community Choir To Present Fifth Annual Christmas Vesper Sunday

The Charlevoix Community Choir will present its fifth annual Christmas Vesper Concert at the Charlevoix high school auditorium at 4 p.m. Sunday.

The program, presented under the direction of C. A. Odmark, will span almost the entire range of Christmas choral literature from the ever-popular carols through early 17th century, French, German, English and American works climaxed by Handel's Hallelujah Chorus.

Mr. Thomas DiGaetano

Detroit butcher says, "My family would be hard-pressed if we didn't have Blue Cross-Blue Shield!"

"It's when you need Blue Cross-Blue Shield that you find out what wonderful protection it really is," says Mr. DiGaetano. "We needed it this summer. My wife was taken to the hospital unexpectedly . . . she was there for 83 days. It cost almost $2,200 just for the hospital part, and our Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract covered every bit of it. Blue Shield paid $277 to our doctor. My family would be hard-pressed if it weren't for Blue Cross-Blue Shield."

Will your family be the one in three that will have a hospital bill within a year? If so, how would you pay it? Wouldn't you be a lot better off with the kind of protection that saved over $2,450 for Mr. DiGaetano's family? That kind is the Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract and Blue Shield!

It's easy to find out how you can enjoy Blue Cross-Blue Shield group protection for hospital and doctor bills. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Call or write: Blue Cross-Blue Shield 441 E. Jefferson Avenue, Detroit 26, Michigan.

Four members of the nearly 50-voice choir will be presented in various solo capacities. They are Mrs. Lee Moerland and Mrs. Charles Pontius, sopranos, Charles Duerr, tenor and Dean Dav-enport, baritone. Mrs. Leonard E. Burns is the accompanist for the choral group.

Evergreen and Christmas lights will form a setting for the concert which will usher in Christmas week.

A choral prelude of traditional Christmas hymns, "O Come All Ye Faithful," Reading: "Away in the Manger," Mueller; "Joy to the World," Handel and "Silent Night," Gruber will open the hour-long Vesper Concert.

"Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," Bach and "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," Praetorius, will be followed by "Listen to the Lambs," Dett; the Appalachia Carol, "I Wonder As I Wander" and "The Virgin's Slumber Song," Reger.

The Finnish Folk Song, "Lost in the Night" and "What Child is This," Candlyn will be heard, followed by "Noel, Noel, Bells are Ringing," Chenoweth; "Go Tell It to the Mountain," Work; "Twelve days of Christmas," Schol-in; "The Holly and the Ivy," Boughton; "Sing We Noel Once More," Bas-Queery Carol and "Joyous Christmas Song," Gava-ert.

The moving Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah by Handel will conclude the concert.

The Community Choir composed of Charlevoix and area residents invites the residents of Charlevoix and northern Michigan to attend the concert and usher in the Christmas season with a quiet hour of beautiful Christmas music.

There will be no admission charge for the concert which is being presented through the combined efforts and cooperation of the choir members, the Charlevoix public school and its Board of Education, which have provided rehearsal facilities and music for the group.

Decorations are in charge of a committee of elementary teachers headed by Mrs. Ralph McRae and Miss Frances Milner.

If father wants to play Santa's helper, he can make a paint jar holder from a board to which three or four No. 2 cans have been nailed. Glass jars set in these cans don't tip so easily.

Michigan Mining

Most western Lake Superior iron ore is taken from open pits but much also comes from underground mines such as this, located near Negaunee in Michigan's upper peninsula. These miners are drawing ore from a "lift," a vertical shaft drilled off a main tunnel. They are working about 200 feet below the earth's surface.

TRUCKS serve you night and day — bringing you everything you eat, wear, or use — but that's not all!

Trucks pay as they serve — and pay handsomely — for a large portion of the money that goes to build Michigan's roads, schools, and hospitals comes out of the registration fees, gasoline taxes and property taxes paid by the owners of the trucks that serve Michigan.

It takes the road taxes paid by more than 40 automobiles to equal those paid by just one large truck-trailer! Dollar-wise, the comparison is around $45.00 for the average passenger car against nearly $2000 for the average large truck-trailer.

No wonder they say trucks pay their way — and more!

Better Fluid Milk Prices Foreseen In '55 By Economists

A strengthening of fluid milk prices in 1955 is foreseen by Michigan State college agricultural economists in their farm outlook for the coming year.

Based on a leveling milk production and a strong demand for dairy products, except butter, the economists say that fluid milk prices should average 15 to 20 cents a hundred pounds above those paid in 1954. Producers who ship milk to manufacturing plants will receive about the same prices in 1955 as in 1954.

What does the economic picture hold for the average dairyman? Basically, it means that he can look forward to another year in which high costs will put a squeeze on profits, the economists say.

From a farm management standpoint, efficiency would seem to be the important consideration. Farmers are striving to increase efficiency by boosting cow numbers, producing more feed per acre, and by cutting down their labor requirements through more labor-saving equipment. Twenty to thirty cows seems to be the goal of many dairymen.

The M.S.C. agricultural economists see little reason to expect that dairying will change in its relative profit position compared to other farm enterprises. Looking beyond 1955, manufactured milk markets are apparently in for a period of change as they continue to fight the battle of vegetable vs. animal fats.

In areas like Michigan, however, where large fluid milk markets are available, the future isn't so dark for the dairyman. Continued population growth, high consumer incomes and possible increases in milk consumption per person all point to an expansion in demand for fluid milk.

Smaller Profits Are Anticipated For Livestock Raisers

Michigan livestock raisers may look for a slight downturn in their profits during 1955, according to the annual outlook released by Michigan State college agricultural economists.

Careful management will be essential, they say, as the deciding factor between profit and loss. Here is the capsule run down on various livestock enterprises:

HOGS: Profits will not be as good in 1955 as in 1954. Supplies will be 7 to 8 per cent larger than last year. Prices will be well below the high levels of early 1954, but not much below prices this past fall. Feeder pig prices are expected to be lower relative to market hog prices than they were in spring of 1954. Watch for good buys in feeder pigs the economists advise. Feeding hogs to heavy weights probably will not pay in 1955.

CATTLE: Lower profits are expected in 1955. Prices of the higher grades of cattle will remain about the same as in 1954. Prices of cows and feeders and stockers will probably decline some.

LAMBS AND WOOL: Profits from lamb feeding will be smaller in 1955. Lamb feeding was profitable in 1954 and feeder lamb prices have been bid up, narrowing the spread. To encourage an increase in the production of wool, Congress authorized supporting wool as high as 110 per cent of parity. In 1955 wool will be supported at 62 cents a pound (106 per cent of parity.)

by Gene Alleman

LEGISLATORS will be asked to modernize Michigan's system of school financing in January after a committee of experts comes up with answers to three major problems.

The committee will start from scratch, basing its research on what the people need from education.

"As part of the committee's work, we should determine what constitutes a minimum educational program," said Jack Milligan, assistant superintendent of public instruction.

He said the first part of the report would be ready for the legislature in January, but that some detailed parts of the study might take two years to develop.

BIGGEST problem will be to find a way to shell out state money to the school districts which need it.

The distribution formula now sends the money to districts on a per-student basis, regardless of the need. Some districts use it to pay tuition for their students in other schools if they have none at home.

The other two posers will be to find means to improve local property tax assessments and to abolish the "closed districts," those which send children to other districts and have no schools of their own.

MICHIGAN found it was ignoring one of its own laws which provides that the state and railroads share the cost of installing flasher signals at crossings.

The 1931 law required the 50-50 financial arrangement for the installations and insists that the state pay $10 a month for keeping them in working order.

For years, there has been an agreement that the state would pay the full cost, $3,200 for each crossing signal with the railroads footing the bill for maintenance.

Now comes a ruling from Deputy Atty. Gen. Arthur T. Iverson saying that the law stands and the state is bound by it.

Plans already are in the making to lay the plight before the 1955 legislature, a body eager to

Clark Community Mrs. William Parsons

Mr. and Mrs. William Jolliffe visited relatives in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo over the weekend.

The Farm Bureau met Monday evening at the Clarence Way home. After the business meeting, a program and singing Christmas carols was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Way told about Christmas in France as they experienced it while there.

The Norwood-Barnard M.Y.F. enjoyed a Christmas party Sunday evening at the William Parsons home. The early part of the evening was spent on a tour to sing Christmas songs to shut-ins, after which games, the exchange of gifts, and refreshments were enjoyed by about twenty young people.

STATE Health Officials have started a search for unknown tuberculosis sufferers to fill vacant hospital beds.

They said that only 78 per cent of the 5,590 beds available for patients are being used, including 238 at Detroit's Herman Keifer Hospital.

The State Department of Health is proposing ways to detect tuberculosis earlier in school children and in intensified casefinding projects on a local level.

"The availability of the beds offers an excellent opportunity to expand all phases of casefinding and provide care for those who have tuberculosis and don't know it," a special report said.

MICHIGAN'S civil service commission is steering away from a fight with the legislature next year.

For the past two years, the commission has come up with pay increases for the 25,000 state employees after the legislature already had drafted its budget.

Angered by the budget-upsetting maneuvers, legislators toyed with a variety of ideas for solving the problem... abolishing civil service, among others.

Now, hoping to make peace, the commission has ordered a study of the pay situation due before the legislature returns in January so everybody will know whether another raise is in the making.

SCIENTISTS in Michigan's laboratories are working on four new "wonder" drugs, one of which may be directed against tuberculosis.

"One of the four is being produced experimentally now," said Dr. Birger H. Olsen.

Out of the four, the department hopes to develop a drug to attack tuberculosis one of the top ten killers. Even now, another of Michigan's home-developed wonder drugs is nearing production.

It is synematin, a new vaccine which has been a proven cure for typhoid fever in experiments on 15 victims in Mexico. Doctors here said there was a reason it wasn't tested in Michigan:

"We don't have enough cases in the state to test," said Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of disease control. "We may use it later on some of the chronic carriers, though."

Charlevoix Milk Producers Hold Annual Meeting

Consumption of dairy products should show an increase during the coming year. That is the picture visualized by Charles Stone of the American Dairy Association in his talk Saturday to members and guests at the annual meeting of the Charlevoix local of the Michigan Milk Producers association.

The ADA is launching the most aggressive and extensive advertising campaign in its history he said. Media used will include newspapers, national magazine advertisements in color, and national coverage on both radio and television. He reported the trial campaigns used in key areas during the past year were a success and warranted a national promotion.

Dairy producers contribute to the fund at the rate of two cents a hundred weight on a voluntary basis.

The annual business meeting of the local followed a turkey dinner served in the Charlevoix high school cafeteria by the ladies of the Barnard Grange.

Two members were elected to the local board of directors for a three year term. Anon Brock, president of the local, was re-elected. Don Hov was elected vice president. Other officers elected were: J. J. Cull, secretary; and J. J. Cull, treasurer.

The local association has been successful in its operation of hauling milk for its producers and marketing of surplus milk. Milk marketed by local producers last year had a total value of $164,161.54.

The group voted to accept new member producers on a probationary basis for one year. All surpluses would be taken first from the probationers production during the period. After the first year his surpluses would be prorated with the other members. The group also voted to participate in the ADA national advertising program.

Soil Conservation Annual Meeting To Be Held Jan. 31

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District has been set for Jan. 31, 1955 in the East Jordan high school Auditorium according to Ed Rebbman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the board. An outstanding speaker has been secured for this meeting. He is Lawrence Rubin, secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority. Mr. Rubin will tell about the Mackinac Straits bridge that is now being constructed.

Everyone, including those living in town as well as those in the country are invited to attend this annual meeting.

Farmers Urged To File Reports On ACP Practices

All farmers should immediately check their records to see if they have reported the ACP practices completed in 1954 to the Charlevoix County ASC office. Many reports have not come in and this year it is the farmers responsibility to report when the practice is completed as there will be no down the road check on performance as has been the custom in previous years.

Applications for payment are being processed in the Charlevoix County ASC office, says Joanne Carpenter, county office manager, and if you are not certain that your report is there with all substantiating evidence in the way of invoices, sales slips or receipts for seed, fertilizer, etc. be sure that it is sent in immediately.

All applications for payment for practices approved and completed in 1954 must reach the County ASC office by December 31, 1954 in order to qualify for payment.

Dead Line For Grain Loans And Purchase Agreements Through ASC Is January 31

Farmers who have postponed taking out a price-support loan or purchase agreement on their grain crops may well make an early visit to their County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, according to Mr. LeRoy Hardy, Chairman of the ASC Committee.

January 31, 1955, is the closing date for commodity credit contracts on loans and purchase agreements on 1954 crops of wheat, rye, barley, oats and soybeans and dry edible beans. Loans and purchase agreements on 1954 crop corn are available through May 31, 1955.

As of Dec. 1, 1954 only five farmers in Charlevoix County have taken out wheat loans as against twenty-five at the same time last year. This is partly due to the fact that there was such a high percentage of moisture found in wheat in early samples taken and also that there seems to be a great deal of rye in the 1954 wheat crop.

Mr. Hardy reminds farmers that adequate storage is essential to the operation of the loan program. Loans and purchase agreements are effective in protecting farm prices because they make it possible for farmers to market their crops at a more advantageous time. Instead of being forced to rush the whole crop to market at harvest time to meet operating expenses farmers may store their crops, take out a loan, and sell as market conditions warrant.

Information on Government loans to help farmers increase needed storage facilities on their farms is also available at the County ASC office.

The topics that will be covered include income tax changes, social security for farmers, outlook for 1955 and five years ahead and making more profit from machinery and equipment. An added feature of the program will be a farm and home panel consisting of two farmers, a farm wife, the home demonstration agent and the county agricultural agent.

Charlevoix Loses To East Jordan By 59-54 Score

Rayders Miss Basket On Free Throw Line

The Charlevoix Rayders bowed to the East Jordan Red Devils by a score of 59-54 in the second game of the current season on the latter's floor Friday night.

Even though the local five outscored their hosts 20-16 in the field goal column, the Red Devils out-pointed them on the free throw line by making good on 27 of 37 free throw attempts. Charlevoix connected on only 14 of 41 free throws. The Red Devils had 29 personal fouls called against them. Charlevoix had 20.

The Rayders were never ahead in the game which saw East Jordan take a 13-5 first period lead and stretch it to 31-20 at the half. In the last two periods, Charlevoix outscored East Jordan 18-16 in the third period and 16-12 in the last quarter but this was not enough to overcome the halftime 11 point lead held by the Red Devils.

In the starting line-up were Dwain Walker, his cousin, Quint Walker who dumped in 28 points to pace the scoring. Jerry Schupert, Guy Swanson and Tom LeBlance. Charlie Dennis and Gary Vandenberg were also in the line-up.

Scoring on four field goals and five free throws East Jordan took over the first quarter lead as the Rayders were held to one field goal apiece by Quint Walker and LaBlance and a gift shot by Dwain Walker. In the first period the local five capitalized on only one of nine free throws.

Charlevoix seemed to find its stride in the second quarter with Quint Walker coming through with eight points on three field goals and two free throws, LaBlance adding two field goals, Dwain Walker two charity shots and Schupert one from the free throw line. East Jordan scored on four field goals and 10 free throws.

The Rayders clicked for eight field goals and two free throws in the third period with Quint Walker scoring four field goals and the two free throws. LaBlance scoring two and Schupert and Swanson one field goal each. East Jordan had five field goals and six free throws.

In the last quarter Quint Walker added another eight points on three field goals and two gift shots; Schupert scored two field goals; Dennis added two and Swanson and LaBlance one apiece from the free throw circle.

Bob Darbee was high scorer for the victors with 20 points.

Charlevoix's Quint Walker goes up to score one of the 11 field goals he scored during last week's game against East Jordan as Red Devils Alan Sommerville and Jor Jankovic watch. In the background is the official Tom McDonnell of Alpena. Although Walker came through with 28 points, it was not enough as the Rayders lost 59-54.

Rayders To Play Grayling Friday, Host Boyne City On Next Tuesday

With all eight teams in the Northern Michigan Class C league shaping up well after only two weeks of play and several of the number one showing unexpected strength, the race for this year's title is developing into a tight one early in the season.

The defending champions, the Charlevoix Rayders, will find going from now on with two teams coming up in the next week. On Friday the Rayders will journey to Grayling to play the Vikings and on Tuesday they will host Boyne City a strong contender for the title.

Other games this week which will be equally as important will be the Boyne City-Pellston meeting at Boyne City, the game between Mancelona and Gaylord at Gaylord and the East Jordan-Harbor Springs meeting on the latter's floor Friday.

Only other game scheduled for Tuesday will be a non-league game between Class D Ellsworth and East Jordan on the latter's floor.

Grayling, paced by two veterans, Red Hamilton and Dale Pettigill, will welcome a chance to play the Charlevoix Rayders, the team that shattered their tournament hopes at Petoskey last Spring. With a 68-54 win over Harbor Springs to their credit they will be up for the visiting Rayders who were downed last week by East Jordan. Coach Del Terrill is expected to reshuffle his team after last week's loss in an effort to come up with a winning combination. More time, too, will be spent on free throws where the Rayders fell down against the Jordanites. They will need all the resources they can muster as they come up against the Vikings on Friday and the Boyne City Ramblers on Tuesday.

The Ramblers are flying high with two wins tucked in their belt. After losing the 1954 football title to the Rayders in the first game of the season, the Ramblers are out to even old scores and may have the team to do it in this year's cage squad.

Next Tuesday's game between the Rayders and the Ramblers will be one of the highlights of the current season, especially if Charlevoix gets by Grayling and Boyne City nips the Pellston Hornets on Friday.

The game of the week on Friday will be the above mentioned Boyne City-Pellston meeting. The Hornets, spiked with plenty of height and experience, are also eyeing the title and this week's game between the two aspirants will be one of the first big battles for the championship during the next 2 1/2 months. This week's game should reveal the true strength of the two squads but at this time the game is a toss up.

Mancelona and Gaylord will clash in another traditional battle on Friday. Both teams have been defeated by Pellston with Gaylord losing by a six-point margin while the Ironmen lost by five points in an overtime after losing Don Wilks because of an injury. This meeting should be a good one with the victory going to the team that controls the back boards.

East Jordan will take on the Harbor Springs Rams this week but the Jordanites should have little trouble with the last place Rams who have offered little opposition thus far in the season.

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

Pellston, Boyne City, East Jordan and Grayling racked up victories over loop opponents in Northern Michigan Class C games Friday night.

As a result of the games the first three teams remained alone in the win column following the second week of league play.

Pellston edged past Mancelona 51-46 in an overtime game after the regulation game ended 45-41; Boyne City defeated Gaylord 48-43; East Jordan won over Charlevoix 59-54 and Grayling dumped Harbor Springs 68-54.

Pellston 51 Mancelona 46 (Overtime)

Playing at Pellston the visiting Ironmen went into an early lead and were ahead 12-11 at the first quarter but the Hornets came back to knot the score 24-24 at the half and to take a 39-35 third period lead. In the last quarter Mancelona outscored the Hornets 10-6 to tie the score 45-45 at the final whistle. In the overtime Pellston dumped in six points to one for the visitors for the five-point victory.

Late in the game Don Wilks was injured when he fell into the bleachers and left the game. Marilyn Davenport topped the scoring with 16 points for Pellston followed closely by Dale Drier with 15. Gary Lucas and Wilks shared scoring honors with 11 points each for Mancelona.

Boyne City 48 Gaylord 43

Boyne City went into a 14-6 quarter and 22-16 halftime lead over Gaylord and stretched their advantage to 37-27 at the third period before the Blue Devils started to hit and cut the margin to five points as the game ended. George Middlemich paced the scoring with 15 points for the Devils. John Jaday had 12 points or Boyne City.

Grayling 68 Harbor Springs 54 Paced by Dale Pettigill who tallied 23 points, Grayling had no trouble with Harbor Springs as they led the Rams 23-12, 37-19 and 53-34 by quarters. Tor Larsen came through with 12 points for Harbor Springs.

Ellsworth Lancers Romp To Victory Over Boyne Falls

The Ellsworth Lancers combined accurate passing and excellent floor play with stellar shooting to romp to their fifth straight win of the year by defeating the Boyne Falls Loggers 70-42, on the Boyne Falls court, last Friday night.

The Boyne Falls quintet was dogged by hard luck, missing a good share of their scoring chances, and found themselves trailing 47-15 at the half.

This Friday night the Lancers met the Bellaire Eagles here on the Ellsworth floor.

Detroit housewife says, "We can't afford to be without Blue Cross-Blue Shield!"

"Two years ago my husband and I had a terrible automobile accident in Pennsylvania," says Mrs. Bennett. "I went to the hospital with two broken legs and a fractured hip. Lucky for us we had the Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract and Blue Shield. My Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract covered my whole hospital bill for 120 days—and, a year later, paid another big bill for 103 days resulting from the same accident! Blue Shield paid a big part of my doctor bill, too. Just that one accident would have cost us $3,700 if we hadn't had the Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract and Blue Shield!"

With 1 in 3 families facing hospital bills within a year, can you afford to be without protection like this? Over 3 million Michigan people have Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Probably some of your close friends have it. Ask them if they don't agree; there's no finer protection against hospital and doctor bills at any price!

It's easy to find out how you can enjoy low-cost Blue Cross-Blue Shield group enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Call or write Blue Cross-Blue Shield 441 E. Jefferson Avenue, Detroit 26, Michigan.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Guess It's Called a Safety "Drive"

Whitley Fisher, from the State Motor Vehicle Department, dropped by to discuss some of our local traffic problems.

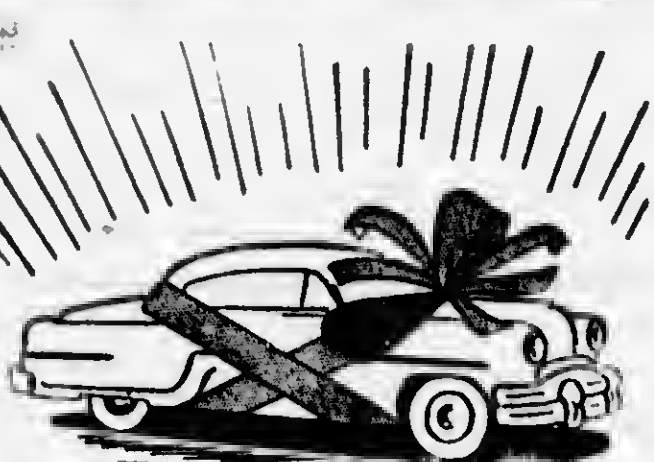

"Up at Center Junction," Whitley says, "they've got a new sign that really slows down the traffic going through town."

"The sign says, 'At 25 miles an hour, you can drive through Center Junction in 2½ minutes!' It slows people down too—some just take it easy to check on that 2½ minutes, I guess. Hasn't even been a dented fender since that sign went up."

From where I sit, it wasn't what the sign said, but the way it was said. People are usually pretty understanding if they understand what you mean. It's the same way with differences of opinion. Perhaps your neighbor prefers a temperate glass of beer, and you would choose buttermilk. What I'd like to see is for all of us to "slow down," talk it out, and be respectful of our neighbor's rights.

Seven Explorer Scouts Join In Area Camp-Out

Seven members of Explorer Scouts Troop 211 accompanied by post advisor, T. R. Miller, and Leonard Burns participated in the Northern district Explorer winter camp-out in the Hardwood State Forest near Epsilon in Emmet county last weekend.

Making the trip were David Arnold, Carl Smedley, George Farmer, Paul Allers, Charles Pierce and Jim VerWys.

With Mr. Miller carrying the equipment in his truck and Mr. Burns transporting the Scouts, the group arrived at camp by mid-morning Saturday and set up camp.

Following is an account of the weekend trip as submitted by the troop: "We didn't have much snow to begin with but gained four inches over night. During the remaining hours of daylight we met old and new friends from Gaylord and Petoskey, only other units participating in the project.

After a delicious supper and camp fire we returned to our big tent, sang songs, Indian wrestled and told stories.

"We arose at 7 a.m. to find ourselves snowbound. We were snug in our tent with its oil-drum stove and straw-covered floor. "Cooks Dave Arnold and Charles Pierce whipped up a breakfast and after things in camp were in order, we joined the other scouts in a mock lost man hunt. Mr. Miller had already set up the course as the boys lined up on the road to start their trek through the woods searching for "Gorgeous George." Charles Pierce recovered the lost dummy and was awarded by receiving the prize, six candy bars.

"The camp broke up shortly after noon when Mr. Burns arrived to take us home. "One of the features of the camp was a primitive lean-to

Courier Becomes 'Clearing House' For Lost Money

The Charlevoix Courier last week served as a clearing house for $300.00 which was lost Thursday night and returned to its rightful owner Friday noon when both the loss and recovery were reported.

Mrs. Alden Ulrich noticed what she thought was a package of cigarettes in the snow on Bridge st. at 10 p.m. Thursday night when she parked her car before going to Williams Newstand. When she found it was a small change purse she glanced in it and noticed some bills before passing it into the car to a friend, remarking that they now had a small problem to spend. On her return to the car, the friend remarked that they wouldn't get it because there was a lot of money in it. "It was 'play money'."

When the friend turned to the Ulrichs home, they examined the bill again and found they were the real thing.

Mrs. Walter Wojan who lost the money did not discover the loss until mid-morning the following day and immediately called the Courier office. Mrs. Ulrich reported her find later in the morning and our office girl, Mona McFarland, brought the two together.

Mrs. Ulrich said she received a reward for returning the money.

The Courier is asking the person who ran the classified ad for the lost purse, containing the $200.00 bill to call the office and leave his name.

Births recorded at the Charlevoix Hospital recently include: A daughter, Patricia Louise, born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bricker of East Jordan Dec. 6. A son born to Mr. and Mrs. Al Penfold of East Jordan Dec. 9.

It is lighted with flood-lights and Christmas music is piped out of doors from the nearby Boss home.

Due to the fact that so many Charlevoix families observe the tradition of decorating their homes on Christmas Eve or just before, it has been decided that it would be more fair to everyone to conduct the judging of the local homes and churches the first part of next week.

Mrs. Roy S. Swinton, 67, of Ann Arbor, died unexpectedly Dec. 14 at an Atlanta, Ga., hospital where she was taken after suffering a heart attack aboard a plane while enroute to Miami, Fla. from her home in Ann Arbor.

The body was cremated and the ashes returned to Ann Arbor for burial.

Mrs. A. E. Mock Writes Of Life In North Africa

Mrs. A. E. Mock who left earlier this fall for Casablanca, French Morocco, North Africa, to join her son-in-law and daughter, Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, has written to the Rev. and Mrs. George L. Majors of her experiences there.

The letter reads in part as follows:

"I still can't realize I'm so many miles from home. I never had a desire to cross the ocean and here I am in North Africa. We are 20 miles from the air base where Tom is stationed but we do there-often as we do most of our shopping there."

"This doesn't seem much like a city of a million population. It is more like living in Bible times with all the Arab women carrying water jugs, baked goods and what-not on their heads and men riding dorkies and herding sheep and goats wherever there is a vacant lot. Feed for the livestock is scarce and the cattle show it. The camels don't look as nice as they do in pictures."

"The climate here is very nice with the days 70 to 75 degrees. At night it sometimes goes down to 60 degrees and then we use oil stoves for heat."

"We have roses and other flowers that are just as beautiful. Money is a problem to the newcomers. You can't use U.S. currency but must have it changed to three kinds of money that are used here."

Charlevoix Oil Co. To Furnish Papers

The Charlevoix Oil Co. is replacing annual Christmas cards and tokens gifts to its friends with a year-around gift to the Charlevoix hospital.

Santa Claus Pays Visit To The Bay Shore Children

Santa Claus paid his first official visit to the children of Bay Shore Saturday afternoon while on a pre-holiday trip through northern Michigan.

After a visit with the children of Charlevoix he made the trip north on US 31 to Bay Shore in Charlevoix's new fire truck.

He arrived a little ahead of schedule at the small community but one blast from the truck's siren and the children spilled out of every home to gather around a lighted Christmas tree in the yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cole Sr. for the meeting with Santa.

Approximately 100 children received gifts of candy and nuts while equally as many grown-ups watched the happy youngsters.

As Santa drove off with the promise to return next year, a chorus of happy children could be heard wishing him a Merry Christmas.

The visit was made possible through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Edwin Medsker in cooperation with the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

AN ORCHID, a little late perhaps, but awarded anyway to the selection committee of the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association for bringing to northern Michigan the Detroit Symphony orchestra. . . . Those who heard them when they were in Petoskey last week will be ever grateful for the opportunity of hearing and seeing them. . . . After listening to them for years, it was a thrilling experience to see them in action. . . . One thing's for sure. . . . a precedent has been set and this year's committee will have a real job ahead of it. . . .

IF YOU'VE had the illusion recently that you've been seeing monkeys in Charlevoix. . . . It's not an illusion, it's a reality. . . . and the monkeys are not real but they're a remarkable facsimile of the real thing. . . . Members of the St. Martha's Guild of the Episcopal church have been making literally dozens of the cute and clever little animals that kids just love. . . . and adults would like an excuse to own. . . . So don't think the monkeys are replacing pink elephants. . . . It's not your imagination. . . .

THERE are those who would have you believe that the real meaning of Christmas is being lost in the jungle of commercialism. . . . We're ready to stand up on our little soap-box and answer the accusation in Gen. McLaughlin's now famous retort given some 10 years ago. . . . (It's not a very lady-like remark, but it's what we mean. . . . And if you need a little proof that what we say is true. . . . we'll give you that too. . . . Included in the things that make a real Christmas is the spirit of giving. . . . There are a lot of little Girl and Brownie Scouts and Boy and Cub Scouts who are making gifts and gathering gifts to be given to someone less fortunate than they are. . . . One little Cub Scout troop with not a youngster more than 10 years old is decorating a Christmas tree and bringing gifts for an elderly gentleman they know who's been good to them. . . . Not only the boys who know him, but since he's good to kids they're all for it. . . . At the Pack meeting last week each little guy brought something from home to be included in a gift to a needy family. . . .

A BIG gal we know came by some unexpected foldin' stuff. . . . and what has she done with it? . . . Got together the biggest lot of Christmas gifts for youngsters on Beaver Island who might not have much of a Christmas. . . . And when the job got out of hand she sent out an SOS to her friends and they responded en masse. . . . As a result, there're going to be a lot of happy kids come Christmas. . . . We could go on and on giving you many more examples. . . . of people who are making real sacrifices so that someone else may have something for Christmas. . . . To those who would have you believe the spirit of Christmas is dead. . . . we'd like to say, you just aren't lookin' in the right places. . . .

CHARLEVOIX sure looked like a scene from a Christmas card the other day when we had our first snow storm. . . . The wet

Charlevoix Band Rehearses Monday

The Charlevoix city band will hold a special homecoming rehearsal at 7:30 p.m. Monday night, C. A. Odmark, band director announced this week.

A special invitation has been extended to all former band members who are home for the holidays to 'sit in' on the rehearsal.

snow stuck to everything. . . . tree trunks, bushes, just every place and it was lovely. . . . And with the sun shining on it all on Sunday it was something to remember. . . .

WE'D LIKE to say happy birthday to one of the nicest guys we know. . . . Pop (Chris) Drost who will celebrate his nineteenth birthday anniversary on Christmas Day. . . . Pop's one of those people who has lived and enjoyed 60 minutes of every hour during those 90 years. . . . And the memories he's filed away. . . . he's got a million of 'em and each happier and more entertaining than the last when he relates them.

AS WE'VE often said. . . . one of the nice things about our job are the nice people you meet. . . . Last week we met the nicest couple. . . . Charles and Allie King. . . . they were in Charlevoix and other northern Michigan communities on the Assembly series subscribed to by most high schools in the area. . . . He used to sing with the Wings over Jordan program on radio and last summer was in Hollywood where he appeared in the film Carmen Jones. . . . It was grand just talking with them both and to hear of their experiences on the road. . . . Best of all was the beautiful spirit they sang for us and their Christmas gift was a lovely Christmas carol we'd never heard before. . . .

IF YOU haven't read it yet, be sure to include it in the list of things you want to read and soon. . . . It's in a recent issue of Collier's and is entitled "Each Game I Die". . . . written by pro basketball coach Joe Lapchick. . . . Of course it's about basketball and there're some parts of it we wish every high school basketball fan would read. . . . It tells the story of a coach's headaches. . . . and how even a pro team can "blow up" under pressure. . . . It's not something reserved for just high school players. . . . So try reading it. . . . It will be worth your while. . . .

A LOT of little boys we know will find little fire trucks under the Christmas tree, come Christmas morning, but we'll bet that not a one will be happier or prouder of his new toy than one big boy we know. . . . The one who's been driving the city's new fire truck which arrived last week. . . . Of course, we mean Martin Elzinga who's as proud as punch of the new truck. . . . It's a beautiful new piece of equipment and we can't blame him any. . . .

AND NOW if you're one of those real efficient people who has every card in the mail, every gift wrapped and delivered and your work all done and have time to read this column. . . . we'd like to ask you something. . . . How do you manage it? . . . And then we'd like to add the Christmas greetings of the entire Courier staff to our own. . . . May you all know the blessings of the great day called Christmas. . . . and may 1955 bring you everything your little hearts desire. . . .

A Prayer for Christmas Eve

As the flames of countless hearths warm the flesh of earth's unnumbered children, and the smoke of limitless fires ascends to greet the friendly stars, so let our hearts glow with cheer and our thoughts leap God-ward at Christmas time.

As the ground's poor rubble of fallen leaves and broken twigs and rotting logs is covered by the clean white snow, so wrap my blunder-littered past in Thy over-spreading love and tender mercy.

As lifeless-looking trees bear sleeping buds that will burst and bloom at last when kissed by spring's warm breath, so may hidden good in me blossom now to Thy enlivening touch.

As spruce and hemlock boughs bend without breaking under heavy snows and later rise again, teach us to bow beneath life's burdens with a grace akin to theirs and then to stand again, strong and straight.

As white pine limbs obey the merest murmur of winter winds and move to their commands, so may our souls answer to the whisperings of Thy Spirit.

As kindly limbs of evergreens bid cordial welcome to winter birds and shelter them from the chill night air, let all Thy children find cover tonight in thoughts of Thy greatness and Thy love.

As Bethlehem's Star shines not alone above David's town tonight, but over every manger and upon all homes and above every land, O God, let not the Christmas joy and peace be mine alone, but everyone's, everywhere. In the Christ Child's name. Amen.

Nielsen - Phend Marriage Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

White chrysanthemums, evergreens and lighted tapers in candleabra decorated the Ironton Congregational church for the wedding of Doris Joan Nielsen and Roger L. Phend Saturday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Nielsen of Ironton and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Phend of Springport, Michigan, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more than 100 guests. Virginia Smith sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Burns, who also played the wedding marches and a program of traditional music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace for her wedding. It was fashioned with a strapless bodice and bouffant skirt and worn with a short fitted jacket which featured a Peter Pan collar and long pointed sleeves. It was buttoned to the waist with tiny self-covered buttons. Her shoulder length veil of net and lace was secured with a seed-pearl tiara and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Joyce Ann Nielsen as her sister's maid of honor, wore a ballerina gown of dusty rose Chromespun taffeta styled with a portrait neckline, surplice bodice and bouffant skirt and carried a bouquet of pink mums.

Her sisters, Terry Nielsen as junior bridesmaid and Shari Nielsen as flower girl wore identical gowns of dusty rose Chromespun taffeta made with round necklines and druffled skirts.

They carried nosegays of pink mums.

Ralph Phend of Cassopolis assisted his brother as best man and Milford Saunders and Pfc. Don Bennett were ushers.

Mrs. Nielsen selected a turquoise crepe dress, a turquoise velvet hat and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Phend, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black gown, beige hat and black accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom under an arch centered the refreshment table.

After a southern Michigan wedding trip, the couple will reside at 360 Centerlawn, East Lansing. For traveling the bride wore a gray poodle cloth suit, dusty rose felt hat and black accessories.

Both are students at Michigan State college in East Lansing.

Among the out of town guests from East Jordan, Ellsworth, Boyne City, Petoskey and Charlevoix were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Maury and children, Bonnie and Richie of East Lansing and Veronica Kopplin and Sue Phend of Jackson.

'This Is The Life' Film To Be Shown At Bethany Church

Another film from "This is the Life" television series plus a colored sound film on the education of the deaf at the Lutheran Institute for the Deaf in Detroit will be shown at Bethany Lutheran church here at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 2.

The "This is the Life" film will feature an excellent cast of players and will portray some phase of religion told in an interesting and entertaining manner.

The purpose of the second film, "World of Silence", featuring Jimmy and other deaf children is to acquaint the public with the problems of rearing and educating deaf children. The picture shows how deaf children, beginning at the age of three years are reared and educated at the Lutheran Institute for the Deaf in Detroit.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program, to which the public is invited.

No admission will be charged but a 'tea' offering will be accepted.

• Mrs. A. J. Usher left Wednesday for Lansing to join her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson and family for the holidays. She will spend the winter with the Andersons and with other relatives in southern Michigan.

Annual Vesper Concert Thrills Large Audience

A thrilled audience left the Christmas Vesper Service presented by the Charlevoix Community Choir Sunday afternoon with the true spirit of humble reverence and the joy of a holy season in their hearts. They had enjoyed a musical program of their most beloved Christmas music rendered by a beautiful blend of community voices under the excellent directorship of C. A. Odmark, choirmaster.

From the prelude of familiar carols, highlighted by a nostalgic arrangement of "Silent Night", to the magnificent finale, Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah", the audience was completely enthralled.

Soprano soloists who displayed unusual talent and poise with a subdued choral background were Mrs. Lee Moerland and Mrs. Charles Pontius. Equally adept in handling other solo renditions were Charles Duerr, tenor, and Dean Davenport, bass. Mrs. Leonard Burns was piano accompanist.

Our congratulations to the choir for one of the loveliest of Christmas experiences. We predict an outstanding future for the Charlevoix Community Choir.

Cub Scouts Holds Christmas Event At Pack Meeting

Charlevoix's Cub Scouts held their monthly Pack meeting at the high school cafeteria Thursday evening.

A feature of the event was a lighted Christmas tree decorated by the Cub Scouts with decorations they had made earlier.

The project for the month was to give to the needy. Each Cub brought canned goods or a toy to be given to someone less fortunate. Mrs. E. D. Hawley's troop packed a parcel to be sent to Beaver Island. The others will be distributed here.

Awards were given to the Cub Scouts who then received a visit from Santa Claus who distributed gifts of candy to everyone. Gifts the Cub Scouts had made for their parents were also distributed.

The meeting closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Good Management Reduces Shipping Fever In Feeders

Use management common sense when you put those feeders in the feed-lot this fall, and cut down on your losses from shipping fever.

This advice comes from Dr. Glen Reed, extension veterinarian at Michigan State College. He says feeder cattle that come to Michigan from western ranges are subject to the discomforts of travel just like humans.

Crowded conditions, irregular feeding and watering, changeable weather and little rest all add to this combination: fatigue and low resistance to shipping fever and pneumonia.

Reed emphasizes that feeder cattle are often put with diseased cattle in contaminated stockyards. For this reason they should be isolated from the rest of the cattle on the farm for at least 30 days.

Give the new arrivals plenty of water, but limited amounts of good hay. Don't feed grain until a few days later then start slowly.

Shipping fever is frequently complicated by pneumonia, but early symptoms of the disease are watery eyes, runny nose, coughing, lack of appetite, high temperature.

Red Cross Group To Take Part In 'High Seas Gifts'

The Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross has participated in the "Christmas on the High Seas" program sponsored by the American Red Cross to provide gift parcels for servicemen enroute to and from overseas assignments during the holidays, according to Peter H. Timmer, chapter chairman.

Each parcel contains small useful items such as a pen, comb, nail file, plus candy and other things. The gift packages are distributed aboard ship. Others are given to hospitalized servicemen who are recuperating from wounds or injuries in military hospitals.

The Charlevoix county chapter was among more than 3,000 chapters which took part in the annual program. Its quota was 25 gift parcels.

perature and a dejected appearance. Reed says veterinarians have several treatments for shipping fever, but to be effective, the treatment must be administered in the early stages of the disease.

HUGH MAYNE, Clerk

by Gene Allemen

EDUCATORS have started an 11-month campaign to learn more about Michigan's school problems.

The program is designed to prepare 27 state delegates with information to take to the 1955 White House Conference on Education next November.

President Eisenhower has asked for the nationwide conference to determine what role that Federal government must play to keep America "the most enlightened nation in the world."

The state has been divided into 14 regions, each of which will hold its own conference and pick delegates to a state meeting.

STATE meetings, in turn, will coordinate all the problems and send them with the delegates to the Washington conference next year.

"The time has now arrived, I believe, when the people are ready to do something more about the schools," said Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction.

Main problem in Michigan now is finding money to build the 2,000 new classrooms needed to handle enrollment increases in the next few years... and teachers to preside over them.

Dr. Taylor stated succinctly that these questions will be asked of every community in the next 11 months:

"Where are we?
How did we get here?
Where are we going?
How are we going to get there?"

IMPORTANCE to education in estimation of officials jockeying

the United States in the cold war with Russia was stressed by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College.

Dr. Hannah, recently returned from an 18-month tour of duty as assistant Secretary of Defense, said:

"We know that Russia is training engineers and scientists faster than we are, and good ones, too. We must do something quickly if we are going to keep pace with them."

MICHIGAN'S 1955 Senate will have a number of new members, but the leadership will be the same that chartered the chamber's Republican course for the past two years.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) again will be Republican caucus chairman, Senator Harry F. Hiltz (R-Lansing) will be president pro tempore and Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) Republican floor leader.

Coleman led a group of younger members into power in the Senate two years ago when Republicans had 24 votes to 8 for the Democrats. During 1955, the majority will be shaved to 23 to 11. "We may have a more difficult time this year with more seats and more Democrats, but we're more united now," he said.

Major issues facing the 1955 session in both the Senate and House include what to do about taxes when the Business Activities tax, worth $30,000,000 this year, expires in spring; how to finance education; a fresh look at civil legislation.

REPORTS persist that Gov. Williams is looking for a spot on the 1956 national ticket, and his fellow Democrats are doing nothing to dispell the thought.

CIO meetings in Detroit have flatly said they would support Williams in the 1956 convention. Williams has remained silent on his plans, but attentive.

Democrats and Republicans alike predict that Williams will spend more time on national issues during the next two years and do a lot more traveling around the country.

Said one Republican: "We should get behind him, too."

for anything he wants to get in the way of political prominence, nationally."

STATE WELFARE officials would like to have more power over campaigns for charitable purposes, to protect the public and the legitimate fund-raising organizations.

W. J. Maxey, state welfare director, said his office licenses 46 charities which conduct campaigns across state and county lines, but has no power to enforce regulations.

He said the state welfare commission would ask the legislature for power to take a charity into court and seek to prevent further collections if they didn't obey the laws.

Another major item sought will be discretionary power to limit the amount of the collections that the charities can use for expenses and administration.

"Most of the charities in Michigan are fine and worthwhile," Maxey said. "These provisions would enable us to protect them and the public."

Rayders Hit Stride; Take Gaylord-Boyne Games

★ ★ ★ Defeat Grayling 57-37; Swanson And Schupert Lead Rayder Scoring

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up their first win in three starts Friday night by defeating Grayling 57-37 on the Vikings court.

On Tuesday night the Rayders were scheduled to take on the league-leading Boyne City Ramblers, who are tied for first place with East Jordan.

The Rayders started the game against the Vikings without Dwain Walker who was ill and in the first three minutes of the game lost his replacement, Gary Vandenberg, who injured his ankle.

Grayling's Red Hamilton, one of their two top scorers, fell midway in the first period and left the game with a wrist injury. X-rays later in the evening revealed a cracked bone in the right wrist which will side-line him until after the holidays.

After Vandenberg was injured, Kenny Balch, playing his first Varsity game went into the line-up for Charlevoix along with Quint Walker, Jerry Schupert, Tom LaBlance, and Guy Swanson.

Charlevoix trailed 10-9 at the first period but came back to take a 32-22 half-time lead and a 46-27 third period advantage.

Schupert and Swanson shared scoring honors in the first period with two field goals each while Quint Walker added one free throw.

Grayling scored four field goals and two free throws.

The Rayders racked up 23 points in the second quarter with Swanson tallying 11 points on four field goals and three charity shots; Schupert two field goals; Walt Pouquette a field goal and two gift shots and LaBlance and Balch one field goal each. Grayling had five field goals and two free throws.

Scoring six field goals and two free throws in the third period, the Rayders outscored the Vikings 14-5 as Swanson and Balch scored two field goals apiece; LaBlance one field goal and two gift shots and Quint Walker one field goal.

Grayling scored one field goal and three free throws.

In the last period the story was much the same with Swanson scoring three field goals; Schupert a field goal and a free throw and Quint Walker a field goal.

Swanson paced the scoring for the game with 25 points for the Rayders. Dale Pettigill had 13 for Grayling.

Others in the Charlevoix line-up were Charlie Dennis, Joe Etienne, Kit Carson, Fred Putman and Gary Smith.

The number of undefeated teams in the Northern Michigan Class C league was cut to two Friday night as Boyne City toppled Pellston 51-43 from the league lead now shared by East Jordan and Boyne City while Gaylord was defeating Mancelona 63-56; Charlevoix was winning over Grayling 57-37 and East Jordan was trouncing Harbor Springs 63-38.

Pellston took a brief 16-8 lead which Boyne City tied 25-25 at the half. The Ramblers forged ahead 39-36 at the third quarter and held a four-point margin with 30 seconds to go. Chub Rothenberger, who had 16 points for the game, dumped in two quick field goals in the closing seconds for the eight-point win. Dale Drier was high scorer with 17 points for the Ironmen.

At Gaylord the Blue Devils held a slim 14-13 margin over Mancelona at the first period but extended it to 29-25 at the half and 45-39 at the third period for the seven-point victory as Dick Blashill tallied 19 points for the victors and Gary Lucas scored 17 for the Ironmen.

In a game marred by only 14 personal fouls, including nine on East Jordan and five on Harbor Springs, the Jordanians were ahead 23-6 at the quarter; 37-19 at the half and 51-33 at the third period. Bob Darbee scored 16 points for the victors. Don Lauer had 13 for the Rams.

Tuesday's 'C' Game Results

In two non-conference games played Tuesday night, Class D Ellsworth defeated East Jordan 53-52 and Pellston won over Rogers City 81-45.

Playing at East Jordan, the Red Devils went into 16-15 first quarter and 26-22 halftime leads but the Lancers came back in the third period to take a four-point 38-32 advantage. They held a seven-point edge with a minute to go but East Jordan snapped back with three quick baskets to cut the victory to one point.

At Pellston the Hornets led 11-9; 24-22 and 40-31 by quarters over Rogers City with Merlyn Davenport pacing the scoring with 21 points. Tom Derry had 10 for Rogers City.

Charlevoix Rayder Guy Swanson No. 6 goes up to score during the recent Charlevoix-Petoskey game which the Rayders dropped to the Northmen by a 52-51 score. Preparing to go in for the rebound is Northman Barry Peacock (13) who topped the scoring for the game with 25 points.

Take 67-41 Victory From Boyne Ramblers To Tie Second Place

Boyne City's highly touted basketball squad fell apart at the seams Tuesday night as the Charlevoix Rayders trounced the visitors 67-41 with 13 members of the local outfitmen seeing action.

Charlevoix got off to an unbelievable 21-2 first quarter lead. In the second period Coach Del Terrill sent five substitutes into the game as the half ended 37-18. Action slowed down in the third period with the Rayders outscoring the visitors 8-4 and in the last period when Coach Terrill emptied the bench the local five still outscored Boyne City 22-19.

Dwain Walker who had returned to the line-up following a 10-day layoff, dumped in 25 points on 12 field goals and two of three free throws.

Nels Northrup was top scorer for the visitors with 12 points. In the starting line-up for Charlevoix were Dwain Walker, Quint Walker, Jerry Schupert, Tom LaBlance and Guy Swanson.

Kenny Balch, Walt Pouquette, Joe Etienne and Glenn Ikens joined the line-up in the second quarter and before the game ended Charlie Dennis, Kit Carson, Fred Putman and Gary Smith entered the fray. Gary Vandenberg, who injured his ankle in the Grayling game Friday was not in uniform for this game.

The extra starting line-up scored in the first period as Charlevoix ran up a 21-2 lead with Dwain Walker scoring 10 points; LaBlance, six; Schupert and Swanson, two each and Quint Walker one.

In the second period the Rayders scored only field goals with Quint Walker tallying three, D. Walker and LaBlance two apiece and Balch one.

In the third period as the Rayders scored only eight points the scoring was still confined to field goals as Dwain Walker dropped in two and Schupert and Swanson one apiece.

Dwain Walker added eight points on field goals in the last period; Swanson tallied seven points on one field goal and five free throws; Schupert, LaBlance and Ikens scored one field goal apiece and Smith added a free throw.

New Safety Movie Produced By State Police Is Available

A new traffic safety moving picture, "According to the Record," produced by the Michigan State Police is now ready for distribution.

The picture, in color and sound, is intended for showing before all age groups, although the theme primarily concerns drivers of 25 years of age or less. Running time is 28 minutes.

The picture is not just a series of do's and don'ts, but is built around a story, with a romantic interest, which leads up to a dramatic climax.

Its production was made possible by a number of business concerns which provided the money as sponsors. Filming was by Public Safety Pictures, Inc., on the campus of Michigan State college and in the Lansing area.

The picture is available for loan to luncheon clubs, safety organizations and other groups, and to schools. It can be booked through the Public Information Office at State Police Headquarters in East Lansing or any State Police Post. There is no rental charge.

Belma Kane And Harry Webster Speak Wedding Vows In Home Ceremony

In a quiet ceremony solemnized Saturday evening, Belma Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Kane, became the bride of Harry L. Webster, Airman first class, U. S. Air Force, son of Mrs. Harry Webster.

A fireplace in the Webster home flanked by baskets of white gladioli and pastel mums formed a setting for the service which was read by the Rev. W. N. Carr in the presence of their immediate families.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of winter white faille, white accessories and a corsage of red roses for her wedding.

Mrs. Donna Murphy of Grand Rapids, as her only attendant, wore a gown of pink faille, winter white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Albert Webster of Detroit assisted his brother as best man.

Mrs. Kane selected a forest green crepe dress and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Webster, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue taffeta dress and matching accessories. Both had white carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony, a small reception was held. A tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was decorated with lighted tapers.

The couple will leave Sunday for Rapid City, N. D., to make their home.

County Report Given By State TB Association

How does Charlevoix County stand in the battle against tuberculosis? Well, here's the record as given out by the Michigan TB Association.

In 1943, Charlevoix County had 5 TB cases reported against 6 new TB cases reported ten years later, in 1953. In 1943, the county had 2 TB deaths, as contrasted to the record of no TB deaths last year.

In the past five years, (49-'53), Charlevoix County had a total of 33 new TB victims.

The tuberculosis association, now amidst the annual sale of Christmas Seals, points out that the over-all trend in Michigan and the nation has been a sharp drop in TB deaths, but little or no decline in TB cases.

One of the things currently worrying health officials, the association says, is the estimated 6,000 Michigan people who have active TB without knowing it. Christmas Seals show rows of children, dancing by bright Christmas trees.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has agreed to seek a second term in 1956 barring some unforeseen development. His running mate again would be Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, according to GOP leaders.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower will make another attempt to get his foreign economic program through Congress next year, including authority to cut tariffs a maximum of 15 per cent over a three-year period.

THIS WEEK brought fresh demands by Red China's Foreign Minister and a government-sanctioned conference that the U. S. "forces" get out of Formosa and let the Communists take it.

MEMBERS of Congress taking office Jan. 5 at an annual salary of $15,000 probably will be getting $25,000 before the end of 1955.

THE National Planning Association has predicted that unemployment will rise in 1955 and thereafter unless government and industry act to increase consumer buying power and industrial production.

EFFECTIVE this week, Communist Romania has abolished rationing. Prices for the formerly rationed goods will be brought up to "state" prices of the free market and wage earners will be given a monthly bonus "completely equal to the price hikes".

THE FRENCH National Assembly voted this week to admit Germany to the North Atlantic Alliance (NATO) but did up Premier Pierre Mendes-France in a parliamentary wrangle over his proposal to take Germany and Italy into the Western European Union (WEU). Under WEU a half million Germans would be armed in Western defense against Communism.

Three Local Churches Holding Special Watch Night Services

Three Charlevoix churches will hold Watch night Services Friday to welcome the new year of 1955.

First Methodist Church
At the First Methodist church the church parlor will be open before the service from 8:30 p.m. for recreation, fellowship and refreshments.

At 11:30 p.m. a Candlelight Covenant Service will begin using the form prepared by John Wesley in 1755.

The service of adoration, thanksgiving, confession and renewal of the Covenant is well-known for the Covenant prayer: "I am no longer my own, but Thine. Put me to what Thou wilt, rank me with whom Thou wilt; put me to doing; put me to suffering; let me be full, let me be empty; let me have all things, let me have nothing; I freely and heartily yield all things to Thy pleasure and disposal."

At the close of the service all worshippers will light candles to signify the renewal of their Covenant.

The Watch night service will be a preparation for the Sacrament of Holy Communion which will be observed on the first Sunday of the New Year, Jan. 2. The Communion sermon by Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp will be entitled "I Make All Things New".

First Baptist Church
Everyone is cordially invited by the Rev. W. N. Carr, pastor of the First Baptist church, to attend the Watch night party and service at the church beginning at 8 p.m. Friday.

An old-fashioned sing-song with everyone gathering around the piano will open the event. A period of recreation and entertainment will follow the sing-song. At 10:30 p.m. refreshments will be served.

At 11:30 p.m. a worship service terminating in a prayer period will be conducted to begin the year of 1955 in the House of God with the people of God.

Assembly of God
A special Watch night service will be held at the Assembly of God beginning at 9 p.m. Friday evening.

A Watch night sermon by the Rev. Lyle Phillips and special music will be highlights of the impressive service.

Bus Drivers To Attend School January 3-6

The annual Bus Driver Training school in Charlevoix county will be held the week of Jan. 3 through 6, Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, has announced.

The program will consist of three separate instructional classes with P. A. Wickstrom, specialist from Central Michigan College of Education, in charge of the school.

The first session will be a dinner meeting at the Boyne City high school cafeteria at 6:15 p.m. Monday when Mr. Wickstrom will show an instructional movie and outline the objectives for the course.

On Wednesday, Jan. 5, Mr. Wickstrom will spend the morning in Boyne City and the afternoon in East Jordan demonstrating various safety devices and conducting a testing service for the drivers of this county. Drivers will attend the meeting at the location most convenient to them.

The final meeting will be a bi-county meeting with Emmet county drivers. This meeting will be held at the Petoskey high school at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 6. A well-selected panel representing the school board, the sheriff's department, the state police, high school superintendents, the bus drivers, parents and students will discuss several questions considered pertinent to the problems of transporting school children.

The program has been organized by the county superintendent of schools in cooperation with the Department of Public Instruction. (Continued on page 4)

Mayor Dean Davenport, who had intimated earlier that he might not be a candidate for re-election, said Wednesday that in view of the fact that two veteran aldermen would not be returning to the council he felt that he should become a candidate for another term.

Third ward alderman Ralph S. Hamilton, the third councilman whose term expires, said Wednesday he had not made up his mind about filing for re-election.

Only petition filed at noon Wednesday was that of incumbent first ward supervisor, Drew Young. Other supervisors whose terms expire are Arthur Bergeon of the second ward and Clarence B. Meggison of the third ward. Both are expected to run for re-election.

Halt Operation Of Ferry Early Because Of Ice

The operation of the Ironston ferry across the south arm of Lake Charlevoix at Ironston was halted Friday, Dec. 24, a week earlier than in past years when ice clogged the 550-ft. channel.

Traffic will now be routed along the north side of Lake Charlevoix or through East Jordan on the south side of the lake.

The operation of the ferry will be resumed in April after the ice leaves the south arm of the lake.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

NOW THAT the mad, happy rush of Christmas is over there's nothing but nothing we'd like better than to hibernate for the next couple weeks and just rest . . . But it seems that it isn't for us so here we are . . . back on the job if not on the ball . . .

But, gee, wasn't it fun? . . . All the grand Christmas cards from all those wonderful people . . . and the gifts . . . We'd like to stop right now and say many thanks to everyone who remembered us . . . and for the many nice things so many mentioned about this column . . . It makes it all worth while . . .

AND NOW to the serious job of another New Year . . . 1955 . . . Quite an impressive figure, isn't it? Don't you wonder what it's going to hold for you? We sure do but maybe it's a good thing we can't look in a crystal ball and read the future . . . If we could, we'd sure have more worries than we do now . . . Guess we're supposed to take it as it comes . . . And it really is easier that way . . .

But before you do anything else you'd better get to work on that list of New Year's resolutions . . . We won't offer any suggestions 'cause you know better than we do (if you're honest with yourself) what your shortcomings are and what resolutions would serve you best . . . And don't just make the list and then tear it up . . . Try living by it . . . At first it will be fun and soon it will become a habit . . .

To everyone, everywhere, we'd like to wish you the best of everything in '55 . . . May it bring you everything good and may all your dreams come true . . . But if you're going to live long enough to realize those dreams be careful this New Year's weekend . . . It's a hazardous time of year, weather-wise, so be extra careful . . . We'd like you to really know a Happy New Year.

MRS. CLYDE A. Smith, our Barnard correspondent, had just about the cleverest idea for Christmas this year that you've heard of in a long time . . . Her hobby, you might say, is writing poetry . . . she does it for fun and this year she had a little book of her poems entitled Homespun Verses, printed . . . and sent them out to her friends for Christmas . . . They're wonderful little poems about things that happened in her community, about her family and some are more serious and reflect beautiful thoughts . . . Others are written in a lighter vein and show a grand sense of humor . . . certainly an unusual and thoughtful gift that will be cherished through the years . . .

IF YOU'RE a football fan (and we are) you've certainly been enjoying yourself these days . . . What with the thrill of seeing our own Charlie Fairbanks play in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Alabama . . . the disappointment of seeing or hearing the Detroit Lions going down to such a humiliating defeat at the hands of those awful Cleveland Browns . . . (Awful, that is, 'cause we don't like 'em) . . . And this weekend there'll be the Rose Bowl game plus all the other Bowl games . . . We're sure looking forward to the weekend and to all the football that's going to have to last us til next fall . . .

WE DIDN'T get to see it but we've been told about the lovely painting on the window in the nursery at the Charlevoix Hospital . . . In keeping with the beautiful Christmas season, Rev. Harold E. Kohn of the Congregational church painted this lovely picture of the Christ-Child in his bed of straw . . . And overhead the Christmas star and two tiny angels . . . so fitting on a Births recorded at the Charlevoix Hospital recently include: A daughter, Kristie Jean, born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kroush Dec. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Featherly of Grand Rapids announce the birth of a son, Scott Allen, born Christmas Day at St. Mary's Hospital. Mrs. Featherly is the former Leona Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Scott of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Towns of Sparta announce the birth, Dec. 22, of a daughter, Carala Jean. Mrs. Towns is the former Betty Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rayman of Pontiac are the parents of a daughter, Cynthia Sue, born Dec. 17 at St. Joseph Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Senger of Cassopolis announce the birth of a son, Frederick William III, born Christmas Day.

Two out of three of the world's radio hams are Americans, the National Geographic Society says. Only about one in 50 is a woman.

nursery window . . . and such a beautiful reminder of the true meaning of Christmas . . .

REMEMBER the old house on Park ave. next to the Tower Hotel which was razed earlier this fall . . . We mentioned at one time that it must be pretty old . . . Ernest Peaslee who came here in 1893 was telling us last week that it was on that property when his family arrived in town and it wasn't a new house . . . even then . . . We didn't realize it at the time but it must have been one of the oldest buildings in Charlevoix . . .

MICHIGAN will take another searching look at its blessings next May 15-21.

Cities and villages will swap mayors for a day and the citizenry will be told in an organized campaign what makes Michigan the "Water Wonderland."

It will be Michigan Week. "This is a sort of reverse public relations . . . telling our own people what they have," said Harris K. Miller, chief of the information and research division of the Economic Development department.

Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the Houghton College of Mining and Technology, will be the 1955 chairman, and he is looking for a theme for the special week.

"There is a good chance that when a theme is selected, it will emphasize the cultural side of our state," he said.

Michigan's woods and waters, its business and industry held the focal point in last year's celebration.

Promoters hope to tie in the centennial celebration at the Soo Locks and Michigan State College. Special programs are planned for each.

Behind the Michigan Week observance is Greater Michigan, Inc., a special corporation organized for the purpose.

More than 300 mayors from Detroit (pop. 1,849,568) to Britton (pop. 517) traded offices last May 5 and "learned a lot of new ideas and received numerous honors from their new towns," Dr. Dillman said.

Biggest event during the 1954 celebration were the groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Straits Bridge at both St. Ignace in the Upper Peninsula and Mackinac City in the Lower.

It featured parades, fireworks, street dances and speeches by Michigan notables.

"We want to make this one the biggest and best," Miller said.

SPLIT-SECOND. Politics made the big difference when Gov. Williams appointed Talbot Smith, an Ann Arbor attorney, to fill a vacancy on the Michigan Supreme Court.

Justice George E. Bushnell retired to take a high Masonic office in Boston, ending a long career on the bench.

Bushnell submitted to Williams his request for retirement status and applied for state pension benefits, effective Dec. 31, 1954 . . . a date displeasing to the strategists.

If the retirement date had remained fixed, Bushnell's successor, appointed by Williams, would have faced a campaign for election in the Spring of 1955.

Bushnell changed the date to Jan. 1, 1955, leaving his successor in office unchallenged until 1956 when the term normally expires. One Democratic aide revived a popular song, gupping:

"What a difference 10 days make."

blers in a Federal-state squeeze. Gambling, except pari-mutuel betting at legalized horse tracks, is outlawed in the state but only this year has the situation developed for he new police proposal.

Federal authorities, realizing that gambling is legal in some states, asked, and got, from Congress a law requiring these sportsmen to pass a law making possession of a Federal license a violation of the state statute against gambling.

"We want to make it a question of where a gambler wants to serve his prison sentence . . . in a Federal or State lockup," said one police officer.

SENATE Republicans have softened their promise that they would confirm all of Gov. Williams' appointees in their jobs if he won re-election in 1954.

They held back action on 39 last winter to leave the appointments open if they elected a Republican governor. This is normal political strategy.

When Williams won again and swept in his entire ticket, the disappointed Republicans said they would blanket in the appointees held over and confirm 34 others named since the last session.

"Now we're not so sure," said Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Pennville).

Hutchinson, chairman of the Senate business committee which first must approve appointments, said the chamber will have a dozen new faces next year and it would be unfair to foist a decision on them.

He said: "We'll look over all the appointments, as we have in the past, and judge their qualifications on their merits."

Summer Wrapped In Winter

Summer is here. Although today is December 28th and snow falls lazily from above, covering the hard, frost-bitten ground with a cozy white blanket, summer is here. It's always here. When June 21st arrives, summer is plainly present with us, and summer shimmers in the heat of August, but even on December 28th, when January's cold plunges to sub-zero depths and midwinter blizzards blow, summer lies all about us, just beneath the surface of winter.

See those snow-suited youngsters trudging up the snow-laden country road through knee-high drifts? Beneath their woolly bundling there is warm pink flesh that, in a few short months to come, will be exposed to June sun and July breezes. Summer's flesh is there, needing but warmth to reveal it. So underneath the snow those youngsters tread lie withered grasses that are next summer's turf. When Winter flees from the pursuit of Spring, those blades will lift their heads and their winter brown will turn to green again.

Along the fence rows a multitude of living things, so apparent in summer, rest now, hidden, subdued, quiet. They are summery things, now wrapped in winter. Dandelion seeds lie strewn along the ditches, snow-covered and lifeless-looking. But life is there. Let Spring arrive and the seed's vitality will stir and break the shell and let latent, yellow-headed summer come bursting through. The deep, dark cracks of fenceposts, the fallen leaves, and the twigs of dense thickets shelter cocoons containing next summer's butterflies. Buds dot bare twigs, sleeping beauties awaiting the awakening kiss of the sun in May. Fertilized wasp and bumblebee queens, heavy with future buzzing insects, hide under snow-covered rotting logs. Hibernating creatures, like the woodchuck, the frogs, the toads and turtles have retreated into the earth where they anticipate the warmth of sunnier days.

Summer is here. Summer's gay, lively creatures are all around us, hidden, wrapped in the mantle of winter.

When life is most bleak and barren and we trudge wearily along through drifts of discouragement, we need to remember that all of our future golden days, the radiant times, the sunniest hours, lie latent all about us. The best God has for us, the yet unseen wonders that will gladden our tomorrows, are seeded in today. They are already here, like summer wrapped in winter.

Good Health
in the Coming Year

That you and your family will enjoy good health — and the good cheer that go with it — is our sincere wish for the coming year. But wishing won't make it so. To enjoy good health — practice daily the few, common-sense rules that promote, and protect, good health. Eat wisely. Get sufficient rest. Take time out for play, including regular, moderate exercise. Seek the advice of your physician when you become ill. And should you require prescribed medicine — remember that all our laboratory resources . . . all our training and experience . . . have but one purpose — to help you keep your good health.

RECIPE

FOR

TAKE 12 FINE, full-grown months — see that these are free from memories of bitterness, rancor, hate, and jealousy. Cleanse from them specks of pettiness and littleness, have them as fresh and clean as when they first came from the storehouse of time.

Cut these months into equal parts. This batch will keep for one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many people spoil the entire lot that way). But prepare one day at a time as follows:

Put in equal parts of faith, patience, courage, and work (some people omit this and spoil the flavor), — then put in a dash of fun, a pinch of folly, a jigger of laughter, and a heaping cupful of good humor.

Garnish with a few smiles and a Happy Year is a certainty!

Bus Drivers To Attend School January 3-6

and Central Michigan College with the latter providing the instructor.

All bus drivers are encouraged to participate in the program, Mr. Robinson said in announcing the program. He went on to say that the Department of Public Instruction feels that the bus driver is an important part of the school program and that he is not only a mechanical operator of the bus but a guide and guardian of the children who ride his bus every day. His influence on the children is probably second only to that of the teacher.

School transportation in Michigan is a big operation. In 1953, according to statistics, 4,200 school buses transported 325,000 children daily traveling 40,000,000 miles.

A total of $22,000,000 was invested in school transportation equipment. The cost of transporting the students was shared by the state and the school districts with the former paying $9,500,000 and the local school districts $2,000,000.

Clipping Cows Adds To Winter Comfort

Want to make your cows comfortable and happy this winter? Clip 'em, advises Charlevoix County Agricultural Agent Ed Robman.

Clipping helps control lice and ticks, judging from results of tests made at Michigan State college. This is true, especially, when the cow is clipped around the tail setting and along the top of her back.

The tests show that clipping reduces sediment in milk. It prevents dirt from accumulating on the udder and flanks, from which most of the sediment comes. Donald L. Murray, Michigan State college extension dairyman, cites another advantage of clipping. It's a time saver. He points out that it cuts the time required to prepare a cow's udder for milking by 10 per cent.

Murray emphasizes that a clipped cow is generally better appearing than unclipped animals. Stockyard men note that a clipped cow will bring more money when she is sold.

When clipping to prevent lice, follow the operation with an application of lice powder. Regular applications will keep your cows comfortable all winter. While you're at it, trim the brush of the tail, Murray advises.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

No 55 DON'T TURN LEFT INTO A PEDESTRIAN

The trouble with the green light is that it tells both the motorist and the pedestrian to go when sometimes their paths conflict.

When turning left on the green at a traffic signal remember that the pedestrian moving the far left corner also has the green signal and does have the right-of-way.

Expecting a green traffic signal to clear the whole intersection for you is as foolish as thinking that a check book will "let you draw" on all the funds of a bank. Actually, when you start to enter an intersection on a green traffic signal there are eight cases where the pedestrian still has the right-of-way. Watch those left turns.

Common during deer season were scenes such as this at a conservation department roadside checking station. In the foreground, a state biologist explains to a hunter how the age of deer, like horses, is explained by wear on teeth. In the background, another biologist checks a deer for a hunter.

Quotas and Areas Pay Off

The quota-area system of distributing deer hunters during the one-day special season this year was a bother for all concerned, but it did apparently accomplish its purpose. About 44,000 hunters were spread over the three areas shown above, with a limited number in area D and the others scattered in areas A and B, sections of the state where the deer crop also needed some harvesting. All told in the three areas, hunters bagged 9400 special season deer. In past special seasons, there had been a tendency for a buildup of hunters in the southernmost part of the entire open region.

Good Popping Corn Must Have Proper Moisture Content

When pop corn doesn't pop, it's not always the fault of the corn; it might be with the way it was stored.

The amount of moisture in the T. Dexter, professor of farm crops kernel is important, explains S. at Michigan State college. Pop corn pops by explosion; when it is heated steam forms in the kernel and explodes it. So when there is too little moisture, not enough steam is formed and there is just a small explosion or none at all.

Too much moisture in commercially packaged pop corn is seldom found because the corn loses its moisture to the air during storage. This loss of moisture often happens in homes where the air has a low relative humidity.

When one cup of pop corn is popped, Dexter says it should have a popped volume of 30 cups. Pop corn should ideally have 13 to 14 per cent moisture. Dexter tells how to store pop corn so it will have this amount. Make a saturated salt solution by adding more salt to about a cup of water than will dissolve. Cut several strips of blotters about an inch wide and about a foot long. Soak the strips in the salt solution.

Roll each strip like a jelly roll and tie with a string. Put two or three of these rolls in a tight container with the pop corn. This will keep the right moisture content. The blotter rolls should stay moist unless the corn is very dry. Then, you may need to re-soak the blotters.

Corn should pop rapidly with 85 per cent of the kernels exploding.

Poor Care Causes High Fatality Rate Of Young Calves

Heifer calves that you are feeding and raising now will produce part of your milk check in 2 years. So extra care now pays off.

This reminder comes from Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. He points out that the critical age for dairy heifers is between birth and 3 months old. Studies show that up to 15 per cent of the calves born alive die before they reach production age.

Donald L. Murray, Michigan State college extension dairy specialist, agrees with Rehman. He points out that four-fifths of these fatalities occur during the first three months, mainly from carelessness, damp pens and poor feeding.

Murray urges farmers to avoid draft and damp pens for their young calves, and keep from crowding them. Calves in the same pen should be within a 2-month age range and should be watched closely to see that each gets its fair share of feed. He also suggests:

Calves should be kept in individual pens until you stop feeding them whole milk. They should have a space of 3 1/2 by 5 feet. The minimum space for a calf in groups with no outside run is 30 square feet.

Murray warns dairymen against overfeeding and changing quickly from whole to skim milk. The switch should be made a pound at a time until the change is complete.

Feeding should be done from clean pails and utensils and with the milk at a uniform temperature.

Plans Underway For One Day Better Milking Clinic In Charlevoix County

Dairy farmers who want pointers on the control of mastitis... a disease which costs Charlevoix county thousands of dollars in milk and cow losses each year... can get them at a Better Milking Clinic on Tuesday, January 25, at the East Jordan high school auditorium.

The all-day program, with speakers and demonstrators from Michigan State college and several milking machine companies, is under the auspices of the Charlevoix County Cooperative Agricultural Extension Service. Doors will open at 9:30 a.m. and close at 4 p.m.

Farmers who have no troubles yet with mastitis can learn how to keep it out of their herds and those who have infected herds can find out how to rid their cows of this costly disease.

Demonstrations will cover important herd management and milking practices such as wiping udders, dipping teat cups, keeping chlorine solutions effective, care of inflations, cleaning of vacuum lines. The little daily chores that add up to good or bad herd management will be stressed.

After the demonstrations farmers can visit booths equipped and manned by their favorite milking machine companies. Representatives are expected from Choro-boy, Conde, Co-op, Delaval, Rite-Way, and Surge companies. One hour in the forenoon will be devoted to these company demonstrations showing adjustments and other factors for peak efficiency.

The afternoon program will open with a motion picture, "Science of Milk Production", showing the action in a cow's udder during milk production and what happens from poor milking. The mastitis program will continue with short lectures on "What Is Mastitis?", "What Causes Mastitis?" and "What Can The Dairyman of This County Do to Keep The Udders of Their Cows Healthy?" Then there will be tips on better milking, followed again by a chance for farmers to visit the milking machine company booths to see proper operation of equipment in which farmers invest thousands of dollars.

Mastitis can be caused by letting milking machines get in poor condition, reminds County Agricultural Agent Ed Rebmam. He advises farmers to watch local newspapers for further announcements on the Better Milking Clinic, also being publicized by radio stations and in farm meetings. He suggests that farmers bring their entire family and spend the day at the clinic; wives and young folks will get a better appreciation of dairy herd management problems, he explains. Hired men who do some milking or handle calves and young stock will also gain from attendance of the Better Milking Clinic, says Rebmam.

Annual Dairy Day Program To Be At Ellsworth Jan. 2

The annual dairy day program will be this year at Ellsworth on Wednesday, January 5. The program will start in the morning at 10:30 a.m. and the group will adjourn at 3:15 p.m. Dinner will be served in the basement of the hall and will be a family style meal by the same group of ladies who put on the wonderful dinner last year. Ed Rebmam, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, will be chairman during the morning and Walter Kirkpatrick, Antrim county agricultural agent, will be chairman during the afternoon.

Pat Ralston, professor in the dairy department of Michigan State College will start the program off with a discussion entitled, "How Good is My Cow?" Mr. Ralston has done considerable amount of work in animal breeding and in improving the breed of cattle.

Ted Breck, assistant professor in ag engineering also of Michigan State College, will discuss during the morning "Loose housing" or the pen-type barns and the latest results from these loose housing studies will be discussed. Also during the morning will be the annual meeting of the Antrim - Charlevoix Artificial Breeders Association and the annual meeting of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

During the afternoon Pat Ralston will discuss "Better Cows Is a Must", while Ted Breck will tell about Milkhouse heating and mow and bin drying of hay and grain. Also during the afternoon Byron Carpenter, fieldman from the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Coop, will talk about 'your artificial breeders' coop.

Everyone in Charlevoix and Antrim county is invited to attend this dairy day program. This annual event has proven very popular with dairy farmers in both counties. Bring your wife and your neighbors family when you come.

Ask Fishermen To Keep Ice Clean On Lakes And Streams

Ice fishermen are being asked this year to keep lake and stream ice clean of bottles, cans and other trash to help curb problems of nature litter and water pollution.

Conservation officers are enlisting the aid of chambers of commerce, sportsmen's clubs and other local organizations to carry out the program.

Bottles and cans wash up on beaches in the summer and make swimming hazardous.

"As Michigan is the nation's 'Water Wonderland', it behooves us to take more than usual interest in our lakes and streams," says G. E. Eddy, conservation department director. "We hope all sportsmen and civic groups will join with us in urging clean sport on clean ice."

The problem is not new. As early as 1865 a law was passed providing penalties for anyone who littered the ice.

Conservation officers are distributing posters to shanty owners and reminders and to shoreline commercial establishments pointing out that the law has teeth and that violators can be prosecuted.

The officers have promised special efforts this winter to reduce this growing problem.

The migration of Scottish men and women to Canada, the United States and Australia from the Hebrides seems to be on the ebb today, says the National Geographic Society. The Hebridean is beginning to realize that life at home is not so hard as it might be in newer lands.

New Food Process Uses Drying And Freezing Method

If you were to look into a cryostat ball you might see the future food market featuring "dehydrofrozen" fruits and vegetables.

"Dehydrofreezing" is a process combining freezing and partial dehydration and is now being used by large-scale food users. But, before long this new process, developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is expected to be used for packages bought by homemakers.

Dehydrofreezing, already in use by six commercial firms, is being used with apples, apricots, peas and pineapples. The process offers several advantages over other methods of food preservation. The dehydrofrozen fruits and vegetables weigh less and take less space than the same quantity of food prepared by ordinary freezing. Then too, the flavor and texture are more natural than those resulting from conventional dehydration. In some cases "dehydrofrozen" products are superior to those that are fresh frozen.

Ordinary freezing, USDA food preservation experts explain, tends to rupture cellular structure. That's why some foods break down in texture after thawing. Partial dehydration helps the cells stand up better under the freezing process. And, in the partial-drying step, temperatures are kept low enough to prevent flavor changes which usually occur in ordinary dried foods.

Reconstitution of these dehydrofrozen products, which were developed at the Western Regional Research Laboratory at Albany, Calif., is simple. They can be cooked evenly or soaked in water.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WHILE a good part of the mid-west was digging itself out of last week's snowstorm, Charlevoix got just enough of the white stuff to make the whole place look like a purty picture. Which proves again that Charlevoix isn't such a bad place to live. With Lake Michigan at our door we manage to keep cool in the summer and not too cold in the winter.

FOR YEARS, many, of them, it stood guard over the south hill. One had the feeling that nothing bad could happen as long as it stood at attention but now, like an old soldier, it is being retired from its duties. We mean the home of the late Dr. Armstrong which became a landmark but which is now being razed. It just won't seem the same.

OUR LITTLE ole Bayders will be on their way this week with their first game of the year at Pellston. It's going to be quite a game. We think our kids have found themselves and from now on they're going to do a bit of alright. They hadn't better let us down. But lots of luck and we'd like to see you make it how many-in-a-row? So let's get going.

WASN'T it great fun seeing all our kids home during the holidays. Quite a few from the service and all those from college. The days sure whirled past and now that they're all made their way back to halls of higher learning and to guarding the country, it's gonna be kinda dull for a while.

A whole bouquet to those who were instrumental in planning the parties for the kids during the holidays. There were four in all at the V.F.W. post home and everyone had a super time. It gave them a chance to get together and really have fun with a minimum of adult supervision and it proved highly successful. More proof that a youth center is needed here.

WITH ONE last backward glance at 1954, we've grabbed the brass ring on the merry-go-round labeled "1955" and the ride has started. Where it will lead and how many stops it will make along the way will be the things we'll have to look forward to during the next 51 weeks. But it's a nice, fresh, pretty new year. So let's keep it bright and shiny and most of all, happy.

AND NOW that it's January the newspapers are full of just two things that we've never been able to do: White Sales and winter resort clothes that just make you want to drool. After Christmas who can afford to spend the little money they have left on linens for the house or a trip south to wear the clothes they'd love to have but can't afford. Anyway, they make good reading.

And if you've been shopping around for a winter trip take a quick look at some of the travel magazines or big Sunday newspapers, especially the New York Times. It's just a matter of making up your mind. If you've got the foldin' stuff in your pocket. But you'll agree

To Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson, residents of Charlevoix since 1925, will observe their golden wedding anniversary Monday, Jan. 10.

The couple, who left earlier to spend the holidays in Owosso with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hayes, will celebrate the event at a family dinner party at the Owosso Hotel Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were married at Holy Cross church at St. James, Beaver Island, Jan. 10, 1905 by the Rev. Fr. Alex F. Ziegler.

A commercial fisherman by occupation, Mr. Gibson continued in the work after moving here in 1925 until he became a bridge tender on the Michigan highway bridge here in 1934. He retired in 1951.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were born on America's Emerald Island, Beaver Island. Mr. Gibson was born Dec. 5, 1881. Mrs. Gibson, the former Florence Bell O'Brien, was born Oct. 18 of the same year.

They are members of St. Mary's church here.

The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Hayes (Gladys) of Owosso and Florence of Detroit and one son, Elmer, of this city. They also have three grandchildren, Marilyn Hayes, of Owosso and Shirley and John Gibson of Charlevoix. A second son, Joseph, died in infancy.

Guests at the anniversary dinner in Owosso will be Mr. and Mrs. Hayes and daughter, Miss Florence Gibson of Detroit and Elmer Gibson of this city.

Moving and Storage

Every so often, just before retiring at night, I raid the refrigerator, filching flakes morsels of smoked salmon. A smoked salmon is enough to set my mind working and to invite this pantry-prowler's thoughts far afield of the parsonage kitchen. Where was it caught, in Oregon, or Alaska, or British Columbia in one of the continent's great western rivers, or in the open sea? Who caught it? What submarine scenes had it visited? What exciting escapades had it experienced as a tiny fish making its childhood journey from its gravel-bottomed fresh-water nursery to the blackish waters at the mouth of its native river, and at last to the vast depths of the salty sea?

My fancies then switch me to another track and my thoughts go speeding off in another direction, to some of my favorite fishing haunts — Big Creek near Lewiston, or an unnamed streamlet just a few steps from my brother's northwood's retreat, Trail's End, or to a certain deep watery den, where brook trout lurk and wait for lures, not fifty steps from our own cabin door. Brook trout belong to the salmon family, having all the fundamental characteristics of salmon — migrating somewhat for spawning, preferring cool waters and possessing an adipose dorsal fin.

I suppose I find much more pleasure in landing my trout than that unknown fisherman in the West found in landing the salmon that now tickles my palate. For him it was work. For me it is fun. Yet that stranger in the common that is most basic to human existence. We are both storing resources for future need. He lifts his fin from flowing waters and delivers them elsewhere for processing, either smoking or canning. And later, many weeks later, someone in Michigan tears open a waxed paper or opens a can and finds food for the building of body tissue and the replenishment of physical energy. Or I cast a line into a brook and snatch from the laughing stream a squirming, sparkling cousin of the salmon. It is cleaned and put with others of its kind into the refrigerator and stored for some tomorrow's meal. Company comes, and the trout are fried or broiled and then consumed and transformed into human energies, power to walk and lift and feel and talk. In one way or another that distant stranger and I are about the same business — the moving and storage business, taking a thing from one place and putting it in another for future use.

All people everywhere have been more or less preoccupied with this same business — moving and storage.

During the period from 6000 to 2000 B.C., while people were just beginning to discover the most meager rudiments of agriculture, the coastal folk of Denmark and China were learning how to net the fish that basked in the coastal shoals. These fish were then smoked and dried and stacked away as emergency supplies of food. In the meantime on the land behind the ancient coastal villages, primitive farmers were learning the art of planting, harvesting and storing grain. All were learning a secret of human existence — finding a thing in one place, like a fish in the sea or grain in a field, and moving it elsewhere for safekeeping, and at last moving it once more to the mouth and stomach for replenishment of energy. Since those prehistoric times all of man's professions and trades have in some way been connected with picking up a thing in one place and transporting it to another for a future purpose.

Spiritually speaking, there are few techniques of living that we need so much to master as that of more effective moving and storage. By this method we cultivate our natures, moving great thoughts from books where they are lodged in type to our minds where they are stored in memory. We lift melodies from concert halls and tuck them away in our hearts where they go on singing long after the musical program is over, and the crowd is dismissed, and the concert hall is darkened. A Scripture verse like "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want," or "God so loving of body tissue and the replenishment of physical energy. Or I snatch from the Bible and planted in the depths of our faith where it is a resource of courage or comfort when we sorely need it.

The moving and storage method is our Maker's plan for our physical and spiritual well being — where we look for the best in life, find it, and then make it a part of ourselves.

New Year Is Good Time To Make Resolution For Dairy Improvement

With the start of the new year, it's a good time to make a profitable resolution for your dairy herd. All you have to do is weigh the milk once a month from each cow. Then by next New Years you will know which cows made your last year happy.

That's advice from Charlevoix county agricultural agent Ed Reiman. He says DHIA records show that cows producing less than 250 pounds of butterfat seldom return a profit above the cost of feed. On a milk basis you would need 7000 pounds from Holsteins, 6000 pounds from Brown Swiss or Ayrshires and 5000 pounds from Jerseys and Guernseys.

The agricultural agent says that many farmers pick one or two days a month to weigh milk. So if you're not already following that practice there's plenty of chance to get started. Why not pick January 15 and weigh the middle of each month after that?

L. A. Johnson, extension dairyman at Michigan State college, says that production records give a much better basis for careful feeding of concentrates.

With lower milk prices it is much more important to have some way of knowing the amount of grain to feed. Johnson says there is always a tendency to over-feed the low producing animals and underfeed the high producers.

Johnson suggests feeding about one pound of grain for each four pounds of milk producer per day for Holsteins. Slightly larger amounts are needed for the higher testing breeds.

Brush Shelters Placed In Lakes

A total of 1029 brush shelters have been placed in 10 lakes scattered throughout Michigan this fall.

A shelter is simply a pile of tree limbs secured on a frame, weighted and placed in a lake to provide an underwater gathering place for fish. The shelters provide haven for some types of fish and serve as underwater cafeterias for others. They also inspire growth of underwater vegetation. Six of the lakes were in the upper peninsula.

The writings of Marco Polo disclosed that 13th-century China had a highly developed postal system, the National Geographic Society says. "Horse posthouses" were maintained at 25-mile intervals on highways radiating from Peking to various provinces, and 400 horses were kept at major stations. The system had parcel-post and special-delivery features.

Christmas Holiday Brings An International Flavor To Area

Our holidays this year had an international flavor! We had the privilege of meeting and visiting with Rev. G. Herbert Schmidt, missionary, lecturer and author who visited in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Barclay and Mr. Barclay over the Christmas holiday. Then Christmas day Attila Goknien, of Istanbul, Turkey, an exchange student, now taking an engineering course at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, was our guest with our niece, Miss Theo Coplas, who returned last June after two years of teaching in Bangkok, Thailand as a Full-bright teacher.

On December 21 Miss Coplas and Mr. Goknien were guests at Banks school where Theo showed slides and spoke of her work.

In our talk with Rev. Schmidt we were impressed by his staunch belief in God and his determination to continue his mission work under grave threat to his life.

Rev. Schmidt, now a citizen of the U. S., who was born in the Ukraine Province in Russia 62 years ago, left his native country for Germany at the age of 16. About 1912 he came to the United States to attend Bible Seminary in Rochester, N. Y. to prepare for his return to do mission work in European countries at the close of World War I. He formed the Russian and Eastern European Mission in Danzig, now called the Eastern European Mission and worked in Poland, Russia and the Balkan States.

In 1937 he and his wife came to the United States remaining until the latter part of 1939, during which time Mrs. Schmidt received her citizenship papers. In the latter part of 1941 Rev. Schmidt was imprisoned on a false charge by the Nazis, with the Nazis hoping to use Rev. Schmidt as interpreter because of his command of the language of these European countries. He was released at the end of six months on the condition that he cease his ministry.

He escaped from Germany by stowing away on a Polish coal barge, landing in Sweden, carrying on his mission work holding meetings many times in secret with guards posted to warn of approaching officials who would not condone these gatherings.

His family had to remain in Germany where Mrs. Schmidt died in 1944 following a nine month illness brought on by conditions and aggravated by the Nazi regime conditions. In early 1948, his daughters, Ruth (Mrs. Barclay) and Karin, born in 1940, were able to get through and join him, then after a short time they left for the United States, arriving in July 1946.

Most of the time since then except for the time spent in traveling and lecturing the Schmidt family had considered Maywood, California as their home address.

Rev. Schmidt has traveled extensively in Canada among the German people and other who have escaped from the oppression of the European situation in Germany and the Balkan States. Also he has traveled in the States, lecturing about his work and teaching Bible courses. He has also done his mission work through radio channels in the states and now will also be able to do so through a station in Canada, with his headquarters in Wichita, Kansas.

Rev. Schmidt has done extensive writing, having published several books in Sweden and two in the states "Songs in the Night" about his imprisonment and "The Journey Home" sequel to Songs in the Night.

Ellsworth Loses To Edmore Team 67-52

A mighty team from Edmore handed the Ellsworth Lancers their first defeat in eight starts and by so doing kept their own record unblemished for this season.

The Lancers got off to a 12-8 lead as the first quarter ended, but Edmore shored up her defenses and threw her offense machinery into high gear to gain a well deserved victory over the scrappy Ellsworth five with a 67-52 score.

Class C Teams Tuned-Up For Last Stretch Of Conference Play

After a two weeks holiday recess with no scheduled games, Northern Michigan Class C coaches are busy whipping their teams into shape for games on Friday and for the seven weeks of concentrated basketball remaining in the 1954-55 season.

During the next seven weeks all teams will play at least 12 games.

Four league games on Friday will open the 1955 division of the current schedule.

Charlevoix will travel to Pellston to take on the Hornets who are tied with the Rayders and Boyne City for second place in loop standings; the league-leading East Jordan Red Devils will host Gaylord; Mancelona will play at Grayling and Boyne City will journey to Harbor Springs.

On Tuesday Harbor Springs will play at Ellsworth; Grayling will travel to Kalkaska and East Jordan will journey to Cheboygan for non-loop games.

The Charlevoix Rayders will travel to Pellston Friday to meet the Hornets and attempt to crowd them out of second place which is now crowded with three occupants. Charlevoix's most recent win was a 69-41 victory over Boyne City, the team which defeated Pellston 51-43 and knocked the Hornets from first place earlier in the season.

The Rayders seem to have found their stride and though the Hornets will have an edge on their own floor, the Charlevoix five should come through with a win even though it might only be by a slim margin.

When East Jordan hosts the Gaylord Blue Devils this week the Jordanites will be defending their first place standing.

If comparative scores mean anything, the two teams should be pretty well matched for East Jordan managed a last minute 50-46 victory over Grayling, a team Gaylord defeated by a 62-59 score. Both teams also have wins over Mancelona with Gaylord winning by a 63-56 score and the Jordanites by a lop-sided 84-58 score. Gaylord has lost to Pellston and Boyne City by slim margins while East Jordan has racked up victories over Charlevoix and Harbor Springs.

Gaylord has looked very good at times but so far has seemed to lack consistency and the ability to come through when the chips are down, a feat which the East Jordan quintet has accomplished countless times. The meeting should be a close one but the aggressive, scrappy Jordanites will have the edge in the meeting.

The Mancelona-Grayling meeting will be a grudge battle all the way for the Vikings trimmed the Ironmen twice last season and Coach Schumann's lads hope, that this season, they are in a position to even scores. Though they have no wins to date, Mancelona lost to Pellston in an overtime and has dropped two other games by slim margins. The game should be a good one with Mancelona having a chance to rack up a win.

The Boyne City Ramblers who just couldn't get started when they played the Rayders earlier will travel to Harbor Springs to take on the Rams who are holding down the cellar position with Mancelona in league standings. The Rams are a scrappy but inexperienced outfit that will give the Ramblers some trouble but the strong Boyne five should come through St. James — Funeral services for James E. McCann, 52, who died unexpectedly Dec. 29, were held at St. James, Beaver Island, Friday with burial in Holy Cross cemetery.

Air Force, he is survived by three brothers, Dr. Charles of Beulah, Emmett of Charlevoix and Roland of Chicago and two sisters, Mrs. Vernon Runberg of Bay City and Mrs. C. J. Dunbar of Denver, Colo.

Among those from away besides his family who attended the services were John Runberg of Bay City, Maureen Runberg, Edgar O'Donnell and Erwin Belfy of Detroit, Arthur Pischner of Two Rivers, Wis., Mrs. M. J. McCann, Edwin McCann, Gerald Left and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence N. Dittleson of Charlevoix.

Worming ewes now will help protect your lamb crop, M.S.C. sheepmen advise.

with another victory without too much difficulty.

On Tuesday Harbor Springs will find tough going against Class D Ellsworth which clipped East Jordan 53-52 last month; Grayling will meet Kalkaska on the latter's floor and should come through with a win and East Jordan will take on Class B Cheboygan and should return home with another victory to their credit.

Dickens Club Hears Mrs. H. Campbell Talk On Antiques

Mrs. Harvey Campbell presented an interesting and entertaining paper on the Story of Antiques at the regular meeting of the Dickens Study Club held Monday at the home of Mrs. Harley Ochs.

Following the club's theme for the year, "The American Home," Mrs. Campbell's story of antiques followed the early history of how antiques of every kind came to be made and how they can be used in furnishing a home today.

She included in her story antique furniture, hand-loomed materials, pottery, metals of various types such as silver, brass, copper and pewter and glassware. She also touched briefly on the evolution of the looking glass and old lamps.

She concluded by saying that collecting of antiques can be a fascinating hobby and the use of antiques in the home a gracious way of living.

Parade Of Farm Progress Theme At M.S.C. Centennial

A parade of farm progress will greet visitors to the 1955 Centennial Farmers' Week. The change in agriculture is reflected in everything from exhibits to the general theme.

"A Century of Partnership, Agriculture and Michigan State" will be the slogan for the "winter fair" for the farmers of Michigan and nearby states.

The 40th annual Farmers' Week will be held on the M.S.C. campus from Feb. 7 to 11.

For the first time, there will be no Saturday meetings during Farmers' Week. This leaves the day open for the beginning of the Michigan State College Centennial. Feb. 12 has been designated as Founders' Day for the celebration.

Another change on the 1955 program is moving the meetings of the Michigan Horse Breeders' and Michigan Dynamometer associations from Tuesday to Monday, to fill an otherwise-light opening day program.

"Bangs Facts For You" meetings will be Tuesday to Thursday to acquaint farmers with the details of the disease and the fight to control it. This year there will be no Tuesday general session to make room for more individual meetings.

On Wednesday evening this year there will be an intercollegiate debate. Split teams from M.S.C. and University of Wisconsin will debate the present agricultural price control program.

New Bulletin Explains Income Tax Changes Beneficial To Agriculture

Farmers can get the latest information on changes in the income tax law from a new bulletin just off the press, Ed Rehnman, county agricultural agent announced.

Put out by Michigan State college, "Farmers' 1954 Income Tax" can be picked up free of the county agricultural agent's office at Boyne City. Or it is available by writing the Bulletin Office at Michigan State, East Lansing.

M.S.C.'s farm income tax specialist, E. M. Elwood points out that farmers should especially remember these changes in the income tax law:

They have one month longer to prepare their final statement and they will have to pay about 10 per cent less tax this year. The deadline for the final return now is April 15 instead of March 15.

Children under 10 can earn more than $600 and still be claimed as dependents if their parents provide more than half their support. The same holds true if the children are 19 or over and full-time students, for at least five months of the year.

Medical and dental expenses over 3 per cent of the adjusted gross income can be deducted, if the expenses are listed. The previous figure was 3 per cent.

Income from livestock sold, exchanged, or destroyed because of disease need not be listed for payment of tax, if the amount is reinvested in similar livestock within a year. An example would be the indemnities under the TB program. Other important changes are discussed in the new bulletin.

A new publication at the county agricultural agent's office gives details about the social security program for farmers. Ask for Extension Folder F-180.

If your thinking about installing an irrigation system, better talk it over with your county agricultural agent first. M.S.C. specialists advise.

Mrs. Inie Chapel, Former Resident, Passes On Coast

News of the death of Mrs. Inie G. Chapel, 91, a former Charlevoix resident, in Los Angeles, Calif., on Jan. 2, has been received here.

Funeral services were held in Los Angeles with burial in Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Chapel and her late husband, Fred N. Chapel built and operated the Central Drug Store between the years of 1897 and 1912. During those years they were active in civic and social affairs in Charlevoix. In 1912 the family moved to Rogue River, Ore., and later to Portland, where Mr. Chapel died in 1921.

While in Portland, Mrs. Chapel edited a daily page in the Evening Telegram called "Aunt Prudence's Kitchen" for two years and wrote for the Sunday Oregonian under the headings "How to succeed with your war garden" and "Your Garden Neighbor" for three years.

When her son, Franklin G. Chapel, who was employed by the Bell System was transferred to Los Angeles in 1922, Mrs. Chapel moved there from Portland and continued to live there until her death. Many former Charlevoix residents now living in the west kept in contact with her.

Besides her son who at present is on a year's assignment at the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N. J., she is survived by two grandsons, Franklin G. Jr. of Los Angeles and Ensign William G. now serving with the Seabees in the Philippines.

Council Backs Channel Funds For The Lakes

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night adopted a resolution to be forwarded to all legislators urging them to provide funds for deepening of Great Lakes channels in preparation for the time when the St. Lawrence Seaway will be completed, thus providing passage of ocean-going vessels into the Great Lakes. The work would take up to five years and would cost an estimated $109 million. The proposal meets with the approval of the Great Lakes Port Authority.

The resolution was adopted after City Superintendent Roy R. Robinson reported on the recent annual Great Lakes Industrial Development Conference he attended at South Bend, Ind. He reported that the St. Lawrence Seaway and what it would mean to Great Lakes ports was one of the main topics discussed at the conference.

Coasting on the Grant street hill was also discussed. Councilmen agreed that coasting on the hill was dangerous and agreed something would have to be done if the youngsters were to continue to slide there. It was suggested that the placing of a watchman on the hill at certain hours and providing warning lights would make the hill a safer place. The possibility of coasting on the upper drive near the Lake Michigan bath house was also discussed.

The leasing of the Lake Michigan bathhouse came in for some discussion before it was referred to committee which was asked to draw up a lease.

The purchase of a used ladder truck equipped with an extension ladder for use in replacing street lights and repairing lines by the electric department was approved.

The matter of city firefighters accompanying the fire truck to rural fires was discussed at length before the issue was left to the discretion of the fire chief.

The resignation of Clarence B. Meigs as third ward supervisor after serving 17 years was accepted. He resigned following his election as state representative from the Charlevoix district. The vacancy will be filled during the regular election.

Approve Sale Of The County Fair Grounds

The sale of the Charlevoix county fairgrounds to the East Jordan school district for the sum of $1,000 was approved by the county board of supervisors before the latter adjourned its biennial mid-winter meeting here last Wednesday.

The sale included 40 acres of property located one mile east of East Jordan plus a grandstand and ticket office located on the property. Eleven other fair buildings will be offered for sale to the highest bidder.

The decision to sell the property brought to an end the 65-year old county fair which for the past 14 years had operated at a deficit. The sale was underwritten by the board of supervisors. The fair was not operated in 1954.

The board also adopted several resolutions before adjourning. Among these was one cutting the term of county road commissioners from six to three years.

Another was one asking the state legislature to cut the millage for schools required for state aid from five to 3 1/2 mills if the school's budget does not require five mills.

The board also ordered assessing officers in school districts fractional with other counties to meet and equalize the property taxes without being bound by state or county equalized valuations. If the fractional districts cannot then agree, the issue will be referred to the tax commission for a survey.

The salary of the jail turnkey, now required in all county jails by the state, was increased from $2,080 allocated at the last meeting of the board of supervisors to $2,860. This is an increase from $40 to $55 for a nine-hour, seven-day week.

Mr. Payne, who was an authority on ballistics, retired in July 1953 after serving more than 25 years with the Police Department Scientific Laboratory. A registered pharmacist, he operated a drug store in Detroit and West Branch prior to joining the Detroit police force. He is a native of West Branch and a Navy veteran of World War I. His wife is the former Marguerite Woods of Charlevoix and they often visited here with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Woods.

Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, James F. and John L. of Detroit; six grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Josephine Payne and one brother.

Film On Straits Bridge Progress To Be Shown Jan. 20

The Charlevoix Association to Aid Retarded Children will sponsor the showing of the film depicting the progress of the Mackinac Straits Bridge at the Charlevoix high school Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 20, to raise funds for the Retarded Children's Center.

The 90-minute film, taken by Mac McClellan of Petoskey, official progress photographer for the Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corp., foundation contractors for the $100 million bridge, with its accompanying commentary, presents the overall story of the progress of the bridge that couldn't be built from the time materials were moved in and workmen arrived to the present time.

It depicts the thrilling story of the six main anchorages for the bridge including the two huge coffer dams, two support anchorages and the two main tower anchorages told in such a way that every one can understand the vastness of the great engineering feat.

Tickets for the event, given for the benefit of the Retarded Children's Center, may be purchased from members of the Association. The Association sponsors the Retarded Children's Center which is conducted for the retarded children of the community. The center is operated without outside assistance or funds from any source, in a building furnished by the Charlevoix public schools. The children attend school one half day five days a week. A teacher is financed by the Association from funds raised through memberships and by a tuition paid by the parents of the children who attend the school.

Equipment purchased with funds donated to the Center at Christmas time by various local groups arrived this week.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WHILE rummaging around in the Courier basement over the weekend the fellows came up with a menu from Alex's Cafe . . . located at one time at 320 Bridge st. . . at a spot now a part of East Park where, according to the way we've got it doped out, the Charlevoix Hotel once stood . . . Its owner, according to the menu, owned the Niagara restaurant in Grand Rapids and another at 6 Volusia ave. in Daytona, Fla. . .

BUT THE food . . . the most expensive steak was a medium porterhouse at 65 cents . . . two pork or veal chops 25 cents . . . and with this you got bread, butter and potatoes thrown in . . . And the cold meats were equally as appetizing and inexpensive . . . salmon . . . 25 cents . . . chicken, tongue, lobster, ham, roast beef or pork 30 cents . . . and don't forget the bread, butter and potatoes . . . And eggs . . . you could get two cooked any way you'd like for 15 cents and any kind of omelet for 20 cents . . . And hot cakes and syrup . . . for 10 cents and pies . . . five cents per cut . . .

And sandwiches . . . ham and American cheese . . . five cents with the most expensive, a club sandwich at 30 cents . . . fried ham, roast pork or beef, egg, hamburger, tongue and salmon . . . 10 cents . . . ham and eggs, western, chicken, manhattan . . . 15 cents . . .

CHILI and clam chowder were 15 cents and pork and beans and soups . . . 10 cents . . . stewed corn and stewed tomatoes were five and peas, friend onions, potatoes, sliced tomatoes or cucumbers . . . ten cents . . . Oh yes, pickles were five and peaches and olives ten cents . . .

Quite a menu and also quite a price list . . . Wonder how long ago that was? . . . And who was Alex?

IN THE mail this week a letter from Glenn Pearl . . . now busy herding some 4,000 head of cattle on the Rocking R ranch near Caldwell, Idaho . . . located in Skull Canyon where the Boise Mountains meet the Sawtooth Range . . . According to his letter, he and his partners have five cowboys helping with the cattle . . . which are wintered in the valley where it snows little and where in the summer they move up in the mountains where the feed is plentiful . . . Sounds like a good place to spend the summer . . . Suppose you'd have room for another cow-poke if we decided to move west . . . out to the Rocking R . . . Always thought we'd like the wide open spaces.

AND FROM San Diego, a note from our former librarian, Miss Minnie E. Payton . . . who still loves being in the west but whose thoughts, according to her letter, often go wandering up and down Bridge st. . . And from San Clemente, a note from Mrs. Fred Young who sends a big hello to everyone back here . . . Her note also mentioned a trip home this summer . . . From Los Angeles, wishes for a happy new year from the Arthur Edwardes . . . And from the Heerings who are spending the winter in Denver, Colo. . . another note telling of their trip west where they stopped to see the Youngs and of the good time they're having in Denver . . . And from the east coast, a note from Mrs. W. A. Cline who now lives in New York (Lucky New York) . . . And soon everyone will be leaving for the South . . . where they will bask under sunny skies, swim in the ocean, gather in a good sun-tan while we sit back here . . . enjoying the snow and looking forward to spring . . .

CAN YOU believe it . . . the first half of the basketball season is about over . . . Come next Tuesday we'll have completed the first round . . . and come Jan. 21 we'll start around the second time and hope our guys come through . . . They've got their work all cut out for them, believe us, but it's going to be in-

Girligigs

Lum-de-la-da . . . it's trooly a woman's world these days! And the men, dears . . . are being very sweet about letting us have our pink fingeres.

At least, there's been no shocking local he-man complaint about pink kitchens, sleeping between pink sheets, wearing pink shirts or picking up pink telephones.

We're up to our necks in pink bath bubbles . . . and up to our elbows in pink dishwasher suds. But it's not all fizz . . .

And we're not being just wishy-washy about our pinkishness. We're living in pink houses, driving pink autos . . . (excuse me, please . . . 'heather rose' autos) . . . painting pink shutters and pick-up trucks.

It's all according to how rambunctiously rosy you want to get these days . . . but whether it's a teaspoon of sugar to a cup of spice, or a teaspoon of spice to a cup of sugar, it comes out a woman's world.

Sugar and Spice . . . Pink . . . and Nice!

For a cold can quickly develop into a discomforting illness. If neglected, it may lead to serious infection. Be sensible! Get after a cold at the first warning sneeze or sniffle. Beaver Beacon Makes Debut As Monthly Letter

For the first time since the days when King James Strang published the Northern Islander in his Kingdom of St. James a century ago, Beaver Island, where his 'kingdom' was located, has a newspaper.

Known as the Beaver Beacon, the first edition of this small mimeographed 'newspaper' was published this week by the Beaver Island Civic Association. It contains four mimeographed sheets with news of island happenings during the past few months.

Dr. Eugene Bales of Indianapolis, Ind., located the necessary equipment and sent it to the island. He financed half of the purchase price.

The 'newspaper' will appear once a month in the form of a newsletter.

Postal Receipts Show 10 Per Cent Local Increase

The 1954 receipts of the Charlevoix post office showed an increase of approximately 10 per cent over 1953. Postmaster Peter H. Tunmer, announced this week.

The total receipts for 1954 were $47,052.39 as compared with $42,309.34 in '53.

The major portion of the increase came in the first six months of the year with the totals during the last six months dropping below the total for the same months in '53.

Last July the Charlevoix post office became a first class office. A total of 84,000 cards and letters were mailed through the Charlevoix postoffice from Dec. 13 to 25 this year, Mr. Tunmer added. This was about the same as in 1953. Fewer parcels were mailed during the same period than in '53, however.

"After our recent experience," says Mrs. Pebley, "my husband and I know that the best investment any family can make is Blue Cross-Blue Shield. I went to the hospital last September. Stayed for 27 days. You have no idea how quickly the costs can run up. Our Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract covered almost $1,300 in hospital bills, and all we had to pay was around $50. Blue Shield paid $340 to my doctor, too. The costs would have been a terrific blow to us if we hadn't had Blue Cross-Blue Shield."

"It could happen to your family! In fact, 1 in every 3 Michigan families will have an unexpected hospital bill in 1955! That's why it's so important to be protected against the cost of hospital and doctor care! And, for the little it costs you, there's none finer than Blue Cross-Blue Shield."

by Gene Alleman

REPUBLICANS are clearing away the shambles of defeat in the November election and making ready to live with Democrats in control of the state administration.

Bitterness has been replaced by a determined move in the House to outshine the Democrats.

House Speaker Wade VanValkenberg (R-Kalamazoo) is the chief sounding board of the new theory. Following a caucus of Republicans, he said: "We've got to stop being anti-Democratic and be more pro-public. We're interested in developing a better program."

SIGNS multiplied as legislators gathered for the 1955 session that Republican majority leaders would take a close look at Gov. Williams' recommendations, then draft their own goals.

Already, one Republican senator is working up a highway bond issue proposal, grabbing the ball back after Williams intercepted it during the 1954 campaign.

Senator Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) has sponsored a proposed constitutional amendment for a $500,000,000 bond issue for highway construction.

The controversy started last year when Senator Joseph A. Cloon (R-Wakefield) sponsored the idea. After it was kicked around, Williams pleaded for its passage on the last day of the session.

REPUBLICANS ignored him to await a complete survey of Michigan's highway needs, the first since 1947. Williams made it a campaign issue on a "do-it-now" platform and the issue remains. Republicans are still determined to wait for the survey now being made by the Automotive Safety Foundation. Williams still wants immediate action.

Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), majority caucus chairman, said immediate action is impossible and insists on a detailed plan to finance the bond issue.

FOOD for the needy in Michigan has been flowing into the state from Federal surplus commodity warehouses for the past five months.

Official figures show the market value of the free food has reached $2,185,161.

"The food goes to the people who need it most . . . those on the relief rolls," said a state official.

The program was started as a means to prevent spoilage and deterioration of Federal surpluses and to improve the diet of those getting public assistance anyway. In the shipments of the first five months, the state has received 835,200 pounds of print butter; 455,585 pounds of bulk butter; 504,700 cans of beef and gravy; 540,000 pounds of process cheese and 200,386 pounds of natural cheese.

Welfare officials are jubilant about the program, which improves their services to the needy without additional loads on the taxpayer.

The taxpayer? he's happy, too, to know that surpluses from the farm price support program are not going to waste.

ANOTHER boon for welfare clients is in the making as the legislature meets for the 1955 session.

Already drafted is a bill which would increase the maximum Old Age Assistance checks from $70 to $80 a month, the first increase since a $10 boost in 1952.

"Some of these people just can't live on $70 a month," said Welfare Director W. J. Maxey. The maximum goes to those over 65 years old who have no other income and, Maxey said, the increasing costs of rent and medical care make the increase "only close to adequate."

In addition, the increase for old age recipients is a forerunner of a general increase for those receiving aid to the blind and aid to the disabled.

The cost to the state is expected to reach $2,500,000 a year. The Federal government contributes the first $35 to $55 of the present $70 a month maximum grant.

IT HAPPENS at least once every year, the flag flies over the Capitol upside down.

It's never planned that way, though. Some sleepy custodian makes a mistake and all sorts of bad jokes are made . . . because the upside-down flag is an international signal of distress. Ask any sailor.

It happened again, just two days after the Nov. 2 election. "Maybe the Republicans were in distress, but it was still a mistake," said one Capitol employee.

Sheep and Men

Where on earth did sheep acquire their regrettable reputation as stupid and weak creatures? Sheep are not so dull and witless nor so helpless as they have been made out to be.

Descended from wild, mountain-dwelling ancestors, sheep still retain their ancient sure-footedness once needed in bounding from one slippery mountain crag to another. Sheep have keen senses — large, mobile ears, that move quickly in the direction of any sound, and acute smelling organs that pick up the faintest ghost of an odor wafted across great distances. Unusually good eyesight that responds to the merest suggestion of a change in light conditions enables sheep to penetrate space and shadow with uncanny accuracy. Sheep are equipped with teeth and a digestive system that enables them to feed well where cattle would starve. And even the bleating sounds sheep make are not the pitiful calls of the morbidly afraid, but the animal's means of keeping in touch with its kind, symbols of the strong bonds sheep have with each other. No, sheep are not the feeble, foolish, and perpetually fearful creatures men have imagined them to be.

But sheep do have a weakness, an often fatal propensity, for getting lost when away from their shepherd. They are inclined to follow a leader and to be safe only when obedient to a voice and intelligence higher than their own. Nothing in all creation appears more secure than a sheep safe in a flock of its own kind, tenderly watched over by a shepherd who cares. And nothing on earth is more pitifully alone and confused as a sheep separated from its kind and from its shepherd. A sheep's safety is found in its obedience to the shepherd.

Sometimes I've wondered if anything is more inevitable or more important than obedience. Isn't everyone obedient? If we do not obey our intelligence, we shall obey our instincts. If we do not conform to the high standards held by the best people, we shall comply with low standards held by the mediocre or the worst people. If youngsters do not obey parents or teachers, they will obey the wishes of neighborhood rowdies. If we do not follow the leadership of good government, we shall at last be forced to obey evil government. There is no such thing, really, as an utterly disobedient man or sheep. If we do not obey the Shepherd, we shall obey our own whims. We are bound to obey!

The best things in life, the loveliest things, are a result of obedience. How did we get this morning's sunrise, and how shall we have this evening's sunset? Because the earth is conforming to a pattern fashioned by the Creator. There are celestial laws that govern the turning of our earth in space, giving us the brightness of the day and the darkness of the night — daylight, when the earth is warmed and nourished, night when it rests. The earth is never stubbornly disobedient to these laws. If it were, and we had daylight steadily for a month, the earth would burn to a crisp. If we had night for a month at this latitude, we would become as cold as the Antarctic. The earth is obedient to the celestial laws and that obedience makes the earth habitable.

There are laws of germination and growth and reproduction that govern vegetation and animals. If they should cease to obey those laws, the earth would soon be lifeless; man would be without food and perish. They obey, and we live. Go throughout nature, examine the lives and habits of creatures, and you will discover this to be true: all tend to conform to a pattern long since established by their Creator. Trout are being trout — not bass-like nor pike-like, but trout-like. Deer are being deer — not elk-like nor moose-like, but deer-like. Sheep are being sheep-like. And wherever you find happy people, they are conforming to their patterns of being sons and daughters of God — not acting animal-like, devilish, or even angelic, but as children of God, loving and trusting God enough to obey Him.

Men are like sheep? Yes. When obedient to the Highest they are safe, when disobedient, lost. But in another respect, too, sheep and men are similar. Our Lord in a few succinct words once summarized the nature of man. Defending his own love for sinners, Jesus once said to the Pharisees: "Which of you with a hundred sheep, if he loses one, does not leave the ninety-nine in the desert and go after the lost one till he finds it? When he finds it he puts it on his shoulders with joy, and when he gets home he gathers his friends and neighbors: 'Rejoice with me,' he says to them, 'for I have found the sheep I lost.' So, I tell you, there will be joy in heaven over a single sinner who repents, more than over ninety-nine good people who do not need to repent."

So that is what man is like! Everyone of us is of supreme value. We are not lost in the flock, in a world of crowds. When we are at our worst and wonder, we are missed and loved and searched for, and if we will come, we are carried back with rejoicing to safety.

You count, no matter how small you are; or where you are, or what you have done. In the love of God, you count!

Pellston, out to clip the Rayders, trailed the visitors 12-10 at the first period but went ahead 21-18 at half-time before Charlevoix came back to tie the score 33-33 as the third period ended. The Rayders went ahead early in the last period and at one time held a six-point lead, which the Hornets pared to three points as the final whistle sounded.

In the starting line-up for Charlevoix were Dwain Walker, Quint Walker, Tom LaBlance, Guy Swanson and Glenn Ikens with Jerry Schupert, Kenny Balch and Gary Vandenberg seeing limited action.

Pellston took the tip-off and went in to score to open the game but the Rayders found their stride and took a 12-10 first period lead as LaBlance dumped in three field goals; Swanson added four points on a field goal and two free throws and Quint Walker connected on a two-pointer as the third quarter ended. Pellston scored 10 points on four field goals and two charity shots.

A determined Pellston squad forged ahead 21-18 at the half after outscoring the Rayders 11-6 on four field goals and three singles. The Rayders' scoring was confined to one field goal apiece by Schupert and Ikens and two of three free throws by LaBlance.

In the third period the Rayders settled down and outscored the Hornets 15-12 to tie the third quarter score 33-33 with Swanson dumping in four field goals; Quint Walker adding five points on two field goals and a free throw and Ikens scoring a field goal. Pellston's points were scored on four field goals and four singles.

The Rayders, out to break the tie, went into a last period six point lead before Pellston trimmed it to three points as the game ended. LaBlance added three field goals; Swanson two long ones; Ikens four points on a field goal and two free throws and Quint Walker a single for the three-point victory.

Little Rayder Terry Davis goes up to score one of the 24 field goals the Charlevoix Reserves dumped in against the Pellston Reserves Friday night for a 61-42 victory over the northern squad.

League Teams Face Busy Schedule As Basketball Play Is Resumed

All eight teams of the Northern Michigan Class C league face a jam-packed schedule during the next week as they play both Friday and Tuesday games to conclude the first half of the current basketball season.

On Friday Charlevoix will journey to Gaylord to meet the fourth place Gaylord Blue Devils while East Jordan will play at Boyne City in the 'game of the week'. In other games Harbor Springs will travel to Mancelona and Pellston will entertain Grayling.

On Tuesday the schedule will find Charlevoix hosting Mancelona; Gaylord traveling to Harbor Springs; Pellston playing at East Jordan and Grayling entertaining Boyne City.

The Charlevoix Rayders with four wins in five starts will play Gaylord this week and unless the Blue Devils come up with more than they've displayed to date, the local five should keep their second place standing.

The Boyne City-East Jordan meeting on the Rambler floor Friday will head the list of outstanding games this week. The Jordanites will be defending their first place standing while Boyne City will be out to trip up the league leaders. This combined with the fact that the two teams are arch rivals should produce a game filled with good basketball and lots of thrills.

Boyne City's one loss to date was to the Charlevoix Rayders by a score of 69-41 when the Ramblers were definitely having an 'off' night while the Rayders one loss was to East Jordan by a 59-54 score. Boyne City has height and experience while the smaller East Jordan squad depends on a fast break and long shots from the outside to bring them through. If Boyne City can be instilled with the will to win they might knock the Jordanites from the ranks of the undefeated, a feat only the Class D Ellsworth Lancers have accomplished to date.

At Mancelona, Harbor Springs and the Ironmen will decide who

Little Rayders Defeat Pellston Reserves 61-42

The Charlevoix Reserves got off to a fine start in 1955 with a 61-42 victory over the Pellston Reserves on the latter's floor Friday night.

Paced by Terry Davis who racked up 17 points, the little Rayders rolled up a 20-13 first period lead and continued to outscore the little Hornets throughout the game 10-8, 14-11 and 17-10 by quarters.

In the starting line-up for the local five were Joel Arvilla, Phil Timmer, Norm Helms, Davis and Belfy with Bob Mol, Richard Bolton, Bob Geer, Bill McClanathan, Bob Bearss, Larry Ingalls, Dale Putman, Stan Harwood and Cliff Pierce also seeing action.

Arvilla racked up three quick field goals for six points; Davis, Helms and Timmer added four points each and Mol two points as the game got underway. Pellston scored six field goals and a free throw.

In the second period Arvilla added four points on two field goals; Timmer and Bearss a field goal apiece and Davis and Ingalls one point each for 10 points. The little Hornets scored eight points on three field goals and two free throws.

Charlevoix tallied 14 points on two field goals by Davis; one each by Helms, Mol and Belfy and two singles apiece by Timmer and Putman in the third period. Pellston scored seven free throws and two field goals for 11 points.

The little Rayders again went on a scoring spree in the last period and racked up 17 points on three field goals and two gift shots by Davis; a field goal and three gift shots by Arvilla; and field goals by Timmer and Helms. The little Hornets sunk four field goals and two free throws for 10 points.

Charlevoix racked up 24 field goals and 13 of 31 free throws while committing 21 personal fouls. Pellston had 15 field goals and 12 out of 31 free throws. They committed 19 personal fouls.

Davis led the scoring with 17 points for the victors. Reimann had 14 for Pellston. Other Rayders who scored were Arvilla with 15 points; Timmer with 10; Helms with eight; Mol with four; Belfy, Bearss and Putman, two points each and Ingalls, one.

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

Action in the Northern Michigan Class C league Friday night saw East Jordan trounce Gaylord 72-54 to successfully defend its first place standing while Charlevoix and Boyne City retained their second place standings. The Rayders edged the Pellston Hornets out of second place with a 48-45 win and Boyne City won over Harbor Springs 53-42. Grayling had no trouble nosing out Mancelona by a 69-50 score to move into a fourth place tie with Gaylord.

East Jordan 72 Gaylord 54
The East Jordan Red Devils got off to a 16-12 first quarter lead over Gaylord and increased it to 30-24 at half-time before the Jordanites went on a scoring spree and racked up 26 points in the third period for a 56-35 lead going into the last quarter. Floyd Cutler scored 23 points for the victors and Dick Blashill 22 for Gaylord.

Boyne City 53 Harbor Sprg's 42
Playing at Harbor Springs the stubborn Rams held Boyne City to an 11-11 first period tie before the visitors took a four-point 22-18 halftime and 41-31 third period advantage. Bob Fitzpatrick paced the scoring for the Ramblers with 15 points. Richie Clarke had 11 for the Rams.

Grayling 69 Mancelona 50
With Red Hamilton back in the line-up after suffering a cracked wrist before the holidays, Grayling racked up a 21-5 first quarter score over the visiting Mancelona Ironmen before increasing their advantage to 40-17 at the half and 57-32 at the third period as 15 Vikings made their way into the line-up.

Hamilton placed the scoring with 23 points for Grayling. Don Wilks and Gary Woods shared scoring honors for the Ironmen with 16 points apiece.

quintet will have to look to their barrels and even then may find themselves on the short end of the score should the Vikings' top scorer, Red Hamilton, and company play ball.

IT HAPPENED ON . . .

BEAVER ISLAND

By Loyola Malloy

Sunday morning the Island woke up to see a nice white blanket of snow on the ground. Don't know how long this will last up to now it hasn't lasted too long.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cooney and Donald McCafferty left last Thursday to attend the wedding of James (Lano) McCafferty in Rogers City. Seems hard to believe that Lano is really ready to settle down. Maybe how there might be hope for some of the rest of us. Don Burke also left evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Witte at Petoskey.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers were visitors of Dr. and Mrs. J. Hasper of Harbor Springs Sunday.

To attend this wedding. The first issue of a news letter composed by the B. I. Civic Association has been completed and is ready for mailing. I hope everyone who receives one of these finds it interesting. We tried to make it so.

Earl Boyle and L. J. Malloy were in Charlevoix last week to attend the January meeting of the board of supervisors.

Karl Keubler was on the mainland last week to attend the funeral of one of the conservation men.

Last Thursday evening the monthly meeting of the Civic Association was held in the Parish Hall. Sure hope the ones to come will be better attended.

Mrs. Ed Burke is a patient at the Charlevoix hospital since last week.

"Doc" Collins from Mason, and a party of friends spent a few days on the Island the past week. Joe Jodoin left for Toledo where he will visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bellows and family arrived last week to make their home on the Island for awhile. Jim is with the U. S. Coast Guard.

With this blanket of new fallen snow I imagine the men who have been waiting to cut logs will be taking very shortly for the woods. Mr. Mike Cull left last week for Chicago to visit her sister, Mrs. Ann Santos who has been on the sick list.

Archie LaFreniere Sr. returned last week after visiting his daughter since before the holidays.

Saturday evening Mrs. Jewell Gillespie surprised her husband with a little party to help him celebrate his birthday.

No doubt by this time many people have heard that the building of the new Beaver Island boat is expected to begin in the near future.

FRIEND IN NEED

Ever have your car break down on the highway in the dead of night, miles from the nearest town or service station?

If you have, the odds are heavy that it was a truck driver who came to your rescue. For up and down this great State of ours, with its miles upon miles of fine roads, the truck driver has rightfully earned a reputation as the gentleman of the highway. He brings you all the things you eat, wear, and use, yes—but he also serves as your friend in need when trouble catches up with you on the road.

He stops when others pass you by.

Because registration for the Continuing Education classes have been slow in coming in, the Charlevoix public school will continue to accept new registrations until such time when enough people register for one subject to start a class. Supt. R. C. Bennett said Wednesday.

Thus far registrations have been received for classes in typing, shorthand and bookkeeping, car driving, sewing, ceramics, story writing, upholstery and welding and machine work.

Top registrations are in the commercial courses with eight registrants for shorthand and bookkeeping, four people have enrolled for typing, car driving, sewing and upholstery with fewer than this number asking for the other courses.

Until 10 or more people register for one class, a teacher cannot be secured and the class started.

Persons interested in the above or any other class are asked to register at once so the adult education program can get underway.

Registration may be made by calling LI 7-6583 or by visiting the elementary school office.

Skiing Classes May Be Formed For Youngsters

The possibility of starting classes in skiing for local youngsters has been discussed by parents and school officials, Supt. R. C. Bennett has announced.

In making the announcement Mr. Bennett said that the school could not take the responsibility for organizing the classes. The school would, however, furnish transportation and assist in other ways in making the classes available to the youngsters of the community.

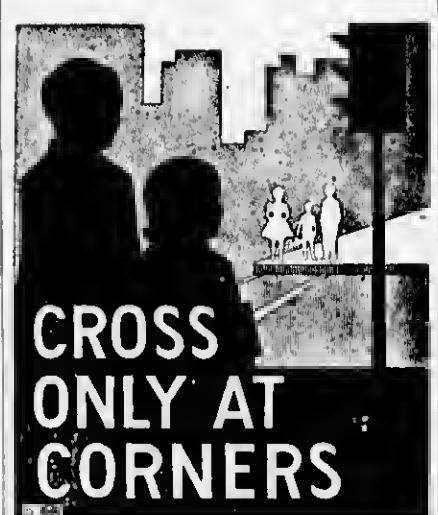

If the program is carried out, it is understood that the classes would be held at the city-operated Avalanche ski run at Boyne City. Lessons would cost a minimum of 50 cents if the youngsters enrolled as a class.

The classes would be offered on Saturday morning with a local school bus providing transportation to Boyne City. Parents, however, would have to accompany the group.

At present about 10 youngsters in the elementary school and a few more in high school are enrolled for the classes.

Skiing equipment including skis, ski poles, boots and binders are needed. Anyone having any of this equipment is asked to call the school and offer it for use by the skiers.

Further information regarding the program may be obtained by calling the elementary school office.

Plan Several Events For March Of Dimes As Drive Is Started

sored for the benefit of the drive. In asking that the community support the March of Dimes, Mrs. Macdonell said that she feels that 1955 will be one of the crucial years in the fight against polio. The current drive has been named the "Prelude to Victory" for if the Salk vaccine field trials prove successful it will mean that at last a control for the paralytic polio has been found for what, according to medical science, is the only communicable disease in the United States which is still on the increase.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has committed itself to the purchase of enough Salk vaccine next Spring for nine million people. In 1955, if the vaccine proves to be effective in preventing paralytic polio, it will mean that not only the victim of infantile paralysis will benefit from the March of Dimes but that there will be vaccine available for every child in the first grade and also every child who participated in the field trials last spring who received the control substance rather than the Salk vaccine.

Until then the National Foundation has the responsibility of paying for hospital and medical care for the approximately 75,000 victims of infantile paralysis. So dig down deep and give now to help those who already have had the dread disease.

Rayders Defeat Mancelona By Large Margin

The Charlevoix Rayders racked up their sixth win in seven starts in league competition Tuesday night by defeating Mancelona 71-36 to end the first half of the 1954-55 schedule.

The Rayders will go to Harbor Springs Friday to take on the Rams, probably the most improved team in the loop since the season opened.

In the game here Tuesday Dwayne Walker, Quint Walker, Guy Swanson, Tom LaBlance and Gary Vandenberg started but played less than 10 minutes throughout the game as Glen Ikens, Joe Etienne, Charles Dennis, Fred Putman, Joel Arvilla, playing with the Varsity for the first time, took over. Gary Smith and Kit Carson also saw limited action. Three Rayders were not in uniform. They were regular Jerry Schupert, who was sick and Walt Pouquette and Kenny Balch who are recovering from ankle injuries.

The Rayders went into a 22-12 first period lead, stretched it to 33-19 at the half and 45-27 at the third period before outscoring the visitors 26-9 in the last period for the lop-sided victory.

Ikens of Charlevoix and Don Wilks of Mancelona paced the scoring for the game with 16 points apiece.

Swanson tallied 11 points; Quint Walker and Dennis had 10 points each; Putman, eight; Dwayne Walker, LaBlance and Etienne had four points apiece; Carson, three and Smith one.

Charlevoix scored the Ironmen 27-13 in the field goal department. The Rayders connected on 17 of 28 free throw attempts for a 60 per cent average while committing 19 personal fouls. Mancelona scored 10 of 28 free throws and had 18 personal fouls called on them.

Registration For Adult Education Classes Continues

One Continuing Education class is scheduled to begin next week and several others might start if a few more registrants can be found, Supt. R. G. Bennett announced this week.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Bennett said that enough registrations for shorthand and typing had been made to start a class in these two subjects. The first class is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 27, with Earl Leathman of East Jordan as the instructor.

Only three more students are needed for the car-driving class; one more for upholstery and photography and three more for ceramics. If enough additional registrations are received before next week, efforts will be made to secure instructors so that the classes can begin next week.

If this should happen, all registrants will be notified by telephone of the time and date.

Eleven other classes are listed among those for which only a few people registered. If enough persons should register for any of these, classes will be organized at once. A minimum of ten persons must register for each class.

Registrations are still being accepted at the elementary school office or by telephoning LI 7-6583.

Class C Teams To Open Last Half Of Year

Northern Michigan Class C teams will open the second half of the 1954-55 schedule Friday with the league-leading East Jordan Red Devils hosting Grayling; Pellston will entertain Gaylord; Mancelona will travel to Boyne City and Charlevoix will journey to Harbor Springs to meet the Rams.

The East Jordan-Grayling game will head the list of important games this week. In their first meeting the Jordanians edged past the Vikings by a 50-46 score after Grayling had led most of the way. Since then the Vikings have continued to improve and are now tied for third place with Boyne City as a result of their 59-52 win over the Ramblers Tuesday night. Paced by Red Hamilton and Dale Pettingill, a high scoring duo, the Vikings along with Harbor Springs are probably the two most improved teams in the loop. East Jordan, however, has been piling up an impressive record with seven wins in league play including

Probate Judges Back Proposal On Children's Care Extension

A proposal to permit the Michigan Social Welfare Commission to extend the facilities of the Michigan Children's Institute as embodied in a bill to be introduced in the Michigan legislature at the current session was unanimously approved by the judges of 21 northern Michigan counties attending the mid-winter meeting of the Top O'Michigan division of the Michigan Association of Probate Judges at Gaylord Thursday.

In reporting the results of the meeting Charlevoix county Probate Judge Floyd A. Supp said that for years there have been almost no facilities in northern lower Michigan for child care or for study of the child needing special study because of an emotional disturbance or other reasons. State institutions are not the answer to the problem for they are already crowded.

He went on to say that at its annual 1954 meeting the Michigan Association of Probate Judges adopted a resolution to ask the state legislature to provide regional detention facilities including adequate diagnostic and treatment centers for children in the northern part of the lower peninsula.

Presently, Judge Supp continued, the Michigan Children's Institute is authorized to maintain a facility in Ann Arbor only. If the proposed law is enacted, branches can be established in districts throughout the state.

Under the proposed program, Judge Supp said, the agency would be authorized to receive from several probate courts in the area children abandoned by their parents or whose home, or environment, by reason of neglect, cruelty, drunkenness, criminality or depravity on the part of the parents or other custodian, is an unfit place for the child to live in. It would also be possible for children to be committed to the institution for observation and a report made by the superintendent to the court as to what would be for the best interests of the child.

The meeting also approved the adoption of a law providing for establishments of regional detention homes for delinquent children.

Proceeds will go to finance the Retarded Children's Center operated by the local organization for the retarded children of the Charlevoix area.

The films were taken by Lawson Mac McClellan of Petoskey, progress photographer for the Merritt-Chapman and Scott, Corp. who has edited many thousand feet of films taken since the first day equipment was moved into the Straits area until winter weather hrought the project to a halt earlier this month. He has added a commentary which explains in detail the work which has been accomplished thus far, most of which the average spectator on the job will never see. The film runs for 90 minutes.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the Association or at the door.

Conference On Rural Health To Be Held Today

Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson of East Jordan and Mrs. Thelma Behling of Boyne City, school and community nurses in their respective communities and members of the staff of District Health Department No. 3, will attend the three-day annual Rural Health Conference which opens in East Lansing today (Thursday).

Opportunities for a lifetime career in the field of health will be one of the important issues considered at the meeting Dr. John R. Rodger of Bellaire, general chairman of the conference said. He went on to say that certain Michigan health organizations are doing a fine job in telling our young people about these opportunities. We hope, by devoting a half-day's time to this subject, to make a start toward an expanded program in which all groups can participate.

This will be one of the subjects relating to Rural Health that will be discussed at the conference which is open to the public as a service of the Michigan Foundation for Medical and Health Education and the 103 co-sponsoring health organizations.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

DON'T KNOW what you think about it but it kinda looks to us as though winter has arrived. The winds blew, that white stuff came down and the temperatures went skittering downward. But then, what can one expect. It is the middle of the winter in northern Michigan. And people who've never spent a winter here think its 20 below zero and the snow 20 feet deep from Dec. 1 until April 1.

THE KIDS are happy too. It finally stayed cold enough, long enough to get the ice rink in shape for skating. It opened Friday night for the first time and neither the cold wind nor flying snow has kept the youngsters home since. Can't say as we blame them for there's nothing more thrilling than the sound of skates singing with a happy wintery tune in time with the music to which everyone skates. Big kids, little kids, mid-sized kids mixed with adults join together in having the best time ever. It's no wonder the kids (and adults too) have been having a bad time because they couldn't skate. But when the weather doesn't cooperate there's nothing much anyone can do.

IN CASE you're interested in coins and happened to miss the announcement recently regarding the closing of the San Francisco mint, we'll repeat it for you son you can get on the ball and start stashing away coins with 'S' mint marks. Some day they might be valuable. From now on most of our silver will be minted at Pennsylvania and Denver. Quite a jab, what with the amount of coins in circulation. All the pennies for parking meters, dimes and other coins for pay stations. One of these days we wouldn't be surprised if they quit making nickels 'cause there aren't many things besides a coke and a pack of gum that you can use that lawfully coin for anymore.

ALL THE little kids went aliding and skating Saturday and the little gulls, not to be outdone, went 'coasting' too. We've mentioned it before how, when there's a high wind, they'll find a spot where the air currents hit along the beach and then fly with the wind until the currents start up and then coast along on them. The only time they use their wings, except to balance themselves, is when they fly back to which in this case, is the 'bottom' of the hill. You should watch them sometime, but make sure there's a west wind. For that's the only time we've ever seen them do it.

THAT SPORT isn't reserved for just the gulls. The seventh grade students were studying birds last week and one of the boys spotted the pair of eagles who make their home someplace in the 'wilds' between South Point and Norwood. They were doing the same thing, gliding on air currents as they hit along the bank on Park ave. Brian Seymour was telling us about it and said that when the big birds, which have an enormous wing spread, spotted them, they would dive at them. We've never seen them but we've heard about them in the past from Ted Miller.

EVERYONE'S excited about the new Beaver Island boat and happy too that at last the island, so isolated, is going to have a really fine boat. We don't know what the company plans to name it but we've heard a lot of suggestions since the stories about the boat have appeared. How's about conducting a contest with a boat trip to the winner. Gee, that sounds like a good idea, guess we'll have to get to work and think of a winner 'cause we're planning to have a ride or it... one way or another.

HAVE YOU seen the new Beaver Beacon. The newsletter to be published monthly by the Beaver Island Civic Association. We think it's a mighty good idea for we know that there are scads of people away from the island who are mighty interested in what goes on over there. So keep up the good work and keep 'em coming.

WHEN YOU live near Islands you get pretty used to the problems facing the people who live on them. You also realize that people do live on them. We've had two things come up in the past regarding servicemen who live on Beaver Island. Once last winter a serviceman home from a southern camp got stranded on the Beavers in a blizzard, there just wasn't any way of getting him off 'til the storm subsided and the plane could go far him. Since we do Home Service for Red Cross we received an SOS from the poor guy whose time was getting short and didn't want to be listed as AWOL. We sent what we thought was a pretty good explanation of the situation and the answer we received from the C.O.? Tell him to take the boat. Much the same situation arose last week. Another island had wanted an extension on his leave. It was a legitimate request so we forwarded it for him. And what was the first question we were asked. What's he doing on an island? Those people have two strikes on 'em before they start.

Demonstration Group Meets

Believing

Birds sometimes build their nests in the most amazing places. The coupling between two railroad boxcars has been a home site for the American robin, and passionate railroad men have sidetracked the cars until after the eggs have hatched and the fledglings have flown. Although most wild birds are hesitant to fellowship with human beings, when nesting time arrives, some of the shy, winged creatures will construct nests above a busy doorway to a home or an office building.

Chimney swifts once made their nests in hollow trees, before there were man-made chimneys. But when man began building homes with smokestacks attached and clustered the homes in villages and cities, the swifts no longer needed to hunt for hollow trees. What is a chimney, anyway, to a swift, but a very substantial, extra-durable, especially snug and warm "hollow tree"? And the nighthawk, whose ancient home was always a patch of gravelly ground or flat rock, found in the open country, has relocated on the gravel-surfaced roofs of large apartment and office buildings in the center of our great cities. Occasionally birds get into the attics of homes or into office buildings and churches through unnoticed holes in the siding or through broken windows.

One day the Psalmist must have seen a sparrow building its nest of grass and mud and feathers on a rough-hewn timber, or feeding its young, in the Lord's House. And not far away upon another beam near the altar a mother swallow tended her household chores. What an odd place for a sparrow's or a swallow's nest! Or was it really so strange? Why should a bird not establish its home and rear its young in God's House? Isn't it a place of shelter and trust? Throughout the eighty-fourth Psalm the reader can see how a long-ago worshipper linked a sparrow's and a swallow's nest to the spirit of trust.

"How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts! My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hosts, my King, and my God. Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee.

For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand.

I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.

For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.

O Lord of hosts, blessed is man that trusteth in thee."

The sparrow, the swallow, or any of the wild birds could tell us a great deal about faith. They live the life of trust unpretentiously, going about the daily business of nest building, creating and providing for families, growing from fertile egg to awkward chick to a fledgling, testing newly-feathered wings, and they do it all without a paralyzing fear of failure. They either trust or do something very much akin to trust. They depend upon their God-given capacities as if there were no possibility of failure.

Someday take time to watch a female house sparrow build her nest. (Really, the "house sparrow" or "English sparrow" is not a true sparrow at all, but an European weaver finch introduced to the United States for the first time in 1850. However, for our purposes, the familiar name will do.) First, she will find a strong support, and there she will bring her collection of slender twigs and dead grass and perhaps just enough mud to cement the materials together. She forms a rough soup-dish-like nest with her beak, and then hops into it and snuggles down and turns about, this way and that, forming an inner cup with the pressure of her body.

Where does she learn her technique? Who told her what materials to choose? Why is her nest much like any other house sparrow's nest and not at all like an oriole's or a mallard duck's nest? There is no Birdland University where nest architecture is taught. Instead, whenever a sparrow or swallow or an oriole or duck is hatched, there is born with it the innate rules for laying out a nest typical of its own species.

Were you born with a ranch-style house plan in your mind? Bungalow plan? Cottage plan? No, because you can think the matter through, plan details, and consult with experts. What you can do for yourself the Creator has not done for you. But a ready-made house plan comes as standard equipment with a newly-delivered bird, and I suppose it's because house architecture would be too complicated for a bird to learn.

House sparrows and all their winged cousins never doubt the plan that is within them. That is a kind of trust, a simple kind, but vital.

Isn't trust, or religious belief, this above all things — leaning heavily upon God and believing in the possibilities for good that He has placed within us?

When John G. Paton, the heroic Christian missionary, was translating the Scripture for his South Island friends, he discovered there was no word for "believe" in their native language. And the word "believe" is an important one in the Bible, especially in the New Testament. For a great while Paton was disturbed and frustrated in his attempts to find same native word that would be as rich in meaning as the English word, "believe." Then one day an islander entered Paton's study, utterly fatigued. He sank heavily into a chair and placed his weary feet upon another chair. Then he sighed in deep relief, exclaiming how good it was to lean his entire weight on these chairs. John Paton eagerly seized upon that expression, a single word in the native tongue, that meant "lean your entire weight upon." He had his word for "believe"! And so in Paton's translation of the Holy Scripture to "believe" means to "lean your entire weight upon."

To believe in God as our Heavenly Father means to lean the full weight of tired mind and weary heart upon Him, trusting Him completely. To believe in

The average middle-aged adult will wake up at least once some morning this winter with an itch . . . to go out and build himself a snowman. The little below average middle-aged adult will go out and do something about it. So let this be a lesson to those of us who did . . . and learned the hard way.

First, don't bundle up as if you were going out to shoot bear . . . because it develops into a much more difficult feat and you need plenty of room for free wheeling . . . and you can lay it on thicker, quicker, at regular five-minute interludes returning inside to get renewed braah and strength. Then, when you'll discover what's frostbitten and do something about it . . . it's silly to take the time to wrap up parts of you that don't matter in this business and you will eventually find that some of the most unexpected parts become exposed during the struggle.

There are other authorities who advocate a complete swathing to begin with . . . using your regular five-minute rest periods to unwrap the hot spots. But that's a completely old fashioned "trial and error" method that should be abolished in this modern world of today to make-way for the efficiency of building better snowmen.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Pretty "Snappy" Menu

Cuff Taylor had a near riot in his hen yard last week. Seems the hens were scratching around the cold ground when they found a piece of rubber band frozen in the ice.

"One hen pecked at it," says Cuff, "and it snapped right back. She backed off clucking while another hen tried it, and another. And the 'worm' kept right on snapping back. They all got their feathers ruffled. You never heard such a ruckus!"

"I finally had to break up the ice with an ax before those hens would get back to business and start laying eggs again."

From where I sit, some people raise a pretty big fuss over nothing, too. Take the fellow who would deny me a temperate glass of beer with my game of checkers. Maybe he'd rather have coffee. Well, that's all right. He has a right to his own preference. But so do I. And there's no point in his "snapping" at me just because his choice isn't the same as mine.

1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Watercress

3/4 cup sliced stuffed olives
1 cup chopped celery

1 cup bread crumbs
8 whole stuffed olives

Select fresh shrimp; peel raw; remove dark sand vein from center back; wipe with damp cloth.

When smooth, add Worcestershire sauce, celery, basil, and pepper; cook five minutes, stirring constantly; add shrimp; cook two minutes longer, add chopped olives; remove from flame.

Place thin layer bread crumbs in casserole; alternate shrimp mixture with layers of bread crumbs until all ingredients are used. Save sufficient crumbs to cover top; dot with other ounce butter; bake in preheated hot oven (400 degrees) 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve piping hot from casserole at table. Garnish each serving with watercress and two whole stuffed olives.

VARIATION: Raw clams, oysters, or prawns may be used instead of shrimp. Time same.

Treadwell-McCafferty Marriage Vows Exchanged At Rogers City

St. James, B. I. — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur (Lano) McCafferty have arrived here to spend their honeymoon following their wedding at Rogers City on Jan. 8.

The bride is the former Louise Ellen Treadwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Treadwell of Rogers City. Mr. McCafferty is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Mooney of St. James.

St. Ignace church in Rogers City was the scene of the nuptial Mass which was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Adelbert Narlock in the presence of 350 guests. The altar was decorated with white mums and poinsettias for the ceremony. Joseph Hassett, soloist, sang the "Ave Maria" and "On This Day", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Hassett.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white nylon tulle and lace over satin for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted lace bodice, long sleeves and a Peter Pan collar and a full skirt of nylon tulle and lace panels over satin. A Juliet cap trimmed with rhinestones secured her fingertip veil and she carried a white prayer book topped with a lavender orchid.

Mary Venzlaff of Cheboygan was maid of honor and Beverly Treadwell, sister of the bride, and Marjorie Koss, both of Rogers City, were bridesmaids.

Miss Venzlaff wore a gown of turquoise lace and net over satin styled with a lace bodice and a full skirt designed with a lace panel in the front. She wore a matching lace bolero, a white velvet hat and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of electric blue and yellow respectively styled with lace bodices trimmed with sequins and full skirts. White boleros and white velvet hats complemented their gowns and they carried bouquets of bronze mums.

Donald McCafferty of St. James assisted his brother as best man and Steve Levochick of Buffalo, N. Y., and Samuel Treadwell of Rogers City, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Treadwell chose a steel gray dress and matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Mooney, mother of the bridegroom, wore a bright blue dress and black accessories. Both had corsages of pink and white mums.

Immediately following the services a wedding breakfast for the wedding party and other guests was served. A wedding supper at the Eagle's Hall at 5 p.m. was followed by an evening reception.

This is the week Charlevoix Merchants are offering new merchandise, purchased especially for this event. And too, they are closing winter stocks to make room for incoming new merchandise. It's your big opportunity to get real money saving bargains.

Quiz Question!

How many items of merchandise do Charlevoix Merchants stock for your convenience?

Just in case you like problems in big figures we suggest you get a good sized tablet and a box of pencils. After noting all you can think of we'll wager you can triple your total and then you won't have half of them. If all of this is too much work we suggest you stop in and ask any merchant to give you the figure for his store. Wager number two — he won't come within 25 per cent one way or the other. Best bet is, take a good look-see in all the stores then you will know where you can get what you want, when you want it and from friends who are always interested in you personally.

Shakespeare Study Club Offers Art Contests For Local Students

An opportunity for local art students to win two eight-week summer art courses at the National Music Camp at Interlochen is being offered by the Shakespeare Study Club, Mrs. George O. Haggard, art scholarship chairman, has announced. In addition the club is offering two $5.00 prizes for the best entries in each of two classes.

All high school students are eligible in the art contest sponsored by the local club.

Subject of the picture or poster is to be the purpose of Girlstown. By way of explanation, Mrs. Joseph Arvilla, president of the club said that "the purpose of the Girlstown project will be to provide specialized care for girls from 10 to 15 years whose own problems or whose family problems are such that they cannot be cared for in existing community facilities, such as foster homes, out-patient child guidance clinics, work through family agencies, etc. The general intent of the institution will be that it will serve as a means by which children who are not presently able to live in a more normal community setting, that is, their own home or a foster home, will through experience and treatment through the Girlstown project be helped so that they can eventually return to normal community living. No child will be accepted for care at the proposed Girlstown whose needs are purely for shelter, nor whose capacity to learn is not within the normal range, nor whose behavior problems are so severe as to make psychiatric care essential.

The prizes will cover tuition and fees of $430 per student for each student. One prize is for the Junior-Senior high school class and the second for the freshman-sophomore class.

The poster or picture may be done in any of the following mediums: oil, water color, pastel or tempera; may be any size up to 22 x 28 inches and must be entered in the contest by March 1. Entries may be made to Mrs. Arvilla.

At the same time the club announced a second scholarship contest, the General Federation of Women's Clubs 1955 Art Talent Contest for high school seniors. Three scholarships of $400.00 each to an approved art school or college approved by the Federation and Hallmark Cards, Inc., co-sponsors of the contests.

Additional information regarding both contests may be obtained by calling Mrs. Haggard or Mrs. Arvilla. Applications may also be obtained from either.

Announce Plans For Better Milk Clinic Tuesday At East Jordan

Plans for a special Better Milking Clinic to be held at the East Jordan high school auditorium Tuesday were announced this week by Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The clinic to which all Charlevoix county farmers and dairymen are invited will open at 10 a.m. and will continue through the day until 4 p.m.

Controlling mastitis in dairy cattle and producing high quality milk will be the theme of the Better Milking clinic.

Good udder health is perhaps the biggest problem of Charlevoix county farmers, Mr. Rebmman said in announcing the special clinic. He went on to say that mastitis is present in many herds in the county. The losses due to mastitis from low quality milk, less milk, the cost of treatment and in some cases slaughter run into many dollars during the period of a year, he added. The special clinic has been planned in an effort to solve the problem so important to area farmers and dairymen.

Three Michigan State college specialists will be present to discuss various phases of subjects related to Better Milking.

They are Don Murray who will speak on Good Milking Practices; Dr. Glenn Reed, extension animal pathologist, who will discuss the subject, Preventing and Controlling Mastitis; and James Hayes whose topic will be "Ten Tips for Better Milking."

Several milking machine companies will have exhibits at the meeting. Each will have a booth where its company's milking equipment will be set up and demonstrated twice during the day. Farmers will have an opportunity to see the latest equipment now available as well as to visit the booths operated by companies whose equipment they now own. Detailed instruction for the proper operation and care of equipment will be offered to those attending.

Mrs. John Cross Is Speaker On Pennies

Mrs. John Cross spoke on the subject of Pennies at the regular meeting of the Penny Collectors club held Friday after school at the home of Mrs. J. C. Marshall, adult advisor.

She also brought trading stock which interested the young collectors.

Annual Meeting Of Soil Conservation District Is Jan. 31

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District will be held at the East Jordan high school at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 31, Clayton Healey of East Jordan, chairman of the organization has announced.

One director will be elected for a three year term. The term of Clyde Warner of Charlevoix expires this year.

Reports on the accomplishments of the organization's programs will be presented by the various committee chairmen following the election. Plans for the year's activities will also be discussed.

Highlight of the evening will be a talk by Lawrence Rubin, secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, who will speak on the construction of the Mackinac Straits Bridge. He will show slides to illustrate his talk.

The farm film, "Making the Most of a Miracle" will open the meeting. A 20 minute entertainment period under the direction of Harold Goebel of East Jordan will conclude the two hour meeting.

Officers and directors of the group are: Mr. Healey, chairman; Mr. Goebel, vice-chairman; Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, secretary; Robert Straw of Charlevoix, treasurer; Clyde Warner and Robert Reidel of Boyne City, directors.

Junior Coin Club Has New Officers

James VerWys was elected president of the Junior Coin Club at the annual election of officers held Thursday at the city hall to succeed Ruth Ann Riley.

Other new officers are Sally Harrington, vice-president; Raymond Schultz, secretary and Robert Marshall, treasurer.

In the first period Charlevoix racked up 12 points on three field goals by Helms and two field goals and two free throws by Davis while Gaylord scored three field goals and four free throws.

Timmer dumped in four field goals, Helms and Bolton each scored three points on a field goal and a free throw and Davis added a field goal for 16 points in the second quarter. Gaylord scored 12 points on six free throws and three field goals.

Charlevoix had its best quarter in the third with 17 points to go ahead 43-38 as the period ended. Arvilla tallied eight points on three field goals and two free throws; Helms scored three points and Timmer, Davis and Mol one field goal each. Gaylord had five field goals and six free throws.

Arvilla added another eight points on four field goals to lead the scoring in the last period when Charlevoix scored 12 points. Helms and Ingalls scored one field goal apiece. Gaylord scored three field goals and four charity shots.

Arvilla paced the scoring for the Rayders with 16 points followed by Helms with 14; Timmer and Davis with 10 each; Bolton with three and Ingalls and Mol with two each. Riddle led the scoring with 17 points for Gaylord.

In the first overtime Boyne City sunk a basket but East Jordan came back to tie the score. Again Boyne City went ahead and for the second time the Jordanites found the basket as the special period ended.

Boyne City got the tip off in the second 'sudden death' overtime and held it for nearly a minute before Gordon Yahr went in for a pivot shot that didn't connect. Red Devil Bobby Danforth was fouled as he took the ball and started down the floor. He sunk the first of two shots and put the game on ice for the Red Devils. He also sunk the second charity shot to give his team a two-point victory.

Bob Darbee set the pace for the scoring with 10 field goals, two of which were scored in the first overtime. Gordon Yahr had 14 for Boyne City.

The game left the Jordanites in first place with six straight wins in loop play while the Ramblers dropped to third place after being tied for second with the Charlevoix Rayders who remained in second place behind East Jordan. Harbor Springs 53, Mancelona 41. Harbor Springs moved out of the cellar spot they have been sharing with Mancelona Friday night after defeating the Ironmen 53-41.

Mancelona, however, did not give up without a struggle as they led the visitors 9-7 at the first quarter but the Rams came back to go ahead 26-17 at the half and 45-33 at the end of the third period.

Don Wilks paced the scoring for the game with 17 points for the Ironmen. Tom Clarke scored 15 points for the Rams.

Grayling 54 Pellston 40. At Pellston, the visiting Grayling Vikings took control of the backboard after the Hornets had led 14-10 at the first period. The visitors forged ahead for a slim one-point lead, 23-22 at halftime and stretched it to six points, 36-30 at the third period for the game which was paced by Red Hamilton who scored 19 points. Dale Drier had 14 points for the Hornets.

Jackson oats, a new variety, is superior to other varieties grown in central Michigan, M.S.C. farm cropland say.

Rosmary Nackerman - Harold Smith Vows Exchanged At Holy Cross Church

St. James, B. I. — Rosemary Nackerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Nackerman, became the bride of Harold E. Smith of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of Melvindale at Holy Cross church Saturday morning.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Herp officiated at the double ring ceremony during the Nuptial Mass in the presence of 150 guests. Yellow and white gladioli and baby inuns decorated the altar.

The high school choir, accompanied by Sister M. Irene at the organ, sang the Mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a gown of white lace and net over satin for her wedding. It was designed with a fitted bodice which buttoned to the waist in back with lace covered buttons, a net yoke with high lace collar and fitted lace sleeves which came to points at the wrists. The full skirt was of net with lace panels over satin.

A pearl beaded crown headpiece held her fingertip veil of lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, mums and stephanotis with a cascade of ribbons and rosebuds.

Ellen Nackerman served as her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of shrimp taffeta styled with a strapless draped bodice and full skirt of tulle over taffeta, a matching taffeta bolero and a shrimp velvet and net hat. Her bouquet was of yellow and white mums.

Redney Nackerman, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Arthur Huston of Ypsilanti, brother-in-law of the bride and Russell Greene.

Mrs. Nackerman chose a two piece dress of ice blue faille, black velvet accessories and a corsage of pink carnations for her daughter's wedding.

A breakfast for the bridal party and their families and others was served at the Beaver Lodge by Eleanor Gallagher, Rosmary McDonough, Audrey Gatliff and Marjorie Martin, friends of the bride. An afternoon reception for 125 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a brief stay at Beaver Lodge, the couple left on a wedding trip to New York and after

Feb. 1 will be at home at 14509 Snowden ave., Detroit.

The bride is a graduate of St. James high school and attended Mt. Carmel School of Nursing in Detroit. The bridegroom, a graduate of Melvindale high school, is a Marine veteran of the Korean War and at present is a member of the Detroit police force.

Discuss Proposal For Addition At Grandvue

The Charlevoix county Welfare Commission and a committee of the Charlevoix county Board of Supervisors were in Lansing early this week to confer with officials of the Michigan Department of Social Welfare relative to a proposed 60-bed addition to the county-operated Grandvue Hospital near East Jordan.

In announcing the trip to southern Michigan Roy E. Gregory, director of the county welfare commission, said the present hospital, which is a residential hospital and medical care facility for old people has a waiting list and additional facilities are imperative if the county and the commission are to meet their obligations to those who require the services of the institution.

RED CHINA'S premier, in a statement just before President Eisenhower's "defend Formosa" message to United States Congress this week, firmly rejected any idea of a cease-fire. He said the Reds were determined to conquer the Nationalist stronghold.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower won a unanimous vote of approval from the House Foreign Affairs Committee this week on his request for advance authority to use American armed forces in defense of Formosa if necessary.

THE UNITED STATES Seventh Fleet massed north of Formosa early this week to remove Chinese Nationalist troops from the imperiled Tachen Islands. At the same time, President Eisenhower proclaimed America's "readiness to fight" to keep Formosa from Communist clutches.

MICHIGAN schools will participate in an experiment to expand Civil Defense information. The program will continue until Oct. 1 and is financed by a Federal grant of $14,900. The program will be started as soon as possible.

POSTMASTER General Arthur E. Summerfield has asked Congress to increase the cost of mailing both local and out-of-town letters from 3 to 4 cents.

THE CIVIL Service reports 455,000 Government workers were added to its career and career-conditional categories when the new Federal appointment system went into effect.

REPORTS show that Iron Curtain countries have exhibited little interest in more trade with the United States despite steps taken by the Administration to permit an increase.

THE SOVIET Union has announced the end of its state of war with both East and West Germany, but said it would retain the "right and obligation" claimed under four-power agreement concerning Germany as a whole.

THE HOUSE Veterans Affairs Committee has unanimously okayed a bill to let servicemen keep on accumulating GI schooling rights provided they're in service by the end of this month.

All Aliens Must Register Jan. 31

All aliens in this country on Jan. 31 must register by Monday, Jan. 31, Dan Genett, assistant postmaster, warned Wednesday. Registration cards may be obtained at the Charlevoix post office where they may also be turned in.

In issuing the warning Mr. Genett said that only seven registrations have been received as compared with 17 last year.

Discuss Needs Of Expansion In Water Main

The expansion of the city water and sewer systems was the main issue discussed at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

The need for a feeder main to bolster pressure and the flow of water to the south section of the city has been realized for some time. The construction of enlarged facilities on South State st. and a new water main and sewer on Cherry st. head the list of proposed expansion projects.

City superintendent Roy R. Robinson was named delegate to a meeting of the M-68 Association at Ionia tonight (Thursday). Chris Taylor of East Jordan is an alternate.

The council also voted extra pay to police officers for extra time they must spend in court while testifying in cases and other special duties.

A plan for hospital and medical insurance and other benefits for city employees was discussed. Such a program will be investigated and discussed at a later meeting.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank and the Charlevoix County State Bank were named as depositories for the city's funds.

Two Basketball Games Saturday Aid Polio Drive

Basketball fans will have a treat in store for them Saturday night when the Wolverine All-Stars, composed of many well-known University of Michigan athletes who are vacationing in the area, play a double-header ball game at the Charlevoix high school gym for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

In the first game the All-Stars will take on the Charlevoix Independents at 7:15 p.m. and in the nightcap which will start at 8:30 p.m. will meet the Empire Air Base team whose line-up is made up of many well-known former college athletes now serving in the U. S. Air Force.

No admission will be charged but a free-will offering will be taken for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

Alan McDonell Is Appointed As Branch Manager

Alan Macdonell, local public accountant, has been appointed branch manager of the local office of Secretary of State which handles licenses for all vehicles and boats. The appointment was made by Secretary of State James M. Hare and will become effective early in February.

Mr. Macdonell will succeed Fenton R. Bulow who operated the branch office in the courthouse for about 18 years during his appointment under the Republican administration.

Mr. Macdonell said that his office, which is located at 223 1/2 Bridge St. (over Williams' Newsstand) will be open daily except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. and evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mr. Macdonell and his wife who will assist him in the office were in Grayling Monday and Tuesday to attend a special two-day training course given for the benefit of all new appointees.

County Prisoners Now Wear A New Official Uniform

Following a recent order issued by the Michigan Corrections Commission that all prisoners held in county jail throughout the state wear special prison uniforms, prisoners housed in the Charlevoix county jail will now wear white coveralls with "Charlevoix County" in red letters across the back, Sheriff Glenn E. Rose announced this week.

The new order became effective here this week. Under the new order, the prisoner's personal clothing will be taken from him upon admittance to the jail and while he is confined he will wear the prescribed uniform. His clothing will be returned to him only upon release from the jail.

Since all counties will furnish uniforms comparable to those worn here, anyone spotting a person wearing such a uniform elsewhere other than in the area of the jail is asked to notify local authorities.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

ISN'T that white stuff that's been falling for the past few days beautiful... or don't you think so? Pretty or not, there's a lot of it... which should make the skiers very happy. All most people are asking is that the darned stuff just stop coming down... But it's left the whole area looking like a real winter wonderland...

And the cold weather that's come with the snowfall which amounted to about 15 inches from Friday 'til Monday has also brought ice... with most of Round Lake frozen over... Except where Jake White and his fish tug puts around breaking up the ice at the dock where he ties up... and where the White Swan swings around before landing at the municipal dock...

The kids are having a grand time in all the snow... And on the skating rink which is in perfect condition now that the temperatures remain around 20 degrees...

IN OTHER years, when we've had a heavy snow, we've always asked that everyone feed the birds... But in the past week we've had several people mention that there are few birds... Even the lowly sparrow isn't being seen these days... and no one's seen a blue jay or any other winter birds... Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, who had set out all kinds of treats for the little feathered visitors, was the first to mention this... Since then several others have brought it to our attention... Could it be that the ever-wise birds forswore this heavy snow and lack of mountain ash berries and other food and went south? If anyone has any ideas on the subject we'd like to hear about it for since we've been seeing those big black crows, we've sure missed the other little birds.

JUST before the Bill Ratigans left for Florida recently, their German shepherd pup turned up missing... They were frantic... was past ad time at the Courier and they just didn't know what to do after spending most of a night and part of the next day looking for the pooch... But never let it be said that the Courier doesn't try to help its subscribers... The boss happened to notice a pup answering the description of the lost animal so sent an SOS to Mrs. R. who came at once and claimed her lost Rebel... Now we don't promise to do that well with all lost ads but you can't say we don't try...

AND speaking of dogs reminds us of a complaint we got the other day from the south side... about a person who heads our list entitled "The meanest people we know"... It's someone who has been poisoning dogs and cats... A cruel, cruel thing to do... We'll agree that animals can be annoying at times but that's no way to deal with the problem...

A COUPLE of weeks ago we mentioned a menu from Alex's Cafe in the 300 block on Bridge st. and wondered who Alex was... We've had three calls on Alex... who, according to Mrs. William Symons now of Grossa Pointe Woods, came to town about 1915 with the idea of showing the people of Charlevoix some fine and fancy foods... And from what we hear he did just that... His first Cafe was located in the old Martha Ayres building... And he did serve wonderful food... Mrs. George Glados and Fred Cartier both vouched for that... Later he moved down next door to the Musasalem building near the bridge... He was only here a couple of years but the natives sure ate well while he was in town... No one can remember his last name, however... It was probably a difficult one for according to Mrs. Glados he was Syrian...

LITTLE Johnny Bleha had a birthday last week and his mother, Mrs. Charles Bleha, made the usual lamb cake with which all members of the family celebrate their birthdays... And guess what color Johnny insisted the icing be this year?... Why yellow, of course... just like Buttercup...

DON'T know whether you follow college basketball scores or not but in case you didn't notice the Central Michigan win over Michigan Normal, we'd like to call your attention to it for one of our former Rayders, Deano Davenport, had something to do with that... Deano played most of the game and his one field goal was the one that put the Chips in the lead for the first time... 74-72... And as a result they went on to win 78-75... Local boy makes good... And all that but then, didn't we expect it all the time... Oh yes, and Deano had his own little Charlevoix cheering section on hand for his big night including Coach Terrill who stopped off to catch a part of the game enroute home from Lansing... In all there were at least a dozen students and visitors rooting for him so no wonder he came through...

AND speaking of basketball, our little ole Rayders are taking on a big one this week... Certainly one of the most important games of the season... East Jordan beat us by five points on their floor... and as a result they've clipped all comers since then and are still in first place... So to the Rayders and Coach Terrill lots of luck come Friday... We know you'll all do your best and we're confident that you'll come through with a win.

HAD QUITE a chat with James H. Gallagher on the Beavers one day recently and he was telling us something we'd never known... As is everyone else, we were discussing the island's new boat and he was telling us that when Emerald LaBlance started hauling freight and mail this fall after the North Shore was removed from the run in October, he became the fourth generation to tote the mail over the hazardous route... The first was Emerald's great-grandfather, Joseph Smith... who was followed by Paul LaBlance... At an even later date, Em's dad George LaBlance also carried the mail so when Emerald took over this fall, not many of the older island residents were surprised...

AND speaking of the Beavers, there's an island in the Beaver group that its owner, Mrs. Louise Kates of Alma would like to know something about... Seems she's never laid eyes on her island possession and when Detroit Free Press columnist, James S.

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Elmer Manville was discharged from the U. S. Air Force recently after serving a four year enlistment. Accompanied by his wife and three sons, he arrived from Ogden, Utah, earlier this month and is now in Petoskey where the family is visiting Mrs. Manville's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fetting.

Enroute here they visited in Almo with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sarasin.

Pvt. F. Ivan Whitley is now stationed in the west and has the following new address: Pvt. Floyd F. Whitley RA 16472054 5th Pst. Co. D 20th Inf. Reg. Fort Ord, Calif.

He is the son of Mrs. Irene Whitley and enlisted in the U. S. Army in October. He received his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Pooler, ran his story on the Beavers at Christmas time, Mrs. Kates figured he might know something about the island she owns so she wrote to him... In a recent column he asked for info on this little dot out in Lake Michigan, we'd like to know so we could pass it along...

AND THE mention of the word that brings to mind a grand guy to whom we'd like to tip our hat and wish a happy, happy birthday anniversary... He's one of Charlevoix's most beloved summer residents who has a very special place in the hearts of the countless people who know him or who have benefited by his kind acts... We mean Alvin D. Goldman... So, a happy birthday and many, many more from all your friends in Charlevoix... See you in June...

HAVE YOU read your February Reader's Digest?... If not turn to page 81 and read the article, Family Doctor: Model 1955 written by Paul de Kruff... Imagine our surprise to find our own Dr. Saltonstall not only mentioned but quoted along with Dr. John Rodger of Belle Isle who did so much to help us get the new hospital... We won't attempt to tell you what it's about for we want you to read it for yourself... Maybe then you'll really appreciate how lucky we are...

HERE'S one for the books... Early this fall a local couple was spending the weekend in Grand Rapids... And while there the Mrs. decided she needed new drapes (this was after she'd spotted some heavenly yellow material that was definitely a bargain)... As a result she purchased the material and after having the drapes made up decided she wanted some cornices to match... But when she wrote for more material... also... there was none so the search began... Finally, in desperation, her husband visited Hess in a last effort to find something to match the drapes for by now they'd given up hopes of finding the same material... And guess what... the local store not only stocked the same material (which he quickly purchased) but it cost less here than in southern Michigan.

Need A Change?

One beautiful mid-summer's day my wife and I were invited by friends to spend the afternoon on a motor launch on Lake Charlevoix. Playful breezes slightly rippled the waters. Wavelets played "catch," lightly tossing lily buds and lily pads to each other. As we sailed southward we came upon a family of Canada geese paddling across the lake's narrow arm. The parents showed but slight signs of alarm as the boat neared them and their goslings. The adults conveyed the young toward the opposite shore with a surprising degree of self-confidence and serenity, uncommon among us human beings.

In July the goslings of Canada geese are at an awkward age. Not yet able to fly and clumsy as any goose when walking, water is their only real refuge from trouble. In appearance they are at their worst. The fluffy downiness of their infancy has left them. The great beauty of their parents has not yet arrived. Like the children of the entire animal kingdom, goslings are at their awkward worst at adolescence, neither infant nor adult, but caught in the midst of change.

But really, no matter when or where you find a living thing, it will be in the midst of change. Those sedate parent geese guarding their young were changing, too, in more hidden, subtle ways. Underneath their feathers their noon meal of eelgrass and water insects was changing to goose muscle to replace worn tissue. Within their lungs oxygen was being absorbed from the fresh northern air to feed the bloodstream. Carbon dioxide was being lifted from the bloodstream and given back to the elements. And the body of a goose is the scene of constant changes.

Everything else upon the lake that day was undergoing change. Some lilies were budding, and others decaying. Rocks were eroding from the steady beat of the waves. The water was growing warmer from the sun's great heat, and at night it would almost imperceptibly cool off again. Some trees that lined the shore were growing from seedlings toward a virile youth. Others had passed the zenith of their life and were falling in decay. Yonder camper and the sight-seeing sailors were getting "recreation," being recreated, physically restored and "born again." That day our whole world was changing. It is today. It will always change. Constant change is a law of life.

Some time ago in a popular musical comedy a weak and susceptible woman, explaining to the audience why she unflinchingly succumbed to temptation, sang out, "How can I be what I ain't?" Far from being comedy, that is one of the most tragic questions persistently asked — "How can I be anything else? What chance is there of my making a change?"

There is an answer to that question, and Christianity has it. Paul put it this way: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." That is the essence of the glad Christian gospel. You don't need to stay the way you are!

Christ found Simon Peter an irresponsible follower, impossible to trust, timid in a crisis, and made of him a stalwart founder of Christianity. Christ found Paul, a rapid persecutor of Christians and changed him into Christianity's greatest missionary. Christ found Augustine, a lustful libertine, and made him a saint. Christ has found millions lamenting, "How can I be what I'm not?" and has changed them into people whose spiritual stature exceeded their fondest dreams.

How are these changes brought about? By bringing outside influences inside of us. As goslings on Lake Charlevoix grow by finding food around them and consuming it for internal use, and the trees on the lake's shores thrive by absorbing needed nutrients from air and soil, so a person changes by inwardly assimilating wholesome outside influences. Thus we make the "God of our Fathers" the God of our own hearts, and the Christ of far away Palestine, the Lord of our lives.

Do you feel in need of a change? You need not stay the way you are.

MICHIGAN beckoned tourists and tossed a bouquet at its resort operators in the same motion. Both gestures came as the U. S. Department of the Interior warned that drouth conditions are prevalent over two-thirds of the nation.

But the report made Michigan look like an oasis, with its more than 11,000 inland lakes and resort areas catering to both the summer and winter trade. It said: "Michigan is immune to drouth. The Great Lakes waters are clear, cool and soft, and no part of the state is more than 95 miles from one of the Great Lakes."

The Michigan Department of Economic Development took the cue to remind everybody with a mailing address that the state has 2,242 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

It praised the resorts for taking advantage of the gifts of nature and asked other states to send its weary and worn, restless and thirsty citizens up to Michigan for a vacation.

The letter to other states said: "Michigan is a good place to live. Come to Michigan."

DEMOCRATS who hold six of the state's top offices are hurrying to join Gov. Williams' campaign to scorch Republicans who hold the other two.

The first sally came when five of them joined Williams at their first Democrat-dominated administrative board meeting.

Where Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler had only Williams to feint with before November, he now faced six.

He was criticized for coming to the meeting with less information about project bids than Democrats wanted. Next day he was blasted again for trying to pay a damage claim on the advice of an assistant attorney general.

As the legislature gets into the highway problem, he will again be a target of the Democrats — and some Republicans who, rightly or wrongly, figure him as a partisan liability.

Ziegler remains calm through it all with three years still to run in his present term. He stated that he has built as many roads as possible with the available funds and that he needs up to $6,000,000 to bring all the state's trunklines, roads and streets up to standards.

IMPRISONED youngsters have stirred the sympathy, and ire, of the Michigan Corrections Commission.

Officials said there are 400 youths behind bars between the ages of 15 and 17 and that facilities to handle the tough adult convict are "a reproach to the state when applied to youth."

That was the estimate of Commissioner Talbot Smith as he bowed out of the system to become a Supreme Court justice. He asked for a complete reform of the youthful-offender policies. He said:

"Putting these youngsters in with hardened criminals is just plain murder."

First, he asked that a separate reception center be created for youths and that the penal code be changed to soften the procedures of arrest, prosecution and preliminary sentences.

Then, as a long-range program he suggested a separate set of facilities for youths which feature education, training and reform.

"We can salvage some of these youngsters and we should have some temporary arrangement established immediately," he said.

The next step will be conferences between corrections officials and the Michigan Youth Commission in an effort to work out a program to present to the legislature.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE, which pioneered services to farmers for education, will be 100 years old in 1955.

First students were instructed to "bring your own axes" and a college was started, the first under the Morrill Act creating land-grant colleges.

Since that early beginning, the college has grown to enrollments up to 16,000 students. It has trained men for war and educated them to follow peacetime pursuits.

Hundreds of farmers throughout the state send regularly for information from the college on how they can increase their profits and field agents in every county lend a hand.

The college also has become a liberal arts university, offering degrees in education, the languages, engineering, English, home economics and dozens of other courses.

For its centennial year, the college has arranged national conferences of a number of distinguished scientific and cultural organizations and a sparkling array of other events.

It will all start Feb. 12 with "Founders Day."

Charlevoix To Meet East Jordan Here Friday In Crucial Game

Attention in the Northern Michigan Class C league this week will be focused on the Charlevoix East Jordan meeting here Friday when the 1954-55 loop title may be at stake.

The game will be the Rayders last chance to knock the high-flying Jordanites from the ranks of the undefeated and to keep alive their hopes of at least a share of the title.

Other action in the loop will find Boyne City traveling to Gaylord; Harbor Springs playing at Grayling and Pellston invading Mancelona.

Winter Is Time To Remedy Tree Problems Here

Winter is the time to get in some good looks on tree problems in Michigan towns.

William B. Love, extension municipal forester at Michigan State, stresses that point. With leaves off, he explains, it's easier to tell the condition of trees.

And, he added, winter is the best season to remove dangerously decayed or crowded trees. Lawns aren't likely to be damaged while the ground is frozen.

Winter is a good time, too, says Love, to take stock of planting needs and, order trees for spring. He suggests large species such as sugar maples and Norway maples if there is plenty of space. To limited space smaller types like ironwood or mountain ash fill the bill. Avoid brittle wooded, fast growing trees like Chinese elm, cottonwood, box elder and soft maple.

Love insists that most street trees are placed too close together. He recommends this: A spacing of 50 to 75 feet for large varieties and 35 to 50 feet for the smaller types. Planting stock 1 1/2 to 2 inches in diameter is large enough in most cases.

Although summer is best for pruning out dead or dangerous branches, it can be done in winter. All pruning cuts should be made flush and coated with good tree paint.

Clarence Meggison Committee Chairman

Clarence B. Meggison who recently took his seat in the state legislature as representative of the Charlevoix district, has received his committee appointments for the current session.

He has been named to serve as chairman of the federal relations committee with five other members and to the committees on military and veterans affairs, apportionments and elections.

Scout Council To Meet At E. Jordan

The regular monthly committee meeting and round table meeting of the Northern District of the Scout Council will be held at the Methodist church in East Jordan tonight. The dinner meeting will begin at 7 p.m. and will be attended by representatives from Antrim, Emmet, Cheboygan, Osego and Charlevoix counties.

Plans for the annual Klondike Derby to be held at Petoskey on Feb. 13 will also be discussed at the meeting.

Petoskey Chapter Of D.A.R. Meets

Miss Jesse Fairfield entertained the members of the Petoskey chapter of the D.A.R. at luncheon at her home in Petoskey Friday.

After the luncheon Miss Ethel Shepard reviewed the book, "Miracle of the Hills", a story of the Crossnore school in Tennessee, one of the schools supported by the D.A.R.

Discuss Proposed Grandview Addition

Other supervisors who were expected to attend the annual conference of the Michigan Association of Supervisors were Drew Young of Charlevoix, Mrs. Louisa Lockman of Boyne City, Gerald Fineout of Walloon Lake, and Lawrence Malloy of St. James.

Charlevoix county clerk, Fenton R. Bulow, was also in southern Michigan where he planned to attend the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of County Officers being held in Detroit.

Both East Jordan and Charlevoix will have a great deal at stake when they meet this week. For East Jordan it may mean their first loop title since the 1949-50 season and for Charlevoix it will mean their last chance to win a share of the title should both teams win their remaining five league games. The Rayders are seeking their fifth straight title.

In their first meeting Dec. 10, Charlevoix lost to East Jordan on the free throw line after outscoring them 20-16 in the field goal department. The final score of the game was 59-54.

Since their one defeat, the Rayders have racked up six straight wins including a 68-41 victory over Boyne City, a team the Jordanites defeated by only two points on a double overtime earlier this month.

With so much at stake, the two teams are expected to be out to win in a game which is expected to be a low-scoring defensive battle all the way. The Rayders will have the edge only because the game is being played on the Charlevoix court.

Favored teams are expected to win in the other three games scheduled for Friday night.

At Gaylord the Boyne City Ramblers should have little trouble with the Blue Devils whom they defeated earlier in the season.

The same is true of the game at Grayling where the Vikings will be hosting the Harbor Springs Rams whose only win is over last place Mancelona. Grayling, however, cannot expect to win as easily as they did at Harbor Springs when they racked up a 68-54 score over the Rams.

Pellston will play at Mancelona where the Ironmen are always a threat on their "cracker-box" floor but even this isn't expected to be enough to trip up the fourth place Hornets.

Drifting Snow Closed School

All Charlevoix schools were dismissed at 3 p.m. Wednesday when high winds and flying snow made driving in the area hazardous.

Snow flurries which started Friday and which were expected to continue until this morning (Thursday) have brought approximately 19 inches of snow to Charlevoix county. T. B. Reynolds, Charlevoix county road commission engineer superintendent said late Wednesday.

High winds which have shifted from the southwest to the northwest during Wednesday are causing the snow to drift. All roads were open at that time although they were slippery.

I.O.O.F. Players Win In Cribbage

The I.O.O.F. cribbage players canoe through Monday night in the annual tournament and as a result of their wins cut the Mason's lead by 55 points. The Mason's margin is now 534 points.

Grayling's 'Red' Hamilton Tops High Score Players In League

Grayling's Red Hamilton, a 6 ft. 2 in. senior, tops the list of high scorers in the northern Michigan Class C league as the current schedule passed the halfway point last week.

Hamilton, who plays both forward and center, has scored 132 points in seven full games and less than four minutes of the eighth game, the Charlevoix-Grayling game Dec. 17 when he suffered a cracked bone in his wrist which necessitated a cast during the holidays.

He has scored 47 field goals and has connected for 38 of 50 free throws to run up this impressive record which gives an average of better than 16 points per game. In addition he scored 25 points in a non-loop game against Kalkaska. The highest number of points scored in a game was 28 against Boyne City last week.

This is Hamilton's third year on the Grayling Varsity squad. Bob Durbee, a forward on the first place East Jordan squad, has scored 117 points to take over second place among the high scorers. He has matched Hamilton in the field goal department with a total of 47 but has scored only 23 out of 46 free throws.

In third place following Friday's games was Dale Drier of Pellston with 111 while Charlevoix's Quint Walker and Merlyn Davenport of Pellston were tied for fourth with 109 points apiece.

Soil Conservation District To Meet Monday At East Jordan

The seventh annual meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District will be held at the East Jordan high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent and secretary of the district has announced.

Clayton Healey of East Jordan will preside at the business meeting which is scheduled to begin promptly at 8 p.m. Business to be presented will include the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mr. Rebman; presentation of certificates to three outstanding farmers by Clyde Warner; treasurer's report by Robert Straw; a report on the run-off plots by Harold Goebel of East Jordan; the annual report by Robert Reibel of Boyne City and the election of one director. The term of Clyde Warner who represents the district south of Charlevoix expires this year. Nominations for the vacancy include Mr. Warner and John Wieland, also of Charlevoix.

In explaining who is eligible to vote, Mr. Rebman said that every one who owns or occupies land will be eligible to vote in the election. Both husbands and wives may vote if the farm is owned or operated jointly. Charles Weisler of Charlevoix will be in charge of the election.

Cite Results Of Wide-Row System Of Planting Corn

Farmers using the wide-row system of planting corn will probably find they are harvesting fewer bushels per acre . . . as much as 20 per cent less . . . but they might not mind if they use the corn as a nurse crop for legumes.

For several years the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District has awarded certificates to outstanding cooperators in the district. The board of directors and the farm planner select these farmers who have made outstanding progress in their soil and water conservation plan. Three farmers will receive the award, an attractive certificate mounted in a frame, which will be presented by Clyde Warner.

The first run-off plots were operated this year on the Hiram Brack farm on M-66 between East Jordan and Ironton. This has been a cooperative project between the Charlevoix Soil Conservation district, the East Jordan high school Future Farmers and their advisory council, the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Service. Harold Goebel will report on the project which is financed by the Soil District.

Lawrence Rubin, secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, will conclude the program with an illustrated lecture showing the construction of the Mackinac Straits Bridge up to the present time.

The meeting will open with the showing of the movie, "Makin' the Most of a Miracle" which shows how soil and plant food makes plants grow and how this growth can be controlled for man's benefit.

An entertainment period in charge of Mr. Goebel will feature local talent from throughout the county.

Everyone is invited to attend the annual meeting of this group.

Low Temperatures Harm Ingredients In Weed Killers

Be sure to store your liquid chemical weed killers and insecticides where the temperature stays above freezing.

That's advice from Michigan State College specialists. Even though the chemicals won't freeze, they say, some of the ingredients may crystallize. And there's a good chance these important parts of the chemical may not go back into the solution when the materials are used next spring. The specialists also add this caution: Don't store weed killers near seed.

Must Have Permits To Store Game Meat After 60 Day Limit

The 60-day time limit for keeping game meat is drawing close on some species and conservation department law enforcement workers suggest a check of cold storage lockers in the near future.

Hunters may keep game 80 days after the close of any season. After that time, they must obtain a permit, which allows them to keep the meat indefinitely.

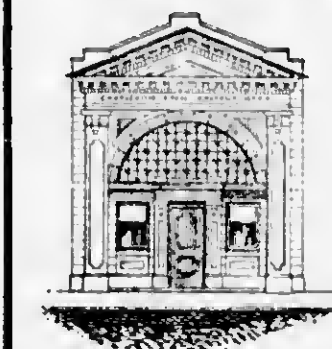

That means it will not be legal to keep squirrel or pheasant meat after January 9 without a permit or ruffed grouse after January 18 under the same provision. On ducks and geese, the time limit is January 23 and on deer, January 30.

Permits may be obtained from the conservation department through local conservation officers, locker plants or department headquarters.

Man from Rochester says, "I'm a lot better off because of Blue Cross-Blue Shield!"

"Blue Cross - Blue Shield saved the day for me," says Mr. Heckman of Rochester. "I was the hospital for over two months. Really needed the works—oxygen, operating room, anesthesia—and you find that they can really amount up in no time! My hospital bill alone was over $1800. I didn't have to pay a penny of it! My Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract covered it all! And—Blue Shield paid $450 of my doctor bill, too. It would take me years to get rid of that debt if I didn't have Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Like I say, I'm a lot better off because I've got it."

What if your family had an unexpected hospital bill this year? One in every three families will! Wouldn't you be a lot better off with protection like the kind that saved over $2200 for Mr. Heckman?

Inkster Husband says, "Blue Cross-Blue Shield saved us years of debt!"

"I guess no one would mind paying $100 to get out from under $1150 in hospital and doctor bills," says Mr. VanSickle, of Inkster. "I know—that's what Blue Cross-Blue Shield saved my family. I spent a month in the hospital this year. Had no idea that it could cost so much, but I had to have a lot of attention. Our Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract covered all but $40 of the bill, and Blue Shield paid my doctor $192. It just goes to show how valuable Blue Cross-Blue Shield is when you need it. My wife and I are certainly thankful we've got Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Wouldn't have any thing else!"

Dr. T.M. Weiss Is Special Speaker For Banks P.T.A.

Ellsworth — Dr. T. M. Weiss, Counselor Trainer from Central Michigan College of Education at Mt Pleasant was the special speaker at Banks P.T.A. meeting held last Tuesday evening, January 18 in the school.

Dr. Weiss had been in conference with faculty members that afternoon and his remarks in the evening were based on the subjects discussed at the conference. Dr. Weiss works with smaller schools, advising and helping to set up a system whereby a student can be given tests at regular intervals to determine how much or how little a student is able to accomplish in the educational training. The trend is to try and teach the child as an individual rather than as one of a class or age group; and to try to develop the moral and social components of his personality as well as his intelligence.

Dr. Weiss showed a film "Angry Boy" put out by the State Department of Mental Health.

During the business meeting, which was in charge of Rev. H. Diller, father vice-president, the Wages and Means Committee announced plans for their White Elephant Sale this Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28 and 29 and the baked goods sale Saturday, to be held in the corner building, formerly occupied by John's Health Center.

The program committee chairman announced plans for a panel at the February meeting of the P.T.A. to be conducted by the curriculum committee, Richard Lather chairman. This committee was appointed by the school board to make study of the curriculum and possibly make recommendations.

The pupils in Mrs. Farrells room won the money in the "kitchen kitty" for having the largest percentage of parents present.

Does anyone in the community know the whereabouts of all the secretary's books of the Banks P.T.A. and the P.T.A. History compiled a number of years ago? Information as to their whereabouts would be most welcome.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the committee composed of Mrs. Charles Edson, Mrs. George Koster, Mrs. Henry Elzinga, Mrs. Sheldon Mills, Mrs. Franklin Stucker, Mrs. Herbert Peebles, Mrs. William Patterson and Mrs. Peter Wieland.

Corn With High Moisture Content Suitable For Feed

Some farmers in Charlevoix county have a supply of corn on hand that may be too high in moisture to keep until next spring. A good place for this high moisture corn is in the dairy ration, advises agricultural agent Ed Rebmam.

You can make up most of the grain mixture with this corn. And suggests Rebmam. It will help you save oats and barley until warmer weather comes next spring.

Carl F. Huffman, dairy nutritionist at Michigan State college, points out that this corn can be fed as either shelled or corn cob meal.

On most farms, the corn is still on the cob, so it's best to grind the ears. This will save shelling cost, make the ration lighter, and you can make use of the feed value on the cob.

Huffman says corn and cob meal has about 74 per cent digestible nutrients — oats has 70 and Huffman points out that corn and cob meal makes good energy feed where high-protein roughages as legume hay and silage are fed.

"For many years Michigan dairymen fed a grain mixture made up largely of ground corn. They have received excellent results with it and there is better reason than usual to follow a similar feeding program this year," Huffman adds.

German Exchange Students Will Hold A Reunion Skiing Party

Bozette City — Nineteen students, visiting Michigan under the State department student exchange program, will hold a mid-year reunion skiing party here Jan. 29 and 30 at Avalanche, city operated ski slope.

The students, all from Germany, arrived in the United States last August and since that time have lived with Michigan families and have been attending high school during their one-year stay in the state.

Heinz Stoerner, 18, one of the exchange students who has been residing here with his "one year foster parents," Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chapman, will play the role of host for the skiing party.

Arrangements are now being made to have the students picked up at either Lansing or Grand Rapids by bus. The students, who come from as widely separated points in the state as St. Joseph, to Detroit, will be transported to the bus pick-up point by their "foster parents."

Mrs. Rachel Andersen, executive secretary of the Ann Arbor Council of Churches who is the administrative head of the student exchange program for the state, is working in cooperation with the Bozette City Chamber of Commerce in arranging details for the international ambassadors of good will.

The students, arriving here about noon Jan. 29, will have four hours of free time to look around the community and enjoy the ski slope. In the evening, they will have dinner at Christ Lutheran church and following dinner they will all go to Avalanche where special ceremonies will be held in their honor. The general public is urged to attend en masse this interesting spectacle.

A feature of the evening skiing will be a fireworks demonstration during which a huge magnesium flare made up of the magnesium shavings furnished by Counter Products, will be touched off at the summit of Avalanche, silhouetting the 30 ft. cross that marks the top center of the slope.

Mrs. Glenn Tucker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and general chairman of the event, states that people from surrounding communities are being invited to attend the skiing party and square dance (conducted by Mr. K. C. Festerling) immediately following the slope demonstration.

The Rev. Richard Noffke, of Christ Lutheran church, will give "The Blessing of the Mount," as the evening's program is started. The prayers will be offered in both English and German, followed by the unison singing of all attending of our National Anthem.

On Sunday, students will attend the church of their choice and then have a short period to witness Regional Proficiency Tests, run off by the National Ski Patrol, under the supervision of John Norton, Chief of NSP. About 2 p.m. the students will prepare for the journey homeward.

Jordan Valley Creamery Group Attends Hearing

Representatives of the Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery were in Traverse City last week to attend a milk marketing hearing on a proposed milk marketing agreement and order for the upstate Michigan marketing area, Alston Penfold, assistant manager of the company announced this week.

The purpose of the hearing held Jan. 18-19 and 20 was to give interested parties an opportunity to introduce additional information on any or all the original proposals.

The East Jordan company was represented by Francis Nemecek, Elmer Murray and Burr Blanchard, directors; Percy Penfold, assistant manager; Harold Thomas, Harold Goebel and Henry Heeres, producers and Carl McNett and William VanLoe, plant employees.

Inasmuch as the Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery is the largest single producer investment in the entire upstate marketing area, the important role this organization has played in marketing dairy products was introduced into the record, Mr. Penfold said.

Additional information was also submitted proposing certain changes in provisions that would effect present producers.

Name Frank Bur Representative To Midwest Meeting

Frank Bur, president of the board of directors of the Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery in East Jordan, was appointed as a representative to the Resolutions committee for the annual meeting of the Midwest Producers Creameries Inc. to be held at South Bend, Ind., Feb. 24-25.

He was appointed at the annual meeting of the Michigan group of the Midwest organization held in Lansing Saturday.

At the same meeting Alston Penfold, assistant manager of the East Jordan plant, was elected to serve as a director of the Midwest board for 1955.

Francis Nemecek, vice-president of the board, and Carl McNett and William VanLoe, employees at the East Jordan plant, also attended the meeting.

Lutheran Church To Sponsor Two Films On Feb. 6

The Bethany Lutheran church will sponsor the showing of two films at the church at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 6. It was announced this week.

The movie, "The Cheat," another in the "This is the Life" series which have been shown at the church during the past months, tells the story of an enterprising nine-year-old boy who discovers that the end does not justify the means. In the picture the boy is caught in a three-fold dilemma, the making of an extra $1.00 to buy his grandfather's birthday gift, a bargain he can't break and an acute case of disturbed conscience.

The second film to be shown is the "Realm of the Wild" produced by the U. S. Forest Service. The picture reveals that more vital than game loss is an assured year-around supply of grass, weeds, shrubs and trees to provide food and cover without which no man, beast or bird can survive. The sound film is in color.

No admission will be charged but a free-offering will be accepted.

Don Anison Will Discuss Trapping In Rural Schools

Dan Anison of Gaylord, professional trapper with the Michigan Department of Conservation, will accompany Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, on a visit to several of the rural schools today.

Mr. Anison will display a variety of pelts of Michigan fur-bearing animals and present a talk on the fur industry in Michigan.

The idea for the series of visits had its beginning in a project at the Murray school in Hayes township where Mrs. Lorah Foley is the teacher. The students have been reading the book, "Sandy MacDonald's Man," a tale of the Mackinaw Fur Trade and became interested in the part that furs played in the history of the state. A request made to the county superintendent's office for additional information resulted in the talks by Mr. Anison.

Taste Decides Whether Slow Or Speedy Broiling

Broiling foods at a high and at a low temperature will produce two different results.

The temperature, explains Eleanor Ragon of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college, is mainly controlled by the distance the food is placed from the heat. The farther from the heat, the lower the temperature and the longer the cooking time needed.

Miss Ragon says the effect you want will determine how the food is to be broiled, that is, whether you want it evenly cooked throughout or well-browned outside and rare inside.

For slow or moderate temperature broiling, place average cuts of meat on the top of the cut is at least 3 inches from the heat. Meat should be turned only once during broiling, cautions Miss Ragon.

Slow broiling is simpler than high temperature broiling. You do not have to watch the food so carefully. And it has the same advantages as slow roasting; the meat is more uniformly cooked, there is less shrinkage, greater tenderness, and more edible meat; the meat is more attractive, the cuts are plump and full with no charred bone or fat, and there is less spattering and smoking.

High temperature broiling is for those who prefer meat rare inside and very brown outside. To get this temperature place the cut 1 1/2 to 2 inches from the heat. This method is not generally recommended for broiling steaks. Miss Ragon explains that it requires careful watching, and makes for a harder cleaning job.

REPORT FROM LANSING

By Clarence B. Meggison
Lansing, Jan. 27 — Approaching the close of our third week of the session of the 96th Legislature, it would seem that a brief review of our activities to date, is now indicated.

Pursuant to constitutional requirements, we convened at noon on Jan. 12, and proceeded to organize and set in motion the machinery for getting under way a session which from all appearances will be anything but dull, due in the many serious problems facing us, and the conflicting opinions as to their solution.

Three hours and fifty-five minutes were consumed in the swearing in of the members, election of our House officials (Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg, Speaker pro tem Andrew Bolt, Clerk Norman E. Phillee, Sergeant-at-Arms Dan McCaig and Postmasters Arthur H. Wickman and Harold Hill), selection of seats, adoption of routine resolutions pertinent to organization, hearing and granting a petition for a recount in the Menominee district, appointment of a recount committee, and the introduction and adoption of a concurrent resolution to set up a joint convention to invite and hear the Governor's message the next day.

His first message on January 13 was a short one, more of an outline with promise of details to follow in later messages, although he did urge (1) placing on the April ballot a $500,000,000 bond proposal for road construction; (2) increased grants for the greater development of the tourist and recreation industry; (3) expansion of our present statewide farm marketing program.

Following adjournment of the Joint Session, the Legislature took a long weekend recess. Let me explain to those unfamiliar with legislative processes, this recess is required for two very important reasons. First, no legislative action can be taken on any bills in the House, other than to introduce them, until the committees are named, and secondly, several days are required to hook up the new seating arrangements with the indicator boards and the electric roll call recorder. The latter cannot be done until the members have chosen their seats.

As for the naming of the committees, this is a tough task for the Speaker, requiring his full time during this recess period, as you may well realize when you consider there are 47 committees ranging in membership size from 5 to 15, and 109 members to be assigned. The Speaker does not serve on any. The committees were completed and announced late during the session on Thursday the 20th, which meant the passing of 2 session weeks before committee action could be taken on any bills.

In the meantime, bills were introduced and referred to their respective committees when appointed, and further messages received from the Governor. This year his messages are being delivered piecemeal a little at a time, with his recommendation for payment of the various spending programs he proposes to be left until the last, although as well guarded a secret as his tax program was, there was no doubt but what it would contain a Corporations Profit Tax.

In his Education Message, he recommended among other things, a huge, building program for schools and colleges.

There is no denying the paramount need of the schools for additional facilities and this is one of the serious problems with which we are confronted. It is conservatively estimated that the program he recommends would require an additional $40 million yearly in new taxes.

His budget message called for an appropriation of $202.2 million which is exactly $46 million higher than estimated revenues.

Today we received his tax

The annual Northern Michigan Solo-Ensemble festival sponsored by District II of the Michigan High School Band and Orchestra Association will be held at the Gaylord high school Saturday, C. A. Odmark, Charlevoix high school band director, has announced.

Forty-seven student members of the Charlevoix Senior and Varsity bands will participate in 30 different solo and ensemble events at the festival which is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

lege in Mt. Pleasant who will hear the brass entries; Rex Hewlett and Floyd Hydenberg, both of the Mt. Pleasant high school and Central Michigan college. Mr. Hewlett will judge the woodwinds and Mr. Hydenberg will work with strings and piano.

The purpose of the festival, other than to qualify for participation in the state festival, is to foster solo and ensemble playing as a means of improving technical ability but more important to introduce musicians to the fun of playing in small groups. Mr. Odmark said.

The festival is open to the public and parents and friends are cordially invited to attend the event and hear more than 130 different entries from all over northern Michigan perform during the all-day event. There is no charge.

Peter Kanoff Attends M.S.C. Police Course

Peter Kanoff, member of the Charlevoix police force, has returned from East Lansing where he attended a special four-week basic police training course at Michigan State college.

The course began Jan. 3 and the "students" were awarded certificates at their "graduation exercises" on Jan. 26.

Harold E. Haun, former police chief at Battle Creek and Ypsilanti; who is the Continuing Education co-ordinator for the M.S.C. Law Enforcement Training program, said that the course covers a course of study designed to assist men to be good police officers. Several phases of law are included, such as court procedure and crime prevention and much time is spent in training in every-day police duties of police officers and in criminal investigation. The men are also instructed in use of fire arms, school safety, arson investigation, communication, defense tactics, public relations, use of scientific aids, patrol work, police records, vice and rackets and other phases of police work.

Cooperating with the M.S.C. Department of Police Administration and the Continuing Education Service to offer the course are the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, FBI, Michigan Sheriffs Association, Michigan Department of Public Instruction, Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Police Academy. Many of these groups provided personnel and materials for special instructional work during the month-long course.

Area Eastern Star Chapters Are Guests

The Charlevoix chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star entertained 125 members from 10 of 13 chapters in the Meguizee district at a Friendship night at the local Masonic Temple Thursday evening, Mrs. James Hiller, worthy matron of the local chapter, reported this week.

Officers of the visiting chapters exemplified the degrees and later each guest officer who had participated was presented with a gift from the Charlevoix officers. A Valentine motif decorated the dining room for the social hour and refreshments which followed.

People Urged To Participate In Queen Vote

Vote for your choice of a Winter Sports queen to represent Charlevoix in the annual Michigan Winter Sports Queen contest at Petoskey later this month, is the invitation issued this week by the Kiwanis club which is sponsoring the local Queen's contest.

The winner will succeed Gail Krahnke as Charlevoix's candidate for the state title also held by Miss Krahnke, now a student at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant.

Charlevoix's 1953 entry, Joan Hess, was also a winner. The candidate must be from 17 to 24 years of age and a resident of the community.

So... if you have a favorite candidate cast your ballot now for your choice at the Charlevoix County State bank where ballots and a ballot box have been placed for your convenience.

Participation in the voting has been very disappointing so far and it is hoped that area citizens will take an increased interest in this contest which is so important to the community.

V.F.W. Will Hold District Rally At Gaylord Post

Membership and other key veterans' programs will occupy delegates to the 13th district rally of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Gaylord Sunday.

The annual winter rally will feature the dedication of new district colors with the drill team of Cheboygan post 3623 serving as color bearers and color guards for the ceremony.

Otto Kropp of Traverse City, district commander will preside at the rally at which a representative of the state department will be the principal speaker.

The rally will open at 1:30 p.m. following a dinner which will be served by the Auxiliary of the Gaylord post.

Lieut. R. Talboys Seriously Hurt In Car Accident

Lieut. Ralph Talboys, 22, of Boyne City, brother of Mrs. Rex Davis of this city, is in serious condition at MacDill General Hospital, Tampa, Fla., from injuries received in a car-fuel truck crash early Saturday morning while enroute to Barstow Air Force Base near Tampa.

He suffered a skull fracture, concussion and fuel oil burns in the accident in which two other servicemen were injured, one critically.

His mother, Mrs. Claude Talboys, was visiting in Freeport, Ill., at the time and accompanied by her brother-in-law, Dale Thompson, flew to Florida to be with her son.

His condition, though still serious, is slightly improved.

Details of the accident are not known at this time.

Charlevoix Wins Over Boyne City By 77-60 To Move Into Lead

The Charlevoix Rayders took the lead in the Northern Michigan Class C league for the first time this season following their 77-60 win over Boyne City Tuesday night.

The victory gave the Rayders a nine win-one loss record as they move into the last quarter of the 1954-55 schedule against Grayling Friday night. Charlevoix and Boyne City have played one more league game apiece than other members of the loop.

The meeting with Grayling on the local court Friday night will be the next major hurdle in the Rayders' race for their fifth consecutive title. In their first game Charlevoix won over the high-scoring Viking squad by a 57-37 score. Grayling, now in a tie with Pellston for fourth place, has improved greatly since then and the meeting here Friday is expected to be a tough one as the Vikings try to knock the Rayders out of their newly-acquired position.

The Rayders will not play Tuesday when all other teams with the exception of Boyne City take on league rivals.

In the game at Boyne City Tuesday night, Charlevoix went into an early lead but the Ramblers, playing heads up ball, tied the score before taking a 17-16 first period lead.

The Rayders, however, outscored the Ramblers 17-10 in the second quarter for a 33-27 advantage at halftime and from there on in the Charlevoix quintet was in control of the game as they led 53-41 going into the last period.

Charlevoix outscored the Ramblers 23-20 in field goals but the big difference came in the free throw department where the Rayders sank 31 of 44 free throw attempts while committing 15 personal fouls while Boyne City capitalized on 20 of 26 free throws and had 26 personal fouls called on them.

The Ramblers lost Bob Fitzpatrick early in the final period and John Juday midway in the quarter while Rayder guard Tom LaBlance went to the bench with two minutes remaining.

Quint Walker paced the scoring with 24 points followed by Guy Swanson with 18; Gary Vandenberg with 16; Duane Walker and LaBlance with six each; Glen Ikens with five and Joe Etienne with two. Others who saw action were Jerry Schupert, Walt Pouquette, Kit Carson and Charlie Dennis.

Nels Northrup was top scorer for the Ramblers with 19 points.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

AND THAT white stuff known as snow continued to fall another five inches fell Monday, according to Trim Reynolds of the county road commission, to bring the total snowfall since the big storm started Jan. 21 to 36 inches... that right... And not one flake has melted 'cause it's been too cold... According to information compiled by the county road commission this brings the total snowfall for the year to 77 inches with nearly half of it coming down in 10 days... Heaven help us if it starts to blow...

EVEN THE channel's been frozen over at times... what with the weather hovering between 10 and 20 degrees but the current tends to keep it open most of the time... with the help of the fish tugs that come and go regularly now that they are getting some pretty fair catches of chubs... On Sunday night you couldn't see open water any place on Round Lake and the channel was full of drift ice... Who says winter hasn't come to northern Michigan?

LAST WEEK we mentioned the lack of small birds in the area... Sunday we saw three chickadees and the other day Mrs. Robert Cook on Park ave. reported seeing a grosbeak... But Monday night we had a telephone call from Mrs. Emery Pierce of the Soo who is visiting here... She explained that the birds knew we were going to have a lot of snow around here so they went north... you guessed it... to the Soo where the weather's been cold but there hasn't been much snow... She and her husband live outside the city along Lake Superior and she reports just seeds of birds... That makes us feel better for we were sure something had happened to them and they wouldn't be around anymore.

BACK TO the snow situation... There's so much of it that the dogs almost get lost while wending their way along plowed streets... And unless the pooch has a long tail you just don't see him when he gets outside the house...

DID YOU happen to see the March of Dimes auction over the Traverse City station last week?

any more... We were just lucky to have had one of the few people out from that pattern...

OH FOR the life of a dog these days... In the past week two pooches have arrived by air, no less, from overseas... And their respective masters, they're expected home soon... One is a gray miniature poodle with a fabulous name that has been out to Misty... She arrived from Oxford, England where By and Colleen Wright have been living while he was stationed there... You'll no doubt notice an English accent in her bark for she's a native Britisher who observed her first birthday on Christmas Day... The second pooch is a native American who flew overseas two years ago to join his family, the Bob Morrises, who with their new son, Jon, who was born overseas are expected home this week... A G. I. dog of Spitz and Pomeranian ancestry, he picked up a little French during his two years at an air base near Paris but you'll recognize that good old midwest tone when he barks... Gee, we can remember when not even people went to Europe... And now the dogs are coming and going... by air too... Misty was met at Willow Run by the Jack Reeds and is already here awaiting the arrival of her masters later this month... The later pooch is staying with 'relatives' in Detroit for the present.

HOW ABOUT Danny Devine and the possible new job at Arizona State College in Tempe... It wasn't too long ago that Danny was piloting the East Jordan Red Devils to a basketball championship... and now he's taking on the responsibilities of a head coach after several years at Michigan State... And if he thought he had headaches at East Jordan... wonder what he'll call the ones he'll have at Tempe... But we know that the good wishes of all his friends in northern Michigan will follow him west if he takes the position...

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A Winner Every Time!

Last Friday at our big basketball game with Centerville I sat next to a fine-looking old man. Centerville had things their way the first half — and he cheered every score they made.

But our boys began to catch up. Then Stretch Brown put us in the lead with a long eed shot, — and I noticed that the old fellow was now rooting for our side. "What team are you for, anyway?" I demanded.

"Neither," he replied. "I've got my own team. I figure any kid that does a good job out there le on my team. Root for the individual like I do — and you'll always back a winner!"

From where I sit, maybe it is a good idea to keep our eye on the individual, instead of automatically grouping him on teams you're "for" or "against." We're all individuals at heart, with our likes and dislikes — our right to prefer tea to coffee or beer to buttermilk... our right to "blow the whistle" when anyone tries to regiment us.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allard To Observe Sixty-Fourth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allard, pioneer residents of this community, will observe their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary tomorrow (Friday).

No formal observance of the occasion has been planned by the couple, who reside at 105 East Lincoln ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Allard were married at St. Francis Xavier church in Petoskey on Feb. 4, 1891, in just such weather as Charlevoix has been experiencing recently.

The couple made the trip to Petoskey via horse and cutter for the ceremony. Roads at the time were barely passable and on the return trip they were halted at Greensky Hill by supply trains from Petoskey which were stuck in the deep snow.

At the time of their marriage, Mr. Allard was a wheelman on board a Great Lakes steamer. Later he operated a fish tug out of the Charlevoix harbor. In 1918 he joined the U. S. Lighthouse Service at the same time his son, the late Lee Allard, was serving in France with the A.E.F. He was stationed at lighthouses along Lake Michigan at Point Au Sable, Frankfort, Beaver Island and Squaw Island and was master of the Grey's Reef light ship which was later replaced by the present lighthouse. In 1928 he was retired from the lighthouse service at the age of 65 years.

During the years since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Allard have retained a home here.

Mr. Allard was born April 15, 1863, on South Fox island where a thriving fishing and lumbering community was then located. He came to the mainland as a young man. A diabetic for a number of years, Mr. Allard has been house-bound most of the time for the past year following the amputation of his leg last March as a result of the disease.

He has not lost his zest for living, however, and despite his handicap enjoys reading without the use of glasses and listening to the radio. He also has all his own teeth.

Mrs. Allard is the former Pauline Cheney. She was born at Brackbridge, Ont., May 16, 1870, and came to Charlevoix as a child. Most of her time is now devoted to caring for Mr. Allard, preparing special foods for his diabetic diet and keeping house.

Both are members of St. Mary's church. Though they live alone they are visited often by their granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Heise Jr. and their three grandsons, Michael, Joel and Robert Herrington. Their only son, Lee, died in January 1951.

They are also great favorites in the neighborhood and are visited daily by one or more of their neighbors.

Every PRESCRIPTION is A "MIRACLE DRUG"

Recent discoveries of medical science richly deserve the name of "miracle drugs" for they are making medical rarities of diseases that only a short time ago struck dread into the heart of mankind. But in the broad definition of the term, every prescription that stops pain or restores to health is a "miracle drug" to its user. And as pharmacists, we specialize in these man-made "miracles" by producing prescribed medicine with professional skill and painstaking care . . . whether the prescription calls for the newest discovery or for an ingredient as ancient as the Profession of Pharmacy itself.

Rayders Move To First Place Tie In League Play

Defeat E. Jordan 47-36; Face Strong Contenders

The Charlevoix Rayders fought their way into a first place tie in league standings Friday night with a 47-39 win over East Jordan to avenge an earlier loss to the Jordanites by a score of 49-45 early in December.

The Rayders were to meet the first threat to their newly-acquired position Tuesday when they played Boyne City on the latter's court. On Friday they are scheduled to take on another tough adversary, Grayling, on the local hardwoods.

The game here Friday got off to a slow start as the teams felt each other out in the opening four minutes. Charlevoix scored first and held a 10-8 first period lead before the visitors tied the score briefly midway in the second quarter. The Rayders, however, went ahead 10-14 at the half and 32-26 at the third period before taking the game by an eight point margin.

In the starting line-up for Rayders were Dwain Walker, Quint Walker, Gary Vandenberg, Tom LaBlance and Guy Swanson.

Glen Ikens replaced Vandenberg in the first period. Joe Etienne went into action in the second quarter. Charlie Dennis in the third and Jerry Schupert in the last quarter.

East Jordan took the tip off and went in to score but the shot was wide and Charlevoix took the rebound. The play was slow and each team played cautious basketball for about the first three minutes before Vandenberg was fouled and scored the first two points of the game from the free throw line. Dwain Walker put in the first field goal on a long shot from the side, Bob Danforth added one for East Jordan before the Rayders started to hit from outside as Swanson and then Ikens, who had replaced Vandenberg, sunk long ones to put the home team in front 8-2. Floyd Cutler cut the Rayder lead by two points with a field goal before LaBlance stepped to the free throw line and sunk two single shots for 10 points. Cutler and Bob Darbee added two free throws apiece before the quarter ended 10-8.

Early in the second period

Rayders Guy Swanson (6) and Dwain Walker make sure that East Jordan's Jerry Harrington doesn't gain possession of the ball in the heat of the defensive battle here Friday night which the Rayders won 47-39 to move into a first place tie with the Jordanites. Watching the action are Quint Walker and Red Devils' Bob Darbee (42).

On Tuesday night the Rayders defeated Boyne City 77-60 to take over first place in the loop by virtue of one more game played.

Charlevoix Rayders Will Meet Grayling Vikings Here Friday

The Charlevoix Rayders will move into the last quarter of their 1954-55 schedule this week when they take on the Grayling Vikings on the local court Friday night.

Darbee tied the score 10-10 before Vandenberg, who had replaced Ikens, went in to score a field goal.

Joe Etienne replaced LaBlance who had collected his second foul before Jon Jankovic knotted the score from the free throw circle. Quint Walker went in through the Red Devils defense to score once more before Danforth connected to make the score 14-14. Quint put the Rayders ahead 16-14 as the half ended.

Charlevoix had scored six field goals and four of six free throws. East Jordan had tallied three field goals and eight of 15 charity shots.

Cutler tied the score 16-16 to open the second half but field goals by Swanson, LaBlance and Quint Walker followed by a second one by Swanson gave the Rayders a 24-16 lead which the Jordanites were unable to overcome throughout the remainder of the game.

Cutler came back to score a field goal but Dwain Walker matched him for a 26-18 lead as Dennis replaced LaBlance, who had drawn his fourth personal foul.

Darbee connected on two free throws and Danforth scored a field goal before Swanson added two charity shots for a 28-22 margin. Danforth and Dick Johnson each scored field goals and Quint Walker a field goal and Dwain Walker two free throws as the third period ended 32-26.

Quint Walker went in to score a field goal and Alan Somerville added a field goal and Darbee two free throws before LaBlance collected his fifth personal foul with five minutes remaining in the game and was replaced by Etienne.

A quick field goal by Etienne was matched by one by Johnson but Vandenberg and Dwain Walker put the Rayders ahead 40-32 with a field goal apiece before Danforth collected one point from the free throw line.

Trips to the free throw line ate up most of the remaining three minutes as Dwain Walker scored four points from the circle for a perfect average for the game. After collecting his fourth foul he was replaced by Schupert who scored one free throw before the game ended. In a desperate attempt to overcome the Rayder lead Darbee scored two field goals and Johnson one to make the score 45-37 but Dwain Walker, who had returned to the game, scored the last field goal of the game from the side for a total of 14 points to lead the scoring for the Rayders. Dwain Walker left the game on fouls in the final minute.

Jerry Harrington and Bob McGeorge also saw action for the Jordanites. The Rayders outscored the visitors 17-12 on field goals and connected for 13 of 18 free throws while committing 17 personal fouls. East Jordan was successful on 15 of 28 free throw attempts and had 10 personal fouls.

Darbee paced the Jordanites with 12 points.

Little Rayders Win Overtime Victory, 57-55

Charlevoix's little Rayders pulled a close one out of the fire Friday night when they went into an overtime to win over the East Jordan Reserves 57-55 after the regulation game had ended in a 53-53 tie.

Free throws by Joel Arvilla and Dale Putman gave the Reserves the victory after they had trailed 19-11 at the quarter and 27-26 at the half. The local quintet went into a 43-39 lead at the three quarter mark but the visitors whittled their margin to nothing as the final whistle sounded.

Both teams scored 20 field goals with victory being decided on the free throw line as Charlevoix connected on 17 of 31 tries. East Jordan was successful on 15 of 28 attempts.

Starting for the Rayders were Phil Timmer, Arvilla, Norm Helms, Terry Davis and Kenny Balch with Bob Mol, Putman and Richard Bolton joining the line-up later in the game. Davis left the game midway in the last period after collecting his fifth foul.

Arvilla dumped in six points including two field goals and two from the free throw circle; Balch added two field goals and Timmer and Davis one double counter each for 14 points but the Jordanites outscored them with five field goals and nine free throws.

Charlevoix came back in the second period to outscore the visitors 12-8 and cut the Red Devils lead to one point as Davis scored five points; Arvilla four; Helms two and Timmer one point. East Jordan's scoring was limited to four field goals.

With seven field goals and three free throws Charlevoix went ahead for the first time as the third period drew to a close. Balch scored eight points; Helms four; Timmer and Arvilla two points each and Davis one free throw. East Jordan scored six field goals.

As the game went into the last quarter the local quintet managed a slim lead until the final minute when East Jordan went ahead on three free throws. A free throw by Davis and a field goal by Arvilla tied the score as the game ended.

In the overtime Helms put the Rayders ahead 55-53 but Chuck Darbee came back to tie the score with a field goal on the next series-of plays. As the play became more heated Arvilla was fouled and connected on the first of two shots. In the scramble for the ball that followed Putman was fouled and scored on the first of two shots as the clock turned white again.

Darbee paced the scoring for the game with 20 points.

Arvilla topped the local scorers with 17 points followed by Balch with 14 and Davis with 11. Helms scored nine; Timmer five and Putman one.

Boyne City 64 Gaylord 57
The Boyne City Ramblers strengthened their hold on second place in loop standings with their win over Gaylord.

Gaylord, however, fought back for three quarters, holding the Ramblers at bay by scores of 15-8 at the quarter; 32-23 at the half and 46-43 at the third period. The Ramblers were not to be denied, however, and midway in the last period tied the score before forging ahead for the eight-point win. Mike McKillip was lost to the Blue Devils early in the last period after collecting five fouls. George Middleditch paced the scoring with 21 points, 15 of which were scored in the first half. John Holowasko had 19 for the victors.

Grayling 69 Harbor Springs 43
At Grayling the Vikings had no trouble with Harbor Springs as they led the Rams 18-10 at the quarter; 33-23 at the halfway mark and 53-39 going into the last period. Red Hamilton came through with 18 points for Grayling while Tom Clarke led the field for Harbor Springs with 17 points.

Little Reminders

Among the things that open in the spring are two that I love most dearly: trout season and the blossoms of the wild strawberry. On one sloping hillside that runs down to a dashing stream I find delicate white strawberry blooms blossoming among the long grasses almost any day in the early part of May. Lured to that spot by the brook trout that hungrily search for insect larvae, half-drawn worms, and dashing minnows deep under the grassy banks of the stream, I step gingerly over clusters of the wild plants that crutch low amidst rising spring vegetation. So lovely are these dainty blossoms and yet so common that had Jesus walked here in Northern Michigan, rather than in distant Palestine, I can well imagine His substituting strawberries for lilies and saying to His followers: "Why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the wild strawberries of the fields, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?"

Why did Jesus so often use the lilies of the field, the birds of the air, foxes in their dens, grain in a field, grapes, figs, and thistles, and a host of other feathered and furred and foliaged things to illustrate His message? There was reason behind it. He saw the things of nature as more than things. He looked beneath mere surface appearances and saw eternal significance. A lily was more than a lily; it was a witness to the care of God. To Jesus all lilies, birds, foxes, grapes, figs, thistles — all things were manifestations of the nature of God or clues to the nature of life.

Our Lord did what the best scientific minds do. He saw the universal behind the local, the infinite that hides behind the finite, the eternal meaning that lies just beyond the passing incident. John Newton, who defined the law of gravity, was Christlike at that point. While he was resting in an orchard, an apple fell, striking Newton on the head. The apple was a fact. Its falling was another fact. But the falling apple was far more than pure fact. It was a clue, too, to the nature of the universe. It

Bills introduced in the House include such measures as a Seal of Quality bill; abolish pari-mutuel betting on horse racing; outlawing of common law marriages; an EPSC bill; setting the deer season from November 19 up to and including December 5; a speed law of 65 mph in daytime and 50 mph at night; adoption of the White Pine as the official state tree for Michigan; prohibit licensed car dealers from being appointed Secretary of State branch managers; ban use of schools which are fire hazards and which lack adequate sanitary and water facilities; submitting the question of a constitutional convention; validating check marks on the ballot; make it a felony to attempt to influence jurors in criminal matters, and amend the death act to allow additional damages, not in excess of $1,000 for loss of society and companionship. Proposed constitutional amendments would lower the voting age to 18; authorize the Legislature to set minimum qualifications for Supreme Court and Circuit Court Judges; mandatory removal of public officers from office who refuse to testify before a Grand Jury or tribunal on official conduct.

The House passed its first bill today, which appropriates the balance of Rep. Louis Anderson's salary to his widow.

City Suggests Start Of New Court House

The subject of a new courthouse with the idea that it would include space for a post office was high on the agenda at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix city council Monday night.

The suggestion was forwarded to the Charlevoix county board of supervisors for consideration at their spring meeting. A sinking fund which has been in operation for six years now contains sufficient funds to begin construction on the proposed building. The annual income could carry bonds for the work.

In other action, Roy R. Robinson, city superintendent, was authorized to contact an engineering firm to complete a master water and sewer plans. The new plan would extend the water and sewer program for some years.

In keeping with the re-arrangement whereby police are paid for extra time spent in court, firemen will now be paid for working on their days off in fighting a fire.

Mr. Robinson also reported on a special Civilian Defense conference held at Gaylord recently and said that if county and city law enforcement agencies would cooperate in the program it would be possible to purchase mobile radio equipment with 50 per cent of the cost being underwritten by the Civilian Defense program. The issue was taken under advisement.

A resolution extolling the services of the late Arthur Bergson to the community was adopted and will be forwarded to his family. Mr. Bergson was former mayor, third ward supervisor, alderman and assessor.

The Christian Science Society whose building was badly damaged by fire early Monday were granted permission to meet in the city hall basement room until their building can be repaired.

Three election commissioners were named for the Feb. 21 primary election. They are Norman D. Ance, Hugh Mayne, and Nelle A. Hammond.

It was also decided to advertise for bids on a new billing machine for the utilities department and to publish Board of Review notices.

The next regular council meeting will be held on Thursday Feb. 24 at 8 p.m.

Local Students Receive Five First Ratings

The results of the annual district Solo and Ensemble Festival in which more than 40 young Charlevoix high school musicians participated at Gaylord Saturday have been announced by their director, C. A. Odmarr.

Charlevoix participants received a total of five first division, 12 second division and 10 third division ratings.

Ratings were generally lower than at previous festivals, Mr. Odmarr reported, with only 30 first division rating being awarded during the festival in which more than 140 different events played.

All participants in the festival, regardless of ratings, gained the benefit of good criticism from the three judges, Norman Dietz of Central Michigan college and Floyd Hochendunburg and Rex Hewlett of Mt. Pleasant high school and Central Michigan college at Mt. Pleasant.

Morning Fire Causes Large Damage Here

An early morning fire believed to have started from defective wiring did an estimated $2,000 damage at the Christian Science building at 205 Clinton st. Monday morning.

Only fast and efficient work on the part of the Charlevoix fire department is credited with saving the remainder of the two-story rambling frame building.

Major damage was in the rear of the building although extensive damage was done in the roof over the main section of the building. Serious smoke and water damage was suffered throughout the building.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Carl Left who resides across the street when she was aroused by the barking of the family dog to find the building in flames. She rushed next door to the Harley Ochs home to report the fire at 5:45 a.m.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The building has served as the home of the Christian Science Society for the past 20 years. A library of irreplaceable books was damaged by water and smoke.

Plans for rebuilding the structure have not been completed. The R. G. Bennetts of 207 Clinton st. and the Harley Ochs furnished breakfast and hot coffee respectively for the firemen who fought the stubborn blaze for two hours.

Weekly Christian Science services will be held at the City Hall basement club room until the building is repaired.

Services Held For Edward Fratrlick Here On Sunday

Funeral services for Edward William Fratrlick, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Fratrlick, were held at the Pontius Chapel Sunday afternoon with the Rev. George L. Majors officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

The youngster, a third grade pupil in the Charlevoix public school, died at his parents' home one mile south of Charlevoix at 8:30 p.m. Thursday shortly after he was struck in the chest by a bullet from a .22 rifle which accidentally discharged when his older brother, Ronald, 13, picked up the gun and raked it preparatory to storing it. The boy was rushed to the Charlevoix Hospital but was dead on arrival.

Sheriff Glenn E. Rose who investigated said the shooting was accidental. Dr. G. B. Saltonstall and Dr. Robert G. Martin said the bullet pierced the pulmonary artery after performing an autopsy.

Edward was born at Charlevoix Jan. 15, 1946, and attended the Charlevoix public schools.

Besides his parents and his brother, Ronald, he is survived by a sister, Carol Rose; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ager and several uncles and aunts.

False Alarm Prank Proves Costly 'Joke'

At 4:25 p.m. Tuesday the fire siren sounded six times.

It was the signal for Charlevoix's new $15,000 fire truck manned by fire chief Martin Elzinga and 11 volunteer firemen to rush to the scene of the reported fire.

When the group arrived at the address given, they found no fire and for the next half hour, the fire chief, volunteer firemen and the police searched for a fire, thinking perhaps a wrong address had been given in reporting the incident.

Finally it was decided it was a false alarm.

Someone was evidently chuckling to himself while the entire fire department was trying to track down the fire.

The prank was an expensive one for the 11 volunteers left their regular jobs to report for duty and an expensive piece of equipment was taken on a wild-goose chase.

There is a penalty for turning in false alarms and local firemen and police are still looking for the prankster.

Sermonette

God's Forgiving Love

Reverend Wilson H. Rinker, Minister

Read Psalm 130.

Text: Psalm 130, verse 5: "I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in His Word do I hope."

The Psalmist, out of deep distress, cries to God to hear his voice and let His ears be attentive to his supplication. The Psalmist seeks to be assured of the fact that God's arm is not shortened in salvation nor His ear heavy that He cannot hear his prayers. This is typical of our situation today. Many of us find ourselves in deep distress. We have no assurance of God's nearness to us. We know that no one could stand if God judged us according to our iniquities, for "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God". In our pain and our sorrow, God seems to be in another tomorrow, which is far distant from our today. We feel so much alone and apart or separated from the love of God. But, the love of God never leaves us nor forsakes us. It is that we are not conscious of its presence. We need to reassure ourselves even as the Psalmist did, and we need to declare with certainty in spite of distressing days, "but there is forgiveness with Thee" and in Thee is our Redemption and our hope.

Impatience characterizes our age. It brings many people to disaster. We have no time to be sick. We are disturbed if we experience the challenge of illness. We feel ourselves so important that we have no time to die well. The truth of the matter is, we have no time to wait for the quiet moments of godly meditation and prayer which enriches the soul and draws us closer to God. We are always busy hurrying, but we are never busy waiting upon God. We exercise an erroneous attitude when we feel that God works too slowly. We feel that if we were to spend our time waiting for God, we would go bankrupt, our families would starve, and there would be general chaos everywhere. Such thought and action contains a conflict, because it is very obvious that we are not waiting on God and confusion exists everywhere about us. Now, wouldn't it be a wise procedure to follow the advice of the Psalmist and say with sincerity in our hearts, "I wait for the Lord, my soul waits, and in His Word I hope; my soul waits for the Lord more than the watchman for the morning?" Certainly, there is no one, who with greater eagerness anticipates the morning, than a night watchman or sentry on duty. But have you ever thought about that statement? Regardless of the extreme desire of the sentry, anticipating the dawn of the morning, the morning comes only in its own time. We can no more hurry the dawn of day than we can add a cubit to our stature. We can no more hurry the healing of physical infirmities than we can hurry the ushering in of the sunrise. We can no more hurry the healing of the broken heart or soul than we can add a drop of water to an already overflowing bucket. But, if, with patience, we wait upon God, then in the fulness of His time we shall be healed, even as in the fulness of God's time, He sent His Only Begotten Son, who came as the Great Physician of both body and soul. Let God have His way and in turn He will be the Way. God in Christ is The Way, because Christ is Truth and Life. Put your complete hope in the Lord and in trusting the Lord fully, you will find Him to be plentiful in mercy and forgiving in love.

Complete trust should mark our relationship to God. It is only in complete surrender and confidence that we will find God sufficient. Sometimes the refiner's fire is intense, but invariably we have seen a purer gold come forth. God has ways of slowing us down. There is always a purpose in His way. That is hard for us to understand, but, God's ways are not our ways nor are our thoughts always the thoughts of God. Perhaps something has slowed you down for awhile. It may have been that you were not spending enough time with God in the communion of His Word and prayer. So God stopped you, as He has stopped many of us, and God has called us by this experience to reconsider our ways. Will you do that if you find yourself in distress of some kind? God speaks to us to reconsider our ways and to return to the place where we lost ourselves in the web of self. The way back to God is through the patient waiting upon the Lord, for He is our hope. God created us, God will redeem us, who will come to Him though Jesus Christ in full faith believing that Christ died for our sins. God sanctifies us. God makes us more holy today than yesterday. He will make us more righteous tomorrow than today. But this requires complete submission to His will, or in other words complete surrender to His way which is the same as saying surrendering to Jesus Christ.

By Fran Martin

COME Saturday we'll observe the birthday anniversary of one of our great presidents, Abraham Lincoln. . . . Everywhere these days we notice sage remarks uttered by the Civil War president. . . . This week we found one we liked so very much because. . . . "If I were to try to read, much less answer, all the attacks made on me, this shop might as well be closed for any other business. I do the very best I know how. . . . the very best I can, and I mean to continue doing so unto the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said about me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference!"

IF ANYONE had the idea that the Rayder-Grayling game was going to be a push-over (and there were some who did), they certainly got the surprise of their lives. . . . Our little old Rayders, playing their third 'toughie' in a row, had to play their best for every point. . . . It was a game that was hard on the nerves but beautiful to watch with plenty of action and straight basketball. . . . This week will bring a return game with Petoskey. . . . which should be a honey. . . . And from there on every game will be a hard one as well as an important one. . . . One 'off' night and that will be all, boys, for there just won't be any way of making up the loss at this late date. . . . So, to the Rayders and Coach Terrill. . . . smooth sailing from here on in.

HAPPY anniversary to the Boy Scouts who are celebrating their forty-fifth birthday this week. . . . Our Boy Scouts will celebrate the event by attending the Klondike Derby at Petoskey Sunday and the Cubs will have a birthday party. . . . The Blue and Gold Dinner, next Thursday, Feb. 11. . . . It's a wonderful program for the kids who enjoy every minute of it. . . . We personally think, however, that there should be a special day to honor those who work with the Scouts. . . . Scout masters, committee members and den mothers. . . . They, like those who work with the Girl Scouts, give unselfishly of their time and talents without any compensation except the satisfaction of helping. . . . To Charlevoix's Scouts, both big and small, as well as their leaders, a happy birthday and a successful year.

IN A Recent issue of Business Age was a beautiful picture of the Coast Guard supply ship, the Sundew, which visits our harbor regularly. . . . In a full page ad by the Cooper-Bessemer Co. was a pic of the ship plowing its way through the ice. . . . a regular chore for the ship whose home port is now Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

DON'T YOU like the impressive use to which the spotlight in the gym has been put? . . . In case you haven't seen it, all lights in the gym are extinguished except for the spot which follows the cheer leaders carrying the flag to the middle of the floor where they stand at attention while the band plays the National Anthem. . . . all very spine-tingling.

Where Pride Leads to Economy!

This gasoline station isn't accustomed to being ignored by the cars that pass its way. For it resides at the edge of a great desert—and it is many, many miles to the next fueling point.

But the big, handsome automobile you see here swept by without so much as a sign of recognition! For it is a new 1955 Cadillac—and its owner knows that he can travel from his morning's start until his evening's stop without a single refueling.

Of course, when a motorist decides to order his first Cadillac, he isn't usually aware that the car is so economical to operate—and so practical to own.

He wants a Cadillac for what it is and represents—and for the great pride and pleasure it will bring him.

But it isn't long before he discovers where his pride has led him!

He discovers it first when he prices the Cadillac of his choice. Invariably, he is surprised at its relatively modest cost. Not infrequently, he finds that it actually costs less than the car he is currently driving.

And then, once his Cadillac is delivered into his hands, he discovers how frugal it is with a gallon of gasoline. He finds, as we said, that a full tank is usually sufficient for a full day's drive.

Next, he learns of Cadillac's extraordinary dependability. In fact, he often has to be reminded when the time has come for routine service.

But not until he surrenders his Cadillac to its second owner does he discover the full wonder of Cadillac's economy. For then he learns how amazingly it holds its value—and how little a year's service affects the public's regard for the car.

All this is to say, of course, that you don't have to follow your pride to the "car of cars." You can, if you prefer, make your decision solely on the basis of economy—and still buy a Cadillac!

Come in soon—and see for yourself! We've got the facts—and we'll be delighted to see you at any time!

Charlevoix Edges Out Grayling By 51-49 Score

Strong Defense Play Nearly Held Rayders

The Charlevoix Rayders had to come from behind Friday night to defeat the scrappy Grayling Vikings 51-49 on the local court in the toughest loop game the Rayders have experienced this season.

On this Friday night the local quintet will travel to Petoskey to take on the Northmen in a return game after the Class B outfit had edged out Charlevoix 52-50 in their initial meeting. This will make the fourth hard game the Rayders have played in two weeks.

Favored Teams Win Mid-Week Games Easily

Favored teams came through with top-sided wins in three Northern Michigan Class C games Tuesday night as East Jordan trounced Mancelona 56-34; Pellston romped over Harbor Springs 61-33 and Grayling defeated Gaylord 57-41.

In the game at East Jordan Bobby Danforth paced the scoring with 15 points as 12 Red Devils joined the line-up to lead the Ironmen 11-6; 25-12 and 41-23 by quarters; Don Wilks scored 13 for the visitors.

The Pellston Hornets had no trouble with Harbor Springs as they went into a 9-7 quarter lead which was stretched to 19-13 at the half and 36-23 at the third period. Pat Cavanaugh and Merlyn Davenport led the scoring with 14 points apiece. Don Lauer had 12 for the Rams who were playing without regular Tor Larson.

At Gaylord Red Hamilton racked up 24 points for Grayling as the Vikings paced the game 17-9 at the quarter; 26-13 at the half and 41-27 at the three-quarter mark. Mike McKillop and Paul Ziegler had 10 points apiece for the Blue Devils.

The Charlevoix Rayders and Boyne City Ramblers who had played last Tuesday were idle this week.

In the game played here last Friday, the invaders, whom the Rayders had defeated 57-37 early in the season, got off to a 12-7 first period lead and held on for 23-20 halftime and 39-38 third period advantages before the Rayders moved into the lead and took the victory in the closing minute.

The lead changed 20 times and the score was tied 10 times as first one team and then the other went ahead but the Rayders came through on the free throw line when the pressure was on for the two-point victory.

Both teams had 17 field goals but the Rayders connected on 17 of 24 free throw attempts while Grayling made 15 of 22. Charlevoix committed 12 personal fouls and Grayling 12.

Starting for the Rayders in the important game were Quint Walker, Gary Vandenberg, Dwain Walker, Guy Swanson and Tom LaBlance.

Glennie Ikens and Joe Etienne joined the line-up in the second period and Kenny Balch in the last quarter. Jerry Schupert was ill and did not play.

Playing cautious ball, both teams missed several easy shots before Swanson stepped to the free throw line with three minutes of the game gone to drop in two charity shots to give Charlevoix a two point lead. Grayling scored two field goals before Quint Walker scored on a free throw and later on a field goal to put Charlevoix ahead. Two field goals by Grayling were followed by a long shot by LaBlance to make the score 48-47 but Grayling dumped in two quick ones to take a 12-7 first

Northern Michigan Class C basketball fans were served up three action-packed games Friday night as Charlevoix nosed out Grayling 51-49; Mancelona edged past Gaylord 55-54 and Pellston defeated Boyne City 53-50. In the fourth game East Jordan trounced Harbor Springs 77-49.

In the game at Mancelona, the Ironmen racked up their first league victory of the current season by defeating Gaylord as they forged into a 14-8 first period lead over the visiting Blue Devils. In the second quarter the visitors took over and held the half-time lead 24-22 but the Ironmen were not to be denied and dumped in 21 points for a 43-36 margin as the game went into the final quarter. Gaylord managed to close the gap with a minute to go but Don Wilks, who tallied 19 points in the game, dumped in a field goal and later a free throw to give Mancelona the victory. George Middleditch had 22 points for Gaylord.

Pellston 53 Boyne City 50 The Pellston-Boyne City game played at Pellston was a see-saw battle all the way with first one team and then the other holding the lead or tying the score. At the end of the opening quarter the score was tied 10-11 but Boyne City came back to take a one-point, 23-22 half-time advantage. Pellston, however, tied the score at the three-quarter mark before the Hornets outscored the visitors 17-14 for the victory. Frank Durkale was top scorer for the game with 15 points for Pellston. Gary Newville had 13 and John Juday and Nels Northrup 12 for the Ramblers. Boyne City played without regular Bob Fitzpatrick who was ill.

East Jordan 77 Harbor Springs 49 At East Jordan the Red Devils led Harbor Springs 21-14; 41-24 and 65-35 by quarters as Alan Sommerville scored 23 and Bobby Danforth 22 points for the victors. Tor Larson had 12 for the Rams.

Vandenberg hit from outside on two quick baskets and LaBlance tied the score and then put the Rayders ahead on the free throw line. He was followed to the circle by Swanson who scored one point.

Pettingill tied the score for Grayling and then Hamilton put the Vikings ahead 16-14 but LaBlance dumped in a field goal to tie the score and then added two more from the free throw line as the Rayders went ahead 18-16. Grayling tied the score on free throws and added four more points for a 22-18 lead before Swanson scored a field goal to cut the lead to 22-20. Failing to add a free throw for the visitors as the half ended.

Quint Walker scored on a field goal to open the second half but Grayling scored six points in succession before Walker scored again. Hamilton scored a field goal to put Grayling ahead 31-24 before LaBlance scored two from the free throw line and Dwain Walker hit from outside to make the score 31-28. Hamilton countered with two free throws followed by a field goal by LaBlance, two free throws by Swanson and a field goal by Quint Walker to put the Rayders ahead 34-33.

Hamilton put Grayling ahead but Swanson countered with a field goal. Pettingill went to the free throw line and sunk two gift shots as the score stood at 37-36 in the Vikings favor but Quint Walker added two free throws to put the Rayders back in the game. A field goal by Hamilton put Grayling ahead 39-38 as the quarter ended.

The last quarter followed the same pattern set earlier as LaBlance put Charlevoix ahead with a field goal followed by one by Worden for Grayling. Dwain Walker tied the score on the free throw line before Failing put the visitors ahead. LaBlance came back to tie the score with a field goal before Kenyon and Lowe each scored a field goal. Swanson and Quint Walker tied the score 47-47 at the three minute mark. Quint Walker scored one from the free throw line to make the score 48-47 but Pettingill matched him to tie the score 48-48.

Swanson put Charlevoix ahead 50-48 but Hamilton stepped to the free throw line and missed a chance to tie the score by sinking only the first of two free throws. With 30 seconds to go Swanson gave the Rayders an extra point when he connected on the second of two free throw attempts. During the last period Grayling missed four of six free throws

Glennie Ikens, Rayder sophomore forward and center, puts in one of the 23 field goals his team scored against Boyne City last week when they defeated the Ramblers 77-50 to move one step closer to another Northern Michigan Class C Conference title. Going up with Ikens but failing in his attempt to stop the play is Murray Northrup (29) while John Juday (22) and three unidentified players look on.

On Friday the Rayders nosed out Grayling 51-49 for a record of 10 wins and one loss in loop play.

Charlevoix Will Play Northmen At Petoskey On Friday Night

Three Northern Michigan Class C games will be played Friday night while Charlevoix travels to Petoskey to meet the Northmen in a return game.

In loop meetings East Jordan will travel to Gaylord; Harbor Springs will play at Boyne City and Grayling will invade Mancelona.

Pellston will be idle Friday but will travel to Charlevoix on Tuesday to take on the Rayders. In other non-league games scheduled for Tuesday Petoskey will play at Boyne City; Cheboygan will play at Gaylord and Grayling will host Kalkaska.

In the Charlevoix-Petoskey meeting the Rayders will be out to avenge their earlier loss to Coach Ace Zagaphos' Class B Northmen early in the season. In all Rayder-Petoskey meetings, this one is expected to be close.

In loop games for favored teams are expected to remain on the victory trail with no upsets anticipated.

East Jordan, back in a first place tie with Charlevoix, will invade Gaylord, now holding down fourth place with three wins in 11 starts. Unless the Jordanians are having an "off" night they should take the game without any trouble.

The same is true of the Boyne City Ramblers who will be hosting the Harbor Springs Rams who are holding down the cellar position with Mancelona. In their first meeting the Ramblers won 52-43 at Harbor Springs so should retain their third place standing shared with Grayling.

Grayling, which has shown itself to be a threat on any court, will receive little opposition from the Mancelona Ironmen whom the Vikings defeated by 19 points in their January meeting.

On Tuesday the Pellston Hornets who are idle on Friday will invade Charlevoix with the idea of avenging their earlier 48-45 loss to the Rayders. Pellston, now in second place behind the Rayders and East Jordan, would like nothing better than to knock Charlevoix out of first place. The game should be a close one but on their own court the Rayders should come through with a win.

Boyne City edged by Petoskey 45-44 to open the season but the Northmen are expected to come through without too much difficulty in the return game Tuesday.

Gaylord nosed out Cheboygan by two points in December but the Chiefs have shown much improvement since then and could take the Blue Devils, even on the latter's floor.

The Grayling Vikings trounced Kalkaska in an earlier meeting and should do the same next Tuesday for the Kalkaska five has shown little this season.

Results Tuesday's Games East Jordan 58, Mancelona 34 Grayling 57, Gaylord 41 Pellston 61, Harbor Springs 33

A Reason for Singing

During the spring nesting season birds sing from every post and every tree limb. Early in the morning, while the earth is still wet with dew, the meadow lark alights on an old weathered fence post and pipes its flutelike song to a sleepy world. From neighboring acres arises the reedy whistle of that master musician of open pasture land and damp, low-lying fields, the bobolink. The clear phrases of the robins song ring out from a distant apple orchard, and from unnumbered thickets and hedgerows a multitude of tiny songsters chime their infinite variety of songs.

Why do birds sing? To please the ears of men? Or is bird-song the male's attempt to attract a mate? Or do birds sing, as some poets insist, because their sheer joy at being alive demands expression? Ornithologists, who have studied bird behavior for many years, are fairly well agreed that a bird's chief motive for singing is to notify all other birds of his species that this is his territory. A bird's singing is its way of shouting, "This is my nesting area," or, "These are my feeding grounds. Keep off!" So when you awaken to the loud, high-pitched, clear whistling of a meadow lark's song, you may safely interpret him to be shouting: "I, Master Meadow Lark, am the private owner of the area from this ancient fencepost to that abandoned farm wagon, and from that rock pile to yonder barn. All other meadow larks please take notice!"

Since birds of the same species subsist on chiefly the same foods, a given limited area can only support a certain number of families. If too many meadow larks set up housekeeping on one acre of farmland there would be an insufficient number of cutworms, grasshoppers, crickets, hairy caterpillars, and other insects to feed them. They would all starve. The bird's sense of property ownership, its insistence upon having a territory of its very own, enables it to survive.

The desire for private ownership, the craving to have something of your very own, goes to the very heart of nature. The tiny two and one-half inch stickleback fish that inhabits North American brooks viciously chases all other fishes away from its nest, as if to protest, "This is my nest. Other finny creatures keep away!" Even the timid little eastern chipmunks and whitefooted mice will defend their nesting area against intruders.

There are and always will be things that you will want for your very own — your own toothbrush (one shared by all your friends would never do!), your own wife or husband, your own child, your own home.

When it comes to matters of faith, some of us are unsatisfied because we have no faith of our very own. We come from a religious family. We like to think we live in a Christian civilization, and we may even attend a Christian church. But thus far we cannot sing about faith. "This is mine." A man may say, "My wife tends to the religion in our family." That is as foolish as stating, "My wife tends to the breathing in our family," or, "My wife tends to the eating in our family." Unless you take breaths of your own and meals of your own you cannot stay alive. Breathing and eating are general experiences, universal among men, and belonging to the entire world, and you cannot have them exclusively any more than a meadow lark has sole rights to breath and food. But you survive only as you breathe your own breath and eat your own food.

Thomas, an apostle of Jesus, was a doubter, but he at last arrived at a place of profound conviction. When other disciples told him of the resurrection of Jesus, Thomas replied, "Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of his nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe." A few days later, when Jesus confronted Thomas, and the doubter had opportunity to make his test, he was convinced beyond all doubt of the reality of the resurrection and exclaimed to Jesus, "My Lord and my God." The personal pronoun "my" denoted the profundity of his experience. Jesus was no longer "Lord," but "my Lord." The divine nature of Jesus was no more theological argument. Now it was personally experienced. Thomas had felt its impact. Was Jesus God in human flesh? That was a matter of creed, gradually crystallizing in the minds of the disciples. But to Thomas, Jesus was already "My God."

When faith becomes "my faith," and our Lord becomes "my Lord," a person, like a meadow lark, has reason for singing.

Phosphates Top Lime For Spread In Dairy Barns

Superphosphate fertilizer is better than lime for use in the dairy stanchion barn.

Extension dairyman J. G. Hays of Michigan State College offers that tip. He advises a half pound of phosphate fertilizer per cow per day, spread in the gutter and for a short distance behind the gutter.

The reason phosphate is better than lime, Hays says, is that lime releases nitrogen and makes the stanchion floor slippery. Phosphate ties up nitrogen and helps give the cows more sure footing. And besides, the manure from the stanchion barn will be more valuable.

Originally torpedo tubes on Navy destroyer were mounted in a battery which can be trained so that the whole ship need not be turned toward the target.

Only Car at its Price*...

So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!*

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

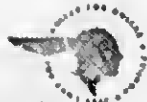

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

Correction

This week we were reminded of a popular song of years past. Part of the words were, "A double 'ly' or single 'ly' should look just the same to an Irishman's eye, but if I knock the 'l' out of Kelly, sure he'll knock the 'l' out of me". Fortunately for us that Alan Macdonnell isn't Kelly and we regret we knocked the 'l' out of his name in the announcement ad he had in the Courier last week.

Interest Increases In Election Monday

Interest in the annual Primary election scheduled for Monday is mounting this week as one more contest developed in the second ward with the announcement that Ted R. Miller will become a sticker candidate for the office of second ward supervisor also being sought by Frank Oleksy.

In making his announcement as a candidate for the office, Mr. Miller said that he had been acquainted with Charlevoix through his wife, the former Wilma Stevenson, whose family was among the earlier settlers here. He has resided here for several years and at present is developing the Meadowlane subdivision on the south side.

Both candidates are seeking election left vacant by the death of the veteran incumbent, Arthur Bergeon, who was a candidate for re-election.

Will Publish 'Feeling Low' In Book Form

"Feeling Low?", the column written and illustrated by the Rev. Harold E. Kohn, pastor of the First Congregational church of Charlevoix, will appear in book form in late March. The exact publication date will be announced shortly.

"Feeling Low?" appeared weekly in the Charlevoix Courier from November 1953 to November 1954, when another series was inaugurated under a different title. The column, intended especially to bring comfort and inspiration to the sick and discouraged, elicited many expressions of appreciation from both local and distant readers of the Courier — many reporting that they regularly clipped the column from the paper and sent it to sick friends.

The publication of "Feeling Low?" as a book fulfills Mr. Kohn's intent from its inception that, after appearing in the Courier, this material should be made available in a form suitable for presentation to the ill and distressed.

As with the columns, the separate chapters will carry Mr. Kohn's original illustrations from nature, done in his favorite black-and-white medium. Mr. Kohn is highly proficient in oils and water colors; but prefers the black-and-white brush-and-ink medium for nature illustrations for maximum contrast and sharpness of detail. During part of his ministry, Mr. Kohn served under appointment as Art Director for the Otterbein Press of Dayton, Ohio.

The book is being printed by William B. Erdmans Publishing Company, of Grand Rapids, who set the exact publication date within a few weeks. For several weeks prior to that date, the Courier will carry pre-publication order forms for the convenience of readers who wish to obtain first edition autographed copies by mail.

Pontius, president of the sponsoring organization, the Kiwanis club, and Mrs. Pontius, Harold Totten, institutional representative, and Mrs. Totten, Leonard Burns, Scout coordinator and Mrs. Burns, Don Berg, executive director of the Scenic Trails Council, John Murchie, field director of the northern district of the Scenic Trails Council and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton.

Highlights of the program will be the presentation of awards by Glenn Snider and Versal Seymour; the acceptance of WeBeles into Scouting by Mr. Burns and the presentation of a special award by Mrs. John Kroken.

The dinner will open with the Pledge of Allegiance and the Cub Scout Promise in charge of the Den Chiefs and the invocation by the Rev. George L. Majors.

The closing ceremony will be in charge of Mrs. E. D. Hawley.

New Directors Of Chest Will Elect Officers

The newly-elected board of directors of the Community Chest committee will meet at the community room of the City Hall at 10 a.m. Friday to name their officers for 1955 it was announced this week following the annual election.

Archie LaFreniere of St. James was named an honorary member of the board to represent Beaver Island.

A weekly radio program "Walking with God" under the sponsorship of the Barnard Reformed church of the Reformed Church of America will be broadcast over Station WPNB Petoskey every Sunday morning from 8 until 8:30 a.m.

The regular radio pastor of the series will be the Rev. Wilson H. Rinker of the local church.

Claudette Kirkby Of Traverse City Is Winter Queen

Charlevoix's Winter Queen, Joyce Cunningham, was one of the five candidates for the title of the Michigan Winter Queen at Petoskey Saturday.

Claudette Kirkby of Traverse City was named the 1955 Michigan Winter Queen to succeed Charlevoix's Gail Krahne, the 1954 choice.

Queen Joyce joined the other candidates as guests of the Petoskey Winter Sports club, sponsors of the event, for an afternoon of winter sports followed by a banquet at the Perry Hotel. Later in the evening she attended the Winter Sports ball at the high school auditorium. She was escorted by Dean Davenport Jr.

1954 Queen, Gail Krahne, escorted by Keith Evans of East Jordan reigned until 10 p.m. when the candidates for the queenship were introduced. When the 1955 queen was announced, Queen Gail relinquished her crown to Stein Erickson of Boyne Mount Ski Lodge, who then crowned Miss Kirkby, as the 1955 Michigan Winter Queen.

How is it done? It's simple. Just watch the serial numbers on the dollar bills you receive in change during the three-day Dollar Days. If it matches the serial numbers found in the advertisements of the participating stores and businesses then you have a 'lucky buck'. All you have to do is take your lucky dollar bill to the store whose advertisement carries the serial number, turn it in and you will be handed one $5.00 bill in return. Easy? Of course it is... and you're eligible to win several.

So when you go shopping this weekend or stop in at your favorite store on the way home from the polls on Monday, take advantage of the special Dollar Day bargains on display and win yourself a little extra cash by noting the serial numbers on the one dollar bills you receive in change. Who knows, maybe you'll have a lucky buck.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

HOW ARE your nerves after that Petoskey game the other night? Noticed that Coach Terrill had a few more gray hairs? Holy cats... what a game for a while it looked like a lost cause but our little ole Rayders came back in great style with Tommy LaBlance leading the way and whammy... with less than a minute to go old Thomas stands up there, like nothin at all, and puts the game in the deep freeze from the free throw line... And after they'd been missing like mad all through the game... There just ain't no telling what those guys can do... Now if they can just hold on for the rest of the season... Pellston, Gaylord and Mancelona... And then if either Boyne City or Pellston could take East Jordan... well... We can dream, can't we?

AND AS tho' Coach Terrill doesn't have enough worries, Quint Walker came down with the measles Saturday... after exposing the rest of the team (and no doubt the Petoskey players he was going steady with all evening Friday)... so from now on... keep your fingers crossed... We've got to get that team in shape for the tournaments... That fabulous time will be upon us sooner than you think... Another ten days or so to be exact... it just doesn't seem possible.

IF YOU'RE looking for an entertaining evening don't miss the Senior Talent show Saturday night... A lot of people got a preview of it at the Masons-Star cabaret Saturday night and we hear it's a riot... It's only going to be on one night... there're about 25 entries... each better than the other so be sure and see it... You'll kick yourself around the block if you don't...

THE MAIL the last few days has been plenty heavy... what with Valentines and cards and letters from our traveling friends... From Fontana, Calif., a card from David and Freda Bergstrom who are spending the winter there warm to take this snow away... As of Monday morning that white stuff's coming down again... And speaking of April... next Wednesday is Ash Wednesday, marking the beginning of the Lenten season... and once that starts Easter is only six weeks away and Easter always means spring... So things are looking up... If you'll just be patient it will all soon be over and the trees will again be green and the flowers in bloom... If you can't wait, just pick up the seed catalogs and start making plans for that garden... And, before you know it, presto... it will be spring...

SOME of winter travelers are back... And because they're in our neighborhood we noticed their return... mostly because it's good to see a light at the top of Bridge st. hill... at the Heerings... and down the street at the Harold Pearls... the place doesn't seem quite so deserted and it's good to be greeted by a light when you're coming home these dark cold nights...

BEAVER Island's made the funnies... and Chums, that isn't any joke... I've got the book to show you... Couldn't believe it when a former island resident, Mrs. Ivan (Helen Gallagher) Phillips called to tell me about Donald Duck getting a job, according to the funnies, getting a job totin' the mail across the ice to Beaver Island in his little home-made ice boat... Of course he has troubles... mostly due to his three little nephews who are trying to help... and finally wrecks the Beaver Island post office and ends up joining the Foreign Legion... but there it is... right in print... Joe McPhillips had better watch out...

WEREN'T we lucky to have been represented at Petoskey last week by such a lovely queen, Joyce Cunningham... After walking off with two queenships, there really wasn't much chance that we'd get it again... You can't say we didn't try... And Gail Krahnke was on hand, too... to relinquish her crown...

EVER SEE a bald-headed eagle? Neither have we but Mrs. Clayton Trimble called to tell us that she and her husband saw one flying around near Nine Mile Point along Lake Michigan Saturday... She said that she had seen one there at different times in the past but Saturday this one was really brave and was just more than cruising around right over their heads... Must be something to see with their enormous wing spread...

And people are beginning to see other birds around... On the south side the feeding station at the Dan Geneits is visited regularly by blue jays and woodpeckers and other smaller birds are again putting in an appearance... We've even had a few in our neighborhood so we feel better about the whole thing... For a while we were afraid the birds had deserted Charlevoix.

CONGRATULATIONS to our own All-American, Bob Carey, who's joining recently-named head coach, Danny Devine, at Arizona State college at Tempe... And if you're wondering where Tempe is we'll relay to you the information sent this week by Mrs. Frank Milward along with a clipping from the Arizona Republic, a Phoenix newspaper... Tempe is five miles from Phoenix but it's hard to tell where Phoenix ends and Tempe begins for it is all built up... The clipping about Bob went on to tell of his football progress at Michigan

Almost, But Lost

Rev. Lyle Phillips, Pastor Assembly of God

Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian, were the words of a man who was a king yet was without God as his friend, helper and guide. The book of Acts records these words (Acts 26:28), and like King Agrippa another story of a man's decision when he comes face to face with the most important thing in life, is that of Governor Felix, when he said: Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee, (Acts 24:25). God's word to man is the same today as it was then, just as sure and true. Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. II Cor. 6:2.

The excuse of the convicted sinner is the same today as it was when Governor Felix and King Agrippa made excuse. They were lost, and their hearts were gripped by the conviction of the Holy Spirit of God, yet they would not except Christ as their Savior, almost, but lost. Through the atoning death of Christ, man has the privilege to be a Christian.

What does it mean to be almost a Christian? The knowledge of the way of salvation, the conviction of the desire to be a Christian, the excitement concerning our relation to Christ, the reformation of our outward lives? All this, though good, is not enough to get a man into heaven. The Bible says, Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God. (John 3:3).

What is it then, to be altogether a Christian? Believe what the Bible says. Rely on the atoning blood of Christ to cleanse from sin. Love God with all our heart, strength, mind and soul. To live and practice what Christ teaches.

Gov. Felix and King Agrippa could have lived for Christ, but they chose the other way, as men do yet today. They remind us of the man who answered the ad in the news paper desiring a gardener. His answer was, I have an excellent knowledge of gardening, I can manage a kitchen garden just as you would like it. I can arrange flowers that you would be pleased with. As the man read the letter in answer to his news paper ad he said that is the man I want, one who knows what to do. But as he turned over the page he read the startling words: BUT I WON'T.

Men could live for Christ and do what he desires, for many know what to do, and where to do it, but they won't. To almost do a thing, is never actually doing it. We must be altogether persuaded and then do what we know to be the right. To almost win a race, is but to lose it. To almost be a Christian, is but to be lost, but through Christ there is assurance, for He came to seek and to save the lost. (Luke 19:10).

State and later with the Los Angeles Rams... Bob's appointment will give his myriad friends here and elsewhere in Michigan a new interest in football in the Southwest where we all know he'll be the best end coach they ever had...

RECENTLY we carried an announcement in 'Baby Talk' about the arrival of Frankie Joseph Left to the Franklin Lefts at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., recently... but it seems that his arrival was not, the usual quiet performance in a hospital delivery room efficient doctors and nurses in charge... This guy decided to make a dramatic entrance... just 17 minutes after his mother was awakened by her first labor pain... Neither the ambulance nor the doctor arrived but two members of the Jacksonville Beach police force, whom Dave Irons had picked up enroute to the Left house, where he was scheduled to remain with the other two Left children while Pop Franklin took mom Doris to the hospital, substituted until the doctor (who arrived in robe and slippers) and the ambulance took over and she and young Frankie were whisked off to the hospital leaving every one else almost prostrate from the experience... If that's a sign of what's to follow, that young man's in for an exciting life, we'd say...

THE PHONE rang at 6:30 p.m. Saturday and we heard a voice saying "What do you do with a wild duck you've found in your yard?"... Not knowing much about wild ducks and figuring it was illegal to shoot 'em we advised asking someone who knew and then ended up by offering to find out... Seems Jim Earl saw the small black duck with a white breast struggling in his yard, its feathers heavy with snow... Charlevoix School Bands Will Play In Festival At Traverse Traverse City will be the site of the annual district qualifying festival for northern Michigan high school bands and orchestras Saturday, Feb. 26. C. A. Odmark, director of the Charlevoix high school bands, announced this week.

Charlevoix's two bands will be among the 15 bands of all classes entered in the festival, where they will qualify for state festival participation later in the spring. A band must receive a first division rating in district competition to be eligible to attend the state band and orchestra festival.

Judges for this year's event will be William D. Revell, director of bands at the University of Michigan, Clifford Lillya and Nelson Havenstein of the brass and woodwind faculties respectively at the University of Michigan and Harry Begian, director of the very fine Cass Technical high school band in Detroit.

Charlevoix will have two entries in the qualifying festival for the first time. One will be the 82-piece Charlevoix high school Senior band which will be trying for its eighth first division rating in nine years and the other will be the Charlevoix Varsity (or Junior) band which is entering the Class C Junior high division for the first time. The inclusion of the latter band is for the purpose of receiving comments of the judges on their progress and to give them festival experience before becoming members of the Senior band.

The Charlevoix high school band first division ratings in both the district and state festivals in 1954.

The district festival is sponsored by District II of the Michigan School and Orchestra Association headed by Robert E. Lee of Boyne City as chairman, Ray Opland of Traverse City is festival chairman.

Mrs. Harry Stewart Reviews 'A Soldier Of Fortune' At Dickens-Shakespeare Tea

An excellent book review of Ernest K. Gann's recent best seller, "A Soldier of Fortune," was given by Mrs. Harry Stewart Monday at a well attended meeting of the Shakespeare Club who were hosts to members of the Charles Dickens Study Club at Fellowship Hall of the Methodist church.

In her own inimitable style, Mrs. Stewart reviewed with humor and pathos the adventure and love story found within the pages of the current eventful novel which deals with a select handful of fictitious characters portrayed behind the actual complications of the bamboo curtain. The author, who lived in China is authoritative and accurate in his accountings of Communism and explains it in his book thusly: "... Communism is a religion... and those who accept it are religious fanatics."

Mrs. Stewart was introduced by Mrs. Joseph Arvilla, president of the Shakespeare Club, who greeted guests and friends on behalf of the club.

Following the regular program tea was served from a tea table covered with a white cloth and decorated with large red hearts. Red tapers flanked a floral valentine centerpiece of white mums and red carnations. Mrs. F. F. MacMillan presided at the tea table.

During the informal tea hour following the program, the group was entertained by a popular and sensational trio composed of three local teen-agers, Mona Davenport, Roberta Swanson and Faye Meggison, known as "The Teensters." They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Leonard Burns.

Members of the Shakespeare Club tea committee in charge of the event were: Mrs. Charles Bellinger, Mrs. Kenneth Cellner, Mrs. Roy Robinson and Mrs. Ralph Hess.

IT HAPPENED ON BEAVER ISLAND

By Loyola Malloy

Johnny Gallagher left Friday for a few days on the mainland. Last week young James made two attempts to get his ice put up. As usual the first day he cleared the ice we got snow to cover it up again but the next attempt he finished it.

The first of this week Capt. and Mrs. Forrest Pratt who have been on the island since about the first of December left for Chicago and New Orleans to spend some time before he has to return to his boat.

Carl Felix arrived over the weekend to spend a few days with his wife and family.

Archie LaFreniere Jr. is getting the head start on everyone with his house cleaning. He plans to repaint the interior of the "Shamrock Bar" and put in new floor covering.

Warren Townsend spent the weekend on the island. He also was on High Island looking over his property and possessions.

Mrs. John Martin returned home here after spending the past couple of weeks in Holly with her husband and daughter.

The board of directors of the Civic Association met last week to elect the officers of the Association. Frank Nackerman was elected president; William Schmidt, vice-president; Loyola Malloy, secretary; Lillian Left, treasurer.

Speaking for the officers and remaining board I hope we are able to carry on as well as they have done in the past.

Speaking of elections the Altar and Rosary Society of Holy Cross church also held their annual election last week. All officers volunteered. Mrs. Lloyd McDonough volunteered for another year as president, Mrs. Frank O'Donnell vice president, Mrs. Walter Wojan secretary and Mrs. Frank Nackerman, treasurer. Mrs. Nackerman was vice president last year.

Sunday the third game of the basketball tournament was played. The Shamrocks (Marty Martin's team) defeated the winners of last week the Rockettes (Rosemary McDonough's team) by a score of 30 to 16. Marty had high score of 20 points.

The Bums (Roland Cull's team) defeated the Hobos (Jerry LaFreniere's team) by a score of 36 to 24. Roland made 19 points. Jerry made 15 points. Some of the small lads are really playing good ball.

Plans Made For April Visit Of X-Ray Unit Here

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Health will make available to the residents of the Charlevoix area the mobile x-ray unit used for early detection of tuberculosis, heart or lung diseases, Dr. A. F. Litzberger, director of district health unit No. 3 said this week in announcing the visit of the unit to the county early in April.

At that time everyone from 15 years of age and older will be eligible for chest x-rays. In preparation for the visit of the unit, school children of the kindergarten, first, fourth and seventh grades are now being given "scratch" tests by Mrs. Jeanne Miles, school and community nurse. All positive reactors will be x-rayed. In addition all children who have come in contact with tuberculosis will also be tested.

Young housewives and mothers who are particularly susceptible to abnormal chest conditions are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity for a chest x-ray.

There will be no charge for this service either to the school children or adults so everyone in the 15-year old age group and older is urged to visit the mobile x-ray unit when it comes to Charlevoix in April.

Kenneth Russell Attends Service Training Center

Kenneth Russell recently attended the General Motors Training Center at Detroit, to learn advanced automotive service techniques, which he will use in his work at Parsel Garage.

Mr. Russell of 310 W. Garfield, spent two days at the Detroit school, one of a nationwide network of training centers being set up by General Motors to keep employees of its car and truck dealerships abreast of new mechanical developments and service techniques.

A mechanic with Parsel Garage for almost two years, he selected the Fisher Body course, taking advanced study in the 1955 new model.

D. W. Parsel, head of the company, said he sent Mr. Russell to the Detroit center to give his customers the benefit of improved service techniques taught there. The Detroit training center, with more than 45,000 square feet of floor space, has eight specialized shop classrooms, for use by the Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac, GMC Truck and Coach, Fisher Body, and United Motors Service divisions of General Motors. Each division supplies a highly trained instructor for its courses at the center, which is managed by Warren E. Leib.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, explained that the purpose of the centers is "to insure that the people who buy our cars and trucks will continue to receive efficient and satisfying service."

Pheasant Being Killed By Owls

Pheasant stocks recently released in the Norwood and Banks township areas, along with other small game, are suffering from an added menace from the large white owls which have migrated from the Arctic territory this winter.

A number of persons who have been placing food for Pheasant have reported that the owls are taking their toll of the game birds, according to Floyd Wagner, president of the Norwood-Banks Hunting association. Diet of the owl also includes squirrel, rabbit and partridge as well as domestic fowl.

This new hazard is causing much concern to the Norwood-Banks group and the Ellsworth Sportsman's club. Both organizations have been spending club funds the past three years in an attempt to get the pheasant established in this area.

Christian Science Society To Build A New Structure

The Christian Science Society has announced its plans for the construction of a new fireproof building to replace the former frame structure at 205 Clinton st., which was badly damaged by an early morning fire Feb. 7.

The decision to construct the new building rather than remodel the old one was made at a special meeting of Society members called Wednesday evening by Mrs. Jone Durand, chairman of the board of directors.

After consulting with a local contractor who examined the damaged building, it was decided to raze the present two-story frame building and replace it with a fireproof building.

The work is expected to get underway in the near future. Effective this week, Christian Science services will be held weekly at the Charlevoix high school band room at the usual hour.

Dog Rescued From Chilly Round Lake

The first rescue of a dog from Round Lake this season after the animal had fallen through the ice was successfully completed Tuesday afternoon when Nartuck, the big Chinook owned by Gordon Freedman, was pulled from the icy water by Robert Hamilton and Lloyd Himebauch of the Hamilton Boat Yards.

Robert Bridge, who saw the accident from his north side home, reported it to the Hamilton Boat Yard. Mr. Hamilton who was at the Charlevoix Marine Service farther east along the south shore of Round Lake and Mr. Himebauch, assisted by Lee Moerland of the Marine Co. staff and Robert Waffle a visitor at the plant, pulled a boat over the ice until the ice gave way and they had to launch it. The pair then made their way to where the dog was struggling in the channel off the Chicago Club boat house. With a great deal of effort they hauled the almost-exhausted animal into the boat and again broke their way through ice to the Belvedere bayou where the big animal was taken from the boat to the Marine company building.

A smaller dog which went through the ice with Nartuck successfully made his way ashore without assistance.

Mr. Freedman was called and took the dog to his home. He reported Wednesday that the animal had suffered no ill effects from his icy experience. He also said he would like to express his gratitude to everyone who assisted in the rescue of the family pet.

Charlevoix Wins Thriller From Petoskey 52-49

Rayders Make A Last Quarter Drive And Overcome Northmen

After trailing Petoskey for more than three quarters of the game played there Friday night, the Charlevoix Rayders put on a last period drive to defeat the Northmen 52-49. The victory which avenged an earlier 52-50 loss to the Northmen, was one of the most exciting in a long list of thrillers between the two teams.

On Tuesday night the Rayders were scheduled to take on the Pellston Hornets whom they defeated 48-45 in their first meeting on the latter's floor and on Friday night will meet the Gaylord Blue Devils here. The Gaylord five, a much improved team gave East Jordan a close game for three periods last week before the Jordanites came through with a 12-point win.

Last-Week With Class 'C' Teams

Three favored teams came through with wins over loop opponents in Northern Michigan Class C action Friday night.

East Jordan defeated Gaylord 64-52; Boyer City edged by Harbor Springs 68-65 and Grayling trounced Mancelona 65-45.

In a fourth game Charlevoix won over Class B Petoskey 52-49 after trailing the Northmen for most of the game.

At Gaylord the Blue Devils got off to an 11-9 first period lead over the East Jordan Red Devils but the Jordanites were not to be denied and came back strong to take a 26-23 halftime and 46-41 third period lead before outscoring their hosts 10-12 in the last period for the 12 point victory. Bob Darbee paced the scoring with 23 points followed by Floyd Cutler with 20 for the victors. Mike McKillip had 18 for Gaylord which lost Paul Zigler with three minutes to go.

Harbor Springs, sharing last place with Mancelona, fought valiantly in an effort to upset the Boyer City Ramblers and held the Ramblers to a five-point 23-18 first period lead before going ahead 34-31 at halftime. Boyer City came back for a three-point margin, 47-44, as the game went into the last period when the lead changed several times and was tied three times before Bob Fitzpatrick put in the winning points. He paced the scoring for the victors with 13 points. Tom Clarke had 18 and Don Lauer 17 points for Harbor Springs. Nels Northrup of the Ramblers and Gary Swiss of Harbor Springs left the game via the foul route in the third period.

At Mancelona the Ironmen led Grayling 20-15 at the quarter before the Vikings went ahead 30-27 at the half and 45-34 at the third period mark. Dale Pettigill was top scorer for the victors with 19 points followed by Red Hamilton with 17. Bob Hardy had 12 for Mancelona.

second quarter as the Northmen outscored the Rayders 18-11 for a 26-18 halftime lead. Dwain Walker opened the scoring in the quarter with a field goal but Petoskey added three points from the free throw circle before Quint Walker scored a field goal to tie the score 11-11. Petoskey broke the tie with two free throws and forged ahead 26-18 as Dwain Walker scored three points and Swanson and Ikens a field goal apiece as the half ended.

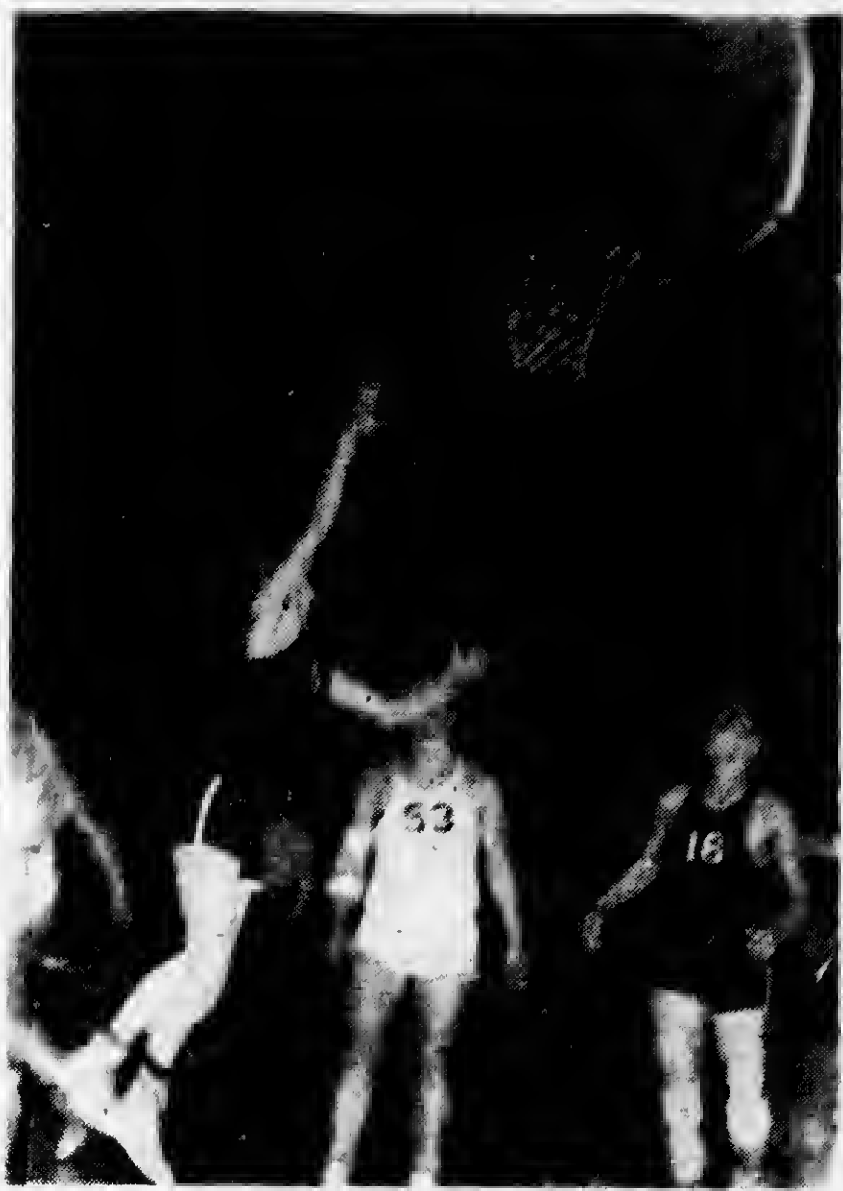

Dwain Walker again opened the scoring for the Rayders with a field goal as the second half got underway and cut Petoskey's lead to 26-20 but Northmen added two points from the free throw circle before Dwain Walker, in the heat of the game, scored a basket for the opposition giving them a 30-20 lead. Three buckets by Petoskey gave them a 36-20 lead before Vandenberg stepped to the free throw line to put Charlevoix back in the game. Vandenberg added a field goal and two more free throws followed by Dwain Walker who also tallied three points and Swanson who scored a field goal while Petoskey was scoring three points on a field goal and one free throw to cut the Northmen's advantage to eight points as the third period ended 39-31. Jess Kauffman left the game for Petoskey with five fouls as the period ended.

Vandenberg scored a field goal to open the last period followed by Swanson with two free throws after Petoskey had tallied two from the circle before Quint Walker collected his fifth personal foul and went to the bench.

Field goals by Swanson and LaBlance were matched by a field goal and two free throws as the Northmen held their slim lead. Field goals by Swanson and LaBlance closed the point spread to 45-43 as Dwain Walker went to the bench with five fouls. He was followed shortly by Petoskey's Barry Peacock. Two free throws by LaBlance after he was fouled by Peacock tied the game 45-45 all as the three minute buzzer sounded.

With less than two minutes remaining, Petoskey went ahead again with two points from the free throw circle but with a minute and 40 seconds to go Vandenberg tied the score 47-47 from the free throw line. Swanson collected his fifth foul and left the game with 65 seconds to go as Petoskey capitalized on the foul by scoring two free throws. LaBlance erased their two-point lead, however, with a field goal and with 47 seconds remaining scored the first of two free throws to put Charlevoix ahead.

With less than 30 seconds re-

Rayder Tom LaBlance shooting the field goal which tied the score 45-45 at Petoskey Friday night. He came back later in the final minute to score three free throws which gave the Charlevoix quintet a 52-49 victory over the Petoskey Northmen after the Rayders had trailed most of the game. Pictured with Swanson are Glen Ikens (16) and Northman Tom Rought (33) who paced the scoring for the game with 21 points.

Charlevoix To Meet Gaylord As League Season Nears Conclusion

Four Northern Michigan Class C games will be played Friday as the current season nears its conclusion.

Top games will find Boyer City playing at East Jordan and Charlevoix hosting Gaylord while Pellston will travel to Grayling and Mancelona will invade Harbor Springs.

East Jordan will be defending their first place standing now shared with Charlevoix when they meet Boyer City, a team they defeated by two points in a double overtime earlier in the season. After the Ramblers' defeat of Petoskey by a 57-35 score, they have renewed faith in themselves and may give the Jordanites a tough game the outcome of which will be a toss up.

Life's Little Sanctuaries

"I'm up a creek!" That used to be a common expression around our home when I was a lad. It meant trouble. When a person was vexed or confused, he would exclaim, "Well, I'm up a creek!"

Goodness knows where there is any similarity between being disquieted and being up a creek! As for me, I can think of no more peaceful place on earth than a brookside. It's the closest thing to church I know — one of life's little sanctuaries, where prayer and praise rise readily from the soul. The forest aisles, richly carpeted with a deep, grassy nap, lead to a pool swirling beneath a halo of spruce boughs. Through the branches sunlight moves like a freshly-scribed altar boy, lighting each ripple with a flickering glory. The little waterfall thrums a hymn of joy upon the pool, accompanied by the wind, an ancient and hoary organist who plays low notes while fingering the trees and sends a tuneful breath up hollow stumps. When I'm up a creek I'm the happiest of men, next to nature and close to God.

Now I'm not one of those who believe that the church is unnecessary, "because a person can just as well worship God in nature." Nature is only one of a multitude of expressions of God, and seeing God in nature alone is like seeing your wife only when she's baking cookies, or your child only when he is brushing his teeth. But a person, if he is to be spiritually healthy, ought to worship more than once a week, and in more than one sanctuary. There should be more than one place in everyone's life where he is refreshed, restored and rebuilt. A soul can no more maintain robust spiritual health on one worship experience per week than he can live on one meal each week. The soul of man must eat regularly or sicken and die.

There is a way a person can make the perpetual rediscovery of the God who is always near. It is by the use of life's wayside chapels and its little sanctuaries, where, to use another's phrase, there is a "hush amidst the rush." Look for the holy and the uplifting amidst the commonplace, where the symbols of God's presence are not crosses, candlesticks, stained glass windows, and majestic organ peals, but flowers looking up, handclaps of a friend, a radiant dawn, a blazing sunset, or the ringing laughter of a little child.

Here are some such sacred places I have known:

- Hospital nurseries, where the mystery of birth lingers about pink little faces and tight little fists.

- In my boyhood home, a corner of the basement near the wash tubs, where I often found my mother on her knees in prayer.
- Just a step off the pathway encircling a water-filled stone quarry near Naperville, Illinois, where in college days I retired from a noisy world to struggle with a problem and to pray.

- The bedside of a dear one, where death and life struggle for a hold, and lips move in silent prayer, and hope and fear keep mixed company.
- An archway in a parsonage where two young people, boy and girl, shame-ridden and penitent of a dark past, smiled through tears of relief when assured of God's forgiveness and their own bright future. A rainbow memory still hallows that place.

- All along the road we journey there are little wayside sanctuaries — soul filling stations. The person who doesn't take time to stop is like a tourist who won't pause for gasoline. We stop or at last we stall.

You have some wayside chapels, too? What are they?

Sportsman's Club Extends Invitation To New Members

Ellsworth—Ever wonder just what the Ellsworth Community Sportsmen's Club accomplished? Here's a brief outline of a number of projects they have promoted in recent years: helped in opening Monroe Creek for dipping smelt; feeding of ducks at the river here so that local people can enjoy seeing wild life; helped in procuring fishing sites on our lakes so that everyone could fish; send two boys to conservation camp each year where they learn about conservation and enjoy fellowship with other boys in the state; helped in removing old dead piles in 6 mile lake; helped in planting trout in local streams; reserved a place on Orr Creek so that the young sportsmen can have their own fishing without adult hogging in; are trying now to get pheasants back in Antrim county.

Sounds interesting to sports minded folks so if you would enjoy working with members of the club, they will welcome you. It isn't all work, but a little pleasure, too, as those will attest, who have enjoyed the fish and games supper put on by the club each year, with interesting programs afterwards.

Also each meeting is planned to bring you the latest in news from the conservation department through films, speakers, etc.

Meetings are held the first Thursday evening in each month, at 8:30 p.m. in the Ellsworth community hall. Dues, as it now stands are $2.00 a year, includes membership for wives, too. Also you are placed on the mailing list for Michigan Out-Doors magazine.

Why don't you attend some of these meetings and consider joining in the activities of the club.

Officers recently elected include Arthur Ruis, serving as president, when the president elect Si Doctor, could not accept; Robert Smalley, secretary treasurer.

NO GHOST TOWNS

For hundreds of Michigan communities, motor vehicles are the sole means of transportation — autos and buses for passengers, trucks for freight. These communities are not served by any other transportation system!

Yes, wherever there are roads — and Michigan is known for its many miles of good highways — trucks can and do perform a vital service for the people, bringing them everything they eat, wear or use — swiftly, economically.

There are no ghost towns in Michigan. Folks in small, out-of-the-way communities are as well fed, well housed and well clothed as the people of Michigan's largest metropolitan centers — thanks to trucks.

The Railroads — Our No. 1 War Asset

AMERICA is committed to a policy of doing all it can to prevent a war. Simultaneously it is maintaining as far as possible the kind of economy that has in the past given us superiority in time of war.

No one who has lived through two major wars and Korea can dispute the great contribution to them by the railroads.

Despite all modern developments of other means of transportation, the fact remains that the vast bulk of war materials and personnel must be moved on rails.

The stepped-up production of heavy goods required by war is possible only with a network of railroad systems operating at full efficiency.

America has that network. America should give full thought to assuring that full efficiency.

Red Rayders Defeat Pellston By 62-47

The Charlevoix Rayders chalked up their eleventh win of the current season Tuesday night with a 62-47 victory over the Pellston Hornets to return to a first place tie with East Jordan in Northern Michigan Class C loop standings.

The Rayders will host the Gaylord Blue Devils on the local floor Friday night as the 1954-55 season draws to a close. In the last game of the season the Rayders will travel to Mancelona to take on the Ironmen on Feb. 25.

For three quarters of the game Tuesday night the Hornets put up a valiant scrap but the Rayders, putting on a last quarter press, outscored the visitors 17-8 in the final period for the 15-point victory.

Charlevoix went into a 13-10 first period lead and held the slim margin 30-27 at the half before pulling ahead by six points, 45-39 at the three-quarter mark.

The Rayders started Tuesday night without Quint Walker who was out of the regular line-up with the measles. A second member of the squad, Jerry Schupert, was also out with ailment.

Walker was replaced in the starting five by Glen Ikens. Others in the line-up were Gary Vandenberg, Dwain Walker, Tom LaBlance and Guy Swanson. Joel Arvilla, Walt Poquette, Kenny Balch and Joe Etienne also played.

With their sights on a victory over the Rayders, Pellston forged into an 8-7 lead before three quick baskets late in the period by Swanson, Ikens and Walker while the Hornets scored only one put Charlevoix ahead 13-10 as the period ended. Ikens had tallied six; Swanson four; Walker two and Vandenberg one.

In the second period the Rayder went ahead 28-20 before Pellston started to hit and came back to score seven points as the half ended 30-27. Swanson and LaBlance had hit for six points each; Vandenberg and Ikens had added a field goal apiece and Poquette a free throw.

Charlevoix took a six point advantage as the third period drew to a close on seven points by Swanson, six by Ikens and one each by LaBlance and Poquette. As the game went into the final quarter the Rayders led 45-39 and Pellston was beginning to crack under the pressure. As a result the Rayders outscored the Hornets 17-8 on seven points by Walker, six by Vandenberg and four by Ikens who paced the scoring for the game with 18 points. Swanson came through with 17; Vandenberg and Walker with nine each; LaBlance with seven and Poquette with two.

Frank Durkalec was top scorer for the Hornets with 12; Merlyn Davenport and Dale Drier had 10 points each.

Charlevoix outscored Pellston 22-15 on field goals. The Rayders

Little Rayders Avenge Defeat By Northmen

The Charlevoix Reserves avenge an earlier loss to the Petoskey Reserves Friday night by rolling up a 64-36 victory over the little Northmen who defeated them 55-23 in their first meeting.

The Charlevoix five forged into a 9-4 first quarter lead and increased it to 32-11 at the half and 55-23 at the third period before Coach Del Terrill emptied the bench in the final quarter to give the little Northmen a chance to outscore the little Rayders 13-9.

In the starting line-up for Charlevoix were Kenny Balch, Phil Timmer, Norm Helms, Terry Davis and Richard Bolton with Bob Mol and Dale Putman joining the action in the first period and Larry Ingalls, Bob Geer, Bill McClanathan, Bob Baars, Ernie Gablo, Larry Smith, Stan Harwood and Bob Maxfield seeing action later in the game.

Helms and Bolton scored two field goals apiece and Timmer added a free throw to give Charlevoix a 9-4 quarter lead as Petoskey was held to one field goal and two charity shots.

The Little Rayders racked up 23 points in the second period and repeated the feat in the third quarter for the one-sided victory. Balch scored eight points; Timmer tallied seven; Helms added four and Davis and Bolton two points each. Petoskey scored three field goals and a free throw.

Timmer and Helms chalked up six points apiece to open the second half; Bolton and Ingalls added four apiece; Davis scored two and Mol one for another 23 points as Petoskey scored 12 points on four field goals and four free throws.

Petoskey came through with 13 points for its best period in the last quarter as they scored four field goals and five from the free throw line but their efforts were not enough as Charlevoix added three points by McClanathan; two each by Mol and Pierce and one apiece by Ingalls and Maxfield for the 28-point victory.

Charlevoix earned the victory, outscoring Petoskey 22-12 on field goals and connecting for 20 of 46 free throws while collecting only 17 personal fouls. Petoskey scored an 12 of 27 free throws and committed 30 personal fouls.

Timmer and Helms shared scoring honors for the victors with 14 points apiece. They were followed by Bolton who had 10; Balch, eight; Ingalls, five; Davis, four; Mol and McClanathan, three each; Pierce, two and Maxfield one.

The report reveals that assistance of some type was given to 171 servicemen, 54 veterans and 86 civilians during that period. In addition, loans totaling $400 were made to service personnel and grants of $307.87 which were outright contributions to victims of household fires in the county were made. The chapter, in several cases, also solicited clothing, household goods and furniture for the victims.

Last June the chapter sent five Charlevoix county young people to aquatic school so they might become qualified lifeguards. This was done at the cost of $45.00 per student or $225.00. A home nursing course was conducted at the cost of $35.00 and a first aid and water safety course was offered at the cost of $21.66 to the chapter.

The sum of $120.00 was spent on rent for the office maintained in Boyne City; $182.00 for telephone, toll calls and telegrams during the year and $14.70 for postage.

The chapter's only paid worker is Mrs. H. W. Patrick of Boyne City, the executive secretary. She received $900.00 for her services last year. As executive secretary, she is on call 24 hours a day every day. Other workers are volunteers and receive no salaries.

During the holiday the local chapter participated in the Christmas-on-the-high-seas program so servicemen enroute to and from overseas assignments would receive Christmas parcels. The chapter contributed $15.00 to this program.

Local Students Conduct Own Primary Vote

Continuing a program which was inaugurated last year, the top five grades of the Charlevoix junior and senior high schools held their own primary election Monday to nominate candidates for a general election in April. Candidates are seeking the offices of mayor and other city officials and will take over the city's government for one day later in the spring.

The program was initiated last spring in an effort to better acquaint students with the process of voting and the operation of their city government.

Winners in the primary election whose names will appear on the general election ballot and their opponents are: Mayor, Tom Swanson and Joe Powell who defeated Charles McDonald and Jerry Schupert; clerk, Sharon Belding and Charles Dennis who won over Artis Geer and Wayne Sunoburg; treasurer, Susan Crump and Mike Elzinga who defeated Jean Stockwell and Robert Sanford; justice of the peace, John Connolly and David Juilleret who won over Don Heilig and Joan Heilig.

Successful candidates for the aldermanic posts were Joyce Cunningham, Robert Swanson, Darlene Mason, Quint Walker, Faye Megisou, Kit Carson, Mary Foley, Carolyn Miller, Mona Davenport, Bennie Kipke, Donna Ikens and Charles Pierce.

They won the nomination over Martin Johnson, Ray Kolker, Jack Stebe and Don Wells.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

AFTER DAYS and weeks of winter with nary a break, we got March winds and April showers over the weekend. . . And what it did to all the snow is beyond description. . . But to give you an idea, kids are having a grand time wading in ponds of water, dogs are being kept in the back porch or basement and auto-owners have given up keeping their cars clean. . . Skiers are most unhappy and the skating rink is a thing of the past.

As this is being written there's a storm heading east from the Rockies and by the time you read this. . . who knows? but at the moment the temperature's 40 degrees and the rains are coming down. . . Even the ice in Lake Michigan as far as the eye could see moved out. . . with the help of a strong east wind. . . and there's open water again. . .

If the weather holds, chances are you'll see dozens of marble players out for this is the weather for that early spring sport. . .

WITH St. Patrick's Day just around the corner of February and March, you'll be hearing the song about the guy who knocked the 'L' out of Kelly. . . And if you've ever wondered what happened to that 'L', we'll be glad to tell you. . . Leo Allard snatched it as it flew past and put it in Nichols like in Nichols st. . . that's right. . . When the new street signs went up last year, someone noticed that Nichols was spelled with one instead of the proper two 'L's'. . . Don't know who caught the error, but as of this week, we now have three new street signs. . . double L and all. . . Never let it be said that our Leo doesn't do things up right. . .

"NEVER knew there was so much talent in northern Michigan" was the comment heard Saturday night after the amateur talent show at the gym. . . If you missed it you'll be sorry, for it was really super. . . Such darling youngsters, big and small, doing so many clever things. . . It amazed us and we know others were equally as surprised. . . And what a time the judges had. . . Each act, whether it received a prize or not, was a polished performance which made it so difficult for the judges. . . We think it's a grand way to get the kids out and into something mighty worthwhile and a wonderful thing for the community. . . We've already reserved a ticket for next year's performance. . .

WE'RE going to quit worrying about the birds. . . as of right now. . . Two conversations over the weekend have dissolved any doubt we had about our little feathered friends. . . Barney Englehart out Camp Charlevoix-way informs me that they have more chickadees, jays and other small birds than they've ever seen before. . . And George Hutchinson, just back from a trip to Beaver Island, tells us that he's never seen so many birds. . . their presence right in the village was what first attracted his attention. . . jays, chickadees, a couple kinds of snow birds and even a crow. . . so we guess they just found another place to spend the winter. . . Anyway, we're happy to know they're still around. . .

AND soaking of Beaver Island, we had a note from Archie LaFreniere calling our attention to the mention of Beaver Island in the Donald Duck comic we mentioned last week. . .

In another six weeks or so, weather permitting, we should be seeing the Emerald Isle, the new Beaver Island ferry boat, for the first time. . . We understand that's to be its name. . . As far as we've been able to find out, it's the first boat to be built especially for the ferry run. . . Like everyone else, we're anxious to see the new ship. . .

OUR LITTLE ole Rayders will finish up another season this Friday. . . We hope they'll come out on the right end of the score against Mancelona and thereby collect at least a co-championship with East Jordan. . . We must check this but we think this is the first time in recent years that a basketball title has been shared. . . On Tuesday the drawings will be made for the district tournament which starts next week. . . We've had a grand season and have seen some wonderful basketball. . . The days ahead are going to be rugged ones for Coach Terrill and his team. . . everything they do is going to be important and it's going to be tough going all the way. . . But this we're sure of. . . they'll be giving all they have just as they have all season. . . So right now, we'd like to say. . . many thanks for a grand season and may you go all the way. . . in the regular season which will end Friday. . . in the district and in the regional. . . just play the games as they come. . . give 'em your best and you'll be OK. . . PS. . . We love you all too. . .

REPORT FROM LANSING

By Clarence B. Meggison

With time fast running out on passage of joint resolutions proposing amendments to the constitution for submission to the voters in the April election, the Committee on Revision and Amendment of the Constitution, has been meeting, studying and reporting out for House action, several Joint Resolutions.

Two such proposals cleared the House this week and have gone to the Senate. One (HJR "I") proposes an amendment to the constitution to increase the efficiency of the Probate Courts through the establishment of probate judicial circuits replacing the present system of county probate judges. It was contended by supporters that if two or more counties could unite and elect one probate judge to serve the circuit, a better salary could thus be paid, and the public would benefit through the obtaining of better qualified judges and service. During the course of the debate, several instances were cited of the poor type of service rendered the people in the sparsely populated areas which could not afford to pay for a full time Probate Judge. This reform measure is advocated by the Probate Judges Association.

Another measure, (HJR "II") proposes to amend the constitution so that anyone elected from and after July 1, 1955, as either a Supreme Court Judge or a Circuit Court Judge, must be a lawyer authorized to practice law in Michigan, and must not exceed 70 years of age. The age limitation is to conform with the Judges Retirement Act. The restriction limiting Judges of the Supreme and Circuit Courts of the State to attorneys is an outgrowth of a situation in Berrien County where a non-lawyer sought last November to run for Circuit Court Judge.

The House also passed and returned to the Senate, an already approved Senate Bill (S.B. No. 1014) which changes the per diem and mileage paid to Committee members of Boards of Supervisors, and limits the actual days they can meet and be compensated for, to 20 days in any one year. At present they are limited to not in excess of $5.00 a day and mileage of 5c a mile while attending meetings of the committee. As amended, committee members would be entitled to such per diem and mileage as the Board of Supervisors would set, but not in excess of that paid members of the Board of Supervisors for attending sessions of the Board.

The House passed House Concurrent Resolution 11, setting up a special legislative committee to continue the study of juvenile delinquency problems and to investigate suitable sites for the location of the Boys' Vocational School. The resolution would permit the committee to carry on its work through 1955 and 1956.

Another resolution adopted by the House is Senate Concurrent Resolution 13, providing for a legislative committee to continue the study of codification of the drainage laws and problems of water resources.

Two additional messages were received from the Governor. On February 14, we received one with some 20 odd recommenda-

Dearborn housewife says, "Hospital bills don't cost us borrowed money now!"

"It's the most wonderful feeling when you don't have to borrow money to pay hospital and doctor bills," says Mrs. Filer. "That's the way it is with us, now that we've got Blue Cross - Blue Shield. When I had to be in the hospital for forty-nine days. . . just the hospital bill was around $1,000! We were completely covered, under our Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract. In addition to that, Blue Shield paid $187 for medical services I needed. There weren't any forms to fill out, and we didn't have to wait for any payments. Everything happened automatically!"

What if this were your year to have a hospital bill? There's a 1 in 3 chance that it will be! Wouldn't you and your family be a lot better off if you had protection like the kind that saved over $1,100 for Mrs. Filer?

Shores - Haggerty Marriage Vows Spoken In Double Ring Service

St. Mary's church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Patricia Jane Shores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shores, and Sergeant first class Richard J. Haggerty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Haggerty.

The Rev. E. F. Denay officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. St. Mary's Children's choir, accompanied by Sister M. Leona, sang the Mass of the Angels. Katherine McCann, soloist, sang "On this Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, portrait neckline, long sleeves and bouffant ballerina skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a seedpearl tiara and she carried a bridal bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Margaret Haggerty, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Janice Cunningham, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Haggerty wore a ballerina length gown of yellow lace over taffeta, a matching bolero jacket and floral headress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and step-hanotis. Miss Cunningham wore a ballerina length gown of violet lace over satin, a matching stole and floral headress. Her bouquet was of pink roses and stephanotis.

Daniel Haggerty assisted his brother as best man and James and Thomas Hamlin, cousins of the bridegroom, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Shores chose a navy and white print dress with navy and gray accessories. Mrs. Haggerty, mother of the bridegroom, chose a navy suit dress and black accessories. Both had corsages of white pompons.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Clubhouse. The bride's table was decorated with white hyacinths and lighted tapers. Bouquets of spring flowers decorated the other tables. At the afternoon reception, the refreshment table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, white hyacinths and lighted tapers.

For traveling on their wedding trip through southern Michigan and Wisconsin, the bride chose a gray and red suit and navy and white accessories.

The couple plans to make their home at Sault Ste. Marie where the bridegroom is stationed at Camp Lucas.

Both are graduates of the Charlevoix high school. The bridegroom is a veteran of 12 years with the U. S. Army.

The poster contest to be conducted in the Charlevoix schools with prizes amounting to $10.00 was discussed. The announcement regarding the contest will be made later.

Mrs. Elmer Gibson reported that a book, "In His Step", had been placed in the Charlevoix public library in memory of the late Jack Armstrong, husband of Mrs. Dorothy Armstrong, a member of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Harley Warner was named chairman of the annual Poppy Day sale to be held in May.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting at the V.F.W. hall on March 3.

Eastern Star To Have A Potluck Supper Wednesday

Plans for a potluck supper for members of the Eastern Star, the Masonic Order and their families at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Wednesday were made at a recent meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Tentative plans for a birthday dinner on March 23 were also discussed.

Mrs. James Miller, worthy matron who presided at the meeting announced plans for a shower to be held in Central Lake Feb. 28 for Mrs. Jack Bullock, formerly of this city, whose home was destroyed by fire recently. The shower will be given by the Central Lake Chapter which she heads. A number of local members are planning to attend the event. The chapter voted to give Mrs. Bullock a cash gift. Anyone wishing to attend the shower may call Mrs. Miller for a ride.

Mrs. Laverne Heise was named chairman of a committee to make and sell decorated and filled Easter baskets and other Easter food and pastries. Mrs. Clarence Goldstick is in charge of a fund raising project selling household items. She is being assisted by Mrs. Abe VerWys, Mrs. Floyd Ikens, Mrs. Alfred Gill through whom purchases can be made.

A short program about February birthdays was presented by Mrs. C. M. Bice and Mrs. Thomas Carey. Mrs. VerWys was presented with a prize during the program.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Erwin Belfy Sr., Mrs. Charles Reinhardt, and Mrs. Lawrence Korth.

Campus Comments

(At the suggestion of several college students that the Courier publish news of local students enrolled at various colleges, this column is being initiated this week. If you have news of college students, please submit it for publication in this column. Ed.)

They were Amy Kipke who attended with Bill Nissen; Bruce Barker whose guest was Lois Jacobson and Virginia Smith whose escort was Rudy Schaischmidt.

Also on the Michigan State campus Larry Burns is pledging Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and Janet Krulik is a new pledge of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Bless mah buttons and bones! If the lady boss in this family ain't asked me to write a story as regards my impressions 'bout that Frenchy dawg that done moved to the neighborhood . . . too soon she done moved here, as far as I'm concerned. And (sniff) I've not one bit impressioned!

Lawzyl . . . thet I've given a chance like this in my sweet li'l ole lifetime makes me happy that I ain't nipped nobody's heels like I drools to do sometimes. It's like my ole memmy always said . . . "Petience am rewarded with a big, fat bone." . . . and O' boy! . . . If I isn't now got one big, fat bone to pick!

I reckon there am a little Frenchy air 'bout me, too, sometimes . . . They calls me Mandy Lou, but tho' I don't omit it often, my real name am "Tar-bebe Lou".

((Bebe am French for baby, I guess) My mammy's name was "Golden-bebe" . . . but I stops there before you gets the deppression I is anything but what I is . . . which am a real lovable black cocker spaniel.

Franchy poodles eli has names that gives us th effilbly fibbits they is so fancy . . . and they all traces back to when somebody or other was a pup. Take the stylish petooty we is discussing today . . . they calls this dame "Miss Misty" in place of her flossy lebel "Wychwood Silver Mist."

Now, iffen I wants to sniff out a great great grandmammy what maybe came over on the Mayflower, I reckons like I could . . . but I ain't goin' to be so nosy.

I comes originally from Minnoscote . . . but Miss Misty (sniff) comes from no less than Ewelme Park, Henley-on-Thames, Oxon, England. And after all thet . . . up pops a Franchy poodle lookin' like Miss Misty. This gal am as pateet appearin' as a canary end looks like she done starved herself for that new cur-tourier "A" look they is ell talking 'bout . . . 'cep-tin' on her it looks like "L" . . . (Well, shut mah mouth for whet just come out!)

With such loud cooings 'bout that fancy dame like she were

Lattice Coffee Cake

1/2 Cup Shortening	1 tbs. Baking Powder
1/4 Cup Sugar	1 tsp. Salt
1 Egg	1/2 Cup Milk
2 Cups Flour

Cream shortening and sugar together until light. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, measure, and sift again with baking powder and salt. Add flour mixture with the first mixture, alternately with the milk, and mix well after each addition. Spread dough on 7 x 11 pan, greased. (Save out a small portion of dough to roll out and make strips for top) Spread your favorite marmalade, or jam, over top of dough and then make a criss-cross lattice on top with strips of dough. Bake in moderate oven (350 d.) about 30 minutes. Note: This is especially good when served fresh.

Lawrence Winters To Give Concert On Friday Night

Lawrence Winters, distinguished baritone of the New York City Opera, will be heard in concert at the Petoskey high school auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Friday under the auspices of the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association.

A leading baritone of the New York City Opera, Mr. Winters is probably the most acclaimed Rigoletto on the American operatic scene. His gallery of roles also includes Amonasro in "Aida", Dr. Miracle in "Tales of Hoffman" and Toscello in "Love of Three Oranges".

He is equally well known as a concert singer with a prized song repertoire. In addition to his tours of the United States, he annually goes to Europe and South America for engagements.

A native of King's Creek, S. C., he is a graduate of Howard University where he earned tuition by singing in the Eva Jesse Choir. He served in the U. S. Army and had just doffed his lieutenant's uniform when he won the opportunity to appear in "Call Me Mister", the role which won him his first acclaim. Later he sang the title role in "Porgy and Bess" from which classic he was invited to join the New York City Opera.

Mr. Winters replaces Carol Brice on the Community Concert series.

The last concert in the 1954-55 series will be the appearance of the duo-piano team, Whittemore and Lowe on March 18.

Sermonette

Rav. George L. Majors
Community Church of God

"Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself." Matthew 6:34

Many have purposed no doubt at the beginning of this year to live more in the present during 1956, and this is indeed a wise and worthy resolution. Some people have no life at all except in retrospect or prospect — except in recollection of what they used to be, or in anticipation of what they may be.

God does not want us to live in the yesterdays, nor in the tomorrows. It is both foolish and useless to grieve over the mistakes of the past and losses of yesterday. No matter what happened to us in the dead past nor what happens in the unknown future to come, let us resolve to live today. Do not allow your yesterdays to rob you of your today, nor let your self live in the tomorrows worrying about the trouble you think will come soon.

"Just for today, my Savior — Tomorrow is not mine; Just for today, I ask Thee, For light, and help divine. Tomorrow's cure I must not bear The future is all Thine."

Today is yours to be spent as you choose. Yesterday is past forever, tomorrow may never come. So live today, do that good deed today, say that kind word today, for tomorrow may never come. Would you live life at its best, then live in the present — live today.

Unless you are living the Christian life you have not yet found the true and abundant life — the life that God intends that you should live through His Son Jesus Christ. This is the life that offers peace of soul and mind, freedom from fear and anxiety, courage to say, "come what may," and a realistic hope for the future beyond.

If you are not a child of God through faith in Christ then decide today — right now to become one. Don't wait until some future time, it may never come.

The clock of life is wound but once, And no man has the power To tell just when the hands will stop At late or early hour. Now is the only time you have Use it with a will. Don't wait until some future time Its hands may then be still.

"Seek ye the Lord (today) while He may be found, call upon Him (now) while He is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God for He will abundantly pardon." Isaiah 55:6,7

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things (for which so many fret and worry about) shall be added unto you." Matthew 6:33

BEWARE the Service Bargain...

Don't Be Buffaloed

You'll never see your doctor advertise a special sale on appendectomies . . .

You'll never see your lawyer announce cut-rates on divorce cases.

You'll never see your dentist hold a "2-for-1" sale on extractions . . .

And you'll never see the day when you can take your TV set in for a service "Bargain" and be sure you're getting a square deal!

"Bargains" in home electronic service are as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth! Here's why —

The expert service technician, just like other professional people, must undergo years of study and apprenticeship to learn the fundamentals of his skill. And a minimum investment of from $3000 to $6000 per shop technician is required for the necessary equipment to test today's highly complex sets. Finally, through manufacturer's training courses and his own technical journals, he must keep up with changes that are developing as fast as they ever did in medicine, law, or dentistry. Those best equipped to apply modern scientific methods are almost certain to be most economical for you and definitely more satisfactory in the long run.

Unfortunately, as in any business, there will always be a few fly-by-night operators. But patients, clients, and TV set owners who recognize that you get only what you pay for, will never get gypped. "There just are no service bargains" . . . but there is good service awaiting you at Fair Prices!

IT HAPPENED ON . . . BEAVER ISLAND

By Loyola Malloy

Mrs. J. H. Gallagher returned home last week from Charlevoix, where she was with her daughter, Mrs. Edwin McCann since being released from Little Traverse Hospital.

Art Johnston returned last week to spend a few days here with a party of friends before returning to Grand Rapids after Mrs. Johnston and Susan.

Last Monday night the Junior Class sponsored a party in the Parish Hall. This party also climaxed their popularity baby contest. The winner was Colleen McCafferty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bing McCafferty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gallagher is on the mainland visiting her daughters.

I didn't mean to do it but last week I mentioned that Mrs. John Martin returned from Holly, but I forgot to mention that John was with her.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Left went to the Marti Gras and Florida last week.

Last Friday evening the ladies of the Parish held a pantry shower for the Sisters. Besides the articles for the pantry the Altar Society president, Mrs. Lloyd McDonough, presented them with an automatic coffee maker. About 32 ladies were present and spent quite an enjoyable evening.

Saturday Dan Greene (Shang) was admitted to the Medical Center with a broken arm. For a few days I guess he will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Gallagher.

The Holy Name Society had the election of officers at their last monthly meeting. Glen McDonough was elected president and Mike Cull was elected secretary-treasurer. Bud McDonough is the retiring president.

The Beaver Island Civic Association is getting very widely known. In the past month they have received postal cards from Spain and Yugoslavia asking for their advertising material. How people so far away ever heard of our little island would be interesting to know.

Sunday evening a party was held at the Shamrock to buy Linens for the Medical Center. Cards were played and Donald McCafferty who was celebrating his 21st birthday won the prize for the most games won.

Mentioning birthdays I almost forgot to say anything about Michael Cull's eighth birthday on Feb. 14. He invited all the boys in the primary room to help him celebrate the occasion.

Over the weekend we had real spring weather, with rain on Saturday and Sunday, but Monday was a different picture with slippery roads, snow and chilly winds. But by the calendar we haven't got too long to wait until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonough returned home last week after being in Chicago since after Christmas.

STATE Government has money troubles again, a plight in which the taxpayer is forced to become a hero.

Through the winter and into the spring legislators will tussle with two of the major resultant problems in their quest for a balanced budget. They are:

1. How to cut down Gov. Williams' $292 million budget which runs $46 million over existing revenues.

2. How to raise enough money to cover the cost of state operations for 1955-56, figures they know will be higher than for 1954-55.

Republicans have committed themselves to a balanced budget but the road will be rocky even with the extension of the $30 million business activities tax.

"A balanced budget at any cost," is the slogan.

Authors of tax bills are holding back this year to wait for appropriations committees on both sides of the capitol to find how much extra will be needed.

"We don't know yet how much it will be, but it won't be $46 million," said Senator Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek).

Williams' budget was compared with existing revenue for 1954-55 — the first year the business activities tax poured cash into the treasury.

At first glance, legislators predicted it would raise $35 million. Then they revised it downward to $30 million. The State Department of Revenue fixed the actual yield at $28 million.

But last year's budget came out with a $3 million surplus — a bulge certain to be reduced by deficiencies from overspent state agencies.

MILK, THE NECTAR of the farm, is big business in Michigan. F. M. Skiver, chief of the dairying bureau of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, proved it with statistics showing that the state sells 5,000,000,000 pounds a year.

It comes from 105,000 dairy farms, which provide milk for processing into a dozen different milk-derived foods for the nation's tables.

Half the milk, he said, is sold as fresh milk and cream. Other outlets are 10 per cent to condensed or evaporated milk; 7 per cent to cheese, mostly American style; and 8 per cent to the manufacture of ice cream and sherbet.

Skiver, always ready to improve the product that provides one of the largest items in farm incomes, said he was proud of a Michigan "first".

CAP PISTOLS may be the only explosive noise-maker left for the kids after this year.

Legislators have been asked to pass a law banning sparklers — a burning, sparkling bit of powder attached to a wire — because of the danger of young fingers, curtains and awnings.

It follows the general crack-down on fireworks which used to run up heavy tolls of injuries and deaths on the Fourth of July and Memorial Day. Sparklers already are banned in Detroit.

"If sparklers are outlawed on a statewide basis, there will be less bootlegging of other fireworks into Michigan," said Senator Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit), sponsor of the bill.

THIS MAY be a trifle late for those with aching backs and may be a fracture or two.

But the Michigan Tourist Council has come up with a set of safety rules for skiers in an effort to cut the toll on the state's impressive list of excellent ski resorts.

Here they are:

1. The person skiing has the right-of-way.

2. In climbing a hill where others are skiing, climb to the side of the hill with skis on.

3. Do not climb hills without your skis. Boot imprints and deep holes cause accidents.

4. Always fill in the holes you make.

5. Learn the proper and correct fit of your ski equipment.

6. Always use safety straps to prevent runaway skis.

7. Wear goggles to prevent snow blindness.

Tips Offered To Get Best Out Of Linens

Bed linens need good care to give good wear.

To make sure your sheets and pillowcases serve you best, here are some suggestions from Cecilia Roach, instructor in the textiles, clothing and related arts department at Michigan State College.

Strong bleaches used in laundering sheets will weaken them. To prevent them from becoming too soiled, change them frequently. Mend the holes and tears before washing. Miss Roach suggests tearing torn sheets down the center lengthwise, seaming the salvaged edges together and hemming the raw edges.

Sheets should be washed in hot, softened water with plenty of soap. Make sure the soap is thoroughly rinsed out. Don't try to wash too many sheets at one time, cautions Miss Roach; the results won't be as good.

Miss Roach suggests hanging sheets a different way each time you pin them up to dry. This will distribute wear from the clothesline evenly over the sheet. She says sunshine is the best bleach to whiten sheets, so try to hang them on a sunny day. But do not let them whip in a strong wind or freeze stiff.

Avoid an iron that is too hot and never use it to iron creases into sheets. Fold them by hand and try folding them in different places. Most long tears in sheets, says Miss Roach, are crease breaks.

County Allocated $24,564. For Soil Practice Payments

Farmers should study their conservation needs carefully, according to LeRoy Hardy, chairman of the Charlevoix County ASC Committee. The Agricultural Conservation Program for this county includes 17 practices that will qualify for cost-sharing under the 1955 program, he states. Many of these practices apply to each farm.

This county has been allocated $24,564.00 for cost-sharing on these practices. This is an increase of $5,000.00 over last year. Congress voted the increase due to increased conservation needs because of diversion of many acres from the allotment crops and which, therefore, should be devoted to conservation practices. Practices approved in this county include: Permanent Cover in Orchards; Permanent Vegetative Cover; Additional Vegetative Cover in Crop Rotation; Liming Materials on Cropland; Contour Stripcropping; Field Stripcropping; Tree Planting; Fertilizer for Permanent Pasture Improvement; Permanent Fences to Protect Woodland from Grazing, Sod Waterways; Contour Planting of Orchards or Vineyards; Field Diversions; Open Farm Drainage Disches; Tile Drainage; Winter Cover Crops; Green Manure Crops; and the Walker Quickie.

Farmers who have not yet signed requests for one or more of these practices should do so by Feb. 28 after which the county committee will start making approvals. Later requests will be accepted any time during the year, but approvals will depend upon funds available. Requests must be made prior to starting the practice, the county chairman emphasized.

Concert Postponed

The winter concert by the Charlevoix high school music department scheduled for March 1 has been postponed until a later date due to the Class C and D district tournament which will begin in Petoskey next week. C. A. Odmark, high school music director announced this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCann and son, Dickie, of Ludington visited several days last week with the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Versal Seymour, and with his father, John McCann.

Michigan apple growers have been packing their fruit for market in plastic-film bags holding 3 to 5 pounds. Tests show the bag helps apples to last longer.

When Pressed

Sometimes when I walk up the snow-drifted trail from the gate to our cabin, the snow squeaks complainingly under my feet. But yesterday, a mild day, when I trudged the nine hundred feet upon a soft blanket of white, the snow didn't protest in the least. There wasn't a single shrill of remonstrance.

What makes some snow squeak under the burden of footsteps and other snow respond to a man's weight with the soft answer of a low-pitched and pleasant "crunch"? Squealing snow is made up of crystals that have sharp edges that grind upon each other. You will hear its pained

FROM MRS. J. K. Wagner, the former Vera Belding, a clipping from the Midland paper with a picture of Dr. Richard B. Saltonstall. . . In the accompanying note she wrote. . . "With Dr. Gilbert Saltonstall getting such a big hand in the recent Reader's Digest, I thought you'd be interested to see this Midland Daily News cut on what Dr. Richard is doing." . . Dr. Richard was scheduled to give a talk before the Midland section of the Electrochemical Society on the subject of "Plating in Industry" . . . at the Dow Chemical Co. auditorium on Monday. . . The article went on to say that he has been active in the Detroit branch of the American Electroplaters Society, is a past president of the Detroit branch and for several years was associate editor of the publication "Plating." . . It's amazing the things you learn about people from such clippings. . . Always a rabid fan, Ray writes that he hopes the team and Coach Terrill know that there are a lot of former Charlevoixians away from home as he is plugging for the team and wishing them the best, even tho' they can't be here. . . We're sure Ray's wishing, along with those of our other servicemen and other who are away, will serve as an inspiration to our Rayders. . . We can't think of a better one. . .

February Being Observed Here As Heart Week

Five basic facts which the public should know about heart disease were released by Frank Van Schoick, M.D., President of Michigan Heart Association, a Community Chest and United Fund agency, as part of the public education theme of the Association's sponsorship of Heart Month conducted during the month of February.

"There is no denying that diseases of the heart and circulation remain the prime cause of death and disability in the United States," he said, "But the progress being made in fighting these diseases is a source of new hope to all heart patients."

Dr. Van Schoick outlined these five points:

1. Some forms of heart disease can be prevented; a few can be cured.
2. All heart cases can be cared for best if diagnosed early.
3. Almost every heart condition can be helped by proper treatment.
4. Most heart patients can keep on working, very often at the same job.
5. "Symptoms" may or may not mean heart disease. Worry and guesswork should be eliminated by consulting a physician.

The Michigan Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association, is sponsoring Heart Month. Dr. Van Schoick explained, to focus public attention on the medical, social and economic aspects of heart diseases and to align the community with the Heart Association and the medical profession in the heart program.

"Highlighted by St. Valentine's Day, Heart Month is an appropriate time for all of us to remember that when we gave to the Michigan Heart Association through our United Red Feather campaign last fall, we helped make possible the Association's programs of research, education and community service," he stated.

Plans Completed For County-Wide Education Meet

Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, was among the representatives from ten northwestern Michigan counties who met at Traverse City last Wednesday to complete plans for mass county-wide White House Conferences to be held later this month.

The regional White House Conferences are a result of President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message Jan. 7 in which he called attention to the urgent need for the nation to concern itself with the problems facing public education. Each state has been asked to survey its own educational facilities and immediate problems and to offer constructive aid to toward solution at a national meeting in Washington, D. C., later this year.

The state has been divided into 14 regions. In each of these areas, as well as school officials, are being asked to attend meetings in their own counties to familiarize themselves with questions already evident, to offer their own ideas and to seek solutions to problems peculiar to their own locality.

Believing that tackling our own needs on a "grass roots" basis is the American way, Mr. Robinson said, every Charlevoix county resident is urged to attend and participate in the meeting for Charlevoix county to be announced later.

Gov. G. Meinen Williams is honorary chairman and Dr. Clair L. Taylor, Michigan Superintendent of Public Instruction, is executive vice chairman of the Michigan White House Conference.

Supt. of Schools R. G. Bennett was scheduled to return Wednesday from St. Louis, Mo., where he had attended the annual conference of school administrators.

Charlevoix School Bands Are Rated First Division Calibre

The Charlevoix high school band and the Charlevoix Varsity (Junior) band both were rated first division calibre by four outstanding judges at the District Qualifying Festival at Traverse City Saturday.

Al four judges gave the Senior band first division ratings in concert and sight-reading and were high in their praises of the organization. Typical comments were: "A very well trained organization, excellent work." Nelson Havenstein; "The band's solidarity, sonority and overall playing is a distinct credit to the band, its conductor, school and community." Dr. William D. Revelli, head of the University of Michigan Band department; and "Good overall sound. Some outstanding playing by individuals." Harry Begian, director of bands at Cass Technical high school in Detroit. Clifford Lilly, with Mr. Havenstein a member of Dr. Revelli's University of Michigan staff, was the fourth judge. His comments followed the lines of the others.

In addition to such comments, however, were constructive criticisms to improve the band's performance. According to C. A. Odmark, however, never has a group of judges been so unanimous in their approval of the band's performance.

The Varsity band, participating in its first festival, was also given a first division rating by the three concert judges but received a second division rating in sight-reading which is optional for Junior bands.

Criticism of this band mentioned the balance, intonation and phrasing as being weak but all were unanimous in their approval of the apparent eagerness of the group and its possession of a good band sound although the latter, is in need of refinement.

The First Division rating received by the Senior band qualifies the group for participation in the State Band Festival at East Lansing April 23. The Junior band will not enter state competition.

Other bands which received first division ratings in the qualifying festival were: Class D, Northport and Elk Rapids; Class C, Boyne City, East Jordan and St. Ignace; Class B, Petoskey; Class A, Traverse City and Sault Ste. Marie; Class A orchestra, Traverse City.

NOTICED where the white pine has been made the official tree of Michigan. Now will someone mind telling us if the pines we have around here... for instance the ones in the park along Lake Michigan... are white pine and how can one tell?

IT SEEMS that no matter where a Charlevoixian turns up he manages to find someone he knows or at least has heard about. In the mail last week was a small newspaper, the Acapulco News from Mexico and whose picture was on the front page? None other than one of our most prominent summer residents, Judge Robert S. Marx of Cincinnati pictured with a reproduction of his sailboat so familiar to local residents, the Panchera (meaning "all joy") done in pure silver on blue steel. John Schroeder noticed the item and sent the paper on to us. We understand Judge Marx, whose summer home is located on Lake Charlevoix has a lovely winter home near Acapulco.

ALSO IN the mail last week a card from Don Campbell who with Leo Carey has enjoyed a leisurely trip west. Imagine both were on hand for the California-Charlevoix picnic Sunday. He sent his best regards to his friends back here and said he hoped we weren't buried in too much snow. Speaking of the California picnic... we'd like to send a personal request to Galo

Hines who takes care of the publicity for the annual event. Please, Galo, will you try very hard to get the details of the event to us a little earlier next year.

LAST MONTH the Boy Scouts celebrated their birthday. This month we observe Girl Scout week. And we'd like to convey our best wishes for a happy anniversary to this wonderful organization. In Charlevoix some 170 girls from the little Brownies through the sophisticated senior girls participate in a wonderful program. Gee, we can remember, and it's not so many years ago either, when there was only one troop. More and more volunteers are working with both the Boy and Girl Scouts so the program, a very grand thing for the kids, is growing. Charlevoix can well be proud of these two groups for they do a wonderful job with our young people. But like any program run entirely by volunteers there are never enough adults to go around. Right now we know of one little Cub Scout Den mother... and there are never enough Girl Scout leaders. If you can't give some time this year, won't you plan now to join the program next fall. If you have a child in either of the Scouting programs, you owe it to him (or her) to help out. And if you have no youngsters, it's a perfect way of getting to know the younger fry. And you'll never be sorry for the grand bunch.

AS WE'VE said in the past, the Ole Courier tries to do its best by its subscribers... one way or another. Not long ago the boss turned up with a lost pooch... last week our girl Friday,

you think enough

Two New Members Are Inducted Into The Kiwanis Club

Two new members were inducted into the Charlevoix Kiwanis club at its regular meeting at the high school cafeteria Monday evening.

They were Charles Cooper and Jack Mailhot who were inducted by Leonard Burns.

Barbara Smith, talented young high school musician, entertained the group with several piano selections.

Charles J. Pontius, club president, announced the plans for the Kiwanis twentieth annual district bowling tournament to be held in Grand Rapids for three consecutive weekends beginning April 16. The local club is planning to enter a team for the first time.

Communications from Frank Bird who is vacationing in Phoenix, Ariz., and Fred Bancroft who is wintering at Jeddo, Michigan were read.

Mona McFarland Struthers, found a ladies' watch in the snow near the Central Drug late Wednesday... too late to get it in the "Lost and Found" column. But our sharp-eyed Sherlock, Harold Totten, went right out and found the rightful owner... (he overheard his wife telling someone about someone losing a watch her husband had given her on their fortieth anniversary). Anyway, Mrs. Olaf Bayer, was notified of the find, came to the office Thursday to identify the watch and after taking it to the jeweler's for minor repairs returned with a lovely gift for the finder. Everyone was happy... especially the Courier, which, as we said, tries to do its best by its subscribers.

CHARLEVOIX did a bit all right over the weekend. Got themselves an unexpected basketball title... unexpected because the Rayders had thought it would be shared with East Jordan who were upset at Pellston. Added to that our two bands came home with first division ratings from the qualifying contest in Traverse City. It was the little band's first festival and everyone was surprised when they came up with a top rating. Wonderful experience, too, for these youngsters who will eventually become a part of the senior band. And don't forget that Charlevoix county's other two Class C schools came up with first divisions, too. East Jordan has had several but it was Boyne City's first and everyone's real happy for them.

WILL March come in like a lamb or a lion? As this is being written it looks as tho' it's going to be the latter. After such a long, cold, snowy winter we wouldn't be surprised. Maybe then it will go out like a lamb and we'll have an early spring. Well, we can dream, can't we?

Dad Heise called Sunday to tell us spring was here... he'd found the first pussywillows. A look out the window didn't verify his story but he had the proof so maybe we'll have spring yet... even tho' it doesn't seem possible at the moment.

AND IF April 15... the deadline for filing your income tax report seems a long way off. It isn't. So get it in the mail or take it off to the guy who makes it out so you won't be late in reporting. And come April 15... don't say we didn't warn you.

REPORT FROM LANSING

By Clarence B. Meggison

Lansing, Feb. 24 — The tempo of legislative activities has been greatly accelerated in recent days and will likely continue to increase from this point on. It is impossible to relate in a few short pages an account of all the hundreds of bills and resolutions thus far introduced or to give you an accurate appraisal of the responsibilities of our state government and the momentous problems which confront us. The following is a brief resume of a few of the current issues.

AN ACUTE shortage of classroom facilities in our public schools in certain areas of the state here situations are so bad that they have resorted to multiple sessions in order that all of the children could go to school at least a part of a day and the districts are unable financially to stand the burden of additional construction. Has inspired a resolution in the Senate to submit to the voters a 100 million dollar bond issue to build schools. This would provide a means by which the school districts could borrow from the State. It was first defeated in the Senate. Later it was reconsidered, restored to life, passed by the Senate and is now in the House. In addition to the arguments heretofore set forth for the proposal, opponents argued that it amounted to a subsidy and that if schools did not pay back the money in thirty years, it would leave the State holding the bag. Others maintain that the responsibility for school construction belongs to the local units. It still remains to be seen what the House will do with this and whether or not you will observe it on the ballot this spring.

THE MUCH debated highway program, which up until yesterday appeared completely doomed, has taken a right-about-face. The Chairman of the Committee on Roads and Bridges of the House, who had called Governor Wilhoit's program a phony on the floor of the House last week, accompanied by a minority member of that committee, interviewed the Governor for thirty minutes, at which time the Governor agreed to the basic principles of the Peltz highway program which has the endorsement of the Republican Party, Farm Bureau groups, supervisors, Grange groups, and others interested in highways. There are now only minor areas of differences existing between the House version and that of the Governor, namely, it will provide a "pay-as-you-go" basis and 15c per gallon increase in gasoline tax and include the Governor's proposal of 25% increase in the weight tax on all commercial vehicles. The original Peltz plan called for 2c increase in the gasoline tax and the funds would be distributed in accordance with the existing State Highway Distribution Fund, thereby benefitting not only the State Highway Department, but likewise county highway departments and cities and villages. It will likewise permit those units the authority to bond themselves on the strength of this additional revenue if they cur to accelerate their highway

Little Theatre Group To Present Mystery 'The Bat'

The popular mystery play, "The Bat", will be presented by the Little Theatre group of Petoskey at the Petoskey high school auditorium Monday and Tuesday.

The play, the last of the theatre's presentations this season, is directed by Ross Stokakes Jr.

The cast will include many players familiar to northern Michigan audiences including Mrs. R. Leo Brown, Mrs. Charles Bailey, Michael Hills, Molly Fochtman, Tom Walenta, Thomas Paxton, Walter Boyd, Norman Gibbard, Dick Thomas and Mr. Stokakes.

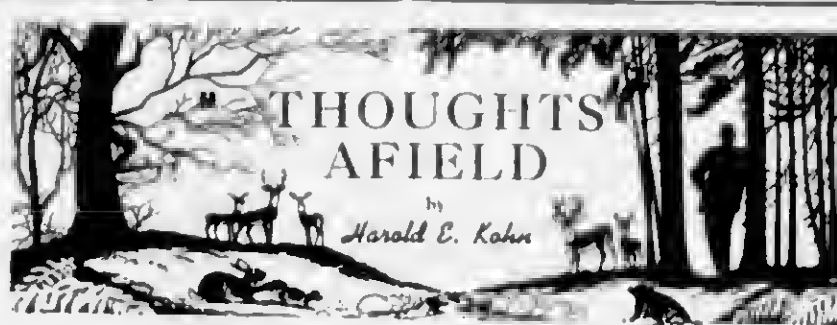

This is probably the most difficult play Petoskey Little Theatre has attempted and it promises to be one of the most entertaining.

programs. It will have the same force and effect as the Governor's proposal, except that it is not going to mortgage the State of Michigan with no provision for re-payment. It would appear that the principal obstacle to the highway program to be submitted to the voters have now been removed, but it still remains to be seen whether or not the Senate will concur as there exists in that body some area of differences in the distribution formula and whether or not this should be done by the Legislature or submitted to the voters.

HOUSE Joint Resolution "A" was passed by the House this week and provides that the nominating petitions for all judges be in the same category as though for any other elective office. As you know, heretofore the petitions for a judicial office could be circulated any place in a county, making it utterly impossible to check all of the signatures. It will now require that the petitions be circulated within the township or precinct and also provide the same time limit for filing as the candidates for other offices and greatly simplify the judicial elections.

THE HOUSE defeated by a vote of 37 to 50 a proposal to amend the Judicature Act of 1915, which would broaden the matter of venue in civil cases pending. Proponents of this claim it would provide convenience to litigants, but it was pointed out that we already have a venue act which is adequate and this could increase the cost chargeable to a county which the board of supervisors would have to pay. Also, it would be entirely too easy to transfer cases to other counties where it might appear that the judge would be more agreeable to one or the other of the parties. This measure not only presented a divergence of opinion among the laymen of the House, but likewise among those of the members who are of the legal bar.

YOU HAVE been reading a number of press releases relative to a proposal to submit to the voters the question of parking meters in the state. This measure provided quite some debate and humor on general orders, but it was overwhelmingly defeated on third reading, at which time the membership, with little debate, very seriously decided that this should remain the prerogative of local government, which includes cities and villages, and that the people's right of petition still existed sufficiently to make unnecessary.

Renewal

(Reverend Kohn has been called away because of his father's grave illness. In his absence we are reprinting one of his "Thoughts Low" columns, which appeared in the Courier on May 6th, 1954.)

While walking through cedar thickets or birch copse, I have often seen oval forms where the grasses have bent under the weight of a resting deer or a sleeping fawn. Sometimes the green couches were still warm from the body heat of the animals, as if they had made a sudden retreat at the sound of my approach. Again, the resting places would be cold and damp with dew, showing that the owners had some hours since left for errands elsewhere.

These fresh deer beds always look the worse for wear. In contrast to the tall grasses waving gaily all about, the blades that cushioned the deer look crushed, worn, with the life pressed out of them. But let the observer return a few days later and he may be surprised to find all signs of the bed have disappeared. The green grass blades now are straight, full of life. They again nod to the winds and curtsy to each other. Life's healing process has been at work, restoring the bent grasses to strength and normalcy.

Nothing is much more important to life than the powers of restoration which we see operating all around us. These bodies of ours do not stay alive simply by shunning danger and avoiding injury. We continue to live because the Creator has provided us with powers of renewal and restoration. A finger is cut, but normally it heals again. If the wound does not heal we know something is vitally wrong with the body; it is not functioning as the Creator intended it should. During a normal life-span we are exposed to numerous infections to which we would succumb if it were not for the body's tremendous capacity for self-renewal and for righting what is wrong.

As important as the recuperative powers are to the body, they are quite as necessary to the mind and spirit. Just as grass blades are frequently pressed to earth by a sauntering whitetail buck or a resting doe and fawn or any other of myriad beasts of forest and field, so passing events crush us. Burdens press down upon us until we think we shall never rise again. But we do. If we are spiritually healthy, we do. We are criticized, or snubbed, or overlooked. If we are unhealthy people we regard these experiences as final. We shall never get over them. Never again can we act normally toward those who have treated us so. But to the hale and hearty person such experiences are not conclusive in the least. One is hurt, certainly, but only temporarily. His recovery is quick. He will right what is wrong, restoring as far as possible the old relationships.

We lose a loved one. For any person of a good and sensitive nature that is a crushing event. The burden is a heavy one, and we bow under it. But life's healing power will restore us to upright-ness again. The scars may remain, but we will be healed. Someday soon cheer will return to the heart, sorrow will lift a bit. Radiant memories will replace clouds of grief.

We make a tragic mistake or a foolish blunder. It may be a bad business investment, or a public responsibility at which we miserably failed, or a job to which we were not suited, or a moral defection. Everyone learns of it and the humiliation seems almost unbearable. We are deeply hurt. But the sound, healthy person will recover, right the wrong, and stand upright again. Prolonged humiliation, or hurt, or shame, or grudge, or grief are certain signs of poor spiritual health. Spiritual bounce and snap-back are sure indications of a healthy soul.

If we are feeling low and as if we might never rise again, there is one thing we can do about it immediately. We can take stock of ourselves and recognize that we are presently alive because a good God has provided our bodies with powers of restoration, and what He has done for our physical natures He will surely do for our souls. Nothing can ever happen to your spirit that is permanently harmful if you will cooperate with the Power that redeems and restores. So says a rising blade of grass!

This $7 MILLION DRUG at a Bargain Price

People who believe prescription prices are a burdensome addition to the cost of illness should know that the reverse of this is true! New drugs act swiftly to reduce illness and absenteeism from work — thus sparing the patient this added expense. Although in their introductory phase these drugs are costly, increased production soon lowers their price. Sulfadiazine, penicillin and others, for example, are but a fraction of their original cost. And when these drugs are dispensed at Central Drug Store, illness costs you less because our prices are based only upon the cost of the ingredients plus a nominal fee for professional service.

The defending champions, who had shared first place with East Jordan as the season drew to a close, received a clear title when Pellston upset the Red Devils 49-43. Until game time Friday night a co-championship in basketball for the first time in the league's 20 year history was anticipated.

Mancelona Wins Over Reserves By 55-30 Score

Charlevoix's little Rayders finished the current season with a record of 12 wins and four losses after bowing to the Mancelona Reserves 55-30 Friday night.

The Reserves victories include one over the Petoskey Reserves. Their losses have been to East Jordan, Grayling, Petoskey and Mancelona.

Missing from the starting lineup against Mancelona were Norm Adams, top scorer for the Reserves, who had been ill all week and Bob Geer, who also was out a cause of illness.

In the line-up were Phil Timmer, Richard Bolton, Larry Ingalls, Terry Davis and Bill McClanathan. Others who saw action were Bob Mol, Dale Putman, Bill Maxfield, Bob Bears, Eddie McCann, Cliff Pierce, Ernie Gablo and Ron Anderson.

The Mancelona Reserves went into an 8-6 first period lead over the visiting Rayders as the latter's scoring was confined to one field goal apiece by Timmer and Davis and two free throws by Mol while the little Ironmen scored four field goals.

In the second period Mancelona outscored the Rayders 24-3 for a 32-9 halftime advantage. Mancelona scored 12 field goals while the Rayders had one field goal by Mol and one free throw by Davis.

The story was much the same in the third quarter as the Charlevoix five were again outscored 10-7. Timmer scored three points and Putman and Maxfield a field goal apiece.

Charlevoix had its best quarter in the final period with 14 points on a field goal and three free throws by Bolton, two field goals and a free throw by Davis, man and a free throw by Davis.

ODDS 'N ENDS

HERE WE go again . . . for it's tournament time . . . Until you've lived in a rabid basketball town such as Charlevoix you can not know what tournament time means . . . On Thursday night the town will be deserted as almost the entire community moves en masse to Petoskey for the Charlevoix-Boyne City game . . . This will continue as long as Charlevoix remains in the tournament . . . And when they're defeated there'll be those hardy souls who will continue up the scale to the big games in Lansing two weeks from now . . .

Charlevoix is playing in one of 81 district tournaments throughout the state in which some 650 teams are paired off . . .

AND what will it mean? To our way of thinking . . . exactly nothing . . . Sure, you'll see a lot of good basketball but sooner or later a real champion will fall by the wayside . . . because he had the misfortune to have a bad night . . . Sure we like tournament games but we'll always maintain that there's too much riding on the shoulders of a bunch of sweet kids who are playing their hearts out for a victory . . . If they win they're heroes and if they lose there are 20 dozen bleacher coaches to tell 'em why they lost . . . It's a great game . . . basketball . . . but during the next few weeks try to remember that it's just a game . . . not a matter of life or death . . . If the kids win, and heaven knows they want to more than anyone, that's fine but if they don't, just remember they were in there giving their all and that's all anyone has to give . . . If you were in their boots you wouldn't be doing half as well . . . so don't put on the pressure . . . and offer all sorts of advice . . . That's why we have Coach Terrill . . .

END OF lecture . . . And now to Coach Terrill and his grand Rayder squad the best of everything in the days ahead . . . You'll for the competition's going to be rugged, to say the least . . . Like everyone else we want you to win . . . But just in case you don't, what we said last week still goes . . . We love you all very much . . . Congrats, too, on winning that elusive title . . .

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

ALL ROADS will lead to Petoskey again this week as the Charlevoix Rayders go into the regional tournament. In case you hadn't noticed, this will be the Rayders' thirteenth regional tournament in 30 years. Charlevoix has also participated in 20 district finals during those years and during 10 of those years didn't make it that far. So you see, Charlevoix hasn't always been on the top although there'll be those who'll say we always have. It just seems that way because the Rayders have captured eight district titles in the past 10 years.

THIS WEEK the Rayders will take on their first regional rival, Manton, which made its way to the regional via Cadillac. And don't underestimate 'em because you don't know anything about 'em. They've an 18-2 record for the season including a win over strong Reed City.

And no team that's made its way this far has done it on luck alone. They've got something and they're all shooting for the big title. Like everyone else we hope our team goes all the way but somebody has to be eliminated and if it just should happen to be us, don't forget to accept the bad breaks graciously. It's all part of the game.

Just remember that basketball is only a game. And it ceases to be that when sportsmanship goes by the board. And if we may give you a quote from William Thackeray: "Who misses or who wins the prize. Go lose or conquer as you can. But if you fail, or if you rise. Be each, pray God, a gentleman." And to Coach Terrill and his wonderful Rayders... the best of everything in the tough fight ahead.

AND NOW we know about white pine, the state's official tree... and we'd like to pass along the info given us by two of our readers, Dick O'Neil and Mrs. Allen Campbell. Both have told us that the big old pines we have around here are white pine. And at one time there were acres and acres of this stately big tree... which were cut with no thought to the future early in this century. And how does one tell a white pine from other varieties? Simple when you know how, as you'll see... the white pine has five needles growing in each cluster. And how does one remember that... why the word white has five letters in it. And the red pine, with three letters, has three needles in its cluster. Most interesting, we thought.

WE DON'T want to rush the season... which is quite impossible with the weather we've been having... but we sure got the idea that summer isn't far off when we talked with Ken Smith of the Camp Charlevoix Smiths last week. He was up from Grosse Pointe checking on this and that at the camp where the Barney Englehart's hold forth for a good part of the year... Ken said camp was already filled... at the earliest date in camp history... Jan. 13, think he said... He's now busy rounding out his staff and making last minute plans... for soon June will be here and there's no time for plans on the camp in late June... He's confident that we're going to have a good summer... And gee, just talking to him, made us forget the cold, cold winter and have heart that spring and summer will soon be here.

SPEAKING of weather... when we went to Petoskey Saturday night for the district finals, the weather was ideal... cold but clear and crisp... And when we came out of the gym about 3 1/2 hours later the wind was blowing, the snow was flying and for a while we wondered if we'd make it home, for it looked more like a January blizzard than anything else... Half way home, however, we drove out of it... But during the night it started to blow and if you think it isn't cold when the temperature is hovering around 10 degrees above and a regular gale is blowing... well... just come around some time.

We haven't made up our mind whether March arrived like a lamb or a lion... but right now it's anything but mild... As you read this however, there'll only be three weeks left in the month so again we say have heart.

C. Y. MARSHALL called the other day to see if we'd found out anything about the disappearing sparrow... We've mentioned it but no one's come up with any ideas yet... He said that even our old bird fancier, Roy Ranger, didn't have any ideas on the subject... All this has everyone quite concerned... including us... So if you have any friends in the Audubon Society who might have the answer, how's about letting us in on it.

NOT LONG ago we made the boast that if there was any important event taking place, you could bet foldin' stuff that there'd be someone from Charlevoix in on it... And sure nuff... when Princess Margaret visited the West Indies recently who was on hand to shake hands with her? You guessed it... a little Charlevoixian, George Loomis, grandson of the George Glados... George, you know, went to Bermuda last summer with his

OF CHARLEVOIX

Sermonette

Rev. W. N. Carr, Pastor First Baptist Church

TEXT: John 9:4 "I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day: The night cometh, when no man can work."

Said the minister to a little boy who attended Sunday School quite regularly, "Say Sonny, is your Dad a Christian?" The boy answered rather hesitantly, "Well, yes, but he's not working at it just now." In other words he was out of a job. It is sad, but true that this man was not just an exception, for there are far too many who profess the name of Christ, but are not working for Him a good deal of the time. If we worked for ourselves like we often work for the Lord, we would soon starve to death. As we consult the Bible, notice WHO MUST WORK? Jesus in reference to doing the will of the Father in heaven said, "I must work." He had a great compulsion. Jesus did not come down to the earth on a vacation, but He came to WORK.

Many professed believers in the Lord seem anxious to see the work of God make progress, but so far as they are concerned, they just want to go along for the ride. The living of a Christ-like life is not a lazy life. Jesus did not say you must work, but He used the first person singular, I must work. Jesus has set the example for us to follow. He exhorts us in His Word, "But be ye doers of the word and not hearers only..." Observe also in this verse that the employment is outlined for us. WHAT IS THE WORK? Jesus said, "The works of Him that sent me." Every Christian ought to keep this in mind. It is not his own work that He is to perform, but GOD'S WORK. Christ came to earth to do His Father's work, that of redeeming a fallen race from their sin.

The reason that God has left us here on earth after redeeming our souls is that He has work for us to do. Too often we try to do God's work in our own strength. The Apostle Paul reminds us that, "We are laborers together with God." If we will seek to do God's work in God's way and in God's strength, we will never be a failure. One more thing is to be found in this short verse and that is, WHEN TO WORK? Jesus said, "While it is day, the night cometh, when no man can work." We must make hay while the sun shines. I am certain that no Christian would like to meet the Lord empty-handed. We must do more than have good intentions. We must make them actions. After all is said and done, more is said than done before the Lord will be able to say to you, "Well done good and faithful servant..." He will, if you do what Jesus did while here on earth.

Girliequips

Was going to talk about Spring bunnies today, but I'm shivering and not in the mood to strain the imagination to buds 'n' blossoms. So I'll tell you about the mess I made in my kitchen.

To begin with, there was a screw loose... in fact, maybe there were two screws loose in my kitchen that day. One was preparing one of the new packaged seven minutes frostings... the other was in the electric mixer.

I didn't realize the situation or I'd have called the whole thing off.

A portion of a cup of water blended beautifully... and directions on the box of this 'quick and easy' preparation then said to beat on high for seven minutes.

So why waste all that time standing around while modern invention was whipping it up! I'd go 'phone a pal and we'd discuss the morning funnies and I'd mother, the former Mary Ann Glados, and attends an English school... Came the Princess for a visit, the school children greeted her... little American, George, along with the rest got to shake hands with her... He had been told that she would not be wearing a crown and flowing gowns like the princesses in fairy tales so wasn't disappointed as some of the children were, his mother wrote to Mrs. Glados.

THIS COLD weather we've been having has even got the flowers of schedule... A Christmas cactus owned by Mrs. Lawrence Boss, which had dozens of blossoms at holiday time is blooming for the second time in four months... a rarity, we're told... When she called on Tuesday it already had 30 blossoms with more ready to pop open... to greet the spring instead of Christmas.

know when seven minutes were up because I'd set the timer. Okay?

Okay. All set, I proceeded to do just that with a sense that all was going well and what a good organizer I was.

However all did not go so well, for while we talked the loose screw in the kitchen got looser and looser. And if none of you has ever seen an electric mixer set for a hundred miles per, unattended and out of focus, you can at least IMAGINE what a perfect whee of a time it was having while efficiency expert, I, had more than enough time left to yakky about how stupid L'il Abner was to turn down a million smoolas for his recipe for turnip upside-down cake... 'wif shiver!! — come on frostin'. Why, I had a cake going right then out in the kitchen that I'd sell for fifty cents.

Fifty cents!... Two minutes later I'd not only have GIVEN it away... I'd have THROWN it away! There was no more frosting in the bowl when I arrived on the scene exactly seven minutes from the time I felt so smug... Than there is seaweed on a light bulb... now I felt a little spid inside as if maybe I had a screw loose somewhere.

It wouldn't have been so bad to scrape it off the walls and ceiling... but I was almost mad enough to scrape it up off the floor. But I didn't... I just stood there in it while it dripped down on me and off the end of my nose... for all the world like I was a Slobbovia... telling myself to go back where I came from, or else stop reading the funny papers.

Rubber Is Sensitive

Michigan State college home economists explain that rubbers, galoshes and raincoats should be kept in a cool, dark place when not in use. Remove oil, grease and tar immediately because rubber is harmed by heat, light, oil and grease.

Girl Scout News

There is a great demand for Brownie Scout uniforms, according to Mrs. Ray Wood, Brownie troop leader. If anyone has a uniform not in use, you are asked to call Mrs. Wood.

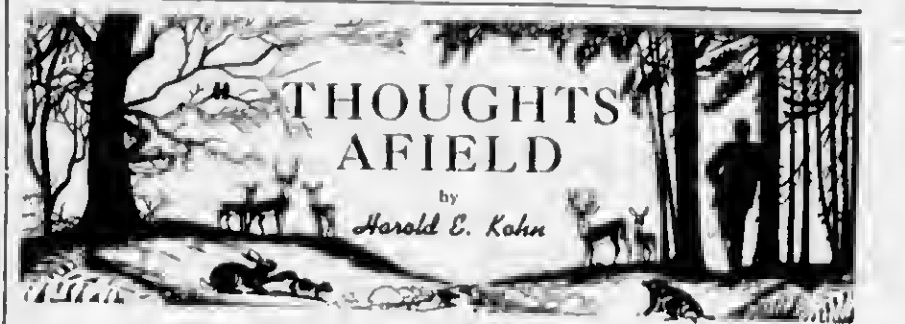

Brownie Scout troop 12 met Thursday at the kindergarten room. We opened our meeting with a flag ceremony and then collected dues and had roll call. We made plans to decorate a Girl Scout window during Girl Scout week.

We played a game, Fruit basket tip-over and then had a closing circle.

Our leaders are Mrs. Arnold Wadas and Mrs. Charles Winnell. Mrs. Edward Kaskey was the mother helper at the meeting.

Late Editions

Almost any day in late spring-time when I saunter along the boggy banks of my favorite brook, I see yellow lady-slippers nodding in the damp spring breezes. These bright members of the orchid family usually make their first appearance in May, peeking shyly from the tall, lush spring grasses and tossing their golden blossoms from the summit of leafy stems.

In mid-July, soon after June-born whittail fawns begin to run and feed and drink with their mothers, the last fading blossom falls.

Thus it will be this year, and next year, and as long as a green earth circles a genial sun. Thus it has been, long before we came North, or Charlevoix was founded, or the white man touched America's shores, or the first Indian sank his flint-headed hunting arrow into warm deer flesh.

Why? When the first yellow lady-slipper had been perfected in delicate beauty and, after hallowing a woodland streamside for a time with a touch of golden glory, had died, why wasn't that enough?

Why does the Maker reissue each springtime a fresh edition of His art? Does God never rest on His laurels, and is He never satisfied with His accomplishments? Or does He like to issue fresh and up-to-date reports on His creative ventures and plans, and a yellow lady-slipper is something of a statement of what is on His mind, as is a fawn, or an infant in a hospital nursery, or the good deed of a great-hearted neighbor?

God's world is full of late editions. Like newspapers, they are daily thrown upon our doorsteps. We can pick them up and read them if we will, or let them lie.

The latest outbreak of border fighting between two nations is a fresh edition of the ancient truth that hatred does not work. Nor does the distrustful mood, nor do arms and armour. Men have never permanently solved a problem by fighting over it. America's greatest soldiers, like Eisenhower and MacArthur, have in recent years declared themselves opposed to the colossal stupidity of war. They know war raises more problems than it solves, and in our time no one can win. All bright members of the modern warfare Jose. Said the Apostle Paul, "Love never faileth", but hatred fails. Someday men will try love. In the meantime, every eruption of hostilities is the latest edition, thrown on the world's doorstep, of God's reminder of the futility of international fighting.

Every marriage rite is a current publication of an old, old story telling how men and women are meant for each other. Matrimony is still news, up to date news, concerning an ancient longing, and each wedding declares anew the transforming power of love which ripens and ennobles human nature, revealing hidden stores of tenderness and strength.

You are a late edition. When you were born your first cry that brought breath to your lungs was a declaration that God was not utterly discouraged with His world. He would try again to get something across to the human race. As a newspaper is the physical embodiment of the editor's and writers' ideas, you might be the substance in which the Almighty could incarnate something of His nature, so that the world might read it. God's goodness has been proclaimed in many former human editions. But you are a new issue, a five-star edition. Whenever you are true to the highest, sensitive and responsive to human need, unselfish, kind, courageous, understanding, inspiring, or reflect God's goodness in any other way, you become a late publication of God's good news, ready for the world to read.

God never tires of getting out another edition, some fresh statement of what He has in mind. It can be a yellow lady-slipper nodding on a stream's bank, telling of His love of beauty. It could even be you.

Rose-Van Schoten Marriage Vows Spoken In Double Ring Service

Patsy A. Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Rose, became the bride of Robert W. Van Schoten, son of Mrs. Francis Van Schoten of Ann Arbor and the late Mr. Van Schoten, in a quiet ceremony solemnized Saturday evening at the First Congregational church.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp officiated at the double ring service in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. Large vases of gladioli and mums and lighted tapers in candelabra formed the setting for the ceremony.

Donna J. Rose, as her sister's only attendant, wore a grey dress-maker suit, navy accessories and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white hyacinth florets.

Calvin Haywood of Ann Arbor assisted the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Charles E. Rose of Fort Devens, Mass., brother of the bride, and Glenn Davis of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Rose chose a gray scatter print dress, white and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink hyacinth florets for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Van Schoten, mother of the bridegroom, wore a grey suit, matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations and hyacinth florets.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table, which was decorated with gladioli and mums and lighted tapers. Jean Van Schoten of Ann Arbor, sister of the bridegroom, Norman Jean McLucas of Brighton and Mrs. Byron K. Wright assisted.

After a wedding trip through southern Michigan, the couple will make their home at 806 Miller st., Ann Arbor.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and the Elkhart Business University in Elkhart, Ind., and presently is employed as a dental assistant in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Ann Arbor high school and is a veteran of four years service with the U. S. Air Force. He is now enrolled at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti.

Acting on a 20-Year-Old Decision!

Let's suppose it was a couple of decades ago when a young lad, with his book strap over his shoulder and his lunch basket under his arm, started slowly down a dusty road that led to a country schoolhouse.

But his walk was short that day. For a big, handsome Cadillac—with its smiling driver traveling in the lad's direction—stopped and gave him a "lift."

And as he stood there on the schoolhouse lawn and watched the big car roll off into the distance, he made a decision. He decided that, some day, he would own a Cadillac.

And here you see him, his dream come true—taking the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac!

As a Cadillac dealer, we've been privileged many times to help make such a dream come true. And it never ceases to be a thrill.

But we do feel, in all sincerity, that many motorists —not realizing the Cadillac car is practical as well as wonderful—wait too long to make the move.

The lowest-priced Cadillac, for example, actually costs less than twelve different models of other makes. Its economy of operation is far beyond anything you could logically anticipate from a car of Cadillac's size and luxury. And at the time of resale, a Cadillac traditionally returns a greater share of its owner's investment than any other car in the land.

If, like the gentleman in the picture above, you have been looking forward to a Cadillac of your own—you should give careful consideration to these remarkable Cadillac facts.

It is entirely possible that the time for your Cadillac has come—and, as we said, it is always a pleasure to help make such a dream come true.

Better come in and see us today.

"Most families would probably have to dig into their savings to pay a $400 hospital bill," says Mr. Marko. "But I had a bill that size, and our savings didn't suffer at all, because my family has Blue Cross-Blue Shield. Under our Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract, I got all the hospital services I needed... over $400 worth, and they didn't cost me anything. We've got Blue Shield for doctor bills, too, and that covered $165 for our doctor's services. All I had to do was show my Blue Cross-Blue Shield card at the hospital, and benefits were paid automatically. I've never seen anything like it!"

Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans have been more successful than any other in gearing benefits to actual current hospital and doctor charges. How important this realistic kind of protection is... when your family stands a 1 in 3 chance of facing a hospital bill within a year!

New License Exam For Drivers Will Take Extra Study

The Charlevoix county Sheriff's Department is cooperating with the Michigan State Safety Commission under the leadership of the Department of State, in a state-wide public education program on driver licensing. Sheriff Glenn E. Ross has announced.

The new driver license examination for beginning drivers recently put into effect is much more comprehensive than the previous one and is a far better measure of a person's ability to drive safely, according to Mr. Ross who urged all new applicants for a driver's license to study harder on Michigan traffic law, safe driving practices and to practice more on their driving before taking the road test.

"Traffic authorities are determined to be doubly sure that persons awarded the privilege of driving are able to demonstrate this ability by passing a more thorough examination. Many motorists who do not prepare for it carefully will fail this test on the first try but those who pass the test will have the feeling they have earned the privilege of driving," Sheriff Ross continued.

Sheriff Ross pointed out that passing the driver's examination and obtaining a license merely launches the beginning motorist on his driving career. He emphasized the fact that the motorist must continually prove his right to retain this privilege by obeying traffic laws. If he causes a traffic accident or commits serious hazardous moving violations he will have his license suspended. Only in that way can the state protect other drivers on the highway.

The Sheriff called upon all motorists to cooperate in living up to the obligation of their licenses. "Remember," he said, "last year 23,164 Michigan motorists did have their licenses suspended or revoked."

Patriotism Has Its Beginning In Good Home

Patriotic love doesn't come ready made. It's something that we build slowly over the years, starting with childhood, says Dr. Elmer Knowles, parent education specialist at Michigan State college.

He explains that learning to love one's country is a chain reaction. He says a person will not love his country if he doesn't love his state. And in turn that person will not love his state if he doesn't love his community, his home and his parents.

So in this chain reaction of loving one's country enough to fight and if necessary give one's life for it, all the links in the chain are important. But, says Dr. Knowles, the beginning link is for parents to love each other. This is the parents' foundation on which they base the love for their children. If children are loved, they will feel secure.

Parents must also respect their children as a reflection of their love. Then the children will develop self respect. A child should also be helped or disciplined so he will learn to develop his abilities. Dr. Knowles feels it is important to praise a child for what he does and what he is. From this praise a child will develop his own set of values . . . values about himself as a person, about parents, teachers, friends, his neighborhood, his state and finally his country.

Krohn, William W. and Monica Mrs. Edward Trombley, Lou and McHugh White Jr. and children, James, William III and Majel Ann, P. D. (Don) Campbell and Leo Carey who have been visiting in the west.

Explorer Scouts Spend Weekend At T.R. Miller Cabin

Five Explorer Scouts accompanied by their post advisor, Ted R. Miller, spent the weekend at the Miller cabin, Deep Woods on the Thunder Bay river in eastern Michigan.

Twelve boys had planned to go but measles took its toll and only five were able to make the trip.

Those who went were David Arnold, George Farmer, Raymond Schultz, Clifford Pierce and Wayne Sundberg.

Saturday was spent snowshoeing through the woods and searching for the tracks of various small wild animals. Tracks of a bob cat, fox, rabbit, raccoon and otter were found. More than 30 deer were seen and two porcupine were also seen. The boys caught one and brought it back to Mr. Coleman's biology class where it was dissected Monday.

On Sunday the boys were shown how to measure land by use of a compass and pacing. Two groups then separated and followed courses set up by Mr. Miller. The boys, by use of the compass and other information given them, crossed the river and met at a designated spot where Mr. Miller had dinner ready for them.

The group arrived home Sunday evening, tired but with many interesting experiences to remember.

Should Determine Snow Fence Needs In Winter Months

Now is the time to plan for a living snow fence and windbreak on the farm, advises Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

A short trip over Charlevoix county's countryside, he points out, can tell how badly trees are needed for that purpose.

Robert E. Dils, a Michigan State college forester, says the snowbreak is needed mostly in these areas: In narrow valleys where snow piles up on the road, on exposed side hills, for protection of road cuts and on level, open country where wind has a long sweep.

A living snow fence has many advantages, according to Dils, and farmers can afford to plant one for their own convenience as well.

A snowbreak will reduce the cost of snow removal by about one-third, according to the forester. It will save the cost of snow fences, it may serve as a shelterbelt and it provides cover for birds and game.

That's an addition to the beauty it gives to a roadside and to the farm, Dils adds.

Information on windbreaks, shelterbelts and snowbreaks may be obtained at the county Extension office at Boyne City.

Torsion Suspension Wins Top Award

NEW YORK—The new torsion suspension system for automobiles, which eliminates conventional coil and leaf springs, last week was named the "outstanding automotive advancement of the year." It won for Packard, first manufacturer to develop the unique new suspension, the 1955 international award of the Travel and Auto Sports Show, at Madison Square Garden in New York. Frederick P. Pittera, left, the show's managing director, in presenting the top award to Dan O'Madigan, Packard sales manager, cited torsion suspension as "the first major contribution to riding comfort in twenty years." The show's 1955 gold cup for "individuality of styling in the luxury car field" also went to Packard. O'Madigan said the Torsion-Level suspension was put on 1955 Packards in advance of the next major automotive design trend which will be to provide greater riding comfort and safety for drivers. Two long steel bars interconnecting the front and rear wheels twist to take up the road shocks of dips and bumps giving a smooth level ride to car passengers.

Mass Meeting On Education Is March 24

The major problems confronting education in our public schools will be presented at a Charlevoix county mass meeting at the East Jordan high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 24, Charles A. Robinson, county superintendent of schools and acting chairman of the county White House Conference on Education has announced.

Every person in the county who is interested in education is urged to attend this all-county meeting and become acquainted with all aspects of the educational program and learn more about their local school needs.

The Michigan slogan for the White House Conference on Education is "When Citizens Understand, Children Always Win." Michigan parents have demonstrated in the past that when they become acquainted with all the facts, when they personally can make recommendations for improvements, it develops almost without exception that they are wiser to provide for the very best for their children.

The White House Conference program, which has the support of President Eisenhower, Governor Williams and education leaders throughout the state and nation, is dedicated to a complete study of the conditions facing schools and to measures for meeting the emergency in education.

Fourteen regions for the Conference program have been designated in Michigan. Citizens in each of the regions are being requested to organize and conduct their own local conference in advance of a state-wide conference. That is the purpose of the mass-meeting at East Jordan, Mr. Robinson said in explaining the meeting. He went on to say that this is a grass-roots approach and typical of our state; it is a means of involving not hundreds but thousands of citizens; it will provide opportunity for gathering information and recommendations from the local regions, which in turn, will be considered at the State White House Conference.

The State White House Conference will review the recommendations from the regional conferences for a compilation of a Michigan report. The Michigan report, in turn, will be submitted to the National White House Conference which will be held in Washington, D. C. Nov. 28 to Dec. 1.

Some of the topics which may be discussed are shortage of classrooms and other facilities; staffing classrooms with sufficient, well qualified teachers; securing the necessary finances; the organization of adequate school districts; meeting the needs of mentally and physically handicapped, adult education and other timely subjects.

Mr. Stephan, candidate for supervisor, will head the No. 2 ticket. Other candidates are: trustees, two-year term, Stanley Houghton; board of review, Carl Bogart.

There were no candidates for highway commissioner or constable.

Bradford Foster was chairman of the caucus which was attended by 29 voters.

Township Names Two Candidates For Supervisor

Two candidates for the office of Supervisor in Charlevoix township were nominated at the annual caucus of the township Monday night.

They are Clarence Rabach and Henry Stephens, who will seek election to the office formerly held by the late Rudy C. Korth. Mrs. Korth, who was appointed to serve out her husband's unexpired term, was not a candidate for the office.

Candidates whose names will appear on the No. 1 ticket are: supervisor, Mr. Rabach; clerk, Mrs. Kathryn B. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Rose Bergmann; trustees for two-year term, Dale Boss and Edwin Zeiter; justice of peace, four-year term, Clayton A. Smith; board of review, four-year term, Randall Crump; two-year term, George Arnold.

Mr. Stephan, candidate for supervisor, will head the No. 2 ticket. Other candidates are: trustees, two-year term, Stanley Houghton; board of review, Carl Bogart.

Red Cross Fund Drive Progress Report Is Given

The Red Cross fund drive in Charlevoix reached the $600.00 mark this week Mrs. Alfred Brown announced Wednesday as the first two weeks of the annual campaign came to a close.

In announcing the current figure, Mrs. Brown said that ward captains had reported only a small part of their areas.

Rev. Forrest Mohr of Boyne City, county fund chairman, said that the drive was doing well throughout the county with $1,860 reported to date. The county quota for 1955 is $3,200.

Dean Davenport Named To Mayor Exchange Group

Mayor Dean Davenport has been named to the Mayor Exchange Group, a part of the second annual Michigan Week program, by Mayor Glenn Allen of Kalamazoo, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Davenport will assist in planning the Mayor's exchange program planned for May 16.

On that date Charlevoix and Murr, a town of 500 located in Ionia county, will exchange mayors.

Ivan Phillips Candidate For Supervisor Post

Ivan Phillips, north-side carpenter contractor, this week announced his candidacy for the post of first ward supervisor in the April 4 general election. He will seek election as a "sticker" or "write-in" candidate.

He will oppose incumbent Drew Young, who also serves as city assessor.

In announcing his candidacy Mr. Phillips said that he does not feel that one man is qualified to do the job of both assessor and supervisor. He went on to say that it is the job of the first to assess the property and of the supervisor to stand up for the people of his ward.

He concluded by saying that he did not feel that one man could do justice to both offices under such circumstances.

Announce Procedure For Korean War Bonus Application Blanks

Korean War bonus application blanks will be available through the American Legion and V.F.W. service officers, here as soon as the blanks are received from the printer, it was announced Wednesday.

However, it is not known exactly when the blanks will arrive here.

The American Legion has planned for veterans to come to the Legion hall during a regular meeting March 29 to obtain application blanks. Notary publics will be present so the applications can be filled out and notarized there.

The V.F.W. has the names of more than 50 veterans in the area who have registered for blanks. When the applications are available these men will be called.

All Korean War veterans must have a photostatic copy of their discharge. These must accompany the application. These copies may be obtained by taking the original discharge to the office of the county clerk where copies will be made.

Charlevoix Rayders Lose Close 52-49 Contest At Traverse

The under-dog Charlevoix Rayders, coached by Del Terrill, bowed to a strong Houghton quintet 52-49 in the Class C quarter-finals at Traverse City Wednesday night. The game advanced the upper peninsula squad to the semi-finals at the Boys' Vocational School gymnasium in Lansing at 7:30 p.m. Friday night. The Class C finals will be played in the Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing at 2 p.m. Saturday (See column 1 for ticket story).

Wednesday night's game marked the first appearance of a Charlevoix team in the quarter-finals since 1952 when the Rayders defeated another Houghton team 47-42.

The Houghton Gremlins turned loose a scoring blast on the Charlevoix Rayders in the first quarter and at the end of the period held an 18-5 lead. Charlevoix found its pace in the second period and as the half ended they had shortened the gap and were trailing 28-21.

The Rayders made their strong bid for the game in the third quarter and took the lead from the Gremlins and as the period ended the score stood 38-34 Charlevoix.

Charlevoix's lead held through most of the last quarter with Houghton crowding every minute of play. The tide turned again in the last three minutes when the Gremlins went into a lead as the game ended. Fourth quarter scoring was 18-11 Houghton.

Guy Swanson paced the scoring for the Rayders with 19 points. Einer Anderson had 17 for the victors.

GATHER AROUND THE LORD

Barnard Reformed Church — Rev. Wilson H. Rinker, Minister
Read Psalm 100

The Psalmist urges us to serve, know, and worship the Lord. A child of God must serve, know, and worship God. This Psalm speaks to believers, because it is impossible for a man to serve, know, and worship God as the Psalmist demands, unless a man knows God through God's Redeeming Grace as it is revealed in Jesus Christ.

How can a man serve the Lord with gladness, except he know the Christ of God? How can a man know that the Lord is God except he know that Jesus Christ is the full revelation of God? How can a man worship God in Spirit and in Truth except he worship God in the name of Jesus Christ Who revealed the Spirit of God?

God created the first man and He placed him inside a beautiful garden. God walked with man in a most intimate way. God desired to have fellowship with man. But, in the shade of the Garden of Eden, man turned away into sin and ultimate despair to bring upon himself the "silent gloom of the tomb". God had made man to serve Him with true gladness. Nothing separated God and man because there was no sin. Man knew that the Lord was God. He knew that God made him and that he was the sheep of God's pasture. He knew that God made him to be over all which He made. Man could worship God in the true spirit of holiness for there was no sin to separate their companionship. But man turned away from the goodness of God and left the presence of the steadfast love of God which endures forever.

Man wandered in a state of unfaithfulness without God. But God pursued him with His everlasting and enduring love. God, in faithfulness, sought after the unfaithful prodigal. In this state man did not serve God with gladness, because he was not glad to be in the presence of God. Man did not know God because he denied God and sought after his own authority. Man did not worship God because he refused to recognize God as God. That is the state of man in this day and age in which we live. Nevertheless God came into the world in Christ. On Calvary, Christ blazed the trail which led straight to the heart of God. They laid the Christ of the cross in an empty tomb within another beautiful garden. Christ's friends laid Him in that tomb at the end of a day which was filled with apparent dark despair. They closed the entrance and went their way filled with sorrow over One with Whom they had hoped to reign. But out of the gloom of that Sepulchre and into that beautiful garden, Jesus walked to Life. He shattered the gloom of the tomb with Eternal Light and Life. He has made it possible for man to serve God with gladness. A man in Christ, has a heart that is filled with heaven's joy. Man may know that the Lord is God, because in Jesus Christ, the Lord of all, man has found God. Man has looked upon the countenance of Jesus Who was the full revelation of God in the flesh. In Jesus Christ man can worship God in Spirit and in Truth because Christ made visible the Spirit of a Living God, and in Christ man discovers the Truth of God.

A man in Christ knows that the Lord is good and that His love endures forever, and that God is faithful even while man is unfaithful.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fren Martin

IF YOU haven't had your fill of basketball for this season, don't forget that the Harlem Globetrotters and the Boston Whirlwinds with the scoring ace, Bevo Francis, will play in Petoskey Friday night . . . As you know, they're really big time and we're sure you'll see some beautiful playing . . .

That is, if there's anyone left in Charlevoix Friday night . . . What with Charlevoix scheduled to play in the state quarter finals Wednesday night, there's a possibility that a good part of the town's population will be heading for East Lansing should our Rayders win . . . And if they don't, there'll still be quite a few who'll be going down . . .

WE DO not have a crystal ball, so as this is being written we can only hope that the Rayders are on their way to the top . . . We are confident only of one thing . . . that if the Rayders play the type of ball they are capable of playing, they'll be leaving for Lansing come Thursday . . .

Any team that can play ball like those guys did Saturday night against Traverse City St. Francis . . . well, they're a bit of all right . . . Everyone kept saying . . . One of those teams is going to crack . . . No one can keep up that pace . . . But neither did . . . We have seen better ball played but never, never 32 minutes of such hard basketball . . . Every player on that floor was in top condition, you can bet your foldin' stuff on that, or he couldn't have stayed with it . . .

NATURALLY we all wanted our Rayders to win but there wasn't a person in that gym when the game ended that didn't have the greatest admiration for those Traverse City players . . . five boys who played their hearts out without one substitution . . . They were in there pitching right down to the final whistle and even in defeat they were gentlemen every bit of the way . . . Basketball makes athletes, you'll admit, but to our way of thinking it serves many other purposes . . . Among them to be good losers . . . Coach Hayes and T.C. St. Francis may well be proud of their team . . . Everyone we know had only the finest things to say about them . . .

And how about those cheerleaders? . . . They were pretty sharp too . . . and with the exception of our own cute chicks, by far the best at the tournament . . . That again was the general consensus of opinion . . .

WHEN the district tournament ended, we were satisfied with what our Rayders had accomplished . . . We said that anyplace they went in the regionals would be a bonus . . . Not that we didn't have confidence in them but from then on it was pretty much a matter of getting the breaks and keeping their heads every minute . . . So . . . we won the regionals and, like everyone else, we were overjoyed, for Coach Terrill and those grand guys on his team, more than anything . . .

AS OF right now . . . Sunday night . . . our Little Old Rayders rate among the top eight Class C teams in the state . . . And don't forget there're more than 700 Class C schools in Michigan . . . For our money, they're tops . . .

right now . . . What happens Wednesday night won't matter in our book . . . Again for the sake of Coach Terrill and the team we hope they keep right on going . . . But if they don't that's a bit of OK . . . From now on anything can happen and probably will . . . But we think the guys who count . . . those players who have given us a lot of good basketball this year . . . know that what ever happens it's alright by us . . . So . . . lots of luck and love . . . from all of us . . . need both in the days ahead.

LOOKING back on the tournaments . . . we're wondering how many tournament games George Glados has attended through the years . . . For years and years, George has been one of the team's strongest supporters . . . through bad years and good . . . Charlevoix, you know, wasn't always on top . . . Last week . . . and the week before George was on hand to watch the boys and cheer them on . . .

We'd like to mention our admiration for the Charlevoix student body . . . who backed East Jordan in their game against Traverse City Friday night . . . even after the Red Devils fans had done a bit of cheering for Manton during the Rayder-Ranger game . . . A fine example, again, of good sportsmanship . . . because those kids did it on their own . . . After all, E. J. is in our league and the league must stick together . . . Come what may . . .

IF WE could sing, which we would like to be singing McNamara's band or something quite as Irish . . . but since we can't we'll settle for "Top o' the Mornin'" to you this St. Patrick's Day . . . And if you should hear what sounds like a hydrogen bomb blast must sound like coming over Lake Michigan from the north-west, don't be alarmed . . . it will be the Irish on America's Emerald Isle celebrating the birthday of the good Saint . . . A note from that Irish lad with the French name, Archie Lafreniere . . . (Maybe they dropped the 'O' to make it sound French) . . . brought the new, that big things are planned for the day so dear to an Irishman's heart . . .

WITH ST. Patrick's day upon us . . . spring can't be far away . . . Did you notice, the flock of crows out trying their wings last weekend? . . . We expect any day now to hear that the first robin has arrived . . . after all, next Monday (or Tuesday) will be the first day of that long awaited season . . . And after the long, consistently cold winter we've been having, we could sure do with an early one . . . Mrs. William Butters, in town recently, tells us that in Lansing the crocuses are up and with the warm, balmy days one gets the idea that spring is here . . . We can't say as much for Charlevoix because those cold blasts off Lake Michigan Saturday night didn't have the scent of lilacs on them . . .

ANOTHER sure sign of spring was heard over the radio last week . . . and in the headlines of the sports pages . . . You guessed it . . . the baseball season . . . In another month or so, that'll be the main topic of conversation . . . a conversation that will last through the World Series next fall . . . But as far as we're concerned, baseball is something one must tolerate until the football season rolls around . . .

BACK TO the pines . . . the ones we mentioned last week . . . Seems as tho' the white pine has five needles but that the red pine has not three but two . . . We are

How We Grow

The fawns that drank from our brook last summer are nearly grown now. Those tracks I saw some days ago in the snow-dusted trails leading from gate to cabin may have been theirs. No longer tink tracks, hardly larger than a twenty-five cent piece, those deep snow-molds, made by deer on the rove, were cookie-cutter size and far apart. The whitetail that had printed them had outgrown his fawn friskiness and his fawn spots and had assumed the dignified grace of an almost-grown deer.

Young does born but last spring when they fawns of their own will have two years of age. Some very exceptional females will bear young when but a year old, but most bucks will not breed until they see their third autumn.

Nothing in nature is more fascinating than growth — the rapid change of an awkward, wobbly, polka-dotted fawn to a sure-footed, lithe animal, as wild and swift as the wind and as graceful as a Lake Michigan wave tossed upon the shore. Parents parading snapshots and movies of their youngsters taken over the years witness to the universal interest in growing things. So do gardeners hoeing their rows of vegetables and farmers cultivating their crops and orchardists pruning their trees.

Growth is a strange process. It sometimes proceeds by jerks and starts, moving ever so slowly for a time, and then again fairly bounding forward. In the human infant, for example, from the third to the fourth month after conception the fetus increases in size 600 per cent. Then the growth rate drops rapidly to a bare 25 per cent in the last months before the child is born. Among those insects that pass through a complete cycle from egg to larva to pupa stage and finally to adulthood, virtually all the growing takes place in the larval period. After the winged insect bursts from its pupal wrappings, there is no increase in size. This is so of moths and butterflies and also true of bees and wasps and ants. The two-winged flies do not grow after the pupa stage has been passed.

Other creatures never cease growing as long as they live. Fishes and reptiles, after reaching maturity, continue to increase in size as long as they breathe, while birds and mammals are tethered to certain growth limitations beyond which they cannot reach. But even in fishes not all the parts develop at the same rate. While the muscles of the trunk and the connective tissue increase in size throughout the duration of a fish's life, the heart and brain may grow hardly at all after achievement of sexual maturity. A delicate functional equilibrium is then upset, the fish becoming too large for its most vital organs. It may, as a result, sicken and die.

One of the many conditions controlling the rate of growth in all vegetation and all animals is this: growth varies according to the surplus of nutritive income over expenditure of energy. Income must exceed outgo.

In the area of spiritual growth, as well as in the realm of physical property, that rule holds true. The person who increases in character-stature can never allow his expenditures of words or thought or deeds to exceed his intake of beauty, truth and goodness.

Do you want to be a more grateful person? Then feed your mind upon memories of all the good that has been done for you by parents, teachers, friends, and your unnamed and unknown benefactors, such as the patriots who died to preserve freedom in this country for you long before you were born, and the martyrs who died for your faith centuries before a church was built on America's shores. Think of those who make your meals possible and whom you can never thank: the harvesters toiling in sweat under a hot sun that their wheat might be made into your daily bread; cattlemen following the dusty hoofbeats of herds that you might have meat; trainmen and truckers moving food and mail across the continent that you might have meat; trainmen and body and mind. Gratitude grows within us when fed by thoughts of those who have made our lives livable and enjoyable.

So with every virtue of the human spirit. As Mencius, ancient Chinese philosopher, put it, "He who attends to his greater self becomes a great man, and he who attends to his smaller self becomes a small man." The good and the evil alike die of starvation or grow by being fed.

Mathews-Blanchard Marriage Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Service

Joan Yvonne Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mathews, become the bride of Rex M. Blanchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Blanchard of East Jordan, at an impressive ceremony solemnized at the Community Church of God Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. George L. Majors officiated at the double ring service before a background of bouquets of yellow and white gladioli and palms. Seventy-five guests witnessed the ceremony.

Mrs. John L. Boss, organist, played a program of traditional music, the wedding marches and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Charles Pontius.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white slipper satin and tulle for her wedding. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt of tulle over satin was ballerina length. A seed pearl tiara secured her finger-tips and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white hyacinth florets.

Her sister, Mrs. John Augustine of Milford, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina gown of seaford green net and taffeta styled with a strapless bodice worn with a bolero jacket and a full skirt. Her floral headpiece matched her colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations and white hyacinth florets.

Mr. Augustine, brother-in-law of the bride, assisted as best man and ushers were Dale Mathews of Northville and Vernon Mathews Jr., brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Mathews wore a navy crepe dress and navy and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Blanchard, mother of the bridegroom, also wore a navy dress and navy accessories. Corsages of white carnations complimented their costumes.

Fellowship hall was the site of the reception which followed the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table which was decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Ole Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham and Mrs. Dale Mathews assisted.

For traveling on their wedding trip to southern Michigan, the bride wore a grey tweed suit and red accessories. The couple will

Mrs. A. B. Lawton, Reporter

Leo Danforth has completed his term of service with the army in Germany and is now in the home land awaiting his discharge which he expects to receive soon.

A recent letter from the Frank Lawtons who spent most of the winter in Phoenix Arizona and are now back at Flagstaff where they expect work will soon begin. They report a rather cool, rainy winter in Phoenix, for which the residents were thankful as they have been having too many dry seasons for good crops. There was considerable snow at Flagstaff, through the winter but they are hoping for more snow or rain as lakes and ponds are very low.

Mrs. Lawton says that would be a wonderful country if they only had more water. She says that Flagstaff had to put down a new well during the past year but had to go down 1500 ft. to get water. A few ranchers have their own wells most of which are over 1000 feet deep and cost nearly $5.00 per foot as they have to drill through rock. Is there any peace on this earth that is perfect.

Two-Piano Team To Give Concert On Friday Night

The popular two-piano team of Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, recording radio and television artists, will appear at the Petoskey high school auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Friday under the auspices of the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association. It will be the last concert of the 1954-55 season.

As top-ranking artists in their field Whittemore and Lowe are in constant demand as soloists with the country's leading orchestras. The brilliant pianists also have an enthusiastic audience for their coast to coast recital tours and their superb playing and stimulating programs have placed them in the vanguard of American artists.

Classical music is a rarity in the field of television and the team of Whittemore and Lowe became the first classical instrumentalists to have their own television show when they appeared on a five-day-a-week program over the Mutual system.

tireless workers, they have arranged almost 200 works for two pianos and are constantly adding to their repertoire both rarely heard classic compositions and important contemporary works.

Enthusiastic trouper, they drive their own car from concert to concert, a car with the New York License plates "88 WL" . . . the numerals "88" standing for the number of keys on the standard keyboard. They are followed by a special truck bearing the two personally selected Baldwin Grand pianos.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Petoskey high school auditorium. Admission is by season ticket only.

Mrs. William Garrison Writes Of Pacific Voyage To Join Husband

Mrs. William Garrison, who with her son, Greg, left recently for Okinawa to join her husband, Lieut. Garrison, who is stationed there with the U. S. Army, has written the following account of her ocean trip aboard the USS Anerson. The pair boarded the ship at San Francisco and after stopping at Seattle to take aboard troops left for Formosa.

"I am writing this in my stateroom, the only quiet place aboard the ship. The room is very comfortable.

We hit rough water right after we sailed. On top of that they made us put on life jackets for an abandon ship drill.

At Seattle we picked up nearly 2,000 troops enroute to Formosa and Okinawa. In addition there are 565 passenger and 100 crewmen.

Here is our schedule while aboard ship: We got up at 5:30 a.m. and at 6:30 heard the first call for breakfast. We were scheduled for the first call. The chaplain started the day with a prayer over the loud speaker system. After breakfast we stayed out of our rooms until 10:30 a.m. so they could be cleaned. During this time the mothers usually took the children to the nursery where there was everything for them to play with.

At 11 a.m. we had lunch; at 1 p.m. there was a sick call period for anyone who needed attention; during the afternoon there were movies for the children but Greg slept from 1 to 4 p.m. and at 5 p.m. we had dinner followed by movies. The food was excellent all the way over.

After we sailed from Seattle, which is a beautiful city, many people were sea-sick.

On Saturday night there was a square dance. On Sunday there were two Protestant services and one Catholic Mass but I did not attend because I was ill. By night I felt better and attended the Hymn sing. I made many friends. Every night the officers checked with us to see if we were comfortable and asked if we needed anything. Lots of attention!

The waiters were Filipino boys and were especially nice to the children. Several youngsters had birthdays on the way over and each had a nice birthday cake and party.

One day it was so rough that the ship lurched while we were eating and all the dishes went sailing into our laps and onto the floor.

The ship seems huge . . . a regular navy transport. They had fire drills every day with crews manning the lifeboats and guards at each door so order was maintained.

We went on a tour of the ship and saw the large engine, the navigator's quarters, the wheelhouse, radar equipment and so many interesting things including the bakery and galley where the food is prepared.

We enjoyed watching the flying fish, porpoises and sharks. I had a chance to play the piano with the ship's orchestra. I enjoyed it very much. The entertainment all the way over was fine.

When we entered dangerous waters we were picked up two escorts to guide us into Formosa. When we passed Okinawa, I thought at first the lights were stars but was told later what they were.

The news service reported enemy planes so every day crewmen manned their battle stations. We all stayed out of the way when we heard the signal given. It makes one feel mighty queer to think that maybe a submarine or enemy plane is near.

We arrived at Formosa on a Friday night and were greeted by a Formosa band which played a lot of American music. They also had fireworks. We enjoyed seeing the coolies in their straw hats . . . a frail looking people but they certainly worked hard unloading the ship.

After an overnight stay at Formosa while they unloaded the ship we left early Saturday for Okinawa. The countryside that we could see from the ship was beautiful . . . mountains rising out of the sea, grass, trees and beautiful flowers, quaint fishing boats and the natives. We were allowed to take pictures of it all though.

We arrived at Okinawa at 10 a.m. Sunday in a rainstorm. A boarding party came aboard as we neared the harbor and only after they had cleared the ship could we proceed to the docks.

I saw Bill at once but he didn't see us. Later we had to wait in our cabins while the husbands came aboard to find us. We were so happy to be together again. Greg didn't know Bill at first but he soon made up with his dad.

We boarded a bus which took us to a huge building where we claimed our luggage. Another car took us to our home 20 miles from the harbor.

We have a lovely fireproof one-story six rooms plus bathrooms house that has two large screened porches. We also have an Okinawan maid who is very nice. Her name is Sachiko and she is about 25 years old. She calls me Okisan (lady of the house), Bill Papasan (father of the house) and Greg Babysan (child of the house).

Greg is getting tanned already in this 70 degree weather. We use yen or paper money, no coins. We also use military payment certificates. No American money is allowed. We get nice fresh fruits and vegetables at the market. The water is also good. The roads aren't paved although a few are black-topped.

MICHIGAN LIFE LINES

FROM THE VERY BEGINNING, roads have been built to further commerce and trade, and down through the centuries the first requirement whenever a new territory was to be settled has been to build roads.

Michigan has over 100,000 miles of roads and streets, most of which are surfaced and in good condition. These are Michigan's life lines, without which the State could not exist.

For over these highways farm produce goes to market, raw materials and parts get to factories, finished products reach the consumer. Over these highways trucks bring you everything you eat, wear, or use!

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights—they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up where they can be seen for safety's sake.

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its lowness, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity, the added stability.

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Charlevoix Rayders Win Class 'C' Regional Title

Defeat Traverse City St. Francis By 54-48

The Charlevoix Rayders coached by Del Terrill defeated the hard-playing Traverse City Gladiators 54-48 in the Class C regional finals at Petoskey Saturday night to capture their first regional title since 1952.

The Rayders were scheduled to meet the upper peninsula Class C finalists, Houghton, at Traverse City Wednesday night. The game was to be played in the Traverse City St. Francis gymnasium.

This marks the first time the Rayders have advanced to quarter-final competition since 1952 when they defeated East Jordan to meet another Houghton team whom they defeated only to be downed by St. Louis in the semi-finals at East Lansing.

Last year Charlevoix was defeated by Marion in the Class C regional finals at Petoskey.

Charlevoix and Traverse City St. Francis advanced to the Class C finals after defeating Manton and East Jordan respectively on Friday night. Charlevoix won over Manton 66-55 and the Gladiators defeated East Jordan 57-56 in an overtime game. On Wednesday the Traverse City squad edged past Atlanta 59-56 in another overtime game.

Starting for the Rayders in the all-important game were Gary Vandenberg, Quint Walker, Dwain Walker, Guy Swanson and Tom Swanson with Glennie Ikens, Kenny Balch and Walt Poquette seeing limited action.

Traverse City used the same five men throughout the game. Their line-up included Tom Saunders, Jim Drinan, Burl Ghastin, Glenwood Belonger and Bob Harvey.

In the game Saturday night Charlevoix went ahead 4-0 early in the game before the Traverse City squad tied the game briefly midway in the first period. The Rayders went ahead, however, 11-9 as the period ended.

Traverse City kept pace with the Rayders in the second period as both teams scored 11 points in the quarter for a 22-20 halftime score.

The Gladiators forged into a 25-22 advantage to open the second half but Charlevoix came to take a 25-25 lead with first one team and then the other connecting under the basket until Traverse City scored two baskets as the quarter ended to tie the score 37-37 as the game went into the last period. The Rayders outscored the Gladiators 17-15.

A field goal by the Traverse City scoring ace, Tom Saunders put the Gladiators ahead 39-37 as the period opened but two free throws and three field goals gave the Charlevoix five an advantage that the tiring Gladiators were never able to overcome despite a last minute try.
